(e) make rules consistent with this Act, providing for the inspection of such Courts and the supervision of the working thereof,

(f) make such rules consistent with this Act, institute such inquiries and submit such recommendations to the Local Government as it may think fit, with a view to promoting the efficiency of the judicial and ministerial officers of such Courts and maintaining proper discipline among such officers

28 The Chief Court shall keep such registers, books and accounts as may be necessary for the transaction of the business of the Court, and shall submit to the Local Government such of the same registers, books and accounts and statements of the work done in the Court as may from time to time be required by the said Government

Registers books accounts and statements to be kept and furnished by Chief Court

The Chief Court shall also comply with such requisitions as may from time to time be made by the Governor General in Council or by the Local Government for certified copies of, or extracts from, the records of the Court

29 The Chief Court shall be deemed to be a High Court within the meaning of the Code of Civil Procedure, sections 633 and 637

Chief Court to be deemed a High Court within Act X of 1877, sections 633 and 637

CHAPTER IV

OF THE JURISDICTION AND POWERS OF THE SUBORDINATE CIVIL COURTS

30 Subject to the general superintendence and control of the Chief Court,— every Commissioner shall control (a) the Courts of all Deputy Commissioners, (b) the Courts of all persons invested under section nine with the powers of a Commissioner within his division, and (c) the Courts controlled by the Deputy Commissioners within his division, and subject to the control of the Commissioner, every Deputy Commissioner shall control (a) all Courts of the five grades last mentioned in section four and all Courts of Small Causes, and (b) all Courts of persons invested under section nine with the powers of a Deputy Commissioner within his district.

31 Except as otherwise provided by any enactment for the time being in force, the Court of the Deputy Commissioner of a district shall be deemed to be the District Court or principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in such district

32 Except as otherwise provided by any enactment for the time being in force,—

(a) the Court of the Deputy Commissioner shall have jurisdiction for the adjudication of original civil suits without limit as regards the amount or value of the subject-matter of such suits, and

(b) each of the Courts mentioned in the first column of the subjoined table shall have jurisdiction for the adjudication of such suits when such amount or value does not exceed the limit prescribed for such Court in the second column of the said table —

Court	Limit of jurisdiction
	Rs
(a) The Court of the Assistant Commissioner with full powers	10,000
(b) The Court of the Assistant Commissioner with special powers	500
(c) The Court of the Assistant Commissioner with ordinary powers	100
(d) The Court of the Tahsildar with special powers	300
(e) The Court of the Tahsildar with ordinary powers	50

33 Any Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may exercise, as regards the Courts under his control, the same powers of withdrawal, trial, disposal and transfer as are conferred by section sixteen on the Chief Court

The Court trying any suit withdrawn under this section from a Court of Small Causes shall, for the purposes of such suit, be deemed to be a Court of Small Causes

The Local Government may, from time to time, confer on any Assistant Commissioner the powers of a Deputy Commissioner under this section, and withdraw the same

34. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Civil Procedure, every Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner may by written order direct that any civil business cognizable by his Court and the Courts under his control (including the execution of decrees) shall be distributed among such Courts in such manner as he thinks fit

Provided that no direction issued under this section shall empower any Court to exercise any jurisdiction in any suit of which the amount or value of the subject-matter exceeds its proper jurisdiction

Provided also that no such direction shall be inconsistent with any direction or notification issued by the Local Government under section twelve or thirteen

35. The ministerial officers of the Courts of the Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners and Courts of Small Causes shall be appointed, and may be suspended and dismissed, by the Judges of those Courts respectively, whose orders in such matters shall, in the case of a Commissioner, be final, and, in the case of a Deputy Commissioner and the Judge of a Court of Small Causes, be subject to the general control of the Commissioner

The ministerial officers of all Courts controlled by a Deputy Commissioner other than a Court of Small Causes shall be appointed, and may be suspended and dismissed, by the Deputy Commissioner, but subject to the general control of the Commissioner

Every appointment under this section shall be made subject to such rules as the Local Government from time to time prescribes in this behalf

The present ministerial officers of the Courts subordinate to the Chief Court shall be deemed to have been appointed under this section

36 The Judge or presiding officer of every Court under the control of a Deputy Commissioner may by written order direct that any civil business cognizable by his Court and the Courts under his control (including the execution of decrees) shall be distributed among such Courts in such manner as he thinks fit

The Deputy Commissioner, subject to the general control of the Commissioner, may on appeal or otherwise reverse or modify any such order made by any such Judge or officer other than a Judge of a Court of Small Causes, and may of his own motion fine up to the amount of one month's salary any ministerial officer of any Court under his control other than a Court of Small Causes

Any Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner and the Judge of any Court of Small Causes may fine any ministerial officer of his Court in an amount not exceeding one month's salary

CHAPTER V

OF APPELLATE JURISDICTION

37 When by any law for the time being in force an appeal is allowed from any decree or order passed or made by a Civil Court of original jurisdiction, and no provision applicable to the territories to which this Act extends is made by such law for determining the Court to which such appeal shall lie, such appeal shall lie as follows, that is to say —

(a) when such decree or order is passed or made by the Court of a Tahsildár or of an Assistant Commissioner with special or ordinary powers—to the Court of the Deputy Commissioner,

(b) when such decree or order is passed or made by the Court of an Assistant Commissioner with full powers or of a Deputy Commissioner—to the Court of the Commissioner,

(c) when such decree or order is passed or made by the Court of a Commissioner—to the Chief Court

38 When the decision of the Court of a Deputy Commissioner or Commissioner passed in appeal under section thirty-seven reverses or modifies the decree or order of the Court of original jurisdiction, and is not declared by any law for the time being in force to be final, the Court of the Commissioner, when such decision has been passed by the Court of a Deputy Commissioner, and the Chief Court, when such decision has been passed by the Court of a Commissioner, may receive a further appeal, if, on a perusal of the grounds of appeal and of copies of the judgments of the lower Courts, it is of opinion that a further consideration of the case is requisite for the ends of justice.

39 The following clause shall be added to the Code of Civil Procedure, section 581 —

“(d) the existence or non-existence, validity or invalidity, of a custom alleged to have the force of law”

The words “second appeal” in section 585 of the same Code shall be deemed to include an appeal against the order of the Court of a Commissioner passed under section thirty-eight of this Act

In modification of the same Code, section 586, a further appeal may be received under section thirty-eight of this Act in any suit of the nature cognizable in Courts of Small Causes when the amount or value of the subject-matter of the original suit is less than five hundred rupees. Provided that no such appeal shall lie when such amount or value does not exceed the sum of fifty rupees

40. The period of limitation for an appeal under section thirty-seven, thirty-eight or thirty-nine shall run from the date of the decree, order or decision appealed against, and shall be as follows, that is to say —

(a) when such appeal lies to the Court of a Deputy Commissioner or Commissioner—sixty days,

(b) when such appeal lies to the Chief Court—ninety days

In computing such periods of sixty and ninety days, and in all respects not herein specified, the limitation of such appeals shall be governed by the provisions of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877.

41 Any Civil Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of any of the parties, after giving notice to the parties and hearing such of them as desire to be heard, withdraw any civil appeal pending in any Court under its superintendence or control, and try such appeal itself or transfer the same for trial to any other Court under its superintendence or control and of a grade equal or superior to that of the Court from which such appeal is withdrawn

CHAPTER VI

OF ADVOCATES AND PLEADERS

42 Notwithstanding anything contained in the Pleadings, Mukhtárs and Revenue Agents Act, 1865, sections 45 and 46, no person shall appear, plead or act on behalf of another in any Civil Court unless with the permission of the Chief Court

43 The Chief Court may from time to time make rules to regulate applications for permission to appear, plead or act in all or any of the Courts under its control, and the form in which such permission shall be granted.

44 The Chief Court may at any time, for sufficient reason, withdraw any permission granted under this chapter, or suspend the operation of the same

45 The Chief Court may from time to time by general order in writing fix and regulate the fees which shall be payable upon all proceedings in such Court by any party in respect of the fees of his adversary's pleader

CHAPTER VII

MISCELLANEOUS

46 Except with the consent of the parties, no Judge of any Court shall try any suit or appeal to or in which he is a party or personally interested, or any appeal against a decree or order passed by himself, or shall adjudicate upon any proceeding connected with, or arising out of, such suit or appeal

When any such suit, appeal or proceeding comes before him he shall forthwith transmit the record of the case to the Chief Court with a report of the circumstances attending the reference. The Chief Court shall thereupon dispose of the case in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 25

47 All rules made and forms prescribed under section twenty-six and section twenty-seven, clauses (a), (b), (d) and (e), shall be submitted for sanction to the Local Government, and, on receiving such sanction, shall be published in the official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law

48 The Local Government may from time to time, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint a single Judge of the Chief Court to exercise the power of superintendence conferred on such Court by section twenty five, and may cancel such notification

While such notification continues in force, such power shall be exercised by the Judge appointed thereby and not otherwise

49 The Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, declare that a settlement of land revenue is in progress in any local area, and invest any officer making or controlling such settlement with all or any of the powers of any Court constituted under this Act for the purpose of trying all or any specified class of suits and appeals relating to land, or the rent, revenue or produce of such land, arising in such local area

The publication of any notification under this section shall be conclusive evidence that a settlement of land-revenue is in progress in the local area to which the notification refers

The Local Government may cancel any such notification

While such notification continues in force, such powers shall be exercised by the officers so invested and not otherwise

Provided that the Local Government may, by order published in the official Gazette, direct that any jurisdiction with which any officer may have been invested by such notification shall be exercised solely by the Civil Court by which such jurisdiction would have been exercised if such notification had not been published

Provided also that any cases pending before any officer under such notification when it is cancelled may, notwithstanding such cancellation, be disposed of by him as if it continued in force, unless the Local Government directs (as it is hereby empowered to do) that such cases shall be transferred for disposal to the Court by which they would have been disposed of if such notification had not been published

Explanation—In this section “land” means land assessed to the land revenue or whereof the land-revenue has been wholly or in part realised, compounded for, redeemed or assigned, and all land the property of Government not within the site of any town or village

50 For the purposes of section forty-nine the Local Government may, notwithstanding anything herein contained, from time to time direct that any of the Courts hereinbefore mentioned (except the Chief Court) shall, in respect of any specified class of cases, be subordinate to, or subject to the control or superintendence of, any authority other than those herein specified

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making
Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[ Third publication ]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 17th October 1877, and was referred to a Select Committee —

No 18 of 1877

A Bill to amend the North-Western Provinces Land-Revenue Act, 1873

For the purpose of amending the North-Western Provinces Land-Revenue Act, 1873, it is hereby

Preamble
enacted as follows —

Addition to Act XIX of 1873, s 29

1 To section 29 of the same Act the following clause shall be added —

“EXPLANATION — Charges incurred in the preparation of village-maps shall be deemed to be charges within the meaning of this section”

2 In section 194 of the said Act, for the words “otherwise rendered” the words “declared by the Local Government” shall be substituted

Amendment of Act XIX of 1873, s 194

3 To section 199 of the same Act the following Amendment of Act ing clause shall be added XIX of 1873, s 199 (namely) —

“Persons whose property is under the superintendence of the Court of Wards shall not be competent to create, without the sanction of the Court, any charge upon, or interest in, such property or any part thereof”

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The primary object of this Bill, which has been recommended by the Local Government, is to deprive persons whose estates are under the management of the Court of Wards of power to charge or alienate those estates. The opportunity has been taken to make a slight improvement in the wording of section 194 of the North-Western Provinces Land-Revenue Act, 1873, and to remove a doubt as to the power of applying the patwāri-fund raised under section 29 to defray the cost of preparing those village-maps, on which the correctness of the Patwāri's records mainly depends

From the Department of Revenue Agriculture and Commerce No 1264 F, dated 6th October 1877, and enclosure

Note by the Hon ble T C Hope, dated 9th October 1877

2. As Act VII of 1865 has never been extended to Madras or Bombay, and much confusion and uncertainty might be created by its continuing in force in so far as not superseded by the present Bill, we have provided (section 1) for its repeal, as also that of Acts VII of 1869 and XIII of 1873, in any territories to which the present Bill may be extended.

We have also provided that such extension shall be of the whole Bill, and not of parts only since it will always remain optional with Local Governments to exercise or not the powers which any chapter or section confers

3 We have improved the definitions of “Forest-officer” and “Forest-produce,” and have assimilated that of “cattle” to the definition in the Cattle Trespass Act

4 In order to avoid the delay and expense of an elaborate preliminary demarcation, which was objected to in many quarters, we have provided (section 4) that the notification of the proposal to constitute a Reserved Forest may be in general terms, but have indicated more clearly (section 19) that the final demarcation must be precise

5 We have made more clear (section 4) the intention that the Forest Settlement Officer should not, except under very exceptional circumstances, be a Forest-officer But, in deference to representations from British Burma and the North-West Provinces, we have provided an option of entrusting the forest settlement to two or three officers instead of one

6. In order to meet the case of the wild tribes and illiterate persons who will in many instances be the possessors of rights over forest lands, we have allowed (section 6) claims to be preferred orally to the Forest Settlement Officer and made it obligatory on him to take such statements down in writing

7 With the same view we have required (section 7) the Forest Settlement Officer to inquire into the existence of rights, by searching the Government records and taking evidence, even though the people themselves, through ignorance or neglect, may not appear to claim them

8 We have also provided (section 9) for the hearing of claims not preferred within the time prescribed by section 6, whenever claimants can shew sufficient cause for their delay

9 In section 10 we have made more clear the alternative courses which may be pursued in the case of claims to or over land, and have also provided for compensation being given wholly or partly in land where the parties prefer land to money.

10 From section 12 the provisions contained in section 10 of the Bill as introduced for the rejection of rights which were not habitually exercised by the claimants at the time of the notification under section 4, or which were not required for the beneficial use of the land or premises or of the person claiming the same, have been omitted

11 Sections 16 and 17 express more clearly than section 15 of the Bill as introduced the intention of the latter as to the authorities by whom and the manner in which appeals are to be heard

12 We have made a new provision (section 21) for the revision by the Local Government, at any time not exceeding five years from the date of the Notification under section 19, of any settlement effected under section 14 which experience has shewn to be unworkable

13 We have provided (section 24) that rights appendant to any land or house may be freely alienated therewith

14 Section 28 has been amended in phraseology, so as to admit of forests, the use of which is essential to village communities, or in which such communities have rights jointly with Government, being assigned to such communities, under suitable precautions against waste or misappropriation

15 In section 32 of the Bill as introduced it was provided that the provisions of chapter IV, regarding district or (as we prefer to term them) Protected forests, should be without prejudice to all existing rights of individuals or communities. In order, however, that holders of rights may not be put to the inconvenience and expense of proving them in order to establish their immunity from the restrictions of the chapter, we have provided (section 29) that no land shall be constituted a Protected Forest unless the nature and extent of the rights of Government and other persons in it have been enquired into and recorded at a survey or settlement or in some other sufficient manner. At the same time it has been left open to any person to dispute the correctness of such record

16 In section 30 we have inserted a provision to permit of the closing of portions of a Protected Forest for a limited period, provided the remainder of the forest be sufficient and convenient for the exercise of rights thus temporarily suspended in the portion closed. This provision is in accordance with the rules in the North-West Provinces made under the existing law, and is generally considered necessary for purposes of renovation

17 In section 32 we have given power to make rules to regulate the exercise of recorded rights, so as to prevent, in the interest of the community, waste and injury to the forest

18 In order to preclude hardship to the owners of private forests from the operation of chapter V, we have enabled such owners (section 37) to require the Government to acquire the land for public purposes

19 We have added a section (38) to enable Government, at the request of owners of land, either to administer such land as a Reserved or Protected Forest, or to apply to it all or any of the provisions of the Bill. This improvement has been made at the suggestion of the Panjáb Government, with special reference to sacred and other private forests in that province, but we have reason to believe that the option of obtaining for their forest property the same legal protection, and also (if desired) the same skilled administration, as the Government provides for its own, is likely to be welcomed by the owners of rent-free estates and other private property in many parts of India

20 We have restricted (section 39) the power of levying a duty on timber produced in British India to timber in respect of which the Government has any rights. The holders of lands under lakhiraj, inam or other tenures in which forest rights are included will thus not be interfered with. We have likewise validated the levy of such duties now existing, which are numerous in certain parts of India

21 In section 45 we have empowered the Local Government to exempt any particular class of timber from the operation of the section, partly in order not to interfere with the collection of drift wood for fuel, which is common among the poorer classes in certain localities

22 We have recast the earlier sections of chapter IX, so as to bring them into closer conformity with similar provisions in other special laws.

23 In section 63 we have inserted a provision that no person shall be arrested for any act which is an offence under chapter IV, excepting for a violation of a prohibition under clause (c) of section 30.

24 In section 67 we have restricted the power of Forest-officers, as regards compounding, to the receipt of compensation for damage committed.

25 We have enlarged section 73 by empowering the Local Government to make rules regarding the rewards to be paid to officers and informers out of the proceeds of fines and confiscations, and for the preservation, reproduction and disposal of trees and timber belonging to Government but grown on lands belonging to, or in the occupation of, private persons

26 We have inserted a new section (77) to enable the Government to enforce service in cases where persons are entitled to a share in the produce of forests on the condition of duly performing service in connection with such forests

27 We have carefully considered the objections made by the Government of Madras to the original draft of the Bill which was circulated previous to its introduction into the Council. We are of opinion that the improvements which have now been made in both the language and matter of the Bill are so material as substantially to meet these objections, some of which were based on a misapprehension of what was intended. It appears to us that the Bill, especially considering the latitude for meeting local peculiarities which the power of making rules affords, is now not unsuitable to the circumstances of the Madras Presidency, and is such as might be accepted by the Local Government. At the same time, being permissive in its application, it contains nothing to prevent separate local legislation, if that course should be eventually preferred.

28 The publication ordered by the Council has taken place, but we consider republication to be desirable.

29 We recommend that the Bill as now amended be passed

CHAPTER II

OF RESERVED FORESTS.

3 The Local Government may, from time to time, constitute any forest-land or waste-land which is the property of Government, or over which the Government has proprietary rights, or to the whole or any part of the forest-produce of which the Government is entitled, a Reserved Forest in the manner hereinafter provided

4 Whenever it is proposed to constitute any land a Reserved Forest, the Local Government shall publish a notification in the official Gazette—

(a) declaring that it is proposed to constitute such land a Reserved Forest,

(b) specifying the limits of such forest,

(c) appointing an officer (hereinafter called "the Forest Settlement Officer") to enquire into and determine the existence, nature and extent of any rights alleged to exist in favour of any person to or over any land comprised within such limits, or to or over any forest-produce, and to deal with the same as provided in this chapter

Explanation 1—For the purpose of clause (b) of this section it shall be sufficient to describe the limits of the forest by roads, rivers, ridges or other well-known or readily intelligible boundaries

Explanation 2—The officer appointed under clause (c) of this section shall ordinarily not be a Forest-officer

Nothing in this section shall prevent the Local Government from appointing any number of officers not exceeding three, not more than one of whom shall be a Forest-officer, to perform the duties of a Forest Settlement Officer under this Act

5 During the interval between the publication of such notification and the date fixed by the notification under section nineteen, no right shall be acquired to, over, or in respect of the land comprised in such notification, except under a grant or contract in writing made or entered into by or on behalf of Government or of some person in whom such right was vested when the former notification was issued, and no fresh clearings for cultivation or for any other purpose shall be made in such land

6 When a notification has been issued under section four, the Forest Settlement Officer shall publish in the language of the country in every town and village in the neighbourhood of the land comprised therein, a proclamation—

(a) specifying the limits of the proposed forest,

(b) explaining the consequences which, as hereinafter provided, will ensue on the reservation of such forest, and

(c) fixing a period of not less than three months from the date of such proclamation, and requiring every person claiming any right as aforesaid either to present to such officer within such period a written notice specifying, or to appear before him and state, the nature of such right and the amount and particulars of the compensation (if any) claimed in respect thereof.

7 The Forest Settlement Officer shall—

(a) take down in writing all statements made under section six, and shall, at some convenient place, enquire into—

Enquiry by Forest Settlement Officer

(b) all claims duly preferred under section six, and

(c) the existence of any rights as aforesaid, so far as the same may be ascertainable from the records of Government and the evidence of any persons likely to be acquainted with the same

8.° For the purposes of such enquiry, the Forest

Powers of Forest Settlement Officer

Settlement Officer may exercise the following powers, that is to say—

(a) power to enter, by himself or any officer authorized by him for the purpose, upon any land, and to survey, demarcate, and make a map of the same,

(b) the powers of a Civil Court in the trial of suits

9 The following rights shall be extinguished—

Exinction of rights

(a) rights in respect of which no such claim has been so preferred, if the person claiming them fails, before the notification under section nineteen is published, to satisfy the Forest Settlement Officer that he had sufficient cause for not preferring such claim within such period, and

(b) rights of the existence of which no knowledge has been acquired by enquiry under section seven, clause (c)

any land, the Forest Settlement Officer shall pass an order admitting or rejecting the same in whole or in part

If such claim is admitted in whole or in part, the Forest Settlement Officer shall either (1) exclude such land from the limits of the proposed Forest, or (2) come to an agreement with the owner thereof for the surrender of his rights, or (3) proceed to acquire such land in the manner provided by the Land Acquisition Act, 1870

For the purpose of so acquiring such land—

(a) the Forest Settlement Officer shall be deemed to be a Collector proceeding under the Land Acquisition Act, 1870,

(b) the claimant shall be deemed to be a person interested and appearing before him in pursuance of a notice given under section nine of that Act,

(c) the provisions of the preceding sections of that Act shall be deemed to have been complied with, and

(d) the Collector, with the consent of the claimant, or the Court, with the consent of both parties, may award compensation in land or partly in land and partly in money

11 In the case of a claim to rights of pasture

Order on claims

or to forest-produce, the Forest Settlement Officer shall pass an order admitting or rejecting the same in whole or in part.

12 The Forest Settlement Officer, when passing

Record to be made by Forest Settlement Officer any order under section eleven, shall record, so far as may be practicable,

(a) the name, father's name, caste, residence and occupation of the person claiming the right,

(b) the designation, position and area of all fields or groups of fields, and the designation and position of all buildings in respect of which the exercise of such rights is claimed

13 If the Forest Settlement Officer admits in Record where he admits claim whole or in part any claim under section eleven, he shall also record the extent to which the claim is so admitted, specifying the number and description of the cattle which the claimant is from time to time entitled to graze in the forest, the season during which such pasture is permitted, the quantity of timber and other forest-produce which he is from time to time authorised to take or receive, or such other particulars as the case may require. He shall also record whether the timber or other forest-produce obtained by the exercise of the rights claimed may be sold or bartered

14 After making such record the Forest

Exercise of rights admitted or modified

Settlement Officer shall, to the best of his ability, and having due regard to the maintenance of the Reserved Forest in respect of which the claim is made, pass such orders as will ensure the continued exercise of the rights so admitted or modified. For this purpose the Forest Settlement Officer may—

(a) set out some other forest-tract of sufficient extent, and in a locality reasonably convenient for the purposes of such claimants, and record in order conferring upon them a right to pasture or to forest-produce (as the case may be) to the extent so admitted, or

(b) so alter the limits of the proposed Forest as to exclude forest-land of sufficient extent, and in a locality reasonably convenient for the purposes of the claimants, or

(c) record an order, continuing to such claimants a right to pasture or to forest-produce (as the case may be), to the extent so admitted, at such seasons, within such portions of the proposed Forest and under such rules as may from time to time be prescribed by the Local Government

15 In case the Forest Settlement Officer finds

Commutation of rights

it impossible, having due regard to the maintenance of the Reserved Forest, to make such settlement under section fourteen as shall ensure the continued exercise of the said rights to the extent so admitted, he shall (subject to such rules as the Local Government may from time to time prescribe in this behalf) commute such rights, either by the payment to such persons of a sum of money in lieu thereof, or by the grant of land, or in such other manner as he thinks fit

16 Any person who has made a claim under this Act, or any Forest Officer or other person generally or specially empowered by the Local Government in this behalf, may, within three months from the date of the order passed on such claim by the Forest Settlement Officer under section ten, eleven, fourteen or fifteen, present an appeal from such order to—

(a) such officer of the Revenue Department, of rank not lower than that of a Collector or Deputy Commissioner, as the Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette appoint by name, or is holding an office, to hear appeals from such orders, or

(b) a Court (hereinafter called the Forest Court) composed of three persons to be appointed by the Local Government to hear appeals from such orders

17. Every appeal under section sixteen shall be made by petition in writing, and may be delivered to the Forest Settlement Officer, who shall forward it to the authority competent to hear the same

If the appeal be to the officer appointed under section sixteen, clause (a), it shall be heard in the manner prescribed for the hearing of appeals in matters relating to land-revenue

If the appeal be to the Forest Court, the Court shall fix a day and a convenient place in the neighbourhood of the proposed forest for hearing the appeal and shall give notice thereof to the parties, and shall hear such appeal accordingly

The order passed thereon by such officer or Court, or by the majority of the members of such Court, shall be final, subject to revision by the Local Government

18 The Local Government may appoint any person to appear, plead and act on behalf of the Government before the Forest Settlement Officer or the appellate officer or Court in the course of any inquiry or appeal under this Act

19 When the following events have occurred (namely)—

(a) the period fixed under section six for preferring claims has elapsed, and all claims (if any) made within such period have been disposed of by the Forest Settlement Officer, and

(b) such claims have been made, and the period limited by section sixteen for appealing from the orders passed on such claims has elapsed, and all appeals (if any) presented within such period have been disposed of by the appellate officer or Court, and

(c) all lands (if any) to be included in the proposed forest, which the Forest Settlement Officer has, under section ten, elected to acquire under the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, have become vested in the Government under section sixteen of that Act, the Local Government may publish a notification in the official Gazette specifying definitely, according to boundary marks erected or otherwise, the limits of the forest which it is intended to reserve, and declaring the same to be reserved from a date fixed by such notification

From the date so fixed, such forest shall be deemed to be a Reserved Forest

20 The Forest-officer shall, before the date fixed by such notification, cause a translation thereof into the language of the district to be affixed in some conspicuous place in every town and

21 The Local Government may, within five years from the publication of any notification under section nineteen, revise any arrangement made by the Forest Settlement Officer under section fourteen, and may, for this purpose, rescind or modify any order made under that section, and direct that any one of the proceedings specified in section fourteen be taken in lieu of any other of such proceedings, or that the rights admitted under section eleven be commuted under section fifteen

22 Every forest constituted a Reserved Forest, whether under the designation of Government Forest or otherwise, previous to the date on which this Act is extended to the territory in which such forest is situated shall be deemed to have been constituted a Reserved Forest under this Act and the Local Government shall, within twelve months from such date, declare, by notification in the official Gazette, what forests shall be deemed to have been so constituted

Provided that, if any rights to or over any land or forest-produce are claimed in such Reserved Forest, and such claims have not already been enquired into and settled, the Local Government may direct that such claims shall be inquired into and settled in the manner provided by this Act.

23 No right of any description shall be acquired to, over, or in respect of, a Reserved Forest, except under a grant or contract in writing made by or on behalf of the Government

24 No right continued under section fourteen, clause (c), shall be alienated by way of grant, sale, lease, mortgage or otherwise, without the sanction of the Local Government provided that when any such right is appendant to any land or house, it may be sold or otherwise alienated with such land or house

No timber or other forest-produce obtained in exercise of any such right shall be sold or bartered except to such extent as may have been admitted in the order recorded under section thirteen

25 The Forest-officer may, from time to time, with the previous sanction of the Local Government or of any officer duly authorized in that behalf, stop any public or private way or water-course in a Reserved Forest, provided that a reasonably convenient substitute for the way or water-course so stopped already exists, or has been provided or constructed by the Forest-officer in lieu thereof

26. Any person who—

(a) sets fire to a Reserved Forest, or kindles any fire in such manner as to endanger the same, or who, in a Reserved Forest,

(b) kindles, keeps or carries any fire except at such seasons as the Forest officer may from time to time notify in this behalf,

(c) trespasses or grazes cattle or permits cattle to trespass,

(d) causes any damage by negligence in felling or cutting or dragging a tree or

(e) sells, girdles, lops, taps or burns any tree, or strips-off the bark or leaves from, or otherwise damages, the same,

(f) quarries stone, burns lime or charcoal, or collects, subjects to any manufacturing process, or removes therefrom, any forest-produce,

(g) clears or breaks up any land for cultivation or any other purpose,

(h) hurts, shoots, fishes, kills or catches elephants, poisons water, or sets traps or snares in contravention of any rules which the Local Government may from time to time prescribe,

(i) makes any fresh clearing prohibited by section five,

shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or with both, in addition to such compensation for damage done to the forest as the Court may direct to be paid

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit any act done by permission in writing of the Forest-officer, or the exercise of any right continued under section fourteen, clause (c), or created by grant or contract in writing made by or on behalf of Government under section twenty-three

Whenever fire is caused wilfully, or by gross negligence, in a Reserved Forest, the Local Government may (notwithstanding that any penalty has been inflicted under this section) direct that in such forest or any portion thereof the exercise of all rights to pasture or forest-produce shall be suspended for such period as it thinks fit

27 The Local Government may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, by notification in the official Gazette, direct that, from a date fixed by such notification, any forest or any portion thereof reserved under this Act, shall cease to be a Reserved Forest.

From the date so fixed, such forest or portion shall cease to be reserved, but the rights (if any) which have been extinguished therein shall not revive in consequence of such cessation

OF VILLAGE-FORESTS

28 The Local Government may, from time to time, assign to any village community the rights of Government to or over any land which is, or which under this Act might be constituted, a Reserved Forest, and may cancel such assignment. All forests so assigned shall be called Village-forests

The Local Government may make rules for regulating the management of Village-forests, prescribing the conditions under which the community to which any such assignment is made may be provided with timber, or other forest-produce or pasture, and their duties for the protection and improvement of such forest

All provisions of this Act relating to Reserved Forests shall (so far as they are consistent with the rules so made) apply to Village-forests

OF PROTECTED FORESTS

29. The Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, declare any forest to be a "Protected Forest" the provisions of this chapter shall be applicable to any forest-land or waste-land which is not included in a Reserved Forest, but which is property of Government, or over which the Government has proprietary rights, or to the whole or any part of the forest-produce of which the Government is entitled

The forest-land and waste-lands comprised in any such notification shall be called a "Protected Forest"

No such notification shall be made unless the nature and extent of the rights of Government and of private persons in the forest-land or waste-land comprised therein have been enquired into and recorded at a survey or settlement, or in such other manner as the Local Government thinks sufficient

Every such record shall be presumed to be correct until the contrary is proved

30. The Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette,—

(a) declare any class of trees in a protected forest, or any trees in such forest, to be reserved from a date fixed by such notification,

(b) declare from time to time a portion of such forest to be closed for such term not exceeding years as the Local Government thinks fit, and the rights of private persons over such portion shall be suspended during such term, provided that the remainder of such forest be sufficient, and in a locality reasonably convenient, for the due exercise of the rights suspended in the portion so closed,

(c) prohibit, from a date fixed as aforesaid, the quarrying of stone, or the burning of lime or charcoal, or the collection or subjection to any manufacturing process or removal of any forest-produce, in such forest, and the breaking up or clearing for cultivation for building, for herbage, or for any other purpose, any land in any forest, and

(d) alter or cancel such declaration or prohibition

31. The Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the district shall cause translation into the language of the district of every notification issued under section thirty to be affixed in a conspicuous place in every town and village in the neighbourhood of the forest comprised in the notification.

32 The Local Government may, from time to time, make rules to regulate the following matters—

(a) the cutting, sawing, conversion and removal of trees and timber, and the collection, ma-facture and removal of forest-produce from protected forests,

(b) the granting of licenses to the inhabitants of towns and villages in the vicinity of protected forests to take forest-produce for their own use, and the production and return of such licenses by such persons,

(c) the granting of licenses to persons felling or removing trees or timber or other forest-produce from such forests for the purposes of trade and the production and return of such licenses by such persons,

(d) the payments (if any) to be made by the persons mentioned in clauses (b) and (c) of this section for permission to cut such trees, or to collect and remove such timber or other forest-produce,

(e) the other payments, if any, to be made by them in respect of such trees, timber and produce, and the places where such payments shall be made,

(f) the examination of forest-produce passing out of such forests,

(g) the clearing and breaking up of land for cultivation or other purposes in such forests,

(h) the protection from fire of timber lying in such forests and of trees reserved under section thirty,

(i) the cutting of grass and pasturing of cattle in such forests,

(j) hunting, shooting, killing or catching elephants, fishing, poisoning water, and setting traps or snares in such forests,

(k) the protection and management of any portion of a forest closed under section thirty,

(l) the exercise of rights recorded under section twenty-nine

Penalties for acts in contravention of notification under section 30

33 Any person who commits any of the following offences —

(a) fells, girdles, lops, taps or burns any tree reserved under section thirty, or strips off the bark or leaves from, or otherwise damages, any such tree,

(b) contrary to any prohibition under section thirty, quarries any stone, or burns any lime or charcoal, or collects, subjects to any manufacturing process, or removes, any forest-produce,

(c) contrary to any prohibition under section thirty, breaks up or clears for cultivation or any other purpose, any land in any protected forest,

(d) sets fire to such forest, or kindles a fire without taking all reasonable precautions to prevent its spreading to any trees reserved under section thirty, whether standing, fallen or felled, or to any closed portion of such forest,

(e) leaves burning any fire kindled by him in the vicinity of any such trees or timber,

(f) fells any tree or drags any timber so as to damage any tree reserved as aforesaid,

(g) permits cattle to damage any such tree,

(h) infringes any rule made under section thirty-two,

shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or with both.

34 Nothing in this chapter shall be deemed to prohibit any act done with the permission in writing of the Forest-officer, or in accordance with rules made under section thirty-two, or (except as regards any portion of a forest closed under section thirty) in the exercise of any right recorded under section twenty-nine.

CHAPTER V

OF THE CONTROL OVER FORESTS AND LANDS NOT BEING THE PROPERTY OF GOVERNMENT

35 The Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, regulate or prohibit in any forest or waste land—

(a) the breaking up of land for cultivation,
(b) the grazing of cattle,
(c) the firing or clearing of the vegetation, when such regulation or prohibition appears necessary for any of the following purposes —

First — For protection against storms, winds, rolling stones, floods, and avalanches,

Second — For the preservation of the soil on the ridges and slopes, and in the valleys, of hilly tracts, the prevention of landslips and of the formation of ravines and torrents, and the protection of land against erosion, or the deposit thereon of sand, stones or gravel,

Third — For the maintenance of a water-supply in springs, rivers and tanks,

Fourth — For the protection of roads, bridges, railways and other lines of communication,

Fifth — For the preservation of the public health, and may alter or cancel such notification

The Local Government may, for any such purpose, construct at its own expense, in or upon any such forest or waste-land, such works as it thinks fit

Provided that no such notification shall be made or work begun until after the issue of a notice to the owner of such forest or land, calling on him to shew cause, within a reasonable period to be specified in such notice, why such notification should not be made or work constructed, and until his objections (if any) and any evidence he may produce in support of the same, have been heard by an officer duly appointed in that behalf, and have been considered by the Local Government

36 In case of neglect of, or wilful disobedience to, any regulation or prohibition under section thirty-five, or if the purposes of any work to be constructed under that section so require, the Local Government may, after notice in writing to the owner of such forest or land, and after considering his objections (if any), place the same under the control of a Forest-officer, and may declare that all or any of the provisions of this Act relating to Reserved Forests shall apply to such forest or land

The nett profits (if any) arising from the management of such forest or land shall be paid to the said proprietor

37 In any case under this chapter in which the Local Government considers that, in lieu of placing the forest or land under the control of a Forest-officer, the same should be acquired for public purposes, the Local Government may proceed to acquire it in the manner prescribed by the Land Acquisition Act, 1870

The owner of any forest or land comprised in any notification under section thirty-five may, at any time not less than three or more than twelve years from the date thereof, require that such forest or land shall be acquired for public purposes, and the Local Government shall acquire such forest or land accordingly

38 The owner of any land or, if there be more than one person interested therein, any such persons interested in the aggregate in not less than two-thirds of the area thereof may, with a view to the formation or conservation of forests thereon, represent in writing to the Collector or Deputy Commissioner their desire—

(a) that such land be managed on their behalf by the Forest officer as a Reserved or a Protected Forest on such terms as may be mutually agreed upon, or

(b) that all or any of the provisions of this Act be applied to such land

In either case, the Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, apply to such land such provisions of this Act as it thinks suitable to the circumstances thereof and as may be desired by the applicants

Any such notification may be altered or cancelled

CHAPTER VI

OF THE DUTY ON TIMBER.

39 The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General* in Council, may levy a duty in such manner, at such places, and at such rates as it may, from time to time, prescribe by notification in the official Gazette, on all timber

(a) which is produced in British India, and in respect of which the Government has any right,

(b) which is brought from any place beyond the frontier of British India

In every case in which such duty is directed to be levied ad valorem, the Local Government may, with the like sanction, from time to time fix, by like notification, the value on which such duty shall be assessed

All such duties, which, at the time when this chapter is extended to any territory, are levied therein under the authority of the Local Government, shall be deemed to be and to have been duly levied under the provisions of this Act.

40 Nothing in this chapter shall be deemed to limit the amount chargeable as purchase-money or royalty on any timber or other forest-produce, although the same is levied on such timber or produce while in transit, in the same manner as duty is levied.

CHAPTER VII

OF THE CONTROL OF TIMBER AND OTHER FOREST-PRODUCE IN TRANSIT

41 The control of all rivers and their banks as regards the floating of timber, as well as the control of all timber and other forest-produce in transit by land or water, is vested in the Local Government, and it may, from time to time, make rules to regulate the transit of all timber and other forest-produce

Such rules may (among other matters)—

(a) prescribe the routes by which alone timber and other forest-produce may be imported, exported or moved, into, from, or within, British India,

(b) prohibit the import and export or moving of such timber or other produce without a pass from an officer duly authorized to issue the same, or otherwise than in accordance with the conditions of such pass,

(c) provide for the issue, production and return of such passes and for the payment of fees therefor,

(d) provide for the stoppage, reporting, examination and marking of timber or other forest-produce in transit, in respect of which there is reason to believe that any money is payable to Government on account of the price thereof, or on account of any duty, fee or charge due thereon, or to which it is desirable for the purposes of this Act to affix a mark,

(e) provide for the establishment and regulation of depôts, to which such timber or other produce shall be taken by those in charge of it for examination, or for the payment of such money, or in order that such marks may be affixed to it, the conditions under which such timber or other produce shall be brought to, stored at, and removed from, such depôt,

(f) prohibit the closing up or obstructing of the channel or banks of any river used for the transit of timber or other forest-produce, and the throwing of grass, brushwood, branches and leaves into any such river, or any act which may cause such river to be closed or obstructed,

(g) provide for the prevention and removal of any obstruction of the channel or banks of any such river, and for recovering the cost of such prevention or removal from the person whose acts or negligence necessitated the same,

(h) prohibit absolutely or subject to conditions, within specified local limits, the establishment of saw-pits, the converting, cutting, burning, concealing or marking of timber, the altering or effacing of any marks on the same, and the possession or carrying of marking-hammers or other implements used for marking timber,

(i) regulate the use of property-marks for timber, and the registration of such marks, prescribe the time for which such registration shall hold good, limit the number of such marks that may be registered by any one person, and provide for the levy of fees for such registration

42 The Local Government may by such rules prescribe, as penalties for the infringement thereof, imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or fine not exceeding five hundred rupees or both. Double penalties may be inflicted in cases where the offence is committed after sunset and before sunrise, after preparation for resistance to lawful authority, or if the offender has been previously convicted of a like offence.

43. The Government shall not be responsible for any loss or damage which may occur in respect of any timber or other forest-produce while at a dépôt established under a rule made under section forty-one, or while detained elsewhere for the purposes of this Act, and no Forest-officer shall be responsible for any such loss or damage unless he causes such loss or damage negligently, maliciously or fraudulently.

44 In case of any accident or emergency involving danger to any property at any such dépôt, every person employed at such dépôt, whether by the Government or by any private person, shall render assistance to any Forest-officer or Police-officer demanding his aid in averting such danger and securing such property from damage or loss.

CHAPTER VIII

OF THE COLLECTION OF DRIFT AND STRANDED TIMBER

45 All timber found adrift, beached, stranded, or sunk, and all unmarked wood and timber, or wood or timber bearing marks which have not been registered under section forty-one, or on which the marks have been obliterated, altered or defaced by fire or otherwise, shall be deemed to be the property of Government unless and until any person establish his right and title thereto, as provided in this chapter.

Such timber may be collected by any Forest-officer or other person entitled to collect the same by virtue of any rule made under section fifty-one, and may be brought to such dépôts as the Forest-officer may from time to time notify as dépôts for the reception of drift-timber.

The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, exempt any class of timber from the provisions of this section, and withdraw such exemption.

46 Public notice shall from time to time be given by the Forest-officer, of timber collected under section forty-five. Such notice shall contain a description of the timber and shall require any person claiming the same to present to such officer within a period not less than two months from the date of such notice a written statement of such claim.

47. When any such statement is presented as aforesaid, the Forest-officer may, after making such enquiry as he thinks fit, either reject the claim after recording his reasons for so doing, or deliver the timber to the claimant.

If such timber is claimed by more than one person, the Forest-officer may either deliver the same to any of such persons whom he deems entitled thereto, or may refer the claimants to the Civil Courts, and retain the timber pending orders from any such Court for its disposal.

Any person whose claim has been rejected under this section may, within two months from the date of such rejection, institute a suit to recover possession of the timber claimed by him, but no person shall recover any compensation or costs against the Government, or against any Forest-officer, on account of such rejection, or the detention or removal of any timber, or the delivery thereof to any other person under this section.

No such timber shall be subject to process of any Civil, Criminal, or Revenue Court until it has been delivered, or a suit has been brought, as provided in this section.

48 If no such statement is presented as aforesaid, or if the claimant omits to prefer his claim in the manner and within the period prescribed by the notice issued under section forty-six, or, on such claim having been so preferred by him and having been rejected, omits to institute a suit to recover possession of such timber within the further period limited by section forty-seven, the ownership of such timber shall vest in the Government, or when such timber has been delivered to another person under section forty-seven, in such other person, free from all encumbrances.

49. The Government shall not be responsible for any loss or damage which may occur in respect of any timber collected under section forty-five, and no Forest-officer shall be responsible for any such loss or damage, unless he causes such loss or damage negligently, maliciously or fraudulently.

50. No person shall be entitled to recover possession of any timber collected or delivered as aforesaid until he has paid to the Forest-officer or other person entitled to receive it such sums on account of the collection thereof as may be due under any rule made in pursuance of section fifty-one.

51 The Local Government may from time to time make rules to regulate the following matters (namely) —

- (a) the salving, collection and disposal of all timber mentioned in section forty-five,
- (b) the use and registration of boats used in salving and collecting timber,
- (c) the amounts to be paid for salving, collecting, moving, storing and disposal of such timber,
- (d) the use and registration of hammers and other instruments to be used for marking such timber.

The Local Government may from time to time prescribe as penalties for the infringement of any rules made under this section, imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or both

GENERAL

A—Of Penalties

52. When there is reason to believe that a forest-offence has been committed in respect of any forest-produce, such produce, together with all tools, boats, carts and cattle used in committing such offence, may be seized by any Forest-officer or Police-officer.

Every officer seizing any property under this section shall place on such property a mark indicating that the same has been so seized, and shall, as soon as may be, make a report of such seizure to the Magistrate having jurisdiction to try the offence on account of which the seizure has been made

Provided that when the forest-produce with respect to which such offence is believed to have been committed is the property of Government, and the offender is unknown, it shall be sufficient of the officer makes, as soon as may be, a report of the circumstances to his official superior

53. Upon the receipt of any such report the Magistrate shall with all convenient despatch, take such measures as may be necessary for the arrest and trial of the offender and the disposal of the property according to law

54. All timber or forest-produce which is not the property of Government and in respect of which a forest-offence has been committed, and all tools, boats, carts and cattle used in committing any such offence, shall be liable to confiscation

Such confiscation may be in addition to any other punishment prescribed for such offence

55. When the trial of any forest-offence is concluded, any forest-produce in respect of which such offence has been committed shall, if it is the property of Government or has been confiscated, be taken charge of by a Forest-officer, and in any other case may be disposed of in such manner as the Court may direct

56. When the offender is not known, or cannot be found, the Magistrate may, if he finds that an offence has been committed, order the property in respect of which the offence has been committed to be confiscated and taken charge of, by the Forest-officer, or to be made over to the person whom he deems to be entitled to the same

Provided that no such order shall be made until the expiration of one month from the date of seizing such property, or without hearing the person (if any) claiming any right thereto, and the evidence (if any) which he may produce in support of his claim

57. The Magistrate may, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, direct the sale of any property seized under section fifty-two and subject to speedy and natural decay, and may deal with the proceeds as he would have dealt with such property if it had not been sold

58. The officer who made the seizure under section fifty-two, or any of his official superiors, or any person claiming to be interested in the property so seized, may, within one month from the date of such order, appeal therefrom to the Court to which orders made by such Magistrate are ordinarily appealable, and the order passed on such appeal shall be final

59. When an order for the confiscation of any property has been passed under section fifty-four or fifty-six, as the case may be, and the period limited by section fifty-eight for an appeal from such order has elapsed and no such appeal has been preferred, or when, on such an appeal being preferred, the Appellate Court confirms such order in respect of the whole or a portion of such property, such property or such portion thereof, as the case may be, shall vest in the Government free from all encumbrances.

60. Nothing hereinbefore contained shall be deemed to prevent any officer empowered in this behalf by the Local Government from directing at any time the immediate release of any property seized under section fifty-two.

61. Any Forest-officer or Police-officer who vexatiously and unnecessarily seizes any property on pretence of seizing property liable to confiscation under this Act, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or with fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or with both

62. Whoever, with intent to cause damage or injury to the public or to any person, or to cause wrongful gain as defined in the Indian Penal Code,—

(a) knowingly counterfeits upon any timber or standing tree a mark used by Forest-officers to indicate that such timber or tree is the property of the Government or of some person, or that it may lawfully be cut or removed by some person, or

(b) alters, defaces or obliterates any such mark placed on a tree or on timber by or under the authority of a Forest-officer, or

(c) alters, moves, destroys or defaces any boundary-mark of a Reserved Forest, shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both

B—Of Criminal Procedure

63 Any Forest-officer or Police-officer may, without orders from a Magistrate and without a warrant, arrest any person against whom a reasonable suspicion exists of his having been concerned in any forest-offence punishable with imprisonment for one month or upwards.

Every officer making an arrest under this section shall without unnecessary delay take or send the person arrested before the Magistrate having jurisdiction in the case.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorize such arrest for any act which is an offence under chapter IV of this Act, unless such act has been prohibited under section thirty, clause (c).

64. Every Forest-officer and Police-officer shall prevent, and may interfere for the purpose of preventing, the commission of any forest-offence.

65. The Magistrate of the district, and any Magistrate of the first class specially empowered in this behalf by the Local Government, may try summarily under the Code of Criminal Procedure, any forest-offence punishable with imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

66. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to prevent any person from being prosecuted under any other law for any act or omission which constitutes an offence against this Act or the rules made under it, or from being liable under such other law to any higher punishment or penalty than that provided by the rules made under this Act. Provided that no person shall be punished twice for the same offence.

67 The Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, empower any Forest-officer by name, or as holding an office, to accept from any person against whom a reasonable suspicion exists that he has committed any forest-offence other than an offence under section sixty-one or section sixty-two a sum of money by way of compensation for any damage which may have been committed, and may release any property which has been seized on payment of the value thereof as estimated by such officer.

On the payment of such sum of money to such officer, the accused person, if in custody, shall be discharged, any property seized as liable to confiscation in respect of such offence shall be released, and no further proceedings shall be taken under this Act against such person or property, but nothing herein contained shall exempt him from prosecution on the same facts under any other law for the time being in force.

68. When in any proceedings taken under this Act, or in consequence of anything done under this Act, a question arises as to whether any timber is the property of the Government, such timber shall be presumed to be the property of the Government until the contrary is proved.

C—Of Cattle-trespass

69 Cattle trespassing in a Reserved Forest, or in any portion of a Protected Forest which has been lawfully closed to grazing, shall be deemed to be cattle doing damage to a public plantation within the meaning of the eleventh section of the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871, and may be seized and impounded as such by any Forest-officer or Police-officer.

70 The Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, direct that, in lieu of the fines fixed by the twelfth section of the Act last aforesaid, there shall be levied for each head of cattle impounded under section sixty-nine of this Act, such fines as it thinks fit, but not exceeding the following, that is to say—

For each elephant	ten rupees
For each buffalo or camel	two "
For each horse, mare, gelding, pony, colt, filly, mule, bull, bullock, cow or heifer	one rupee
For each calf, ass, pig, ram, ewe, sheep, lamb, goat or kid	eight annas

D.—Miscellaneous

71 Every person who exercises any right in a Protected Forest, or in a Reserved Forest, or who is permitted to take any forest-produce from, or to cut and remove timber or to pasture cattle in, such forest, and every person who is employed by any such person in such forest, and every person in any village contiguous to such forest who is employed by the Government, or who receives emoluments from the Government for services to be performed to the community, shall be bound to furnish without unnecessary delay to the nearest Forest-officer or Police-officer any information he may possess respecting the commission of, or intention to commit, any forest-offence, and shall assist any Forest-officer or Police-officer demanding his aid.

(a) in extinguishing any fire occurring in such forest,

(b) in preventing any fire which may occur in the vicinity of such forest from spreading to such forest,

(c) in preventing the commission in such forest of any forest-offence,

(d) when there is reason to believe that any such offence has been committed in such forest, in discovering and arresting the offender.

72 The Local Government may invest any Forest-officer by name, or as holding an office, with the following powers, that is to say—

(a) power to enter upon any land and to survey, demarcate, and make a map of the same,

(b) the powers of a Civil Court to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents,

(c) power to issue a search-warrant under chapter XXVII of the Code of Criminal Procedure,

(d) power to hold an enquiry into forest-offences, and, in the course of such enquiry, to record evidence on oath.

Any evidence recorded under clause (d) of this section shall be admissible in any subsequent trial.

before a Magistrate, provided that it has been taken in the presence of the accused person

73 The Local Government may from time to time make rules—

(a) to prescribe and limit the powers and duties of any Forest officer under this Act,

(b) to regulate the rewards to be paid to officers and informers out of the proceeds of fines and confiscations under this Act,

(c) for the preservation, reproduction and disposal of trees and timber belonging to Government, but grown on lands belonging to or in the occupation of private persons, and

(d) generally to carry out the provisions of this Act

74 The Local Government may, in making any rule under this Act for breach of which no special penalty is provided, attach to the breach of it, in addition to any other consequences that would ensue therefrom, the punishment, on conviction before a Magistrate, of imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or both

75 All rules made by the Local Government under this Act shall be published in the official Gazette, and shall, thereupon, so far as they are consistent with this Act, have the force of law

Provided that no rule made under section twenty-eight, thirty-two, or forty-one shall be so published without the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council

76. If the Government and any person be jointly interested in any forest or waste-land, or in the whole or any part of the produce thereof, the Government may, from time to time, either

(a) undertake the management of such forest, waste-land or produce, accounting to such person for his interest in the same, or

(b) issue such regulations for the management of the forest, waste-land or produce by the person so jointly interested as it deems necessary for the management thereof and the interests of all parties therein

When the Government undertakes, under clause (a) of this section, the management of any forest, waste-land or produce, it may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, declare that all or any of the provisions contained in chapters II and IV of this Act shall apply to such forest, waste-land or produce, and thereupon such provisions shall apply accordingly

77. If any person be entitled to a share in the produce of any forest which is the property of Government or over which the Government has proprietary rights, or to the whole or any part of the forest-produce of which the Government is entitled, upon the condition of duly performing any service connected with such forest, such share shall be liable to confiscation on the event of the fact being established to the satisfaction of the Local Government that such service is no longer so performed. Provided that no such share shall be confiscated until the person entitled thereto, and the evidence (if any) which he may produce in proof of the due performance of such service have been heard by an officer duly appointed in that behalf by the Local Government

78. All money payable to the Government under this Act, or under any rule made under this Act, or on account of the price of any forest-produce, or of expenses incurred in the execution of this Act in respect of such produce, may, if not paid when due, be recovered under the law for the time being in force as if it were an arrear of land-revenue

79. When any such money is payable for or in respect of any forest-produce, the amount thereof shall be deemed to be a first charge on such produce, and such produce may be taken possession of by a Forest-officer until such amount has been paid

If such amount is not paid when due, the Forest-officer may sell such produce by public auction, and the proceeds of the sale shall be applied first in discharging such amount

The surplus (if any), if not claimed within two months from the date of the sale by the person entitled thereto, shall be forfeited to Her Majesty

80. All Forest-officers shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code

81. No suit shall lie against any public servant for anything done by him in good faith under this Act.

82. Except with the permission in writing of the Local Government, no Forest-officer shall, as principal or agent, trade in timber or other forest-produce, or be or become interested in any lease of any forest or in any contract for working any forest, whether in British or Foreign territory

83 Whenever it appears to the Local Government that any land is required for any of the purpose of this Act such land shall be deemed to be needed for a public purpose within the meaning of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, section four

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 24th October 1877, and was referred to a Select Committee —

No 19 of 1877.

A Bill to amend the Panjáb Laws Act, 1872

For the purpose of amending the Panjáb Laws Act, 1872, it is hereby enacted as follows —

Preamble

Substitution of new section for Act IV of 1872, s 5

1 For section 5 of the said Act the following shall be substituted (namely) —

“5 In questions regarding succession, special property of females, betrothal, marriage, divorce, dower, adoption, guardianship, minority, bastardy, family relations, wills, legacies, gifts, partitions, or any religious usage or institution, the rule of decision shall be—

Decisions in certain cases to be according to Native law

(a) any custom applicable to the parties concerned, which is not contrary to justice, equity or good conscience, and has not been, by this or any other enactment, altered or abolished, and has not been declared to be void by any competent authority

(b) the Muhammadan law, in cases where the parties are Muhammadans, and the Hindú law, in cases where the parties are Hindús, except in so far as such law has been altered or abolished by legislative enactment, or is opposed to the provisions of this Act, or has been modified by any such custom as is above referred to”

2 For sections 9 to 18 (both inclusive) of the same Act, the following shall be substituted —

Substitution of new sections for Act IV of 1872, ss 9 to 18

“9 The right of pre-emption is a right of the persons hereinafter mentioned or referred to, to acquire, in the cases hereinafter specified, immoveable property in preference to all other persons. It arises in respect of sales (whether under a decree or otherwise) of immoveable property and of foreclosures of rights to redeem such property

“10 Unless the existence of any custom or contract to the contrary is proved, such right shall, whether recorded in the settlement-record or not, be presumed—

(a) to exist in all village-communities, however constituted, and

(b) to extend to the village-site, to the houses built upon it, to all lands and shares of lands within the village-boundary, and to all transferable rights of occupancy affecting such lands

“11. The right of pre-emption shall not be presumed to exist in any town or city, or any sub-division thereof, but may be shown to exist therein, and to be exercisable therein by such persons and under such circumstances as the local custom prescribes

“12 If the property to be sold or the right to redeem which is to be foreclosed is situate within, or is a share of, a village, the right to buy or redeem such property belongs, in the absence of a custom to the contrary,

(a) first, to co-sharers in the village, in order of their relationship to the vendor or mortgagor,

(b) secondly, if no relation of the vendor or mortgagor claims to exercise such right, to the landowners of the patti or other sub-division of the village in which the property is situate, jointly,

(c) thirdly, to any member of the village-community, and

(d) fourthly, to the tenants (if any) with rights of occupancy in the village

Provided that when the property is land, to the trees standing on which the Government is entitled, such right belongs to the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb in preference to all other persons

Where two or more persons are equally entitled to such right, the person to exercise the same shall be determined by lot.

“12 A When the property to be sold or the right to redeem which is to be foreclosed is a share in joint undivided immoveable property other than land, such right belongs to the co-sharers

Right when property to be sold is a share in joint undivided immoveable property other than land

“13 When any person proposes to sell any property, or to foreclose the right to redeem any property, in respect of which any persons have a right of pre-emption, he shall give notice to the persons concerned of the price at which he is willing to sell such property, or of the amount due in respect of the mortgage, as the case may be

Such notice shall be given through the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the property or any part thereof is situate, and shall be deemed sufficiently given if it be stuck up on the chaupál or other public place of the village, town or city in which the property is situate

“14 Any person having a right of pre-emption in respect of any property proposed to be sold, shall lose such right, unless within three months from the date of such notice he or his agent pays or tenders the price aforesaid to the person so proposing to sell

“15 When the right of pre-emption arises in respect of the foreclosure of the right to redeem any property, any person entitled to such right may, at any time within three months after the giving of the notice required by section thirteen, pay or tender to the mortgagee or his successor in title the amount specified in such notice, and shall thereupon acquire a right to purchase the property

On completion of the purchase the person exercising the right of pre-emption shall be bound to pay to the mortgagee or his successor in title the amount specified in such notice, together with interest on the principal sum secured by the mortgage, at the rate specified by the instrument of

Loss of right of pre-emption

Right of pre-emptor on foreclosure

mortgage, for any time which has elapsed since the date of the notice, and any additional costs which may have been properly incurred by the mortgagee or his successor in title.

"16 Any person entitled to a right of pre-emption may bring a suit to enforce such right on any of the following grounds (namely) —

(a) that no due notice was given as required by section thirteen,

(b) that tender was made under section fourteen or section fifteen and refused,

(c) in the case of a sale, that the price stated in the notice was not fixed in good faith,

(d) in the case of a foreclosure, that the amount claimed by the mortgagee was not really due on the footing of the mortgage and was not claimed in good faith, and that it exceeds the fair market-value of the property mortgaged

If, in the case of a sale, the Court finds that the price was not fixed in good faith, the Court shall fix such price as appears to it to be the fair market-value of the property sold

If, in the case of a foreclosure, the Court finds that the amount claimed by the mortgagee was not really due on the footing of the mortgage, and that it was not claimed in good faith, and that it exceeds the fair market-value of the property mortgaged, the amount to be paid to the mortgagee shall not exceed what the Court finds to be such market-value

"17 If the Court find for the plaintiff, the Decree to fix time for payment or before which the purchase-money or the amount to be paid to the mortgagee shall be paid

"18 If such purchase-money or amount is not paid into Court before it rises on that day, the decree shall become void, and the plaintiff shall, so far only as relates to such sale or foreclosure, lose his right of pre-emption over the property to which the decree relates."

3 For section 35 of the same Act the following shall be substituted (namely) —

Substitution of new section for Act IV of 1872, s 35

"35 The Court of Wards may, at its discretion, take charge of, and administer, the estates of all disqualified persons, that is to say —

(a) females deemed by the Local Government incompetent to manage their estates,

(b) persons who have not completed the age of eighteen years,

(c) idiots,

(d) lunatics,

(e) persons declared by the Local Government, incapable, owing to physical defects or infirmities, to manage their own estates,

(f) persons convicted of a non-bailable offence and disqualified, in the opinion of the Local Government, by vice or bad character from managing their estates,

(g) persons declared by the Local Government, on their own application, to be disqualified from managing their estates

Provided that the Court of Wards shall not take charge of or administer the estate of any person of any of the classes mentioned in clauses (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this section, unless he has inherited a beneficial interest in an estate for which a settlement was made with his ancestor, or in respect of which he would have been entitled to be settled with, if he had been competent to make an agreement for the payment of revenue, or unless he is entitled by inheritance to an assignment of land-revenue

Provided also that the Court of Wards shall not take charge of, or administer any beneficial interest in, an estate in which more persons than one have a joint undivided interest, unless all such persons are so circumstanced as to be subject to the Court of Wards"

4 To section 38 of the same Act the following clause shall be added (namely) —

Amendment of Act IV of 1872, section 38

"Persons whose property is under the superintendence of the Court of Wards shall not be competent to create, without the sanction of the Court, any charge upon, or interest in, such property or any part thereof"

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The objects of this Bill are four first, to make some necessary amendments in the drafting of the Panjab Laws Act, section 5 secondly, to make like amendments in the sections of that Act relating to pre-emption and to give the Lieutenant-Governor a right of pre-emption in respect of land on which trees belonging to Government are standing thirdly, to extend the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards to the estates of three classes of proprietors, namely, those incapable, owing to physical defects or infirmities, of managing their own estates, those convicted of a non-bailable offence and disqualified by vice or bad character from managing their estates, and those declared, on their own application, to be so disqualified The fourth and last object of the Bill is to render all persons whose property is under the superintendence of the Court of Wards incompetent to charge such property without the sanction of the Court

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 24th October 1877, and was referred to a Select Committee —

No 20 of 1877

A Bill to provide for the recovery in British India of wages due to, and expenses incurred in respect of, certain seamen and apprentices

Whereas by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, section 213, and by the Merchant Shipping Act

Preamble
Amendment Act, 1855, section 16, it is enacted that the Board of Trade may, in manner therein mentioned, and in the name of Her Majesty, sue for and recover the wages due to, and expenses incurred in respect of, the distressed seamen and apprentices in the said sections mentioned, And whereas it is expedient to empower such persons as the Governor General in Council may think fit to sue for and recover in British India in the name of the Secretary of State for India in Council, such wages and expenses, when the same are charged upon any ship, or recoverable from any master, owner or other person, found in British India, It is hereby enacted as follows —

1. The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, authorize, either generally or specially, such persons as he thinks fit to sue for and recover, in manner in the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, section 213, provided, any wages or expenses recoverable under the said sections of the said Acts in cases where such wages and expenses are, under the same sections, a charge upon any ship, or recoverable from any master, owner or other person, within the jurisdiction of any Court in British India. Every person so authorized shall be entitled to sue and recover accordingly in any such Court, and shall be deemed to be a person filing a public office within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, section 57, clause 7.

2 All suits and proceedings under this Act shall be instituted and carried on in the name of the Secretary of State for India in Council.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

By the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, section 213, and 18 & 19 Vict, c 91, section 16, provision is made for the recovery by the Board of Trade of wages due to, and expenses incurred in relieving, distressed seamen and apprentices in foreign and colonial ports. These distressed seamen are in many cases Natives of India, and belong to ships which are either registered in or trade to India, and which are seldom, if ever, found within the ports of the United Kingdom. In such cases the Board of Trade has considerable difficulty in recovering the sums expended. When the distressed seamen are Natives of this country, these expenses are charged to the Indian revenue. It is therefore desirable that the Government of India should be enabled to empower some person here to sue, in case the ships or persons chargeable are found in this country. The Bill effects this object by providing that such suits may be brought in the name of the Secretary of State in Council by such persons as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, generally or specially authorize in that behalf. The Bill will also enable persons so authorized to sue in all cases in which the ships or persons chargeable are found in this country, even though the Indian revenue may not be concerned.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

Weekly condition report of the distressed districts of the Mysore Province

PROVINCE OF MYSORE

(No 36)

Special famine report for the week ending 13th October 1877

Statement No 36, regarding famine relief operations in the Province of Mysore, for the week ending the 13th October 1877

The rainfall has been good in the northern and eastern districts, but lighter in Mysore, Hassan and Kadur. Agricultural prospects are on the whole satisfactory. Ragi is suffering in some taluks from blight, and both that jawari have to a certain extent been injured by excessive rain, but taken altogether the dry crops are thriving well, and the tanks have received sufficient water to assure wet crops wherever sown. Information regarding the area cultivated is not yet supplied, but the Deputy Commissioner's weekly reports state that sowing progresses rapidly, and the funds now placed at the disposal of the district officers to assist the ryots in procuring seed will give a further stimulus. Harvesting continues, and the early crops are everywhere rapidly coming to maturity. The relief thus afforded is very appreciable. Not only are prices falling but the demand for field labor is good. The pressure upon State aid is thus proportionately less, but the condition of those who have suffered by the prolonged drought will for some time tax the utmost energy of the district officers. The Famine Commissioner during the past week has inspected the northern part of the Bangalore District and nearly the whole of the Tumkūr District. He reports the crops there are generally in good condition, but some of the early ragi and most of the jawari have had too much rain. He found a great deal of land unsown, and anticipates that the recent orders about takavi will be of much benefit. The cattle were in excellent condition, pasture being abundant, and the people are improving in health and spirits. At the same time, his inspections of villages have brought to light a great amount of suffering, as much as 20 per cent in each village being estimated to stand in need of relief, but requiring pressure and encouragement to induce the people to avail themselves of it. The famine relief measures cannot therefore be considered complete till the system of village inspection is thoroughly carried out, and that will be done when the additional officers whose services have been applied for and who are now arriving are at their posts. The Chief Engineer has just returned from a tour in Coorg and the Mysore District. The labor market of Coorg is supplied by Mysore immigrants, and he states the coffee planters are glad to employ all comers fit for work. Those reduced by sickness and want have hitherto been sent back to Mysore, but hospitals have now been started in Coorg on a small scale, and it is thought this measure will afford all the relief required at present. In the Mysore District distress has never been so severe, but there too the Chief Engineer found that in spite of promising crops and plenty of field labor, the villages contain many fitting objects for relief who however evince extreme apathy in seeking it, and whom it would be very desirable, especially for the sake of the children, to attract to works.

2 The imports of grain by rail amounted to 4,407 tons, or 1,921 tons more than last week. The imports were received from the following quarters —

	Tons
From Madras	3,769
„ Bey pore and Pulghat	137
„ Negapatam and Trichinopoly	287
„ other places	214
Total	4,407

From Bangalore 1,653 tons or 73 tons less than in the preceding week were exported to the following quarters —

	Tons
Tumkūr	391
Bellary and Chitaldroog	252
Mysore	545
Usur (Salem District)	220
Round Bangalore	245
Total	1,653

3 Prices continue to fall, though in some taluks they have remained stationary and in one or two have even risen a little. The following statement gives the maximum and minimum prices in lbs per rupee and shews a marked improvement —

	Maximum in lbs per rupee		Minimum in lbs per rupee
	2nd sort rice	Ragi	2nd sort rice	Ragi
Bangalore District	14½	14	12	15
Kolar „ (for 4 taluks)	14½	15½	12	13½
Tumkūr „ (for 5 taluks)	12	16	10½	14
Mysore „ (for 4 taluks)	11	16	10	14
Hassan „	11	14	9½	14
Kadur „	12½	16	11	11
Shimoga „	12	16	8	11
Chitaldroog „ (for 6 taluks)	11	20	9½	15½

4 The number of labourers employed on civil relief works was 32,461, or 5,452 more than last week. There was an increase of 4,610 in the Kolar District, of 1,250 in Bangalore and of 1,008 in Shimoga. In Tumkur there was a decrease of 2,224. The general increase is due to works under professional supervision not being everywhere ready to receive labor.

5 Under the Public Works Department, 39,741 laborers were employed, or an increase of 4,211 again occurring almost entirely in the Bangalore and Tumkur Districts. The following is a list of works on which are employed 500 laborers and upwards —

	Number employed
State Railway ..	10,565
Bangalore Water-supply	1,866
Bangalore-Mysore Road	1,988
Bangalore-Tumkur Road	538
Dod Sume Tank	710

Bellary Road	1,436
Mysore Water-supply	2,922
Timmanhalli Tank	1,139
	<hr/> 26,860

In the Tumkur and Bangalore Districts considerable numbers have been successfully transferred from kitchens to works. The improvement in the health and appearance of those transferred is very encouraging.

6 The numbers gratuitously fed in relief camps amounted to 88,757, shewing a decrease of 14,993, distributed as under —

7 The number on civil and professional works amounts to 72,202 compared with 85,757 on charitable relief. The figures for last week were 62,506 and 103,750 respectively. There has been an increase upon both civil and professional works and a decrease in gratuitous feeding; the net decrease of persons relieved on works or charity was 5,297. The special treatment of the sickly and weak, whether in hospitals, relief camps or on works, is daily becoming more effective, and it is hoped has no inconsiderable influence in preventing mortality. The condition of people in their villages is a matter for anxiety, but very active measures are being taken, and there too distress will be dealt with. Open camps are with as much expedition as is safe being converted into closed, and persons in emaciated condition will thus be prevented wandering about till it is too late to save them. The good rainfall and lower prices are working a great change in the general aspect of the people, and this improvement may be expected to continue.

The chief feature of the week's telegraphic news is the excessive rain that has fallen almost throughout Satara, Kaladgi and Belgaum, and to a lesser extent in parts of Sholapur and Dharwar, and in some few places in Ahmednagar and Poona. This heavy rain, besides the absolute damage it does to the crops, has the effect both of delaying the kharif harvest and impeding the rabi sowings.

2 This unfavourable weather, making general prospects worse, is probably the chief cause of the retardation, discernible this week, of the rate at which prices have been falling since the middle of September.

3 However, the number of labourers upon relief works continues to decrease very rapidly. This week gives a fall of 28,156. The reduction is greatest in Belgaum and Dharwar, but there is reduction more or less in every district, except Ahmednagar, and the increase shown in the case of that district seems rather to imply that the approximate estimates of the number of relief labourers upon the railway works in the last two weeks were made too low than that any real increase in the number has since taken place.

4 Cholera continues in Nasik, Ahmednagar and Satara, but the number of fatal cases is not large—only 87 during the week.

5 Written reports have been received from the Collectors of Nasik, Poona, Sholapur and Satara for the week ending the 20th instant, and from the other Collectors for the week ending the 13th instant. More rain is still wanted in the Kandol and Sauda talukas of Khandesh, and the Singamner, Kopergaon and Rahuri talukas of Ahmednagar, but in the Shrigonda and Jamkhed talukas of Ahmednagar, the Siur taluka of Poona, and generally throughout the five Collectorates to the south of Poona, there had already, at the periods to which these reports pertain, been too much rain. And unfortunately the later information by telegraph shows that the rain continued long after these reports were written. The injury done to the warkas crops in the hill villages of the Satara Collectorate seems to be very general, and in Kaladgi not only has the ripening kharif, but also such winter crops as had already been sown, suffered from the heavy rain.

6 The following table gives the expenditure by Government, during the week ending 6th October, upon gratuitous relief, and in payments made to the young children of labourers employed upon relief works. The number of children has fallen during the week from 48,732 to 40,356. The number of persons being gratuitously relieved in the week ending 29th September was taken in last week's statement approximately at 90,862, and this is found to have been nearly correct. The decrease in the week ending 6th October is 2,911 —

8 Tables A and B are brought up to the week ending 13th instant. The number of persons on works under Public Works Department agency in the nine affected districts was at this date 73,091, and on works under Civil agency 16,923. The percentage of persons upon works under Civil Agency has thus fallen during the week from 19 to 18·8 per cent of the whole number employed. The total expenditure upon works in the nine affected districts has amounted to Rs 1,00,61,279, which with the expenditure of Rs 1,29,371 upon works in Ratnagiri and Kanara and Rs 9,15,384 from the Collectors' discretionary allowances, gives a total of Rs 1,11,06,034.

9 The condition of the affected Native States is shown as usual in an appended table. The accounts from Kolhapur, Pant Pratinidhi and Savanur are favourable, and the scarcity may now be considered over in Sawant Wari.

10 During the week ending 20th October, 60 tons of food-grains were exported from Bombay to the Southern Mahratta ports, and 2,493 tons were carried by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway to stations upon the Poona-Sholapur and Bhusawal-Nasik lines, making a total of 2,553 tons for the week. This is less by 1,670 tons than the importations of the previous week. The table below shows the quantities of grain sent by sea and rail from October 1876 till the 20th October 1877 to the Southern Mahratta ports and the railway stations in the distressed districts. It will be seen that the total amount delivered up to the 20th October was 426,001 tons —

11. There have been decreases of 28,156 in the number of people on relief works, 8,376 in the number of young children, and 2,911 in the number of people on charitable relief

12 The improvement in the general situation continues, and the condition of the people is becoming more satisfactory. On the other hand, considerable anxiety is caused by the excessive rain that continues to fall in the districts south of Poona

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK
ENDING THE 1ST NOVEMBER 1877

GENERAL REMARKS—In Madras there has been excellent general rain, Ganjam and Vizagapatam being the only districts where the fall has been light the north-east monsoon appears to have generally set in, some damage to standing crops from excessive rain is reported from the Deccan districts, but prospects are generally very good. The number on relief works is 417,370, and on gratuitous relief 944,839, the former is less by 66,995 and the latter by 115,195 than last week. In Mysore there has been general and abundant rain, which has caused some damage to the crops prospects are however good, the number on works for the week ending the 20th October was 78,488 and on charity 73,838, the former is 6,286 more and the latter 14,921 less than the number for the preceding week. In Bombay there has been a good fall of rain in Broach, and general rain in the Southern Mahratta Country in Khandesh and the Deccan districts the fall has been light and partial, prospects are generally excellent, except in Sind fine weather has now set in in the Southern Mahratta Country and the Deccan. In the Central Provinces there has been rain in several districts, which has done much good in Raipur, Biláspur and Bálághat, sowings for the rabi are being vigorously pushed on, and prospects are on the whole good. No rain is reported from Berar, the kharif is in good condition, and the rabi sowings nearly completed. In Central India there has been no rain, the emigrants from Gwalior are returning, but the emigration through Neemuch continues, prospects are everywhere fair, and rabi sowings are beginning. In Rajputana also there has been no rain, it is required in Marwar, Ulwur and Ajmere. In Bengal the rains have generally ceased; the prospects of the crops are good, but more rain is wanted for the winter rice, especially on the high lands, the harvest will probably be below the average in the Patna division and Pooree. In Assam there has been no rain except a slight shower in Sylhet prospects are good. In Burma there has been a good fall in the Pegu division which has improved the lately replanted crops the other crops are in excellent condition. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh no rain has fallen, rabi sowings are going on and prices remain steady. In the Punjab no rain has fallen except at Ráwalpindi, agricultural prospects are fair.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA
LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

Abstract of the Proceedings of the Council of the Governor General of India, assembled for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations under the provisions of the Act of Parliament 24 & 25 Vic, Cap 67

The Council met at Simla on Wednesday, the 21st October 1877.

PANJÁB LAWS ACT AMENDMENT BILL

The Hon'ble MR STOKES introduced the Bill to amend the Panjáb Laws Act, 1872, and moved that it be referred to a Select Committee. He said that he had already described the contents of this Bill, with the exception of section 2. The provisions as to pre-emption contained in the Panjab Laws Act, sections 9—18, were, he was informed, transcribed from the Panjab Civil Code—a useful body of principles, but one which was never intended to receive the force of law, or to be exposed to the disintegrating action of a stream of judicial decisions. Section 2 of the Bill would replace these provisions by more accurately drawn clauses, and would at the same time give the Local Government a right of pre-emption in respect of sales of land on which trees belonging to Government were standing. The clause relating to this right had been inserted at the suggestion of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, who would explain to the Council more satisfactorily than he (MR STOKES) could the benefits which would result from this addition to the law.

Section 3 of the Bill would add to the Panjab law a provision that the Court of Wards might take charge of and administer the property of persons declared by the Local Government, on their own application, to be disqualified from managing their estates. To what he had said on this subject when moving for leave to introduce the Bill he would now only add the reasons given by the Panjáb Government when applying for the present legislation.

"In the case of estates paying a large amount of revenue to Government, it is important that the State, for its own interests, should have power to assume the management and prevent their ruin by thriftless or improvident proprietors, and it is not less important—indeed it is perhaps more important—that the Government should possess similar powers in the case of political jaguns, for nothing can be more detrimental to the best interests of the British Government than the existence of members of influential families holding perhaps large assignments from the public revenue, but reduced by extravagance or bad management to misery and indebtedness which timely interference by the Government would have effectually prevented.

"It would be possible, indeed, to some extent to provide for the administration of the estates of insolvent jagírdárs and land-owners by having resort to the insolvency sections of the Panjáb Laws Act, but this remedy has been found in practice to be insufficient, because the insolvent is not deprived of the powers to contract fresh debts, and it has happened that, while the estate of the insolvent is being wound up in the Insolvent Court, he has been incurring fresh debts on the security of his reversionary interest in the income of his estate."

MR STOKES had already described and (he hoped) justified the amendment which the fourth section of the Bill was intended to make. He would only add that Act IV of 1872 had been already amended by Act XV of 1875, and that the Select Committee to which he hoped the present Bill would be referred, would doubtless consider the propriety of consolidating those Acts with the additions now proposed.

HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR said that the new provision in section 2, which gave a right of pre-emption in respect of land on which trees belonging to Government were standing, was introduced on his recommendation. In various parts of the Panjáb it was desirable to reserve such rights for Government, but it often happened that land offered for sale was, for want of a provision like that now proposed to be introduced, acquired by other persons, and rights which the Government would have been glad to acquire went to others, and the land became disforested. Section 3 of the Bill would enable Courts of Wards to take charge of estates of disqualified proprietors on their own application. He considered that this addition to the reasons for disqualifying proprietors would be of much use, and would prevent the ruin of noble, influential and ancient families by the extravagance of the incumbent of the estates.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR STOKES also moved that the Bill be published in the Gazette of India in English and in the Panjab Government Gazette in English and in such other languages as the Local Government should direct.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

DISTRESSED SEAMEN'S EXPENSES RECOVERY BILL

The Hon'ble MR STOKES also introduced the Bill to provide for the recovery in British India of wages due to, and expenses incurred in respect of, certain seamen and apprentices, and moved that it be referred to a Select Committee.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR STOKES also moved that the Bill be published in the Gazette of India in English and in the local Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments should direct.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

CONSOLIDATED CUSTOMS BILL

The Hon'ble MR HOPE presented the preliminary Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the laws relating to the administration of the Department of Sea Customs in India, and in doing so observed that, with His Lordship's permission, he would explain in a few words his reason for presenting to the Council, while sitting at Simla, a document relating to matters so important to the mercantile community.

The same occupation with other matters which, as he lately explained, had prevented the progress of the Forest Bill in Select Committee during the past season in Calcutta, had also interfered with this Bill. His late colleague, the Hon'ble Mr Bullen Smith, had, however, been so good as to go over with him all the more important points raised in the correspondence relating to the Bill and the reports made by the semi-mercantile committees appointed at the three Presidency towns, and had offered opinions and made suggestions which MR HOPE had carefully noted down. There was, moreover, in a Bill of this sort an immense amount of detailed revision and re-arrangement from a draughtsman's point of view necessary, which would be far better done at leisure at Simla than in the hurry of Calcutta, where so much had to be got through in a short time.

The members of the Committee at Simla consequently thought that it would be better, and more conducive to a good Bill eventually, if they put forth here a preliminary Report embodying the general revision referred to, and the views checked by those of Mr Bullen Smith where practicable, and published a revised Bill with it, than if they put the whole aside to be dealt with at Calcutta. Before adopting this course, however, Mr HOPE had consulted their colleague in Calcutta, the Hon'ble Mr Cockerell, and was glad to say that he had written that he "cordially concurred" in it.

The following Select Committees were named —

On the Bill to amend the Panjab Laws Act, 1872—His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjab, the Hon'ble Mr Cockerell and the Mover.

On the Bill to provide for the recovery in British India of wages due to, and expenses incurred in respect of, certain seamen and apprentices—The Hon'ble Sir Alexander Arbuthnot, the Hon'ble Mr Cockerell and the Mover.

The Council adjourned sine die.

RESOLUTION

On the 13th September last the Bengal Government forwarded a letter from the Commissioner of Police at Calcutta, reporting that advertisements of lotteries and race-sweeps printed beyond the limits of Lower Bengal are sent in large numbers to hotels and other places of public resort in Bengal, in contravention of section 294A of the Indian penal code, and that the proprietors of newspapers and other periodicals in Bengal complain bitterly that their columns are closed to notices and advertisements which are freely permitted elsewhere. His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal considers that the present treatment of lotteries by the different local Governments is exceedingly unsatisfactory, in Bengal the law is strictly enforced, while in the Punjab and elsewhere, it is habitually broken with impunity, and newspapers are allowed to advertise and circulate proposals directly opposed to the provisions of the section of the code cited. His Honour is of opinion that if these lotteries and race-sweeps are mischievous, they should be put down by law, instead of being allowed to develop themselves year by year, but that if they are considered to be a harmless amusement, the prohibitory clause in the penal code should be repealed, and lotteries should not be discouraged. His Honour himself considers them exceedingly mischievous

2 The Government of India concur with His Honour's opinion as to the mischievous character of the lotteries and race-sweeps advertised, and believe that the mischief is year by year assuming greater dimensions. As the intention of the law on the subject is clear and as its provisions were intended to operate in one province as much as in another, the Government of India consider that the law should be uniformly enforced. Local Governments and Administrations are therefore requested to enforce the law after giving due notice thereof by publication of this Resolution in their several official Gazettes

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be forwarded for information and guidance to all Departments of the Government of India, to Local Governments and Administrations, and that it be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India

“The Board of Trade have received from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs a copy of a despatch from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General at Bangkok, reporting that the Siamese Government have notified their intention to prohibit the exportation of rice from the 23rd September 1877 to the 13th September 1878, but that the prohibition will be withdrawn at the earliest possible date if the next crop should prove satisfactory”

FIBRES AND SILK

The 31st August 1877

No 45 — In 1871 the Government of India offered a prize of £5,000 to the inventor of the best machine or process for the preparation of the fibre of the Bomberia nivea (popularly known under the names of Rhee, Ramie, and China grass), and the terms on which machines would be admitted to competition were widely notified in India, in Europe, and in America. Many persons declared their intention to compete, but ultimately only one machine was actually brought to the place of trial. The machine having been carefully tested at Saharanpur in the autumn of 1872, was found imperfect in some important respects, and the inventor was adjudged not entitled to the full reward. He was, however, presented with £1,500 in consideration of the partial measure of success he had attained after great perseverance

2 This machine has not since been adapted by the inventor to practical use, and no improved process of preparing the fibre of the rhee has been yet discovered by other persons. Meanwhile the demand for rhee continues and the conditions which induced the Government of India in 1871 to offer a prize remain substantially unchanged

3 His Honour the President in Council therefore considers that it is desirable to renew the offer, and it is accordingly hereby notified that a reward of fifty thousand rupees will be paid to the inventor of the best machine or process which will separate the bark and fibre from the stem, and the fibre from the bark, of the Bomberia nivea

4 A smaller reward not exceeding ten thousand rupees will be given to the inventor of the next best machine or process, provided it is adjudged to possess merit and to be capable without difficulty of adaptation to practical use

5 What is required is a machine or process capable of producing, by animal, water, or steam power, a ton of dressed fibre of a quality which shall average in value not less than £45 per ton in the English market, at a total cost including all processes of preparation and all needful allowance for wear and tear, of not more than £15 per ton, laid down at any port of shipment in India and £30 in England, after payment of all the charges usual in trade before goods reach the hands of the manufacturer. The processes of preparation are to be understood to include all the operations required subsequent to the cutting of the stems from the plants in the field, until the fibre is in a condition fit to be packed for conveyance to the market

6 The machinery employed must be simple, strong, durable, and inexpensive, and should be suited for erection in the plantations where the rhea is grown. It must be adapted for treatment of the fresh stems, as cut from the plant. The treatment of dried stems offers certain difficulties and the fibre prepared from them must moreover always be much more costly than the fibre produced from green stems. Except during the hot dry weather preceding the rains in Upper India (where rhea grows best), it is very difficult so to dry the stems that no fermentation or mildew shall occur. But during this season the stems are comparatively short and the crop poor and stunted, unless it is artificially irrigated, and such irrigation greatly increases the cost of cultivation. In the rainy season the plant is in fine condition, but at this season it is almost impossible to dry the stems in quantity without injuring the fibre unless recourse is had to artificial means of desiccation, which greatly increase the cost of the material. It is therefore obvious that the attention of inventors should be given to the discovery of a process for the treatment of the green stems

7 The trials will be held at Saharanpur in the North-Western Provinces, in the months of August and September 1879. Machines entered for competition should be placed in situ and be ready for work not later than the 15th August, the competition commencing on the next day. The judges will be appointed by the Government, and they will watch the whole of the trials. But the machines shall be worked and adjusted by the competitors themselves, and no person shall touch a machine without the consent of the inventor

8 The Government of India will provide proper shelter and accommodation at Saharanpur for all the competing machines as well as the motive power required. It will also pay for the transport from the sea-coast to Saharanpur of all machines up to the limit of one ton each, the freight on any excess weight to be defrayed by the owners. The present rate of freight by rail from Calcutta to Saharanpur is Rs 3-10 per maund or Rs 9-11 per ton, and from Bombay to Saharanpur Rs 4-1 per maund or Rs 110-9 per ton. A first second class ticket to Saharanpur will also be given to any person in charge of a machine

9 The owner or owners of the successful machine or machines shall not be entitled to receive the reward offered except on the following conditions, viz —

- (1)—That a complete technical description of the machine illustrated by plans drawn to scale, shall be prepared and published (Government paying the cost) for the information of the public
- (2)—That after the expiry of three years from the date on which the award is made, the public shall have the right of manufacturing similar machines, on payment to the owner of a royalty of 10 per cent on the cost of each machine so manufactured

10 All persons desiring to compete under the terms and on the conditions specified above are requested to make known their intention not later than the 31st December 1878, giving the following particulars —

- 1 Name in full and residence
- 2 Profession or occupation
- 3 Number of different kinds of machines entered for competition
- 4 Brief description of each machine

Intending competitors will at the same time declare themselves bound (under penalty of disqualification of the competing machines and forfeiture of all claim to the Government reward) to conform to all rules which may be prescribed by Government or by the judges appointed by Government in connection with the conduct of the trials

All notices of intention to compete and applications for information should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce, Calcutta

11 A limited quantity of rhea will be grown in the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, and persons desirous of testing their machines before entering them for public competition may obtain green stems in small quantities from the Superintendent of the gardens, through this Department

FINANCE

The 9th November 1877

No 557F—Whereas His Highness the Maharao Raja of Alwar (Alwar being a Native State within the meaning of the Native Coinage Act, 1876) has, pursuant to the authority contained in Section 5 of the said Act, sent to the Mint of Calcutta silver to be coined under the said Act into two lakhs of rupees, and has requested the Governor General of India in Council to declare that a tender of payment of money, if made in the said coins, shall be a legal tender in British India. And whereas the said silver has been coined into rupees and their fineness is identical with that prescribed by law for rupees of the Government of India, and they are identical in weight with the rupees of the Government of India, and the devices upon their obverse and reverse differ from the devices on, or coins now made or issued by the said State, and have been approved by the Governor General in Council, and upon each of such rupees its value in money of the Government of India is inscribed in the English language. And whereas His Highness the said Maharao Raja of Alwar has for himself and his successors undertaken to abstain during a term of thirty years from the date of this notification from coining silver in his own Mint, and has also undertaken that no coins resembling silver coins for the time being a legal tender in British India shall, after the expiration of the said term be struck under the authority of himself or his successors or with his or their permission at any place within or without his or their jurisdiction And whereas His Highness the said Maharao Raja of Alwar has formally declared that a tender of payment of money if made in silver coins of the Government of India shall, in the territories subject to His Highness, be a legal tender in cases in which payment made in such coins would, under the law for the time being in force, be a legal tender in British India And whereas His Highness the said Maharao Raja of Alwar has agreed for himself and his successors that the law and rules for the time being in force respecting the cutting and breaking of coin of the Government of India reduced in weight by reasonable wearing or otherwise, or counterfeit, or called in by proclamation, shall apply to the coins made for the said State under the said Act, and that the said State will defray the cost of cutting and breaking them And whereas His Highness the said Maharao Raja of Alwar has also agreed for himself and his successors not to issue the said coins below their nominal value, and not to allow any discount or other advantage to any person in order to bring them into circulation And whereas His Highness the said Maharao Raja of Alwar has also agreed for himself and his successors that if at any time the Government of India calls in its coinage of rupees, His Highness or his successors will, if so requested by the Government of India, call in, at his or their own expense, all the said rupees so coined for him

The Governor General of India in Council, in consideration of the premises and in exercise of the power conferred by the Native Coinage Act, 1876, section three, is pleased to declare that a tender of payment of money, if made in the said rupees coined under the said Act for the said State of Alwar, shall, subject to the provisions of the Indian Coinage Act, 1876, be a legal tender in British India

Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[ Third publication ]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 24th October 1877, and was referred to a Select Committee —

No 19 of 1877.

A Bill to amend the Panjáb Laws Act, 1872

For the purpose of amending the Panjab Laws Act, 1872, It is hereby enacted as follows —

Preamble

Substitution of new section for Act IV of 1872, s 5

1 For section 5 of the said Act, the following shall be substituted (namely) —

“5 In questions regarding succession, special property of females, betrothal, marriage, divorce, dower, adoption, guardianship, minority, bastardy, family relations, wills, legacies, gifts, partitions, or any religious usage or institution, the rule of decision shall be—

Decisions in certain cases to be according to Native law

(a) any custom applicable to the parties concerned, which is not contrary to justice, equity or good conscience, and has not been, by this or any other enactment, altered or abolished, and has not been declared to be void by any competent authority

(b) the Muhammadan law, in cases where the parties are Muhammadans, and the Hindú law, in cases where the parties are Hindús, except in so far as such law has been altered or abolished by legislative enactment, or is opposed to the provisions of this Act, or has been modified by any such custom as is above referred to.”

2 For sections 9 to 18 (both inclusive) of the same Act, the sections for Act IV of 1872, ss 9 to 18 following shall be substituted —

“9 The right of pre-emption is a right of the persons hereinafter mentioned or referred to, to acquire, in the cases hereinafter specified, immovable property in preference to all other persons. It arises in respect of sales (whether under a decree or otherwise) of immovable property and of foreclosures of rights to redeem such property

“10 Unless the existence of any custom or contract to the contrary is proved, such right shall, whether recorded in the settlement-record or not, be presumed—

(a) to exist in all village-communities, however constituted, and

(b) to extend to the village-site, to the houses built upon it, to all lands and shares of lands within the village-boundary, and to all transferable rights of occupancy affecting such lands

“11. The right of pre-emption shall not be presumed to exist in any town or city, or any subdivision thereof, but may be shown to exist therein, and to be exercisable therein by such persons and under such circumstances as the local custom prescribes

“12. If the property to be sold or the right to redeem which is to be foreclosed is situate within, or is a share of, a village, the right to buy or redeem such property belongs, in the absence of a custom to the contrary,

(a) first, to co-sharers in the village, in order of their relationship to the vendor or mortgagor,

(b) secondly, if no relation of the vendor or mortgagor claims to exercise such right, to the landowners of the patti or other sub-division of the village in which the property is situate, jointly,

(c) thirdly, to any member of the village-community, and

(d) fourthly, to the tenants (if any) with rights of occupancy in the village

Provided that when the property is land, to the trees standing on which the Government is entitled, such right belongs to the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb in preference to all other persons

Where two or more persons are equally entitled to such right, the person to exercise the same shall be determined by lot

"12 A When the property to be sold or the right to redeem which is to be foreclosed is a share in joint undivided immovable property other than land, such right belongs to the co-sharers

"13 When any person proposes to sell any property, or to foreclose the right to redeem any property, in respect of which any persons have a right of pre-emption, he shall give notice to the persons concerned of the price at which he is willing to sell such property, or of the amount due in respect of the mortgage, as the case may be

Such notice shall be given through the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the property or any part thereof is situate, and shall be deemed sufficiently given if it be stuck up on the chaupál or other public place of the village, town or city in which the property is situate

"14 Any person having a right of pre-emption in respect of any property proposed to be sold, shall lose such right, unless within three months from the date of such notice he or his agent pays or tenders the price aforesaid to the person so proposing to sell

"15 When the right of pre-emption arises in respect of the foreclosure of the right to redeem any property, any person entitled to such right may, at any time within three months after the giving of the notice required by section thirteen, pay or tender to the mortgagee or his successor in title the amount specified in such notice, and shall thereupon acquire a right to purchase the property.

On completion of the purchase the person exercising the right of pre-emption shall be bound to pay to the mortgagee or his successor in title the amount specified in such notice, together with interest on the principal sum secured by the mortgage, at the rate specified by the instrument of mortgage, for any time which has elapsed since the date of the notice, and any additional costs which may have been properly incurred by the mortgagee or his successor in title

"16 Any person entitled to a right of pre-emption may bring a suit to enforce such right on any of the following grounds (namely) —

(a) that no due notice was given as required by section thirteen,

(b) that tender was made under section fourteen or section fifteen and refused,

(c) in the case of a sale, that the price stated in the notice was not fixed in good faith,

(d) in the case of a foreclosure, that the amount claimed by the mortgagee was not really due on the footing of the mortgage and was not claimed in good faith, and that it exceeds the fair market-value of the property mortgaged

If, in the case of a sale, the Court finds that the price was not fixed in good faith, the Court shall fix such price as appears to it to be the fair market-value of the property sold

If in the case of a foreclosure, the Court finds that the amount claimed by the mortgagee was not really due on the footing of the mortgage, and that it exceeds the fair market-value of the property mortgaged, the amount to be paid to the mortgagee shall not exceed what the Court finds to be such market-value

"17 If the Court find for the plaintiff, the Decree to fix time for payment or before which the purchase-money or the amount to be paid to the mortgagee shall be paid

"18 If such purchase-money or amount is not paid into Court before it rises on that day, the decree shall become void, and the plaintiff shall, so far only as relates to such sale or foreclosure, lose his right of pre-emption over the property to which the decree relates."

3. For section 35 of the same Act the following shall be substituted (namely) —

Substitution of new section for Act IV of 1872, s 35

"35 The Court of Wards may, at its discretion, take charge of, and administer, the estates of all disqualified persons, that is to say —

(a) females deemed by the Local Government incompetent to manage their estates,

(b) persons who have not completed the age of eighteen years,

(c) idiots,

(d) lunatics,

(e) persons declared by the Local Government, incapable, owing to physical defects or infirmities, to manage their own estates,

(f) persons convicted of a non-bailable offence and disqualified, in the opinion of the Local Government, by vice or bad character from managing their estates,

(g) persons declared by the Local Government, on their own application, to be disqualified from managing their estates

Provided that the Court of Wards shall not take charge of or administer the estate of any person of any of the classes mentioned in clauses (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this section, unless he has inherited a beneficial interest in an estate for which a settlement was made with his ancestor, or in respect of which he would have been entitled to be settled with, if he had been competent to make an agreement for the payment of revenue, or unless he is entitled by inheritance to an assignment of land-revenue

Provided also that the Court of Wards shall not take charge of, or administer any beneficial interest in, an estate in which more persons than one have a joint undivided interest, unless all such persons are so circumstanced as to be subject to the Court of Wards"

4 To section 38 of the same Act the following clause shall be added (namely) —
Amendment of Act IV of 1872, section 38

"Persons whose property is under the superintendence of the Court of Wards shall be competent to create, without the sanction of the Court, any charge upon, or interest in, such property or any part thereof"

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The objects of this Bill are four first, to make some necessary amendments in the drafting of the Panjáb Laws Act, section 5 secondly, to make like amendments in the sections of that Act relating to pre-emption and to give the Lieutenant-Governor a right of pre-emption in respect of land on which trees belonging to Government are standing thirdly, to extend the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards to the estates of three classes of proprietors, namely, those incapable, owing to physical defects or infirmities, of managing their own estates, those convicted of a non-bailable offence and disqualified by vice or bad character from managing their estates, and those declared, on their own application, to be so disqualified The fourth and last object of the Bill is to render all persons whose property is under the superintendence of the Court of Wards incompetent to charge such property without the sanction of the Court

[Third publication]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 24th October 1877, and was referred to a Select Committee —

No 20 OF 1877

A Bill to provide for the recovery in British India of wages due to, and expenses incurred in respect of, certain seamen and apprentices

Whereas by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, section 213, and by the Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1855, section 16, it is enacted that the Board of Trade may, in manner therein mentioned, and in the name of Her Majesty, sue for and recover the wages due to, and expenses incurred in respect of, the distressed seamen and apprentices in the said sections mentioned, And whereas it is expedient to empower such persons as the Governor General in Council may think fit to sue for and recover in British India in the name of the Secretary of State for India in Council, such wages and expenses, when the same are charged upon any ship, or recoverable from any master, owner or other person, found in British India, It is hereby enacted as follows —

1 The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, authorize, either generally or specially, such persons as he thinks fit to sue for and recover, in manner in the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, section 213, provided, any wages or expenses recoverable under the said sections of the said Acts in cases where such wages and expenses are, under the same sections, a charge upon any ship, or recoverable from any master, owner or other person, within the jurisdiction of any Court in British India Every person so authorized shall be entitled to sue and recover accordingly in any such Court, and shall be deemed to be a person filling a public office within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, section 57, clause 7

2 All suits and proceedings under this Act shall be instituted and carried on in the name of the Secretary of State for India in Council

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

By the Merchant Shipping Act, 1851, section 213, and 18 & 19 Vict, c 91, section 16, provision is made for the recovery by the Board of Trade of wages due to, and expenses incurred in relieving, distressed seamen and apprentices in foreign and colonial ports These distressed seamen are in many cases Natives of India, and belong to ships which are either registered in or trade to India, and which are seldom, if ever, found within the ports of the United Kingdom In such cases the Board of Trade has considerable difficulty in recovering the sums expended When the distressed seamen are Natives of this country, these expenses are charged to the Indian revenue It is therefore desirable that the Government of India should be enabled to empower some person here to sue, in case the ships or persons chargeable are found in this country The Bill effects this object by providing that such suits may be brought in the name of the Secretary of State in Council by such persons as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, generally or specially authorize in that behalf The Bill will also enable persons so authorized to sue in all cases in which the ships or persons chargeable are found in this country, even though the Indian revenue may not be concerned

Weekly condition report of the distressed districts of the Mysore Province.

PROVINCE OF MYSORE

(No 37)

• Special famine report for the week ending 20th October 1877

Statement No 37, regarding famine relief operations in the Province of Mysore, for the week ending the 20th October 1877

Rain has been general throughout the Province, and heavy in the Districts of Mysore, Hassan and Kador, which were mentioned last week as having received a lighter fall than other Districts. The growing crops continue in good condition, and a very fair yield is anticipated. Jowari in parts is still reported to suffer from continued wet, but much of the diseased ragi has improved. All the tanks are full, and preparations for the Vaishaki or late crops are being actively made. Harvesting continues, and sowing operations are general. The Famine Commissioner spent the week travelling through the Chitaldrug District, and states that though there is very much land out of cultivation in the south-east and east of the District, what crops there are are fairly good, and that in the west and north-west the crops are uncommonly fine, and almost the whole land taken up. A little sun is all that is required to ripen the grain. He visited the Timmenhalli Tank work and was much pleased with the arrangements made and considers it a creditable and successful relief work. From Kolar very good accounts have been received, and the famine area may now be considered confined to Bangalore, Tûmkûr, and parts of the Kador, Chitaldrug and Hassan Districts.

2 The imports of grain by rail amounted to 2,950 tons, or 1,457 tons less than last week. The imports were received from the following quarters —

	Tons
From Madras	2,516
„ Bypore	33
„ Negapatam and Trichinopoly	116
„ Sholapur	25
„ other places	190
Total	2,950

From Bangalore 1,437 tons, or 216 tons less than in the preceding week, were exported to the following quarters —

	Tons
Tûmkûr	310
Bellary and Chitaldrug	174
Mysore	592
Usur (Salem District)	155
Round Bangalore	206
Total	1,437

3 Prices show a marked improvement, especially in Kolar, Bangalore, Tûmkûr, Shimoga and Chitaldrug. The following statement gives the maximum and minimum prices in lbs per rupee —

4 The number of labourers employed on civil relief works was 30,275, or 2,186 less than last week. The decrease was due to 5,068 fewer persons being employed in the Kolar District, where relief is now scarcely required. There was an increase of 2,871 labourers in Tûmkûr and of 1,286 in Chitaldrug.

5 Under the Public Works Department, 48,213 labourers were employed, or an increase of 8,472, occurring chiefly in Bangalore and Kadur. The following is a list of works on which are employed 500 labourers and upwards —

District.	Work	Number employed.

7 The number on civil and professional works amounts to 78,488 compared with 73,838 charitably fed. The figures for last week were 72,202 and 88,757 respectively and for the week before 62,506 and 103,750. There has been an increase upon professional works and a decrease upon civil works and in gratuitous feeding, the net decrease of persons relieved on works or charity was 8,633. Employment for the people is afforded in the fields, and the wages offered for agricultural labour are good. Prices continue to fall, and altogether prospects are very encouraging, and a steady decline in the numbers relieved may be reckoned upon.

ENDING THE 8TH NOVEMBER 1877

GENERAL REMARKS—In Madras the north-east monsoon continues to give good rain all down the coast, except in Ganjam and Vizagapatam where the fall has been deficient, in the Ceded Districts there has been moderate and in parts of Bellary and Kurnool excessive rain, but the weather is now clearing and prospects are very good. Prices continue to fall, and the numbers on relief to diminish rapidly, 363,298 are now on works and 721,482 on gratuitous relief, being 54,072 and 222,957 less than last week respectively. In Mysore there has been good rain, followed by a beneficial break, the prospects of the crops are very good, the numbers on works are 83,441, and gratuitously relieved 61,147 the former is 4,953 more and the latter 12,691 less than last week. In Bombay the only rainfall has been in Kaládgi, Kanara and R. (all less than an inch), and a shower in Satara, fine weather is now general in the Deccan, and rains are to have begun in the Southern Mahratta Country, prospects (except in Sind) are very good. In the Central Provinces beneficial rain has fallen in Sambalpur, none is reported elsewhere except a shower in the Upper Godávari district kharif prospects are good and sowings for the rabi vigorously progressing. In Berar there has been no rain, the kharif promises well, and rabi sowings are nearly complete. In Central India there has been no rain, the emigrants are returning to their homes from Goona, and though some are still coming into Neemuch from Rajputana, others are returning. In Rajputana opportune rain has fallen at Ajmere, Jeypore and Ulwur, rabi sowings are progressing. In Bengal slight rain has fallen in the Eastern districts, Orissa, and Chota Nagpore, the crops are generally good, but rain is wanted in many places. In Assam the crops promise well. In Burma there has been moderate rain, and the crops are flourishing. In the North-Western Provinces no rain has fallen, rabi sowings are progressing and prices steady. In the Punjab rain is reported only from Ráwalpindi, it is much wanted for the rabi sowings in Hissar, Umballa, Amritsar, Lahore, and Dera Ismail Khan.

and 2 rupees for every additional 100 rupees or fraction thereof

5 The commission will be deducted from the amount of the value when payment is made to the sender. If a parcel is refused by the addressee, or from any cause is not delivered, payment of the value will not be made to the sender, and no claim will be made upon him except for any unpaid postage which may have been originally due

6 Postage will be chargeable on “value payable” parcels at the same rates as are chargeable on ordinary parcels, and it may be prepaid or otherwise at the option of the sender

The limit of weight (2,000 tolas) as well as the conditions respecting size prescribed in the postal guide for ordinary banghy parcels will be applicable to “value payable” parcels

7 The value of the contents of “value payable” parcels together with any postage due must be paid by the addressees before they are delivered

8 The payments to the senders will be made within one month from the date of delivery

9 “Value payable” parcels will be received at the window of the post office during the hours fixed for receiving ordinary parcels, which with a few exceptions are from 7 to 8 A.M., and from noon to 5 P.M. They will not be received at all on Sundays, and they must be posted at least one hour before the time fixed for closing the mail with which they are to be despatched otherwise they will be detained till the next despatch is made.

10 "Value payable" parcels when presented at the post office window should be accompanied by a memorandum containing the following particulars, viz —

Name and address of the sender in full

Name and address of the addressee in full

Value of the contents recoverable from the addressee

Date of posting

A description of the contents need not be given, on the contrary it is advisable that no description should be given. Receipts will be given to the sender for "value payable" parcels posted by them

11 Intimation of the arrival of a "value payable" parcel will be sent to the addressee, and on his presenting at the post office, either personally or by messenger, the receipt at foot of the intimation duly signed, and tendering the amount of the value of the contents, together with any postage that may be due, the parcel will be delivered. The parcel should be carefully examined by the addressee or his messenger before it is received, and if there be any appearance of tampering, it should be brought to the notice of the post master, in whose presence, if necessary, it may be opened

12 When information of the realization of the value of the contents of a "value payable" parcel reaches the despatching post office, written intimation will be given to the sender, a date being mentioned therein on or after which payment will be made on his application. In making application for payment the sender must produce the receipt originally given to him for the parcel and relinquish it with the acknowledgment at foot duly signed, and (if the amount exceeds the limit fixed by the stamp law for the time being) with a one anna bill stamp affixed thereto

13 Forward postage will not be charged when "value payable" parcels are re-directed from one post office to another

14 The system of "value payable" parcels will shortly be extended to "overland parcels" booked in London for delivery in India, under detailed conditions which will be made known at the London Parcel Offices. The contents of such parcels must be declared for Custom House purposes. The value payable will be limited to £10, and it will be realised from the Indian addressee at the rate of exchange current in Bombay on the day of the arrival of the invoice

A M MONTEATH,
Dir Genl. of the Post Office of India

The 12th October 1877

Special attention is invited to the recent reduction of the rates of postage chargeable on inland parcels and packets

The present rates are —

	Parcels (Closed Covers)	Packets (Open Covers)
	Annas	Annas
Not exceeding 10 tolas		1
Not exceeding 40 tolas	8	2
For every additional 40 tolas or fraction thereof	4	2

Attention is also invited to the facility now offered to the sender of a registered letter to have an acknowledgment signed by the addressee sent to him, if he prepays at the time of posting in extra postage fee of 1 anna

A like facility for obtaining acknowledgments for parcels has now been introduced, but it only applies to parcels for which receipts are given under paragraph 14, page 4 of the Postal Guide of 1st September 1877

The 1st November 1877

Notice is hereby given that an arrangement has been concluded for the exchange of parcels between India and the Straits Settlement

On and after the 1st December 1877, parcels can be sent to places in the Straits Settlement under the rates and conditions given for that Settlement in the following revised set of rules, which, from the above-mentioned date, will supersede those issued under the Notification by the Financial Department, No 2887, dated 15th September 1876 —

Overland Parcel Post

(1).—Parcels are received at any Post Office in India (including Aden) under the conditions and rates of charge mentioned below for transmission to the following countries, viz —

COUNTRIES	Rate of charge per lb or fraction thereof Pre payment compulsory Annas	Remarks respecting special conditions &c, applicable to particular countries
The United Kingdom	8	The pre payment carries the parcel as far as London, any additional charge which may become due on account of British custom duty or carriage beyond London being realized from the addressee Parcels must not exceed £50 in value. Any parcel which on examination of the declaration at Bombay may be found to exceed this value will, instead of being forwarded by the Overland Parcel Post, be transferred to the Bombay Agency of the P &amp; O S N Company for transmission independently of the Post Office and subject to such regulations and charges on delivery as may be applicable thereto under the Company's regulations (NOTE.—The Company's present charge is an ad valorem rate of 2 per cent., which does not include Marine or other Insurance.) The attention of the public is invited to the fact that the British Post Office has no connection with the Overland Parcel Post, all arrangements out of India are made by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company and enquiries proceeding from the United Kingdom should be addressed to that Company's Office, 122, Leadenhall Street, London E C The rules governing the despatch of parcels from the United Kingdom to India are, however, published in the British Postal Guide and exhibited in every British Post Office. Persons in India ordering goods to be sent out by parcel post may refer the sender to the above means of information about the transmission of parcels

COUNTRIES	Rate of charge per lb or fraction thereof. Pre payment compulsory	Remarks respecting special conditions &c, applicable to particular countries
Ceylon	8	The pre payment carries the parcel to the destination. Should any custom duty become due, the amount will be charged on delivery. Parcels must not contain any jewellery. The route is via Tuticorin for Southern India and via Bombay for other parts of India see Rule (4)
The Straits, &c,— Singapore Penang Malacca	8	The pre payment carries the parcel to destination. The ports of destination are free ports so that no custom duty will be chargeable therein. The routes are by opium steamers (Juidine Matheson, and Apear), monthly through Calcutta to Singapore by B I S N Company fortnightly through Calcutta or Madras to Singapore Penang and Malacca and by P and O S N Company fortnightly through Bombay to Singapore and Penang see rule (4)
Germany Austria Hungary	8	The pre payment carries the parcel to destination. Should any custom duty become due the amount will be charged on delivery. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss
Denmark	8	The pre payment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier as well as for custom duty should any become due. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss
Sweden Norway Switzerland	8	The pre payment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier as well as for custom duty should any become due. From Rule 3 it will be seen that there must be also a second or duplicate declaration of contents and value. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss
France The Netherlands (Holland) Belgium	8	The pre payment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier as well as for custom duty, should any become due. From Rule 3 it will be seen that there must be also a second or duplicate declaration of contents and value, and that the second or duplicate declaration should contain a statement of the weight (lbs and ozs or tolas) of the contents, and should if possible be written in the French language. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss

(2) —Every parcel should be securely packed in a close cover or case, and should bear the name and address of the person in the United Kingdom or foreign country for whom it is intended. Parcels containing valuables should be sealed.

N B —The public are specially warned against the use of flimsy covers for articles transmitted by the Parcel Post. Heavy articles are sometimes sent with only paper covering insecurely tied with string, friction in transit detaches this cover, and damage and loss ensue. A covering of stout cloth or wax cloth, sewn at the edges, is recommended, but if the contents are liable to suffer from pressure, boxes of wood or tin should be used.

(3) —Every parcel should be accompanied by a separate paper headed with the address of the parcel and containing a declaration of its contents and value under the signature of the sender. Below the signature the address of the sender should be given.

For the parcels addressed to—

The United Kingdom
Ceylon
Straits
Germany
Austria-Hungary
Denmark

} Only one declaration as above described is required

Sweden
Norway
Switzerland

} A second or duplicate declaration is also required

France
The Netherlands (Holland)
Belgium

} A second or duplicate declaration is also required, and the sender is requested to enter in the declaration a statement of the weight (lbs and ozs or tolas) of the contents, and to write the second or duplicate declaration, if possible, in the French language. Should he be unable to do so, the Bombay Post Office will attach to the second or duplicate English declaration a French rendering thereof, but the sender is warned of the delay which may result from this.

It is not deemed necessary to require exact adherence to any particular form of declaration, but the following specimen form may be useful to the senders of parcels —

Specimen form of declaration

Address of Parcel
THOMAS B SMITH, 114, Piccadilly, LONDON
CONTENTS—Value
	£ s d
1 Piece Puttoo Cloth	2 0 0
1 Rampore Chudder	2 10 0
TOTAL =	4 10 0
I declare the above to be a true statement of the contents and value
(Sd) A R ROBINSON, Amritsar
N B—Declarations for parcels intended for France the Netherlands or Belgium should in addition to the above contain a statement of the weight (lbs and ozs or tolas) of the contents This may conveniently be done by adding the words weight—lbs ozs underneath the total value and the words 'and weight' at the end of the sentence containing the declaration

(4) —The parcel so addressed and the separate paper or papers above referred to should then be enclosed in a substantial outer cover This outer cover should be superscribed and addressed as follows —

If addressed to Ceylon

If addressed to the Straits

If addressed to any other country

Overland Parcel Post	Postage at my cost to be affixed
To The Post Master, Tuticorin } * or Bombay }

* N B—The address should be to Tuticorin if posted in Southern India and to Bombay if posted in other parts of India

Overland Parcel Post	Postage stamp to be affixed
To The Post Master, Calcutta } † or Madras } or Bombay }

† N B—The address to Calcutta or Madras or Bombay should be according to the locality of Posting

Overland Parcel Post	Postage to be affixed
To The Post Master Bombay

The outer cover must contain one parcel only if more than one parcel be sent by the same sender such parcel should be sent separately

(5) —The parcel so made up must be fully pre-paid by means of postage stamps at the rate of 8 annas per lb (40 tolas) or fraction of a lb, care being taken that the stamps adhere firmly to the cover

(6) —The parcel so made up must not exceed 50 lbs (25 seers) in weight, or two feet in length by 1 foot in breadth or depth It will be received at any Post Office at the hours fixed for the receipt of ordinary banghy parcels, the usual receipt being given to the sender without reference to the mode of packing prescribed in the case of inland parcel for which receipts are claimed

(7) —On arrival at the Indian sea port of address, the Post Master will take off the outer covering, and forward the inside parcel and the accompanying declaration or declarations to the country of inside address

(8) —It is forbidden to send in these parcels opium or any liquid or any substance or material of a dangerous, damaging, or offensive kind

(9) —In the case of parcels for or from Germany or Austria-Hungary and the foreign countries served through Germany, compensation will be given by the responsible Post Office to the sender for loss or damage sustained in transit (cases of sea risk or of vis major or of the own negligence of the sender in respect of packing or otherwise excepted) Such compensation will in no case exceed 1½ rupee for each lb weight or fraction thereof in respect of parcels forwarded from India, and 3 marks or 1½ florins for each 500 grammes or fraction thereof in respect of parcels from Germany or Austria-Hungary Should the sender desire it, the compensation will be paid to the addressee instead of to himself

 Memorandum by Officiating Secretary to Board of Revenue Lower Provinces No 600 B dated 20th August 1877 and enclosures
 Note by the Honble J. C. Hope dated 4th October 1877

2 In accordance with the suggestion of the Committee appointed by the Bombay Government, the definition of "Customs-port" has been made (section 3, clauses (d) and (e)) to include, and that of "Foreign Port" to exclude ports not in British India which are entitled to be treated as British Customs ports

3 The existing Act limits the privileges of coasting vessels to vessels which do not touch at any intermediate foreign port

But this has been found difficult of application, especially on the Western Coast where foreign ports are numerous and the limitation is illegally waived in the case of coasting steamers. But the Bombay Committee point out that all craft ought to be treated alike and we think that, where there is danger of smuggling, special restrictions may be imposed on particular classes of goods under the powers of chapter XIII. The definition (section 3, clause (g)) has therefore been expanded

4 We have also enlarged the definition of "Master" (section 3, clause (h)) so as to include a ship's agent appointed in writing by the master to be responsible on his behalf, when such appointment is approved by the Customs-collector

5 In consequence of representations received from the Chief Commissioner of British Burma of the expediency of legalising coasting trade with petty ports which it would not pay to constitute Customs-ports, a provision has been inserted in section 11, with the concurrence of the Department of Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce, enabling the Local Government to recognize such ports for the purposes of the coasting trade only

6 In accordance with a recommendation of the Bombay Committee, a clause framed on the model of the English Customs Act of 1876, section 153, has been added to section 17 of the Bill, prohibiting the importation or exportation of articles of foreign manufacture bearing names, marks or brands being, or purporting to be, those of manufacturers resident in the United Kingdom or British India

7 By a little condensation, the whole of chapter X of the Bill as introduced has been dispensed with. The privilege of transshipment has been extended to sailing vessels

8 By section 38, an owner not having sufficient information regarding any goods has been allowed, as suggested by the Bengal Board of Revenue, to deposit them temporarily in a warehouse

The term "real value" has also been defined, as the want of a definition has been much felt. The obligation to declare real value has likewise, for statistical purposes, been extended to all goods, whether dutiable or not

9 The third clause of section 39, by which it is provided that undervalued goods returned for the use of Government shall be sold by public auction, has given rise to some difference of opinion, some authorities advocating the substitution of a general power to dispose of the goods for the benefit of Government, in accordance with the English Customs Act of 1853. We have reserved this question for further consideration after enquiry as to the alleged rarity of cases in which difficulty or loss to Government is occasioned by the present provision

10 Sections 45 and 46 (33 and 34 of the Bill as introduced) have also elicited wide differences of opinion between different mercantile and Custom-house authorities. The former section is identical in principle with the existing English law section 20 of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876, runs as follows —

"In the event of any increase, decrease, or repeal of duties of customs chargeable upon any goods or commodities after the making of any contract or agreement for the sale or delivery of such goods duty paid, it shall be lawful for the seller, in case such increase shall accrue before the clearance and delivery from the warehouse of such goods at such increased duty, and after payment thereof, to add so much money to the contract-price as will be equivalent to such increase of duty, and he shall be entitled to be paid and to sue for and recover the same, and it shall be lawful for the purchaser under any such contract or agreement, in case such decrease or repeal shall take effect before the clearance and delivery from the warehouse at such decreased duty, or free of duty, as the case may be, to deduct so much money from the contract-price as will be equivalent to such decrease of duty or repealed duty, and he shall not be liable to pay or be sued for or in respect of such deduction."

The latter section is in harmony with Mr Wilson's financial statement of February 18th, 1860, and the consequent section 2 of Act X of 1860, as also with the notification of the Government of India, No 3180, dated 31d September 1875. Both sections originated in the memorials and representations which the Government of India is in the habit of receiving whenever a change of tariff takes place. We have added another illustration to section 45, to express its scope more fully, but we have left the general question of the retention of both sections open for discussion in Calcutta.

11 We have omitted from section 50 (121 of the Bill as introduced) the last clause, which followed the existing law, as it has been justly pointed out by Mr Line, the Collector of Customs at Calcutta, that it is unreasonable to refuse drawback on ships' stores, and both inconsistent with the permission to export from bond (section 30) and at variance with the English Act.

12 In deference to the unanimous opinion expressed in the reports, the rate of drawback has been re-entered in section 50 at the existing rate of seven-eighths, instead of three-fourths, to which it was raised in the Bill as introduced.

13 In accordance with representations received from the Bombay Committee and other quarters, we have, with the concurrence of the Department of Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce, extended to the Indian Marine and Marine Survey (section 56) the privileges with regard to wine, provisions and stores which have hitherto been confined to officers and ships of Her Majesty's Navy. The privilege has likewise been extended in all cases to spirits.

14 In order to meet the case of the foreign ports of Native States on the Western Coast, which are not surrounded by customs preventive lines, the existing practice of refusing drawback on exports to such ports has been legalised (section 57) in the form of empowering the Governor General in Council to prohibit drawback in the case of any particular port. This is in accordance with the Bombay Committee's suggestion.

15 In accordance with the existing practice at Bombay, which originated in section 35 of Act I of 1852, the Customs-collector has been empowered (section 58) to reject, if he sees fit, any claim for drawback amounting to less than ten rupees. The Bombay Municipal Act provides similarly regarding petty refunds of town-duty.

16 Section 14 of the Bill as introduced was inserted in consequence of a long correspondence which arose in Bombay with the Chamber of Commerce out of the practice prevailing there of masters entering in the manifest the names of the ships' agents as consignees of the cargo, and the true consignees complaining of delay in receiving their goods and of the departure of the vessel in the interim. The Bombay Committee, however, now find that the section will not meet the case, and, though it is not objected to by Bengal and Madras (chiefly, it would seem, owing to difference of circumstances), we think it better to omit it, and to obviate the difficulty partly by an addition to section 71, permitting port-clearance to be refused except on security for the clearance of the import-manifest, and partly by new provisions in chapter IX, which will be explained hereafter.

17 Section 64 is new, to adapt the law to actual circumstances, under which the manifest sometimes arrives by overland mail before the vessel itself, in which case the saving of time by commencing the preliminaries for her discharge is desirable.

18 Section 71—The Madras Committee recommend the addition of a clause authorising the refusal of port-clearance to any vessel the master or agents of which have not made all reasonable endeavours to land all the cargo for the port. Formerly, they say, they could stop a vessel through the High Court, or bring an action for overcarrying their goods, but now canal steamers protect themselves by a clause in the bill of lading. The Madras Trades Association support this recommendation by a letter (Paper No 9) giving details of packages actually overcarried. On the other hand, overcarrying is defended on the grounds, 1st, that boats are scarce at Madras, 2nd, that boatwork is there prohibited after sundown, 3rd, that mail-contracts prevent steamers making long delays. We have reserved this question for discussion at Calcutta.

19 Section 75—In accordance with the recommendations of the Calcutta Committee and the Bengal Board, the periods of unloading and loading have been combined, but the aggregate of 30 days has been reduced to 20. The additional periods for loading and unloading have also each been reduced to one day for every 100 tons instead of every 50. This will still leave a vessel of 1200 tons, for instance, 32 days, which is ample. Sections 50 and 108 of the Bill as introduced have been consolidated into this section, and words have been inserted to prevent more than one officer at a time being claimed as of right when, from smallness of establishment or press of work, extra officers may not be available.

20 Sections 76 and 77—Special provision has been made in the concluding clauses for goods being water-borne from places not duly appointed as wharves, and without the presence or authority of an officer of customs, as also without boat-notes, in order to meet the circumstances of Calcutta, as represented by the Board of Revenue. In section 77, the suggestions from Burma have also been attended to, and sections 61 and 125 of Act VI of 1863 (Bill I, sections 53, 58 and 111) have been amalgamated.

21 Sections 97 and 99—These are the new sections inserted, and referred to above in paragraph 16, in order to permit the prompt discharge of cargo where there is urgent necessity, or there are special facilities, for it. We are disposed to consider that a provision of this nature is the best for meeting the difficulties now felt and reconciling the conflicting interests of ship-owners and owners or consignees of goods. The latter are protected from double charges for agency. The sections, however, are tentative, and may require amendment after they have been scrutinized by the Trade and the Customs Departments at Bombay and Calcutta.

22. Adverting to section 106, we have altered the form of the bond in accordance with a suggestion from Madras, so as to allow of enforcement in a District Court instead of in the High Court, though this was really not indispensable, since any of the forms may, even under the existing Act, be modified by the Chief Customs Authority.

23. Section 107—In accordance with a suggestion from British Burma, arising out of an opinion by the Advocate General, a clause has been added to make it clear that a fresh bond is not indispensable on every fresh removal of the goods while in warehouse.

24. Section 116—Permission to bottle off wines and spirits has been added, in conformity with the English Act and suggestions from Bengal.

25. Section 132—This section has been modified in accordance with suggestions from Bengal so as to place recovery of rent on the same footing as recovery of duty.

26. Section 137 has been modified to suit Calcutta, in the same way as sections 76 and 77 (vide supra, paragraph 20).

27. Section 140—In order to obtain correct statistics of imports and exports, it has been made compulsory on the owner of goods short-shipped or re-landed to give information of the fact to the Custom-house. This is in accordance with recommendations received and with the English law regarding short shipments.

28. Chapter XVIII of the Bill as introduced, which was entitled "Offences and Penalties," has elicited some differences of opinion as to what was the best position in the Act for such matters. We have now, in the first place, transferred to a separate chapter everything relating to procedure. With regard to the offences and penalties themselves, we are of opinion that the chief thing to be considered is the convenience of the mercantile and nautical public rather than that of adjudicating officers. Anybody who wishes honestly to know what the law requires him to do, will find his study of the existing Act perpetually interrupted by the long offence and penalty clauses, the terrors of which it cannot be indispensable to place in close juxtaposition with every injunction or obligation.

We have now recast the chapter (XIV) in tabular form, shewing in three columns the offence, the section to which it has reference, and the penalty, and trust that this will meet the views of all parties. To the adjudicating officer it will, we believe, not be inconvenient, to the public it will be a relief not to have every section burdened with unnecessary matter, while Custom-house officials may, if they wish, have the chapter printed separately to hand to every master on arrival, or to frame and post up in conspicuous places at the Custom-house and wharves.

29. We have made numerous changes in the phrasing of the Bill throughout, to secure both clearness and brevity. Considerable alterations have also been made in the arrangement of chapters and sections, with the view both of condensation and of bringing analogous provisions together and securing a practical sequence. The chapters now stand as follows:—

- Chapter I—Preliminary
- " II—Appointment of officers in the Department of Customs
- " III—Appointment of ports, wharves, custom-houses, warehouses and boarding and landing-stations
- " IV—Restrictions and prohibitions of importation and exportation
- " V—Levy of, and exemption from, customs-duties
- " VI—Drawback
- " VII—Arrival and departure of vessels
- " VIII—General provisions affecting vessels in port, &c
- " IX—Importation or discharge
- " X—Warehousing
- " XI—Exportation or shipment, and re-landing
- " XII—Spirits
- " XIII—Coasting trade
- " XIV—Offences and penalties
- " XV—Procedure relating to offences, appeals, &c
- " XVI—Miscellaneous

30. We propose to consider the Bill further in Calcutta, and recommend that it be in the meantime published in the Gazette of India for general information.

A Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the levy of Sea Customs-duties

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the levy of Sea Customs-duties, It is enacted as follows —

CHAPTER I

PRELIMINARY

1 This Act may be called "The Sea Customs Act, 1877"
 Short title
 Commencement And shall come into force on the passing thereof

2 The Acts mentioned in the first schedule hereto annexed be repealed to the extent specified therein, except as to any act done, offence committed or liability incurred

All references to any of the said Acts, in Acts passed subsequently thereto, shall be read as if made to the corresponding provisions of this Act

All appointments and notifications made, and licenses issued, under Act No VI of 1863, shall, as far as may be, be deemed to have been respectively made and issued under this Act

3 In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

(a) "Chief Customs-Authority" denotes the person authorized to exercise subject to the Local Government the chief control in matters connected with Sea-customs in any place to which this Act applies

(b) "Chief Customs-Officer" denotes the Chief Executive Officer of Sea-customs for any Port to which this Act applies

(c) "Customs-collector" includes every officer of Customs for the time being in separate charge of a Custom-house, or duly authorized to perform all, or any special, duties of an officer so in charge

(d) "Customs-port" denotes any Port in British India at which Sea Customs-duties are leviable, and any Foreign Port which has been declared under section 12 to be a Customs-port

(e) "Foreign Port" includes any port or place in India not situated in British India, and not declared under section 12 to be a Customs-port

(f) "Vessel" includes anything made for the conveyance by water of human beings or property

(g) "Coasting vessel" denotes any vessel proceeding from one Customs-port to another Customs-port, whether touching at any intermediate Foreign Port or not

(h) "Master" includes every person, except a Pilot, having command or charge of any vessel and also a ship's agent, appointed in writing by the master to be responsible on his behalf when such appointment is approved by the Customs-collector

(i) "Warehouse" denotes any place appointed or licensed under this Act for the keeping and securing of goods entered to be warehoused without payment of duty on the first entry thereof

(j) "Owner" includes importer, exporter and consignee, and an agent of any of them duly appointed and authorized under this Act

CHAPTER II

APPOINTMENT OF OFFICERS OF CUSTOMS, &c

4 The Local Government of every place in which duties of Sea-customs are leviable, shall appoint such persons as it thinks fit to be officers of Customs, and to exercise the powers conferred, and to perform the duties imposed, by this Act on such officers

Every person so appointed may be suspended or dismissed by the Local Government which appointed him

5 The Local Government may delegate to any officer of Customs all or any of the powers vested in it by section 4

Every person appointed in exercise of such delegated power may be suspended or dismissed by the officer who appointed him

6 At any place at which there is no Customs-collector, the Collector of the District and the officers subordinate to him may perform all duties required by this Act to be performed by a Customs-collector and other officers of Customs

7 The Chief Customs Authority may from time to time, with the sanction of the Local Government, make rules consistent with this Act for regulating the practice and proceedings of, and the delegation of their duties by, officers of Customs

8 If any dispute arises between any officer of Customs and any Master of a vessel, or owner of goods, or other person, in respect to any matter (not specially provided for by any law for the time being in force) relating to the importation, exportation or warehousing of any goods, or to the proper rate of duty payable in respect thereof, or to the levy of any duty or penalty thereon, or to any seizure or forfeiture thereof, the Chief Customs Authority, or such officer of Customs as the said Authority from time to time appoints in this behalf, shall decide such dispute, subject to an appeal to the Local Government

9 Where the dispute relates to the duty leviable in respect of any goods, the owner of such goods, if dissatisfied with such decision, shall deposit in the hands of the Customs-collector at the Port of importation or exportation, respectively, the amount of duty demanded by the deciding officer, pending the settlement of the matter on appeal

Upon payment of such deposit and compliance with the provisions of this Act relating to the entry or shipment of such goods, the Customs-collector shall cause the goods to be delivered to such owner for importation or exportation, as the case may be

10 No Chief Customs-Authority or Chief Customs-Officer, and no other Customs officers exempted from service on any jury or inquest or as assessors, or any officer of Customs whom such Chief Authority or Chief Officer deems it necessary to exempt on grounds of public duty, shall be compelled to serve on any jury or inquest, or as an assessor

APPOINTMENT OF PORTS, WHARVES, CUSTOM-HOUSES, WAREHOUSES AND BOARDING AND LANDING-STATIONS

Power to appoint Ports Wharves Custom houses warehouses and boarding and landing stations

11 The Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette,

- (a) declare the places which alone shall be Ports for the shipment and landing of goods,
- (b) declare the limits of such Ports,
- (c) appoint proper places therein to be Wharves for the landing and shipping of goods, and for the landing or shipping of particular classes of goods,
- (d) declare the limits of any such Wharf,
- (e) alter the name of any such Port or Wharf

Every such Port, except Aden, shall be a Customs-port within the meaning of this Act

The Local Government may also from time to time in like manner declare

- (f) places to be Ports for the carrying on of coasting trade with Customs-ports or with any specified Customs-ports, and for no other purpose,
- (g) what shall, for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be a Custom-house, and the limits thereof

12 The Governor General in Council may from time to time declare, by notification in the Gazette of India, that any Foreign Port shall, with such limitations and on such conditions (if any) as he thinks fit, be a Customs-port for the purposes of this Act, in so far as the same is capable of being applied to such Port

13 The Local Government may from time to time declare, by notification in the official Gazette, that any Customs-port shall be a Warehousing Port for the purposes of this Act

14 At any Warehousing Port, the Chief Customs-Authority may from time to time appoint public Warehouses wherein dutiable goods may be deposited without payment of duty on the first importation thereof

15 At any Warehousing Port, the Chief Customs-Officer may from time to time license private warehouses wherein dutiable goods may be deposited without payment of duty on the first importation thereof

Every license for a private warehouse so granted may, unless it be otherwise provided in the license, be revoked after one month's notice by the Chief Customs-Officer, and may be cancelled on conviction of the licensee of any offence under this Act relating to warehouses

Every application for a license for a private warehouse shall be in writing, and shall be drawn up in such form as is from time to time prescribed by the Chief Customs-Authority, and shall be signed by the applicant

16 The Chief Customs-Authority may from time to time appoint, in any Customs port, stations or places at which vessels arriving at, or departing from, such Port shall bring-to for the boarding or landing of officers of Customs, and may, unless separate provision therefor has been made under the Indian Ports Act 1875, direct at what particular place in any such Port vessels, not brought into Port by pilots, shall be required to anchor or moor

PROHIBITIONS AND RESTRICTIONS OF IMPORTATION AND EXPORTATION

17 The importation into, or exportation from British India of the goods enumerated in the following clauses, is prohibited—

- (a) any book printed in infringement of any law in force in British India on the subject of copyright, when the proprietor of such copyright, or his agent, has given to the Chief Customs-Authority notice in writing that such copyright subsists, and a statement of the date on which it will expire
- (b) counterfeit coin
- (c) any indecent or obscene book, pamphlet, paper, drawing, painting, representation, figure or article
- (d) articles of foreign manufacture bearing any name, brand or marks being, or purporting to be, the names, brands or marks of manufacturers resident in the United Kingdom or British India

18 The importation into British India of arms or ammunition, except under a license from the Governor General in Council, or from some officer authorized in that behalf by the said Governor General in Council, or otherwise in accordance with any law for the time being in force, is prohibited

Nothing in this section shall apply to rifles, guns, pistols, and sporting powder, bond fide imported by any person in reasonable quantities for his own private use

19 The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit or restrict the importation or exportation by sea or by land, or both by sea and by land, of any particular class of goods

20 It shall be lawful to import into, or to export from, any place declared under section 11 to be a Port for the shipment and landing of goods, any goods the importation or exportation of which is not prohibited or restricted by any law, or by any notification of the Governor General in Council, for the time being in force

LEVY OF, AND EXEMPTION FROM, CUSTOMS-DUTIES

21 Customs-duties shall be levied on such goods imported by sea into any Customs-port from any Foreign Port, at such rates, and with such exemptions, as may be prescribed by any law for the time being in force

22 Customs-duties shall be levied on such goods exported by sea from any Customs-port to any Foreign Port, at such rates, and with such exemptions, as may be prescribed by any law for the time being in force

23 No Customs-duties shall be levied on goods carried by sea from any Customs-port to any other Customs-port

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to opium, salt or spirits, or to goods brought from any Foreign Port to any Customs port and there transhipped for, or thence carried to, any other Customs port without payment of duty, or to goods removed in bond

24 The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, fix, for the purpose of levying duties, the tariff-value of any goods exported or imported by sea on which Customs-duties are by law imposed

25 The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, exempt any goods imported into, or exported from, British India or into or from any specified Port or place therein, from the whole or any part of the Customs-duties leviable thereon under any law for the time being in force

The Chief Customs-Authority may, by special order in each case, exempt from the payment of duty, under stated circumstances of an exceptional nature, any goods on which Customs-duties are leviable by any law for the time being in force

26 The Customs-collector may, subject to any general rules relating to the landing and shipping of passengers' baggage and the passing of the same through the Custom-house, which may be made under section 7, pass free of duty any baggage in actual use, and for this purpose may determine, subject to any such rules, whether any goods shall be treated as baggage in actual use, or as goods subject to duty

27 If goods produced or manufactured in British India be imported into any Customs-port from any Foreign Port, such goods shall be liable to all the duties, conditions and restrictions, if any, to which goods of the like kind and value not so produced or manufactured are liable on the first importation thereof

Provided that, if such importation takes place within three years after the exportation of such goods, and it is proved to the satisfaction of the Customs-collector that the property in such goods has continued in the person by whom or on whose account, they were exported, the goods may be admitted without payment of duty

Goods imported, for which any drawback of excise has been received on exportation, shall be subjected to payment of duty, unless the Chief Customs-Authority in any particular case otherwise directs by special order

28 All goods derelict, jetsam, flotsam and wreck, brought or coming into any Customs-port, shall at all times be subject to the same duties, if any, to which goods of the like kind are subject on importation at such Port, unless it be shown to the satisfaction of the Customs-collector, that such goods are the produce or manufacture of any place, from which they are entitled to be admitted duty-free

29 Opium imported by sea into any Customs-port may, if the Local Government think fit, but not otherwise, be re-exported by sea from the same Port on payment of a duty equal in amount to the fee to which it would have been liable if it had been transhipped at such Port

30 Provisions and other ship's stores warehoused at the time of importation may be exported without payment of duty for use on board of any vessel proceeding directly to a Foreign Port, whether such Port be or be not the Port of ultimate destination

Articles of Indian produce or manufacture, including rum, required for use on board of any vessel proceeding to any Foreign Port, may also be exported free of duty, whether of customs or excise, in such quantities as the Customs-collector determines with reference to the tonnage of the vessel, the numbers of the crew and passengers, and the length of the voyage on which the vessel is about to depart

Provided that no such rum shall be so shipped on any vessel not going to a Foreign Port, or going on a voyage of less than thirty days' probable duration

Transshipment

31 In the Ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Kárwár, Karachi, Aden, Rangoon, Maulmain, Akyab, Chittagong, and such other Customs ports as the Governor or General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct in this behalf, the Chief Customs-Officer may, on application of the owner of any goods imported into such Port, grant leave to tranship the same without payment of duty, if any be leviable, at the Port of transshipment, and without any security or bond for the due arrival and entry of the goods at the Port of destination

In any Customs-port other than a Port in which the preceding clause may from time to time be in force, the Customs-collector may, on application of such owner, grant leave for transshipment without payment of duty, if any be leviable, at such Port, provided that, where the goods so transhipped are dutiable, and are to be removed to some other Customs-port, the owner shall enter into a bond, with such security as may be required of him, in a sum equal at least to the duty chargeable on such goods, for the due arrival and entry thereof at the Port of destination within such time as such Customs-collector directs

Provided that such goods have been specially and distinctly manifested or declared at the time of import as for transshipment to some other Customs or Foreign Port

32 The power conferred by section 31 shall be exercised, and the transshipment shall be performed, subject to such rules as may from time to time be made by the Local Government

33 All goods transhipped under the second clause of section 31 for removal to a Customs-port shall thereupon be treated in all respects as warehoused goods, and shall on their arrival at

Entry and warehouse
ing, on arrival of goods transhipped under sec tion 31, clause 2

such Port be entered and warehoused in like manner as goods are entered and warehoused on the first importation thereof and under the laws and rules, in so far as such laws and rules can be made applicable, which regulate the entry and warehousing of such last-mentioned goods

Provided that, if on the arrival of the said goods at such Port, the owner desires forthwith to export the same by sea to some Foreign Port, or to pay duty thereon for home-consumption, without actually warehousing them, the Customs-collector at such Port may, after all the formalities of entering and examining such goods for re-warehousing have been duly performed, permit the goods to be entered and shipped for exportation, or to be entered and delivered for home-consumption, upon payment of the duty thereon, in like manner as if such goods had been actually warehoused. All goods so exported, or on which duty has been so paid, shall be deemed to have been duly cleared from the warehouse

34 If two or more vessels belonging wholly or in greater part to the same owner be at any Customs-port at the same time, any provisions and other ship's stores in use or ordinarily shipped for use on board may, at the discretion of the Customs-collector, be transhipped from one such vessel to any other such vessel without payment of import-duty

from one vessel to an other of same owner without payment of duty

35 An officer of Customs shall, in every case, be deputed to superintend the removal of transhipped goods from vessel to vessel

Officer of Customs to superintend tranship
ment

36 A transshipment-fee on each bale or package of any goods or class of goods transhipped under this Act, may be levied at such rates and under such rules as the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may from time to time make by notification in the official Gazette

Levy of transshipment fee

37 The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit the transshipment, at any specified Port, or at all Ports, of any specified class of goods, or prescribe any special mode of transshipping any specified class of goods

Miscellaneous Provisions

38 On the importation into, or exportation from, any Customs-port of any goods, whether liable to duty or not, the owner of such goods shall, in his bill of entry or shipping-bill, state their real value to the best of his knowledge and belief, and shall subscribe a declaration of the truth of such value at the foot of such bill

Owner &c to declare real value of goods in bill of entry or clearance and if necessary to pro duce invoice &c.

In case of doubt, the Customs-collector may require any such owner or any other person in possession of any invoice, broker's note, policy of insurance or other document, whereby the real value of any such goods can be ascertained, to produce the same, and to furnish any information relating to the value of such goods which it is in his power to furnish. And thereupon such person shall produce any such document or furnish any such information so required by such officer

Provided that, if the owner makes a declaration before the Customs-collector to the effect that he is unable, from want of full information, to state the real value or contents of any case, package or parcel of goods, then the Customs collector shall permit him, previous to the entry thereof (1) to open such case, package or parcel, and examine the contents in presence of an officer of Customs or (2) to deposit such case, package or parcel in a public warehouse, pending production of such information

No re-valuation of goods assessed for duty on the declared value thereof shall be allowed after such goods have been removed from the Custom-house

For the purposes of this section the real value shall be deemed to be—

(a) the wholesale cash-price, less trade-discount, for which goods of the like kind and quality are sold, or are capable of being sold, at the time and place of importation or exportation respectively, without any abatement or deduction whatever, except of so much as the duties payable on the importation thereof amount to or,

(b) where such price is not ascertainable, the estimated cost at which goods of the like kind and quality could be laid down at such place

Nothing in this section applies to opium, salt or spirits

39 If, upon the examination of any goods chargeable with duty upon the value thereof, but for which a specific value is not fixed by law for the purpose of levying duties thereon, it appears to an officer of Customs that such goods are properly chargeable with a higher rate or amount of duty than that to which they would be subject according to the value thereof as stated in the bill of entry or shipping-bill, such officer may detain such goods

Under valued goods how dealt with

In every such case the detaining officer shall forthwith give notice in writing to the owner of the goods of their detention, and of the value thereof as estimated by him, and the Customs-collector shall, within two clear working days after such detention, or within such reasonable period as may with the consent of the parties be arranged, determine either to deliver such goods on payment of duty charged according to the entry of such owner, or to retain the same for the use of Government.

If the goods be retained for the use of Government, the Customs-collector shall cause the full amount stated in the bill as their real value to be paid to the owner in full satisfaction for such goods, in the same manner as if they had been transferred by ordinary sale, and shall then cause them to be sold by public auction after due notice in the official Gazette, or some mercantile newspaper circulating in the place.

If the proceeds arising from such sale shall exceed the sum paid to the owner, together with the duty to which the goods are liable and all charges incurred by Government in connection with them, a portion not exceeding one-half of the overplus shall, at the discretion of the Chief Officer of Customs, be payable to the officer who detected the under-valuation of the goods.

Nothing in this section shall prevent the Chief Officer of Customs, when he has reason to believe that any such under-valuation was solely the result of accident or error, from permitting the owner of the goods, on his application for that purpose, to amend such entry, on payment of such increased rate of duties, or on such other terms as he may determine.

40 When goods are retained under section 39 for the use of Government, the duties payable thereon shall in no case be levied from the owner.

41 No claim for any abatement or refund of duty on account of damage alleged to have been sustained before delivery of the bill of entry, shall be allowed in respect of any goods imported into any Customs-port, unless such claim be made in writing, and the damaged condition of such goods be ascertained and certified, on the first examination thereof, by a Custom-house Appraiser, or by such other person as the Customs-collector appoints for the purpose.

42 Goods, the damaged condition of which is ascertained and certified to the satisfaction of the officer in charge of the Custom-house, may, after notice in the official Gazette, or some local newspaper, be sold by public auction at such time (within thirty days from the date of delivery of the bill of entry), and at such place, as the Customs-collector appoints.

The duty on such goods shall be adjusted on the gross amount realized by their bond fide sale, as proved by the original account-sales, without any abatement or deduction, except of so much as represents the duties payable on the importation thereof.

On goods the value of which has been fixed by law for the purpose of levying duties thereon, no abatement of duties shall be allowed, unless they have deteriorated to the extent of one-fifth of their value.

No abatement of duty on account of damage shall be allowed on wines, spirits or beer, or on any other articles on which duties are levied on quantity and not on value.

43 It, upon the first levying, repealing, enhancement or reduction of any duty, or upon any change of any valuation for duty, or upon the first permitting, prohibiting or restricting of any importation, it is necessary to determine the exact date on which an importation of goods had effect, such date shall be that on which the goods were actually entered for home-consumption at the Custom-house.

For the purposes of this section goods shall be deemed to be entered when the bill of entry thereof is delivered to the Customs-collector.

44 If, in like manner, it is necessary to determine the exact date on which an exportation of goods had effect, such date shall be that on which the goods were actually entered outwards at the Custom-house.

45 When a contract is entered into for the sale of any dutiable goods at a fixed price, including the duty leviable in British India at the date of the contract, and subsequently thereto, and before the contract is fully performed, the duty on such goods is raised or lowered, and levied accordingly, the amount to be paid to, or received by, the parties to the contract shall be increased or diminished as the case may be, by the amount by which such duty is raised or lowered.

Illustrations

(a) A merchant in Calcutta contracts with B, a merchant in Liverpool to sell him 100 maunds of indigo at Rs 200 per maund including the export duty at the rate of 3 rupees per maund. Before the contract is fully performed the duty on indigo is reduced to 1 rupee per maund. B is entitled to deduct from the price agreed on Rs 200, being Rs 2 per maund.

(b) A wine merchant in Madras, contracts with B, a resident there to procure and deliver to him within one year a thousand gallons of champagne at Rs 25 per gallon duty paid. Subsequently and before the contract is performed the duty is raised from Rs 18 to Rs 28 per gallon. A is entitled to be paid at Rs 26 per gallon instead of Rs 25.

(c) A wine merchant in Bombay contracts with B, a merchant in Bordeaux for a thousand gallons of claret at Rs 5 per gallon including the import duty of 1 rupee per gallon. Subsequently and before the contract is fully performed the duty is raised to Rs 2 per gallon and levied at that rate. B is entitled to be paid at the rate of Rs 6 per gallon.

46 When during the transit by sea to British India of any dutiable goods, the duty on such goods is raised, the duty leviable on such goods on arrival in British India shall be the duty which was in force in respect of such goods when such transit commenced, and when the duty on such goods is reduced, the duty leviable thereon shall be such reduced duty. Transit shall be deemed to have commenced on the grant of port clearance.

47 When Customs-duties or charges have been short-levied through inadvertence, error or misconception on the part of the officers of Customs, or when duty, after having been levied, has been erroneously refunded, the person chargeable with the duty or charge so short-levied, or to whom such refund has erroneously been made, shall pay the deficiency or repay the amount paid to him in excess, on demand being made within three months from the date of the first assessment or making of the refund, and the Customs-collector may refuse to pass any goods belonging to such person until the said deficiency or excess be paid or repaid

48 No Customs-duties or charges which have been paid, and of which repayment, wholly or in part, is claimed in consequence of the same having been paid under an erroneous construction of law or from other error, shall be returned, unless such claim is made within three months from the date of such payment

49. No dutiable goods shall be passed for home-consumption unless the owner previously either pays the customs-duties leviable thereon, or furnishes security, to the satisfaction of the Customs-collector, for the payment of the same

DRAWBACK

50 Upon the re-export by sea to any Foreign Port, of any goods, except salt or opium, capable of being easily identified, imported by sea into any Customs-port from any Foreign Port, and upon which duties of Customs have been paid on importation, seven-eighths of such duty shall, except as otherwise provided in this chapter, be repaid as drawback

Provided that, in every such case, the goods be identified to the satisfaction of the Customs-collector at such Customs-port, and that there export be made within two years from the date of importation, as shown by the records of the Custom-house, or within such extended term as the Chief Customs-Authority, on sufficient cause being shown, in any case determines

Drawback shall be allowed upon goods which, after having been charged with duty at one Customs-port and thence exported to another, are re-exported by sea to a Foreign Port

Provided that, in every such case, the goods be identified to the satisfaction of the officer in charge of the Custom-house at the Port of final exportation, and that such final exportation be made within three years from the date of first importation into British India

51. A drawback of the whole of the duties paid under Act No XXIII of 1860 (to amend Act XXI of 1856, to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Abkari Revenue in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal), section one, on spirit manufactured at distilleries worked according to the English method and exported by sea in manner proscribed by Act No XXI of 1856 (to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Abkari Revenue in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal) to any Foreign Port shall be allowed at the Port of exportation

Provided that the exportation be made within one year from the date of the payment of duty under the said Act No XXIII of 1860, and that the spirit, when brought to the Custom-house, be accompanied by the pass in which such payment is certified

52 A drawback of the whole of the Customs-duties shall be allowed on wine and spirits intended for the consumption of any officer of Her Majesty's Navy, on board of any of Her Majesty's ships in actual service, unless such wine and spirits have been warehoused without payment of duty on the first entry thereof

The quantity of wine and spirits on which drawback may be allowed in any one year for the use of such officers shall not exceed the quantities hereinafter allowed for each such officer respectively, that is to say—

	Gals
For every Admiral	1,260
Vice-Admiral	1,050
Rear-Admiral	840
Captain of 1st and 2nd rate	630
Captain of 3rd, 4th and 5th rate	420
Captain of an inferior rate	210
Lieutenant or other commanding Officer, and for every Marine-officer, Master, Purser or Surgeon	105

53 Every person clearing and claiming drawback for wine or spirits, as provided in section 52, shall state in the entry the name of the officer for whose use such wine or spirits is intended, and of the ship in which he serves, as well as the place and date of the last supply for which drawback was allowed

All such wine and spirits shall be delivered into the charge of the officers of Customs deputed on this behalf at the Port of shipment, to be shipped under then cue, and when the officer commanding the ship has certified the receipt of such wine and spirits into his charge, and any such officer of Customs has certified the shipment, the drawback shall be paid to the person entitled to receive the same

54 The Customs-collector may permit the transfer of any such wine or spirits from one Naval officer to another Naval officer on board of the same, or of any other such vessel, as part of his authorized quantity, or may permit the transshipment of any such wine or spirits from one vessel to another for the use of the same Naval officer, or the re-lading and warehousing of any such wine or spirits for future re-shipment.

The Customs-collector may also receive back the duties for any such wine or spirits, and allow the same to be cleared for home-consumption

55 Provisions and other ship's stores for the use of Her Majesty's Navy may, in like manner, be transferred transhipped or reloaded and warehoused, free of duty, and where duties have been paid on such provisions and stores, drawback of such duties, whether of customs or excise, shall be allowed on receipt of an application in writing from the officer commanding the ship for which they are intended, or from some other officer duly authorized to make such application

56 Sections 52, 53 and 54 apply to officers of Her Majesty's Indian Marine and Marine-survey on board of any of the ships of such Marine or Survey proceeding to any port out of India, and section 55 applies to provisions and stores for the use of such Marine or Survey

57 The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, (a) declare what goods shall, for the purpose of this chapter, be deemed to be capable of being easily identified,

(b) prohibit repayment as drawback upon the re-exportation of goods to any specified Foreign Port

No drawback to be allowed in certain cases 58 No drawback shall be allowed—

(a) upon goods not included in the export-manifest, or

(b) upon goods exported from one Customs-port to another, or

(c) where the goods to be exported are of less value than the amount of drawback claimed, or

(d) where the claim is for drawback amounting to less than ten rupees, and the Customs-collector thinks fit to reject it

59. No drawback shall be allowed upon any goods re-exported from any Customs-port unless the claim to receive such drawback be made and established at the time of re-export, nor unless payment be demanded within six months from the date of entry for shipment

No such payment of drawback shall be made until the vessel carrying the goods has put out to sea

60 Every person, or his duly authorized agent, claiming drawback on any goods duly exported, shall make and subscribe a declaration that such goods have been actually exported, and have not been re-landed and are not intended to be re-landed at any Customs-port, and that such person was at the time of entry and shipment, and continues to be, entitled to drawback thereon

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF VESSELS

61 The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, fix a place in any river or Port, beyond which no vessel, whether laden or in ballast, arriving from any Foreign Port, shall pass until the Master thereof has delivered to the Pilot, officer of Customs or other person duly authorized to receive the same, a manifest as described in section 63

If, in any river or Port wherein a place has been fixed by the Local Government under this section, the Master of any vessel arriving from any Foreign Port remains outside or below the place so fixed, such Master shall, nevertheless, within twenty-four hours after the vessel anchors, deliver such manifest to the Pilot, officer of Customs or other person authorized to receive the same

62 If any vessel, coming from any Foreign Port, arrives at any Customs-port in which a place has not been so fixed, the Master of such vessel shall, within twenty-four hours after anchoring, deliver a manifest to the Pilot, officer of Customs, or other person authorized to receive the same

63 Every manifest shall be signed by the Master, and shall contain a true specification of all goods imported in such vessel, comprising such particulars, and made out in such form, as the Chief Customs-Authority may from time to time direct

The Customs-collector may permit the Master to amend any obvious error in the manifest, or to supply my omission resulting from accident or inadvertence, by furnishing an amended or supplementary manifest

But the receiving of such amended or supplementary document shall be discretionary with such Customs-collector, and, if he decide to receive any such amended or supplementary manifest, he may levy thereon such fee as the Chief Customs-Authority from time to time directs

64 Nothing contained in section 61, 62 or 63 shall prevent the delivery of the manifest, previous to the arrival of the vessel, by an agent duly appointed and approved, as defined in section 3, clause (4), of this Act

65 The Pilot, officer or other person so receiving the manifest shall countersign the same and enter thereon such particulars as the Chief Customs-Authority from time to time directs in this behalf

66 No vessel arriving in any Customs-port from any Foreign Port, shall be allowed to break bulk until a manifest has been delivered as herebefore provided, nor until a copy of such manifest, together with an application for entry inwards, has been presented to the Customs-collector, and an order has been given thereon by such officer for the discharge of the cargo

The Customs-collector may refuse to give such order, until any port-clearance, cockett or other paper, which he knows or has reason to believe had been granted at the place from which the vessel is stated to have come, shall likewise have been delivered to him

Nothing in this section shall prevent a Customs-collector from granting, prior to receipt of the original manifest, and prior to the entry of the vessel at the Custom-house, a special pass, permitting bulk to be broken. The granting of such pass shall be subject to such rules as may from time to time be prescribed by the Chief Customs-Authority

67. The Master of every vessel arriving from any Foreign Port shall, at the time of applying for entry inwards at any Customs-port, deliver to the Customs-collector, if required so to do, the bill of lading or a copy thereof for every part of the cargo laden on board, and shall answer all such questions relating to the vessel, cargo, crew, and voyage as are put to him by such officer

68 No vessel, whether laden, partially laden or in ballast, shall depart from any Customs-port until a port-clearance has been granted by the Customs-collector or other officer duly authorized to grant the same

Every application for port-clearance shall be made by the Master at least twenty-four hours before the intended departure of the vessel, and every Master of a vessel so applying for port-clearance shall answer to the proper officer of Customs such questions touching her departure and destination as are demanded of him

69 No Pilot shall take charge of any vessel proceeding to sea, unless the Master of such vessel produces a port-clearance

70 The Master of every vessel intending to leave any Customs-port shall, at the time of applying for port-clearance, deliver to the Customs collector a manifest in duplicate according to such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Chief Customs-Authority, containing a true specification of all goods to be exported in the vessel and signed by the Master, and shall also so deliver such certificates as the Customs-collector acting under the general instructions of such Chief Customs-Authority, requires

The Customs-collector when satisfied with the said certificates, and as to the correctness of the manifest, shall grant a port-clearance to the Master, and shall return at the same time to such Master one copy of the manifest duly countersigned by the proper officer of Customs

Nothing in this section shall prevent the Customs-collector from granting (subject to such rules as the Chief Customs-Authority may from time to time prescribe) a port-clearance to the Master when the ship's agent furnishes sufficient security for duly delivering, within three days from the date of grant, the manifest and certificates aforesaid

clearance to any vessel until (a) the required manifest and certificates are produced,

(b) all Port-dues and other charges and penalties due by such vessel, or by the owner or Master thereof, have been duly paid, or their payment secured by such guarantee, or by a deposit at such rate as such Customs-collector directs,

(c) a bond and security for the clearance of the import manifest within a reasonable period have been given by a duly appointed and accepted agent for the Master, the amount of such security and the length of such period being fixed in each case by such Customs-collector

GENERAL PROVISIONS AFFECTING VESSELS IN PORT, &c.

72 The Customs-collector at any Customs-port may at any time depute at his discretion one or more officers of Customs to board any vessel arriving at such Port

Every officer of Customs so sent shall remain on board of such vessel by day and by night unless or until the Customs-collector shall otherwise order

Provided that the Customs-collector may, on such conditions as he sees fit to impose, permit the discharge of cargo without the presence of an officer of Customs

73 Whenever an officer of Customs is so deputed on board of any vessel, the Master of such vessel shall be bound to receive on board such officer, and one servant of such officer, and to provide such officer and servant with suitable accommodation of shelter and accommodation, officer and servant and likewise with a due allowance of fresh water, and with the means of cooking on board

74 Every officer of Customs so deputed shall have free access to every part thereof, and may fasten down any hatchway or entrance to the hold, and mark any goods before landing, and lock up, seal, mark, or otherwise secure any goods on board of such vessel

If any box, place or closed receptacle in any such vessel be locked, and the key be withheld, such officer shall report the same to the Customs-collector, who may thereupon issue to the officer on board, or to any other officer under his authority, a written order to search

On production of such order, the officer bearing the same may require that any place, box or closed receptacle in such vessel be opened in his presence, and, if it be not opened upon his requisition, he may break open the same

75 A period of twenty working days, or such further period as the Customs-collector directs, shall be allowed for the discharge of import-cargo and the shipment of export-cargo on board of every vessel not exceeding six hundred tons

One additional day shall in like manner be allowed for every fifty tons in excess of six hundred

No charge shall be made for the services of a single officer of Customs for such allowed number of working days, or for the services of several such officers (if available) for respective periods not exceeding in the aggregate such allowed number of working days

If the period occupied in the discharge and shipment of cargo be in excess of twenty working days, together with the additional period (if any) allowed under the second clause of this section, the vessel shall be charged with the expense of the officer of Customs at a rate not exceeding five rupees per diem (Sundays and holidays excepted) for such excess period.

In calculating any period allowed, or any charge made, under this section, due allowance for period during which vessel is laid up shall be made for any period during which a vessel after the completion of the discharge of import-cargo, and before commencing the shipment of export-cargo, is laid up by the withdrawal of the officer of Customs upon application from the Master.

76 Except with the written permission of the Customs-collector, no goods, other than passengers' baggage, shall be discharged from any vessel arriving at my Customs-port, or be shipped or water-borne for exportation or for carriage coastwise—

(a) on any Sunday or on any public holiday or day on which the discharge of cargo is prohibited by the Chief Customs Authority,

(b) on any day, except between such hours as such Authority from time to time appoints by notification in the official Gazette,

(c) without the presence or authority of an officer of Customs nor, in the case of goods so shipped or water-borne,

(d) from any place in any such Port except a wharf duly appointed for such purpose,

(e) before due entry outwards of the exporting vessel and of the goods,

(f) before such goods shall have been duly cleared for shipment.

Nothing in this section shall prevent the Chief Customs-Authority from giving, by notification in the official Gazette, general permission for goods to be so shipped or water-borne in my Customs-port from all or any places not duly appointed as wharves, and without the presence or authority of an officer of Customs.

77 When any goods are water-borne for the purpose of being landed from my vessel and warehoused or passed for importation, or of being shipped for exportation on board of any vessel there shall be sent, with each boat-load or other separate despatch, a boat-note specifying the number of packages so sent and the marks and numbers or other description thereof.

Each boat-note for goods to be landed shall be signed by an officer of the vessel, and likewise by the officer of Customs on board, if any such officer be on board, and shall be delivered on arrival to my officer of Customs authorized to receive the same.

Each boat note for goods to be shipped shall be signed by the proper officer of Customs, and, if an officer of Customs is on board of the vessel on which such goods are to be shipped, shall be delivered to such officer. If no such officer be on board, every such boat-note shall be delivered to the Master of the vessel, or to an officer of the vessel appointed by him to receive it.

The officer of Customs who receives my boat-note of goods landed, and the officer of Customs, Master, or other officer in the case may be, who receives any boat-note of goods shipped shall sign the same and note thereon such particulars as the Chief Customs-Authority may from time to time direct.

The Local Government may from time to time suspend the operation of this section in my Customs-port or part thereof, and may cancel such suspension.

toms-port or part thereof, and may cancel such suspension.

78 All goods water-borne for the purpose of being landed and warehoused, or passed for importation, or of being shipped for exportation, shall be so landed or shipped without any unnecessary delay.

79 No goods discharged from any vessel under the authority of an officer of Customs shall be landed, except at a wharf or other place appointed for the landing of such goods.

No such goods discharged into or loaded in any boat for the purpose of being landed or shipped shall be subsequently transhipped into any other boat without the permission of an officer of Customs.

80 The Local Government may declare with regard to my Customs-port, by notification in the official Gazette that after a stated date no boat not duly licensed and registered will be allowed to ply as a cargo boat for the landing and shipping of merchandise within the limits of such Port.

Power to prohibit ply ing of unlicensed cargo boats

In my Port with regard to which such notification has been issued, the Chief

Issue of licenses. Officer of Customs or other officer whom the Local Government appoints in this behalf may issue licenses for and make registration of, cargo-boats under such rules and on payment of such fees as the Local Government from time to time prescribes by notification in the official Gazette.

81 The Customs-collector, whenever he sees fit, may require that goods require goods to be weighed or measured on board before landing, may require that goods stowed in bulk and brought by sea or intended for exportation, shall be weighed or measured on board-ship before landing or after shipment, and may levy duty according to the result of such weighing or measurement.

82 Any officer of Customs may open my

Customs officer may open package, and fully examine open package and examine goods shipped or brought for shipment at my Customs-port.

83 The Customs-collector may, on the entry or

Customs collector may take samples of goods clearance of my goods, or at any time while such goods are being passed through the Custom-house, take samples of such goods, for examination or for ascertaining the value thereof, on which duties are payable, or for any other necessary purpose.

Every such sample shall, if the owner so desire, and if it be possible, be restored to him, otherwise it shall be disposed of and accounted for to him as the Customs collector directs.

84 The unshipping, curving, shipping and landing of all goods,

Owner to pay expense incidental to compliance with Custom house rules and the bringing of them to the proper place for examination or weighing, and the putting of them into and out of the scales and the opening, unpacking, bulking, sorting, lotting, marking and numbering of goods where such operations are necessary or permitted, and the removing of goods to, and the placing of them in, the proper place of deposit, shall be performed by or at the expense of the owner of such goods

When any goods, baggage or parcels are made over to an officer of Customs for the purpose of being landed, a fee of such amount as the Local Government from time to time directs shall be chargeable thereon, as compensation for the expense and trouble incurred in landing and depositing the same in the Custom-house

85. No owner of goods shall be entitled to claim from any officer of Customs compensation for any loss or injury occurring to such goods at any time while they remain or are lawfully detained in any Custom-house, or on any Custom-house wharf, or under charge of any officer of Customs, unless it be proved that such loss or injury was occasioned by the neglect or wilful act of an officer of Customs

86. The Chief Customs-Authority may from time to time fix the period after the expiration of which goods left on any Custom-house wharf or other authorized landing place, or part of the Custom-house premises, shall be subject to payment of fees, and the amount of such fees

87. A duplicate of any certificate, manifest, bill or other Custom-house document may, on payment of a fee not exceeding ten rupees, be furnished, at the discretion of the Customs-collector, if he is satisfied that no fraud has been committed or is intended

Such officer may also authorize any amendment to be made in any document, after it has been entered and recorded in the Custom house, upon payment of a like fee for every document so amended

88 Upon the entry or clearance of any goods for importation or exportation, the owner shall, if the Customs-collector so requires, deliver to such officer a duplicate of the bill of entry or shipping-bill thereof

89 No person shall act in any Custom-house as an agent for the transaction of any business relating to the entrance or clearance of any vessel, goods or baggage, unless authorized so to do by the Customs-collector

Such officer may require any person so authorized to give a bond with sufficient securities, in any sum not exceeding five thousand rupees, for his faithful behaviour as regards the Custom-house regulations and officers

Such officer may, in case of misbehaviour, suspend or withdraw such authorization, but an appeal against every such suspension or withdrawal shall lie to the Chief Customs-Authority, whose decision thereon shall be final

90 When any person makes application to any officer of Customs for permission to transact any business with him on behalf of any other person, such officer may require the applicant to produce a written authority from the person on whose behalf such business is to be transacted, and in default of the production of such authority, may refuse such permission

The clerk or servant, or known agent, of any person, or of any mercantile firm, may transact business at the Custom-house on account of such person or firm, if such person or a member of such firm identifies such clerk, servant or agent to the Customs-collector as empowered to transact his or their business, and deposits with such officer an authority in writing duly signed, authorising such clerk, servant or agent to receive all drawbacks, refunds and other moneys or transact other business on behalf of such person or firm

IMPORTATION OR DISCHARGE

91 When an order or a special pass, permitting any vessel which has arrived in any Customs-port from any Foreign Port to break bulk, has been duly issued under section 66, the discharge of the cargo of such vessel may be proceeded with

92 Any portion of an import-cargo intended for another Port, or any ship's stores intended for consumption in Port or on the home-ward voyage, may be declared by the Master of any vessel as not to be landed and may thereupon, with the special sanction of the Customs-collector, be retained on board, and such cargo or ship's stores so retained shall not be subject to the payment of duty

Provided that all such cargo and ship's stores, excepting any ship's stores which may be duly transferred to another ship under section 34, 54 or 55, shall be entered in the export-manifest of the vessel as cargo or ship's stores not landed, and on which no duty has been paid

The Customs-collector, or any officer deputed by him under section 72, may seal up, or otherwise secure, if he see reason for so doing, any portion of such cargo or ship's stores during the vessel's stay in Port

93 No goods shall be allowed to leave any vessel, unless they be duly entered in the original manifest of such vessel, or in an amended or supplementary manifest duly received under section 63

94 If the owner of any goods (except such as have been declared by the Master as not to be landed), does not land such goods within such number of working days, not exceeding fifteen, after the entry of the vessel importing the same, as the Local Government from time to time appoints by notification in the official Gazette, or within such longer period as the bill of lading of such vessel specifies, or if any period less than the number of working days so appointed is specified in the bill of lading of such vessel for the discharge of her cargo or any part thereof, and if the owner of such cargo, or part thereof, does not land the same within such specified period, or if the cargo of any vessel, with the exception of only a small quantity of goods, has been discharged previously to the expiration of the period so appointed or specified, as the case may be,— the Master of such vessel, or a duly authorized officer of Customs, on his application, may then carry such goods to the Custom-house

The Customs-collector shall thereupon take charge of and grant receipts for such goods, and if notice in writing has been given by the Master that the goods are to remain subject to a lien for freight, primage, general average, or other charges of a stated amount, he shall hold such goods until he receives notice in writing that the said charges are paid

95 At any time after the arrival of any vessel, the Customs-collector may, with the consent of the Master of such vessel, cause any small package or parcel

Goods may be landed at any time after arrival, with consent of goods to be carried to the Custom-house, there to remain for entry, in charge of the officers of Customs, during the remainder of the working days allowed under this Act for the landing of such package or parcel

96 If any package or parcel carried to the Custom-house under section 95 remains unclaimed on the expiration of the number of

Notice regarding unclaimed packages

working days so allowed for its landing, or at the time of the clearance outwards of the vessel from which it was landed, the Master may give such notice as is provided in section 94, and the officer in charge of the Custom-house shall thereupon hold such package or parcel as provided in the said section

97 If the duties chargeable upon any goods carried to the Custom-house under section 94 or 95, together with the freight, primage, charges of landing and

Procedure in case of non payment of duties within four months after entry of vessel removal, rent and other charges to which such goods are liable, are not paid within four months from the date of entry of the vessel, or if such goods are not duly warehoused within such period, such goods may, after due notice in the official Gazette, be sold by public auction, and the proceeds thereof shall then be applied—first, to the payment of freight, primage and general average, next, to the payment of duties, and then, to the payment of other charges

The overplus, if any, shall be paid to the owner of the goods, on his application for the same, provided that such application be made within one year from the sale of the goods, or that good reason be shown why such application was not so made

If any such goods be of a perishable nature, the Customs collector may at any time direct the sale thereof, and shall apply the proceeds in like manner

Nothing in this section shall authorize the passing for home-consumption of any dutiable goods without payment of duties of Customs thereon

98. Nothing in sections 93 to 97 inclusive shall prevent the Customs-collector in any Customs-port, to which the Local Govern-

Immediate discharge permitted in certain cases

ment, by notification in the official Gazette, declares this section to be applicable, from permitting the Master of any vessel immediately on receipt, under section 66, of an order or special pass, to discharge the cargo of such vessel or any portion thereof—

(a) at the Custom house or any specified landing-place or wharf,

(b) at any landing-place or wharf belonging to any Port Commissioners, Port Trust or other duly constituted and responsible public body or company,

(c) into the custody of responsible and authorized agents of the ship, if willing to receive the same, for the purpose of landing the same forthwith at the Custom-house or any such landing-place or wharf

The Customs collector shall take charge of all goods or cargo so landed, and otherwise proceed in relation thereto as provided in the said sections

Any such ship's agent so receiving any goods or cargo shall be responsible to pay all claims for damage or short delivery which may be established by the owner thereof, and shall be entitled to recover from such owner his charges for service rendered, but not for commission or the like claimed by any agent or consignee previously constituted by the owner

99 If any goods be not cleared for home-

Goods not cleared within two months from date of landing to be sold consumption or for ware-house within two months from the date of landing thereof, or within such further period as the Customs-collector directs, such goods may, after due notice in the official Gazette, be sold by public auction, and the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of duties and other charges to which the same were liable

The overplus, if any, shall be paid to the owner of the goods on his application for the same, provided

that such application be made within one year from the sale of the goods, or that good reason be shown why such application was not so made

Provided also that, where such goods are arms, ammunition or military stores, they may be sold or otherwise disposed of at such place (whether within or without British India), and in such manner, as the Local Government may from time to time direct

100 The owner of any dutiable goods intended to be delivered for home-

Entry for home consumption consumption on the landing thereof from the importing ship, shall make entry of such goods by delivering to the Customs collector a bill of entry thereof in such form and containing such particulars as may from time to time be directed by the Chief Customs-Authority

The particulars of such entry shall correspond with the particulars given of the same goods and packages in the manifest of the ship

The delivery of such bill shall be deemed to have taken place on the date of the first presentation of such bill to an officer of customs duly authorized to receive the same

The passing of such bill by an officer of customs duly authorized in that behalf shall be sufficient authority for the removal of the goods by the owner

CHAPTER X

WAREHOUSING

101 Any person who has imported any dutiable goods into any warehousing port may deposit such goods, without payment of duty on the first entry thereof,

Deposit of goods in warehouse without payment of duty in any warehouse appointed or licensed under this Act

102 Every public warehouse appointed under section 14 shall be under the lock and key of a warehouse-keeper appointed by the Chief Officer of Customs

The warehouse-keeper shall, to the extent provided in sections 105 and 117 and not otherwise, be responsible for the charge of all goods deposited in his warehouse, and for their due reception therein and delivery therefrom

103 The Chief Customs-Authority, or such officer of customs as such Authority from time to time appoints in this behalf, may from time to time determine in what division of any public warehouse and in what manner, and on what terms, including rates of rent, any goods and what sort of goods may be deposited

A table of the rates of rent so fixed for every public warehouse shall be placed in a conspicuous part thereof

104 Every application for the admission of goods into any warehouse shall be in writing, and shall be drawn up in such form as is from time to time prescribed by the Chief Customs-Authority, and shall be signed by the applicant

105 No goods shall be warehoused unless they have been assessed for Customs duty in like manner as goods intended to be passed for home-consumption

Nothing in this section shall (a) preclude the temporary deposit of goods in a public warehouse under section 38, or (b) interfere with the re-assessment for duty of warehoused goods on their clearance for home-consumption

(b) interfere with the re-assessment for duty of warehoused goods on their clearance for home-consumption, should an alteration of any duty or of any valuation for duty render such re-assessment requisite with reference to the provisions of section 13

106 When an application has been made for the warehousing of any goods, and when such goods have been assessed for duty as directed in section 105 the owner shall execute a bond for the amount of such duty in the Form marked A hereto annexed or when such form is inapplicable or insufficient, in such other form as is from time to time prescribed by the Chief Customs-Authority

Every such bond shall relate to the duties chargeable on the cargo or portion of the cargo of one vessel only

107 Every bond shall be for twice the amount of duty assessed on the goods to which it relates, and shall stipulate for the payment, on demand, of any sum due on account of any such goods, together with interest on such sum from the date of demand, at such rate, not exceeding six per cent per annum, as is fixed by the Chief Customs-Authority

Every person executing any such bond shall be bound thereby for the payment of all duties, interest and charges claimable on account of the goods, and of penalties incurred for violation of the provisions of this Act in respect to the same

Every such bond shall, unless the Chief Officer of Customs in any case deems a fresh bond to be necessary, continue in force, notwithstanding their subsequent removal to another warehouse or warehousing port

108 Where such bond has been executed, in respect of any goods, such goods shall be allowed to be warehoused for a period not exceeding three years, without being liable to import-duty

Provided that if the license for any private warehouse be withdrawn, every bond executed for duty on goods in private warehouse may be used on chargeable on goods deposited in such warehouse shall become due, and may be put in suit for the levy of such duties and other demands of customs, after seven days have passed from the date on which the Customs-collector has given notice of such withdrawal, unless the owner of the goods has in the interval obtained permission for their removal to another warehouse

109 When the provisions of sections 101 to 107 (inclusive) have been complied with in respect to any goods, such goods shall be forwarded in charge of an officer of customs to the warehouse in which they are to be deposited

A pass shall be sent with the goods specifying the name of the importing vessel and of the bond, the marks, numbers and contents of each package, and the warehouse or place in the warehouse where they are to be deposited

On receipt of the goods into the warehouse, the pass shall be examined by the warehouse-keeper, and shall be returned to the Customs-collector. If the pass be found to be correct the warehouse-keeper shall certify to that effect thereon, and the warehousing of such goods shall be deemed to have been completed

If the quantity or value of any goods has been erroneously stated on importation, the error may be rectified at any time before the warehousing of the goods is completed

110 No package, butt, cask or hogshead shall be admitted into any warehouse unless it be in the marks and numbers specified in the pass for its admission

111 All goods shall be warehoused in the packages, butts, casks or hogsheads in which they have been imported, except as provided in section 116

112 Whenever any goods are lodged in a public warehouse or a licensed private warehouse, the warehouse-keeper, or, in the case of the Bengal Bonded Warehouse Association, the Secretary of the said Association, shall deliver a warrant signed by him as such to the person lodging the goods

Such warrant shall be in the Form B hereto annexed, and shall be transferable by endorsement, and the endorsee shall be entitled to receive the goods specified in such warrant on the same terms as those on which the person who originally lodged the goods would have been entitled to receive the same

Nothing in this section shall, if the Local Government so direct, apply to salt

113 The Customs-collector or an officer deputed by him for the purpose, shall have access to any private warehouse licensed under this Act

114 The Customs-collector may at any time by order in writing direct any goods or packages lodged in any warehouse to be opened, weighed or otherwise examined, and after any goods have been so opened or examined, may cause the same to be sealed or marked in such manner as he thinks fit

When any goods have been so sealed and marked after examination, they shall not be again opened without the permission of the Customs-collector, and when any such goods are opened with such permission, the packages shall, if he thinks fit, be again sealed or marked as before

115 Any owner of goods lodged in a warehouse under this Act, shall, at any time within the hours of business, have access to his goods in presence of an officer of Customs, and an officer of Customs shall, upon application for the purpose being made in writing to the Customs-collector, be deputed to accompany such owner

When an officer of Customs is specially employed to accompany such owner, a sum sufficient to meet the expense thereby incurred shall be paid by such owner to the Customs-collector, and may be required by the Customs-collector to be paid in advance

116 With the sanction of the Customs-collector, and after such notice given, and under such rules and conditions as the Chief Customs-Authority from time to time prescribes, any owner of goods may, either before or after warehousing,—

(a) sort, separate, pack and repack any goods, and make such alterations therein as may be necessary for the preservation, sale, shipment or disposal thereof (such goods to be repacked in the packages in which they were imported, or in such other packages as the Customs-collector permits),

(b) fill up any casks of wine, spirits or beer from any casks of the same secured in the same warehouse,

(c) mix any wines of the same sort secured in the same warehouse, erasing from the cask

all import-brands, unless the whole of the wine so mixed be of the same brand,

(d) bottle off wine or spirits from any casks, (e) take such samples of goods as may be allowed by the Customs collector with or without entry, and with or without payment of duty, except such as may eventually become payable on a deficiency of the original quantity, and after such goods have been so separated and repacked in proper or approved packages, the Customs-collector may, at the request of the owner of such goods, cause or permit any refuse, damaged, or surplus goods remaining after such separation or repacking (or, at the like request, any goods which may not be worth the duty) to be destroyed, and may remit the duty payable thereon

117 If any goods warehoused, or entered to be warehoused, or delivered from a warehouse, are lost or destroyed by unavoidable accident or duly either on board of any vessel, or in landing, or during receipt into the warehouse, or in the warehouse, the Chief Customs-Authority may remit the duties due thereon, or return them if paid

Provided that, if any goods be so lost or destroyed in a private warehouse, notice thereof be given to the Customs collector within forty-eight hours after the discovery of such loss or destruction

If goods lodged in a warehouse receive damage through unavoidable accident, they shall be re-assessed for duty according to their actual value, and a new bond for the same shall be executed for the unexpired term of warehousing

118 The import-duty on all goods warehoused or to be warehoused shall, subject to section 105, clause 3, be assessed on the quantity or value thereof, as the case may be, registered at the time of importation, without any deduction whatever

Provided that, if it appear at the time of clearing any wines, spirits, spirits, beer or salt or salt from any warehouse that a deficiency not otherwise accounted for exists, an allowance on account of ullage and wastage shall be made in adjusting the duties thereon, to an extent not exceeding the rates specified below, or in such table as may from time to time be prescribed in this behalf by the Local Government and notified in the official Gazette

Rates of ullage or wastage in respect to wines, spirits and beer

	0 months	2½ per cent
For any time not exceeding 6 months	12	5
Exceeding 6 months and not exceeding 12 months	18	7½
Exceeding 12 months and not exceeding 18 months	24	10
Exceeding 18 months and not exceeding 2 years	30	12

When salt is warehoused in a Government gola or store house under charge of a Government officer, duty of Customs shall be chargeable only on the amount actually cleared

The rate of wastage to be allowed in adjusting the duties on salt warehoused in a private gola or store house shall be prescribed from time to time by the Local Government and notified in the official Gazette

119 When any wines, spirits, beer or salt lodged in a private warehouse are found to be deficient at the time of the delivery therefrom, and if

Allowance for ullage or wastage in case of wines, &c, lodged in private warehouse

such deficiency is proved to be due solely to ullage or wastage, the Chief Customs-Authority may direct, in respect to any such article and for the purpose of exemption from the penalty to which the licensee of such warehouse would otherwise be liable under section 164, No 50, that allowance be made in any special case for a rate of ullage or wastage exceeding that contemplated in section 118

120. The warehouse-keeper in respect of goods lodged in a public warehouse, and the licensee in respect of goods lodged in a private warehouse, shall be answerable for the weight or gauge reported by the Custom-house officer who has assessed such goods, allowance being made, if necessary, for ullage and wastage as provided in sections 118 and 119

No owner of goods shall be entitled to claim from the Customs-collector, or from any keeper of a public warehouse, compensation for any loss or injury occurring to such goods while they are being passed into or out of such warehouse, or while they remain therein, unless it be proved that such loss or injury was occasioned by the wilful act or neglect of the warehouse-keeper or of an officer of Customs

121 A warehouse of goods warehoused under this Act, may, with the permission of the Chief Customs Officer, and on such conditions and after giving such security (if any) as such officer directs, remove goods from one warehouse to another warehouse in the same Port

When any person desires so to remove any goods, he shall make application in such form as the Chief Customs-Authority from time to time prescribes

122 Goods warehoused at any warehousing Port may from time to time be removed by sea or by inland carriage, in order to be re-warehoused at any other warehousing Port

When any owner desires so to remove any goods, he shall apply to the Chief Customs-Officer, stating the particulars of the goods to be removed, and the name of the Port to which it is intended that they shall be removed, together with such other information, and in such manner and form, as the Chief Customs-Authority from time to time prescribes

123 When permission is granted for the removal of any goods from one warehousing Port to another under section 122, an account containing the particulars thereof shall be transmitted by the proper officer of the Port of removal to the proper officer of the Port of destination, and the owner requiring the removal shall enter into a bond, with one sufficient surety, in a sum equal at least to the duty chargeable on such goods, for the due arrival and re-warehousing thereof at the Port of destination within such time as the Chief Customs-Authority directs

Such bond may be taken by the proper officer, either at the Port of removal or at the Port of destination, as best suits the residence or convenience of the owner

If such bond is taken at the Port of destination, a certificate thereof, signed by the proper officer of such Port, shall, at the time of the entering of such goods, be produced to the proper officer at the Port of removal, and such bond shall not be discharged unless such goods are produced to the proper officer, and duly re-warehoused at the Port of destination within the time allowed for such removal, or are otherwise accounted for to the satisfaction of an officer, nor until the full duty due upon and on any of such goods, not so accounted for, is paid

124 The Chief Customs-Authority may permit any person desirous of removing warehoused goods to enter into a general bond, with such sureties, in such amount, and under such conditions, as the Chief Customs-Authority approves, for the removal from time to time of any goods from one warehouse to another, either in the same or in a different Port, and for the due arrival and re-warehousing of such goods at the Port of destination within such time as such Authority directs

125 Upon the arrival of warehoused goods at the Port of destination, they shall be entered and warehoused in like manner as goods are entered and warehoused on the first importation thereof, and under the laws and rules, in so far as such laws and rules are applicable, which regulate the entry and warehousing of such last-mentioned goods

126 When any warehoused goods are removed from any warehouse, the Customs-collector shall cause such removal to be noted on the back of the bond

Every note so made shall specify the quantity and description of goods removed, the purposes for which they have been removed, the date of removal, the name of the person removing them, the number and date of the export-pass under which they have been taken away if removed for exportation by sea, or of the import-pass or order if removed for home-consumption, and the amount of duty paid (if any)

127 No goods shall be removed from any warehouse, except after application to the Customs-collector for permission to pass the goods (a) for exportation by sea to some Foreign Port, or

(b) for home-consumption, in like manner as is prescribed by section 98 for goods entered for home-consumption on the landing thereof, or

(c) for removal to another warehouse, as provided in sections 121 to 124 inclusive, and after grant of such permission

128 Application to remove goods from any warehouse shall be made in such form as the Chief Customs-Authority from time to time prescribes

Such application shall ordinarily be made to the Customs-collector twenty-four hours' notice to be given

129 If any goods lodged in a warehouse are removed from the warehouse otherwise than for export &c, full duty to be paid or if any goods have not been removed from the warehouse and so exported at the expiration of the time during which such goods are permitted by this Act to remain in warehouse, the Customs-collector shall thereupon demand, and the owner of such goods shall forthwith pay, the full amount of duty which is chargeable on account of such goods, together with all charges or penalties due on account of them

But if any goods so warehoused are, before the expiration of the time last-mentioned, removed or taken from the warehouse for removal to another warehouse, as provided in sections 121 to 124, inclusive, or for exportation by sea to some Foreign Port, no duty shall be then so demanded

130 If any owner fails to pay on demand any duty or penalty that falls due on account of goods warehoused under this Act, the

Customs-collector may forthwith either proceed upon the bond executed by such owner, or cause such portion as to him seems fit of the warehoused goods on account of which the duty or penalty is due, to be detained in satisfaction thereof, and if the demand be not discharged within ten days from the date of such detention (due notice thereof being given to the owner), the goods so detained shall be liable to be sold by public auction in satisfaction of the demand, after due notice in the official Gazette

The proceeds of any sale so made of goods so detained shall be written off upon the bond in discharge thereof to the amount received, less the charges of the sale, and if any surplus be obtained from such sale, beyond the amount of the demand, such surplus shall be paid over to the owner of the goods. Provided that application for the same be made within one year from the sale, or that good reason be shown why such application was not so made

No transfer or assignment of goods shall prevent the Customs-collector from proceeding against such goods in the manner above provided, for any Customs-duties or penalty due thereon

131 The expenses of carriage, packing and stowage of goods on their reception into or removal from a warehouse shall, if paid by the Customs-collector, or or by the warehouse-keeper, be chargeable on the goods, and be defrayed by, and recoverable from, the owner, in like manner as Customs-duties

132 If goods be lodged in a public warehouse, the owner shall further pay monthly, on receiving a bill or written demand for the same from the Customs collector or other officer deputed by him in that behalf, the rent and warehouse-dues

If any such bill for rent or warehouse-dues be not discharged on demand, the Customs-collector may forthwith proceed to recover the amount in the manner provided in section 130, in the case of failure to pay duty

133 A register shall be kept of all bonds entered into for Customs duties on warehoused goods, and entry shall be made of such register of all particulars specified in section

When the register shows that the quantity of the goods entered in any bond has been cancelled and returned to the owner for, and when all charges have been incurred on account of such goods, the Customs-collector shall, as discharged in full, and to the person who has executed it

134 In no case shall the settlement of duty on warehoused goods be delayed beyond three years from the date of the first warehousing of the goods

135 All the provisions of this Act, relating to private warehouses, shall be applicable to the warehouses wherein the Bengal Bonded Warehouse Association receives bonded goods

CHAPTER XI

EXPORTATION OR SHIPMENT, AND RE-LANDING

136 No vessel shall be entitled to entry outwards, or to take on board any part of her export-cargo, until a written application has been duly made to the Customs-collector by the Master of such vessel, nor until an order has been given thereon by such officer for such entry or shipment of cargo

Every application made under this section shall specify the name, tonnage, and nation of the vessel, the name of the Master, and the name of every place for which cargo is to be shipped

passengers' baggage, shall be shipped or waterborne to be shipped for exportation, until the owner has filled in and delivered to the Customs-collector, or other proper officer, a shipping-bill of such goods in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Chief Customs-Authority

138 Before any warehoused goods or goods subject to excise-duties, or goods entitled to drawback of Customs on exportation, or goods exportable only under particular rules or restrictions, are permitted to be exported, the owner shall, if required so to do, give security by bond in such sum, not exceeding twice the duty leviable on such goods, as the Customs-collector directs, with one sufficient surety, that such goods shall be duly shipped, exported and landed at the place for which they are entered outwards, and shall be otherwise accounted for to the satisfaction of such officer.

139 When goods are passed through the Custom-house for shipment on an application presented after port-clearance has been granted, two per cent upon the market-value of any goods, or loss of no duty, or liable to specific duty, or neglect of quantity only, or to the satisfaction of Customs and upon the duties due thereon shall be liable to duties on

140 A owner of goods shall in every case be answerable for the duty to which such goods are liable.

Nothing in this section shall apply to any shipment of opium.

141 If any goods mentioned in a shipping-bill are not shipped, or be shipped and afterwards re-landed, the owner shall give information of such short-shipment or re-landing to the officer in charge of the Custom-house before the expiration of three clear working days after the vessel on which such goods were intended to be shipped, or from which they were re-landed, has left the Port. Upon an application being made to the Customs-collector, any duty levied upon goods not shipped, or upon goods shipped and afterwards re-landed, shall be returned to the person on whose behalf such duty was paid. Provided that no such refund shall be allowed unless information has been given as above required.

142 If any vessel, after having cleared from any Customs-port, shall, without having discharged her cargo, return to such Port, or put into any other Customs-port, any owner of goods in such vessel, if he desires to land or tranship the same or any portion thereof for re-export, may make application to the Customs-collector.

Such officer, if he grant the application, shall thereupon send an officer of Customs to watch the vessel, and to take charge of such goods during such re-landing or transshipment.

Such goods shall not be allowed to be transhipped or re-exported free of duty by reason of the previous settlement of duty at the time of first export, unless they are lodged and remain under charge of an officer of Customs, in a place appointed by the Customs-collector until the time of re-export, or are transhipped direct under such charge.

All expenses attending such custody shall be borne by the owner.

143 In either of the cases mentioned in section 141, the Master of the vessel or any owner of goods therein, may enter such vessel and land such goods under the rules for the importation of goods.

In every such case any export-duty levied shall be refunded to, and any amount paid in drawback shall be recovered from, such owner.

CHAPTER VII SPIRITS

143 The Chief Customs Authority may from time to time make rules prescribing the conditions on which spirits manufactured in British India after the English method may be removed from any licensed distillery for exportation without payment of excise-duty.

The person so removing any such spirits shall execute a bond with one or more sureties, in the form annexed, or, when such form is inapplicable or insufficient, in such other form as the said Authority from time to time prescribes, conditioned that duty shall be paid on any portion of such spirits not exported within four months from the date of the bond or any portion thereof exported to a Port in British India not being a Customs-port, the landing and payment of Customs-duty in respect of which at the Port of destination is not proved to the satisfaction of the proper officer within six months from the date of the bond.

The Chief Officer of Customs of the Port of exportation may extend for a further term not exceeding four months, on sufficient cause shown, the period allowed for the exportation of any such spirits, or for the production of such proof that duty has been paid.

144 Spirits for exportation under bond for the excise-duty shall be taken from the distillery direct to the Custom-house, under passes to be granted for that purpose by the officers of Excise.

145 Spirits brought to the Custom-house for exportation by sea shall, previous to shipment, be gauged and proved by an officer of Customs.

Any drawback to be allowed for spirits on which duty has been paid shall be regulated by the strength and quantity of such spirits as ascertained by such proof and gauge, and the quantity of spirits for which credit is to be given in the settlement of any bond shall be determined in the same manner.

146 Duty shall be recoverable upon any difference

Duty to be recovered on any deficiency in spirits under bond between the quantity of spirits passed from a distillery and the quantity ascertained by gauge and proof at the Custom-house, less an allowance for ullage and wastage at such rates as are from time to time prescribed by the Local Government and notified in the official Gazette

147 A drawback of excise-duty paid on

Drawback of excise-duty on spirits manufactured after English method spirits manufactured in British India after the English method, and exported to any Foreign Port under the provisions of section 138, shall be allowed by the Customs-collector at the Port of exportation

Provided that the exportation be made within one year from the date of payment of such excise-duty, and that the spirits, when brought to the Custom-house, be accompanied by the pass in which such payment is certified

No drawback shall be allowed on spirits exported from any Customs-port to any other Customs-port. But spirits manufactured in British India after the English method may, on the conditions and under the rules from time to time prescribed under section 135, be exported from any such Port to any other such Port, under bond for the excise-duty

Every such bond shall be cancelled on the production by the owner of a certificate from the officer in charge of the Custom-house at the Port of importation testifying to the due entry at such Port of the full quantity of such spirits so exported, less an allowance for ullage and wastage at the rates from time to time prescribed by the Local Government and notified in the official Gazette

149 Spirits manufactured in British India

Duty on spirits exported under bond from one Indian Port to another, how adjusted after the English method and exported under bond for the excise-duty from any Customs-port to any other Customs-port, shall be chargeable at the Port of importation with Customs-duties at the ordinary rate fixed for duties on spirits of the like kind and strength imported into such Port

150 Rum shrub, cordial, and other such liquor

Rum shrub &c how to be charged with duty of the distillery shall be charged with duty according to the quantity of spirit used in its preparation as ascertained by such surveyor or officer

The provisions of this Act respecting spirits manufactured after the English method, except such as relate to gauge and proof, shall

May be exported under same rules as spirits apply to such liquor

When any such liquor is removed for exportation without payment of excise-duty, the bond to be executed by the person removing it shall be in the Form marked C hereto annexed, or, when such form is inapplicable or insufficient, in such other form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Chief Customs-Authority

151 Spirits brought to the Custom-house for

Spirits intended for exportation may be removed for local consumption under passes to be granted for that purpose by the officers of Excise

Credit for every such payment shall be given in discharge of the bond to which it relates

152 No drawback shall be allowed for any

Conditions of drawback and remission of duty on spirits spirits on which duty has been paid, nor shall the duty due on any spirits under bond be remitted, unless the spirits are shipped from the Custom-house, and in a vessel wherein an officer of Customs has been appointed to superintend receipt of export-cargo

Spirits shipped for exportation shall be landed with

Re-land of spirits shipped from an of addition of the Customs-collector

CHAPTER XIII

COASTING TRADE

154 Nothing in chapters VII, IX, X, XI and

Application of Act to XII of this Act affects coasting vessels

Provided that the Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare coasting vessels to be affected by the whole, or any specified portions, of the said chapters, or not to be affected by any such portions of the remainder of this Act

155 The Governor General in Council or the Local Government may from time to time make rules prescribing the conditions on which goods, or any specified class of goods, may be —

(a) carried in a coasting vessel, whether shipped at a Foreign Port or at a Customs-port to be so carried,

(b) shipped in a coasting vessel before all goods brought in such vessel from a Foreign Port have been unladen, and may prohibit the conveyance of any specified class of goods generally, or to or between specified Ports

156 Before any coasting vessel departs from the Port of lading, an account with a duplicate thereof, in the Form marked D hereto annexed, with such additional particulars (if any) as may from time to time be prescribed by the Chief Customs-Authority, shall be filled in and signed by the Master and delivered to the Customs-collector

Such officer shall retain the duplicate and return the original account dated and signed by him, and the duplicate account shall be the clearance of the vessel for such voyage and the pass for the goods on board

157 When goods are landed from a coasting vessel, the Customs-collector may, for sufficient reason, refuse to issue a clearance to any vessel detained at the Port of lading, or to any Customs-port unless the vessel has first of all moved a bond with sufficient security to the Customs-collector, or to an officer of Customs, or to an officer of the Port to which the vessel is bound, of her arrival at the Port in a reasonable time to be fixed by the officer requiring

158 Within twenty-four hours after the arrival of a coasting vessel at the Port of discharge, and before any goods are unladen therefrom, the pass, with the name of the place or wharf where the cargo is to be discharged noted thereon, shall be delivered to an officer of Customs duly authorized to receive the same, and he shall note thereon the date of delivery

159 If any of the goods on board of any coasting vessel be subject to any excise-duty, they shall not be unladen without the permission of the proper officer of Excise

160 The Chief Customs-Authority may, on cause being shown, permit a general pass to be given, on any conditions which may be deemed expedient, for the lading and unlading, of any coasting steam-vessel at any Ports of despatch or destination, or at any intermediate Ports at which she touches for the purpose of receiving goods or passengers

Such pass shall be valid throughout India, or for such Ports only as may be specified thereon

Any such general pass may be revoked by notice in writing under the hand of such authority, delivered to the Master or to the owner of such steam vessel, or to any of the crew on board

161 The Master of every coasting vessel which is square-rigged or propelled by steam shall keep, or cause to be kept, a cargo-book, stating the name of the Master, the vessel, the Port to which she belongs, and the Port to which on each voyage she is bound

At every Port of lading such Master shall enter, or cause to be entered, in such book the name of such vessel, and an account of all goods there taken on board, and the quantities and descriptions of the goods contained thereon or stowed loose, and the names of the respective shippers and consignees, in so far as such particulars are known to him

At every Port of discharge of any such goods such Master shall enter, or cause to be entered, in such book the respective days on which such goods or any of them are delivered out of such vessel

The respective times of departure from every Port of lading, and of arrival at every Port of discharge, shall in like manner be duly entered

Every such Master shall, on demand, produce his cargo-book for the inspection of any officer of Customs, and such officer shall be at liberty to make any note or remark thereon

162 The Governor General in Council or the Local Government may, from time to time, make rules for the guidance of the Masters of all other coasting vessels, as to the matters mentioned in section 161

163 Any duly empowered officer of Customs may go on board of any coasting vessel in any Port or place in British India, and may at any period of a voyage search any such vessel and examine all goods on board, and all goods then lading or unlading, and may demand the production of any document, which ought to be on board of any such vessel

The Customs-collector may further require that any such document belonging to any coasting vessel then in Port shall be brought to him for inspection

Every boat, cart or other means of conveyance, and every horse or other animal used in the removal of any goods liable to confiscation, shall in like manner be liable to confiscation

CHAPTER XV

RELATING TO OFFENCES, APPEALS, &c.

166 —If any Magistrate or Customs collector duly employed in the prevention of smuggling at the Port may search any person on board of any vessel or boat, or any person who is passing through the Port, or any person who is on board of any vessel or boat

if the officer has reasonable ground to believe that such person has dutiable or prohibited goods on his person

the officer of Customs is about to search any person under the provisions of section 166, such person may require the said officer to produce him, previous to search, before the nearest Magistrate or Customs-collector

If such requisition be made, the officer of Customs may detain the person making it until he can bring him before the nearest Magistrate or Customs-collector

The Magistrate or Customs collector before whom any person is so brought shall, if he see no reasonable ground for search forthwith discharge such person, but if otherwise, shall direct that the search be made

A female shall not be searched by any but a female

168 Any duly empowered officer of Customs or other person duly employed for the prevention of smuggling, may stop and search any vessel, cart or other means of conveyance, for smuggled goods, provided that he has reasonable ground to suppose that smuggled goods are contained therein

169 Any Magistrate may, on application by a Customs-collector, stating his belief that dutiable or prohibited goods are secreted in any place in such district or division, issue a warrant to search for such goods

Such warrant shall be executed in the same way, and shall have the same effect, as a search-warrant issued under the Code of Criminal Procedure

170 Any person against whom a reasonable suspicion exists that he has been guilty of an offence under this Act, may be detained in any place, either upon land or water, by any officer of Customs or other person duly employed for the prevention of smuggling

171 Every person detained on the ground that he has been guilty of an offence under this Act, shall forthwith be taken before a Magistrate or Customs-collector

172 When any person detained on the ground that he has been guilty of an offence under this Act, is taken before a Magistrate, such Magistrate may, if he see reasonable cause, order him to be detained in gaol or in the custody of the Police for such time as is necessary to enable such Magistrate to communicate with the officers of Customs

Provided that any person so detained shall be liberated on giving recognizance or security to the satisfaction of the Magistrate to appear at such time and place as such Magistrate appoints for his appearance

173 If any person liable to be detained under this Act, is not detained at the time of committing the offence for which he is so liable, or after detention, makes his escape, he shall at any time afterwards be liable to be detained and taken before a Magistrate, to be dealt with as if he had been detained at the time of committing such offence

174 When any person employed on the crew of any of Her Majesty's ships is detained under this Act, the detaining officer shall forthwith give notice thereof to the commanding officer of the ship, who shall thereupon place such person in security on board of such ship, until the detaining officer has obtained a warrant from a Magistrate for bringing up such person to be dealt with according to law

The Magistrate shall duly grant a warrant upon complaint made to him by the detaining officer, stating the offence for which the person is detained

175 Any vessel or goods liable to confiscation may be seized in any place, either upon land or water, by any officer of Customs or other person duly employed for the prevention of smuggling

176 Every vessel and all goods seized on the ground that they are liable to confiscation shall, as soon as conveniently may be, be delivered into the care of the officer appointed to receive the same

If there be no such officer at hand, all goods so seized shall be carried to and deposited at the Custom-house nearest to the place of seizure

If there be no Custom-house within a convenient distance, such goods shall be deposited at the Deputy Commissioner or Deputy Collector, to a sum exceeding five hundred rupees, nor, as regards an Assistant Commissioner or Assistant Collector or other subordinate officer, to a sum exceeding one hundred rupees.

181 Whenever confiscation is authorized by this Act, the officer adjudging it shall give the owner of the goods in option to pay in lieu of confiscation such fine as the officer thinks fit

182 When the confiscation of any vessel, cart or other means of conveyance, horse or other animal, or any goods, is adjudged under section 179 or section 180, the person in whose possession such vessel, means of conveyance, animal or goods shall thereupon vest in Her Majesty.

The officer adjudging confidentially holds possession of the same, and the Police, on the requisition, assist him in taking and holding the same.

183 If any vessel actua
 Levy of penalty for fail porture to bring to when re ing to quired under section 16 at a under section 16, the penalt of such vessel is liable may Chief Officer of Customs of in British India to which such in which she is, or in the case of officer as the Governor of Bombay in Council appoints in this behalf

A certificate of such departure or failure to bring to when required, purporting to be signed by the Chief Officer of Customs of the Port from which the vessel is stated to have so departed, shall be sufficient prima facie proof of the fact so certified.

184 The award of any confiscation, penalty or increased rates of duty under this Act by an officer of Customs shall not prevent the infliction of any punishment to which the person affected thereby is liable under any other law

185 All offences against this Act, other than those cognizable under section 179 by a Customs collector, may be tried summarily by a Magistrate.

186 In any case adjudicated by an officer of Customs, any party aggrieved may, within three months from the date of the award, appeal to the Chief Customs-Authority, or, in such cases as the Local Government directs, to any other superior officer of Customs empowered in that behalf by the Local Government.

Such authority or superior officer may thereupon make such further enquiry and pass such order as he thinks fit, confirming, altering or annulling the original award.

Provided that no such order in appeal shall have the effect of subjecting any person to any greater confiscation, penalty or rates of duty than has or have been adjudged against him in the original award

187 If, upon consideration of the circumstances under which any penalty or confiscation has been adjudged under this Act by an officer of Customs or by a Magistrate, the Chief Customs-Authority is of opinion that such penalty or confiscation ought to be remitted in whole or in part, or commuted, such Authority may remit the same or any portion thereof, or may commute any order of confiscation to a penalty not exceeding the value of the goods ordered to be confiscated

66 —If any person is liable to any penalty under this Act, the goods in respect of which such penalty is incurred shall not be removed or a paid examined goods through the Custom-house has become liable to any fine or penalty, the Customs-collector may detain the goods or penalty is discharged

ty is adjudged against any person under this Act by any officer of Customs, such penalty be not paid, may levy the same on any goods of the said person which may be in his charge, or in the charge of any other officer of Customs

When an officer of Customs who has adjudged a penalty against any person under this Act fails to realize the unpaid amount of such a penalty from such goods, such officer may notify in writing to any Magistrate within whose jurisdiction such person or any goods belonging to him may be, the name and residence of the said person and the amount of penalty unrecovered, and such Magistrate shall thereupon proceed to enforce payment of the said amount in like manner as if the penalty had been adjudged by himself

190 When a penalty or fine is adjudged against any person under this Act by a Magistrate, such Magistrate shall, at the same time, fix, within the following limits, a period of imprisonment in default of payment of such penalty or fine —

If the penalty or fine does not exceed fifty rupees, the term of imprisonment to be fixed in default of payment shall not exceed one month

If the penalty or fine does not exceed one hundred rupees, the term of imprisonment to be fixed in default of payment shall not exceed two months

If the penalty or fine does not exceed five hundred rupees, the term of imprisonment to be fixed in default of payment shall not exceed four months

When the penalty or fine exceeds five hundred rupees, the term of imprisonment to be fixed in default of payment may extend to six months

The Magistrate may at any time enforce payment of any penalty or fine, or of any portion thereof, by distress and sale of the defaulter's goods

191 The imprisonment imposed in default of payment of fine or penalty under this or any other Act shall terminate whenever that fine or penalty is either paid or levied by process of law

192 If, before the expiration of the term of imprisonment fixed in default of payment, such a proportion of the fine or penalty is paid or levied that the term of imprisonment suffered in default of payment is not less than proportionate part of the fine or penalty still unpaid, the imprisonment shall terminate

CHAPTER XVI

MISCELLANEOUS

193 All rules made under this Act shall be notified in the official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law

194 Any notification in the Gazette of India or in the official Gazette made by any authority under powers conferred by this Act, may be cancelled in like manner by the same authority

195 If in any case relating to the removal of goods without payment of duty, the person offending be an officer of Customs not acting in execution of his duty, and be prosecuted to conviction by the owner of such goods, no duty shall be payable in respect of such goods. For any damage so occasioned by such officer, the Customs-collector shall, with the sanction of the Chief Customs-Authority, make due compensation to such owner

196 The proceeds of all confiscations and penalties imposed under this Act shall, after deducting therefrom all Government demands, be paid into a general Fund, out of which the Chief Customs-Authority may grant a reward to any person by whose information, assistance or instrumentality, any seizure has been made or any offence punished

197. Nothing in this Act shall affect Bengal Acts V of 1870, VII of 1871 and III of 1872, or Bombay Port Trust Acts Bombay Act I of 1873, or any other law for the time being in force relating to the Commissioners for making improvements in the Port of Calcutta or the Trustees of the Port of Bombay respectively

EXAMINATIONS

The 16th November 1877

No. 125.—The following Regulations for the examination of candidates for the Civil Service of India to be held in June and July 1878 are published for general information —

REGULATIONS FOR THE OPEN COMPETITION OF JULY, 1878.

N B—The Regulations are liable to be altered in future years.

1 On June 25th, 1878, and following days, an Examination of Candidates will be held in London. At this Examination not fewer than Candidates will be selected, if so many shall be found duly qualified. Of these, will be selected for the Presidency of Bengal, [ for the Upper Provinces, and for the Lower Provinces,] for that of Madras, and for that of Bombay *—Notice will hereafter be given of the days and place of Examination

* The number of appointments to be made, and the number in each Presidency, &c, will be announced hereafter. It will probably be about half the usual number.

2 Any person desirous of competing at this Examination must produce to the Civil Service Commissioners, before the 1st of May, 1878, evidence showing —

(a) That he is a natural-born subject of Her Majesty

(b) That his age on the 1st of January, 1878, will be above seventeen years and under nineteen years [N.B.—In the case of Natives of India this must be certified by the Government of India, or of the Presidency or Province in which the Candidate may have resided]

(c) That he has no disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity unfitting him, or likely to unfit him, for the Civil Service of India *

(d) That he is of good moral character *

He must also pay such fee as the Secretary of State for India may prescribe †

3 Should the evidence upon the above points be prima facie satisfactory to the Civil Service Commissioners, the Candidate will, upon payment of the prescribed fee, be admitted to the Examination. The Commissioners may, however, in their discretion, at any time prior to the grant of the Certificate of Qualification hereinafter referred to, institute such further inquiries as they may deem necessary, and if the result of such inquiries, in the case of any Candidate, should be unsatisfactory, to them in any of the above respects, he will be ineligible for admission to the Civil Service of India, and if already selected, will be removed from the position of a Probationer

4 The Examination will take place only in the following branches of knowledge —

	Marks
‡ English Composition . . . . .	300
§ History of England—including a period selected by the Candidate . . . . .	300
§ English Literature—including books selected by the Candidate . . . . .	300
Greek . . . . .	600
Latin . . . . .	800
French . . . . .	500
German . . . . .	500
Italian . . . . .	400
‡ Mathematics (pure and mixed) . . . . .	1000

|| Natural Science that is, the Elements of any two of the following Sciences, viz —

Chemistry 500, Electricity and Magnetism, 300, Experimental Laws of Heat and Light, 300, Mechanical Philosophy, with outlines of Astronomy, 300

Logic . . . . .	300
Elements of Political Economy . . . . .	300
¶ Sanskrit . . . . .	500
¶ Arabic . . . . .	500

Candidates are at liberty to name, before May 1st, 1878, any or all of these branches of knowledge. No subjects are obligatory

5 The merit of the persons examined will be estimated by marks, and the number set opposite to each branch in the preceding regulation denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it

6 The marks assigned to Candidates in each branch will be subject to such deduction as the Civil Service Commissioners may deem necessary, in order to secure that “a Candidate be allowed no credit at all for taking up a subject in which he is a mere smatterer”

7 The Examination will be conducted by means of printed questions and written answers, and by visà voce Examination, as may be deemed necessary.

8 The marks obtained by each Candidate, in respect of each of the subjects in which he shall have been examined, will be added up, and the names of the Candidates who shall have obtained a greater aggregate number of marks than any of the remaining Candidates, will be set forth in order of merit, and such Candidates shall be deemed to be selected Candidates for the Civil Service of India, provided they appear to be in other respects duly qualified. Should any of the

* Evidence of health and character must bear date not earlier than the 1st April, 1878

† The Fee for this Examination will be £5, payable by means of a special stamp according to instructions which will be communicated to Candidates

‡ Marks assigned in English Composition and Mathematics will be subject to no deduction

§ A considerable portion of the marks for English History and Literature will be allotted to the work specially prepared. In awarding marks for this, regard will be had partly to the extent and importance of the periods or books selected, and partly to the thoroughness with which they have been studied

|| The Examination will range from Arithmetic, Algebra, and Elementary Geometry, up to the elements of the differential and integral calculus including the lower portions of applied Mathematics

¶ The standard of marking in Sanskrit and Arabic will be determined with reference to a high degree of proficiency, such as may be expected to be reached by a Native of good education selected Candidates become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the vacancy thus created shall be filled up or not. In the former case, the Candidate next in order of merit, and in other respects duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a selected Candidate. A selected Candidate declining to accept the appointment which may be offered to him will be disqualified for any subsequent competition.

9 Selected Candidates, before proceeding to India, will be on probation for two years, during which time they will be examined periodically, with a view of testing their progress in the following subjects —*

	Marks
1. Law .. .. .	1250
2 Classical Languages of India—
Sanskrit . . . . .	500
Arabic . . . . .	400
Persian . . . . .	400
3 Vernacular Languages of India (each)	400
4 The History and Geography of India	350
5 Political Economy . . . . .	350

In these Examinations, as in the open competition, the merit of the Candidates examined will be estimated by marks, and the number set opposite to each subject denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it at any one Examination. The Examination will be conducted by means of printed questions and written answers, and by vidæ voce Examination, as may be deemed necessary. The last of these Examinations will be held at the close of the second year of probation, and will be called the "Final Examination," at which it will be decided whether a selected Candidate is qualified for the Civil Service of India.

10. Any Candidate who, at any of the periodical Examinations, shall appear to have wilfully neglected his studies, or to be physically incapacitated for pursuing the prescribed course of training, will be liable to have his name removed from the list of selected Candidates.

11 The selected Candidates who, at the Final Examination, shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9, and who shall have satisfied the Civil Service Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of age, health, and character, shall be certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, provided they shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for that Service.

12 Applications from persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates are to be addressed to the "Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners, London, S. W.," from whom the proper form for the purpose may be obtained.

September, 1877.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements —

(1) Selected Candidates will be permitted to choose,† according to the order in which they stand in the list resulting from the open competition as long as a choice remains the Presidency (and in Bengal the Division of the Presidency) to which they shall be appointed, but this choice will be subject to a different arrangement, should the Secretary of State or Government of India, deem it necessary.

(2) The Probationers, having passed the necessary Examinations, will be required to report themselves to their Government in India not later than the close of December 1881.

(3) The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the selected Candidates shall be determined according to the Order in which they stand on the list resulting from the Final Examination.

(4) An allowance of £150 a year will be given during each of the two years of their probation to all Candidates who pass their probation at some University to be approved beforehand by the Secretary of State, provided such Candidates shall have passed the required Examinations to the satisfaction of the Civil Service Commissioners, and shall have complied with such rules as may be laid down for the guidance of selected Candidates.

(5) All selected Candidates will be required, after having passed the second periodical Examination, to attend at the India Office for the purpose of entering into an agreement binding themselves amongst other things, to refund in certain cases the amount of their allowance in the event of their failing to proceed to India. A surety will be required.

(6) After passing the Final Examination each Candidate will be required to attend again at the India Office, with the view of entering into covenants. The stamps payable on these documents amount to £1.

(7) Candidates rejected at the Final Examination of 1880 will in no case be allowed to present themselves for re-examination.

* Full instructions as to the course of study to be pursued will be issued to the successful Candidates as soon as possible after the result of the open competition is declared.

† This choice must be exercised immediately after the result of the open competition is announced, on such day as may be fixed by the Civil Service Commissioners.

EVIDENCE OF AGE TO BE REQUIRED FROM CANDIDATES FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA

I —Every Candidate born in England or Wales should produce a Certificate from the Registrar-General of Births, Marriages, and Deaths, or from one of his provincial Officers. This Certificate may be obtained at Somerset House or from the Superintendent Registrar of the District in which the birth took place.

II —A Candidate who is a Native of India must have his age certified by the Government of India, or of the Presidency or Province in which he may have resided.

III —Every other Candidate not producing the certificate mentioned in Clause 1, must prove his age by Statutory Declaration, and should also, if possible, produce a record of Birth or Baptism, from some official Register, under which term may be included the Parochial Registers of Baptisms, the non-Parochial Registers of Baptisms and Births deposited at Somerset House under Acts of Parliament, the Register kept at the India Office of persons born in India, &c, &c. This Regulation applies—

- 1 To all Candidates not born in England or Wales
- 2 To Candidates, who, though born in England or Wales, cannot produce the Registrar-General's Certificate

The Civil Service Commissioners reserve to themselves the right of deciding in each case upon the sufficiency of the evidence produced, but they subjoin the following general rules for the guidance of Candidates —

- (a) The Declaration should specify precisely the date and place of birth, and should, if possible, be made by the father or mother of the Candidate. If made by any other person, it should state the circumstances which enabled the Declarant to speak to the fact. If an entry in a Bible or other family record be referred to, the Bible or other record must be produced at the time of making the Declaration, and must be mentioned in the Declaration as having been so produced.
- (b). If the Candidate was born in England or Wales, the Declaration must contain a statement, that after due inquiry no entry has been found in the books of the Registrar-General, or a separate Declaration must be made to that effect.
- (c). If no extract from any Register is produced, the Declaration must contain a statement, that after due inquiry no such Record is believed to exist, or a separate Declaration must be made to that effect.
- (d) Statutory Declarations must be exactly in the form prescribed by the Act of 5 and 6 William IV, c 62. A printed Form, if required, will be supplied on application to the Civil Service Commissioners.

N B —Clergymen, as such, are not qualified to take Declarations

FIBRES AND SILK

No. 45—In 1871 the Government of India offered a prize of £5,000 to the inventor of the best machine or process for the preparation of the fibre of the Bolmeria nivea (popularly known under the names of Rhea, Ramie, and China grass), and the terms on which machines would be admitted to competition were widely notified in India, in Europe, and in America. Many persons declared their intention to compete, but ultimately only one machine was actually brought to the place of trial. The machine having been carefully tested at Saháranpur in the autumn of 1872, was found imperfect in some important respects, and the inventor was adjudged not entitled to the full reward. He was, however, presented with £1,500 in consideration of the partial measure of success he had attained after great perseverance.

2 This machine has not since been adapted by the inventor to practical use, and no improved process of preparing the fibre of the rhea has been yet discovered by other persons. Meanwhile the demand for rhea continues and the conditions which induced the Government of India in 1871 to offer a prize remain substantially unchanged.

3 His Honour the President in Council therefore considers that it is desirable to renew the offer, and it is accordingly hereby notified that a reward of fifty thousand rupees will be paid to the inventor of the best machine or process which will separate the bark and fibre from the stem, and the fibre from the bark, of the Bolmeria nivea.

4 A smaller reward not exceeding ten thousand rupees will be given to the inventor of the next best machine or process, provided it is adjudged to possess merit and to be capable without difficulty of adaptation to practical use.

5 What is required is a machine or process capable of producing, by animal, water, or steam power, a ton of dressed fibre of a quality which shall average in value not less than £45 per ton in the English market, at a total cost including all processes of preparation and all needful allowance for wear and tear, of not more than £15 per ton, laid down at any port of shipment in India and £30 in England, after payment of all the charges usual in trade before goods reach the hands of the manufacturer. The processes of preparation are to be understood to include all the operations required subsequent to the cutting of the stems from the plants in the field, until the fibre is in a condition fit to be packed for conveyance to the market.

6 The machinery employed must be simple, strong, durable, and inexpensive, and should be suited for erection in the plantations where the rhea is grown. It must be adapted for treatment of the fresh stems, as cut from the plant. The treatment of dried stems offers certain difficulties and the fibre prepared from them must moreover always be much more costly than the fibre produced from green stems. Except during the hot dry weather preceding the rains in Upper India (where rhea grows best), it is very difficult so to dry the stems that no fermentation or mildew shall occur. But during this season the stems are comparatively short and the crop poor and stunted, unless it is artificially irrigated, and such irrigation greatly increases the cost of cultivation. In the rainy season the plant is in fine condition, but at this season it is almost impossible to dry the stems in quantity without injuring the fibre unless recourse is had to artificial means of desiccation, which greatly increase the cost of the material. It is therefore obvious that the attention of inventors should be given to the discovery of a process for the treatment of the green stems.

7 The trials will be held at Saháranpur in the North-Western Provinces, in the months of August and September 1879. Machines entered for competition should be placed in situ and be ready for work not later than the 15th August, the competition commencing on the next day. The judges will be appointed by the Government, and they will watch the whole of the trials. But the machines shall be worked and adjusted by the competitors themselves, and no person shall touch a machine without the consent of the inventor.

8 The Government of India will provide proper shelter and accommodation at Saháranpur for all the competing machines as well as the motive power required. It will also pay for the transport from the sea-coast to Saháranpur of all machines up to the limit of one ton each, the freight on any excess weight to be defrayed by the owners. The present rate of freight by rail from Calcutta to Saháranpur is Rs 3-10 per maund or Rs 98-11 per ton, and from Bombay to Saháranpur Rs 4-1 per maund or Rs 110-9 per ton. A free second class ticket to Saháranpur will also be given to any person in charge of a machine.

9 The owner or owners of the successful machine or machines shall not be entitled to receive the reward offered except on the following conditions, viz—

- (1)—That a complete technical description of the machine, illustrated by plans drawn to scale, shall be prepared and published (Government paying the cost) for the information of the public.
- (2)—That after the expiry of three years from the date on which the award is made, the public shall have the right of manufacturing similar machines, on payment to the owner of a royalty of 10 per cent on the cost of each machine so manufactured.

10 All persons desiring to compete under the terms and on the conditions specified above are requested to make known their intention not later than the 31st December 1878, giving the following particulars—

- 1 Name in full and residence.
- 2 Profession or occupation.
- 3 Number of different kinds of machines entered for competition.
- 4 Brief description of each machine.

Intending competitors will at the same time declare themselves bound (under penalty of disqualification of the competing machines and forfeiture of all claim to the Government reward) to conform to all rules which may be prescribed by Government or by the judges appointed by Government in connection with the conduct of the trials

All notices of intention to compete and applications for information should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce, Calcutta.

11. A limited quantity of rhea will be grown in the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, and persons desirous of testing their machines before entering them for public competition may obtain green stems in small quantities from the Superintendent of the gardens, through this Department

E	Delhi Meerut Roorkee Umballa.	From 15th December to 15th February inclusive 80 lbs for each large fire-place and 40 lbs for each small fire place for as many days only as the issue may be considered absolutely necessary by the officer commanding the station	Hospitals and married quarters
F	Agra Allahabad Muttra Chwarpore Fitchgarh Bareilly Fyzabad Lauknow Moradabad Sitapur Shahjehanpore	From 15th December to 31st January inclusive 80 lbs for each large fire place and 40 lbs for each small fire place, for as many days only as the issue may be considered absolutely necessary by the officer commanding the station	Women & hospital only

NOTES —1 The foregoing scale being a maximum one, the requirements of the troops may frequently be met by a smaller quantity, and with this object in view, the actual issue shall be notified from time to time in station orders, the intervals between the publication of each order is left to the discretion of the officer commanding the station, who will take advantage of every change in the weather in order that the consumption of fuel may be no more than is necessary for the comfort of the troops

2 Fuel for married quarters, guard-rooms, regimental staff and other sergeants' quarters, battery office, hospital nurse, hospital office, institute, library, orderly-rooms, prison-room, and quartermasters' stores, will be issued on the scale laid down for small fire-places, and for only one in each separate set of quarters when but one family is occupying the place, irrespective of the number of fire-places which may exist

3 The period for which fuel is sanctioned for hospital sergeants and nurses will be the same as if they were living in barracks

4 When separate "day rooms" with fire-places exist in barracks, fuel will not be issued in addition to dormitories exclusively used as such

5 Where no fire-places exist in hospital buildings at stations where fuel is authorized for hospitals, stoves or braziers with pipes leading to the open air will be supplied by the Public Works Department, and an issue of charcoal will be made in lieu of wood, provided that the cost of charcoal so supplied does not exceed that of the quantity of wood sanctioned.

6 In the case of an outbreak of epidemic disease, or other extraordinary circumstance, the scale of fuel to be supplied to any station in the Bengal presidency will be fixed by the officer commanding on the recommendation of the senior medical officer and with strict regard to the actual requirements of the case

7 When fires are considered to be absolutely necessary at stations not enumerated in the foregoing table, the officer commanding the station may, when time will not admit of previous reference being made to the Commander-in-Chief or Government, issue the necessary orders for fuel to be supplied in such quantities and for such period only as he may deem necessary

8 Fuel is sanctioned for all medical subordinates (except hospital assistants) doing duty at hill stations (classes A and B) only at the rate of 40lbs per diem in winter and 20lbs per diem in summer. The issue during the summer and winter months will correspond with the period of supply as made to the troops located in the same station

9 Fuel is sanctioned to bazar, barrack, commissariat and ordnance sergeants and station butchers (when compelled to live away from the barracks) at those stations only where issued to the troops, at the rate of 40lbs per diem in winter and 20lbs per diem in summer. The issue during the summer and winter months will correspond with the period of supply as made to the troops located in the same station

(a) When the Commissariat Department is unable to arrange for the supply of fuel, compensation at the rate of Re 1-4-7 per mensem is admissible. Compensation to bazar, commissariat and ordnance sergeants will be paid by the Commissariat Department, and to barrack sergeants by the Public Works Department

(b) A non-commissioned officer acting as a sub-conductor is entitled to fuel as for departmental staff sergeants.

(c) When a commissariat sergeant is absent from a hill station on command, his wife is entitled to fuel at the same scale as if her husband were present.

10 Soldier students attached to the Thomason College at Roorkee, are entitled to fuel when issued to the troops on the class E scale for small fire-places

11 The size of the pieces of firewood to be issued to barracks and hospitals will be determined by the officer commanding the corps, dépôt or detachment subject to the approval when the Executive Commissariat Officer considers it necessary—of the officer commanding the station. But in no instance must the pieces of firewood exceed eighteen inches in length

12 The fuel in barracks will be under the charge of a non-commissioned officer, and in hospitals under that of the senior warrant medical officer

13 An allowance of Rs 4 per mensem is sanctioned to master-tailors in lieu of fuel for the purpose of warming the tailor's shop

14 The native hospital of each of the mountain batteries of Royal Artillery stationed at Khyragully and Jutogh is allowed fuel for one fire place between 16th March and 14th October inclusive, and for two fire-places between 15th October and 15th March inclusive, on the certificate of the officer in medical charge that fires are absolutely necessary

15 When the only firewood available for issue is of inferior heating quality, or is saturated with wet, the officer commanding the station is empowered to sanction the issue of a small additional percentage on the scale, to compensate for the loss to the troops, but this will be done on his own responsibility

16 The supply of firewood is not authorized for canteens at hill stations

FIREWOOD FOR HOSPITALS OF NATIVE TROOPS

The issue of firewood is sanctioned for hospitals of native troops at the following stations, the scale and restrictions prescribed for British troops at the same or neighbouring stations being held applicable—

I—The following stations of the Punjab Frontier Force—Abbottabad*, Mirdan, Kohat, Bunnoo, Dera Ghazi Khan, Rajunpore, Dera Ismail Khan

II—To the native regimental and station hospitals at all stations in the Peshawar District and Rawal Pindi and Lahore Divisions

No 1016—BRITISH ARMY—

In supersession of G G O No 550 of 1872, which is hereby cancelled, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following rules for the disposal of arms, ammunition and stores in possession of British troops returning to England, which rules are to be strictly observed in future—

Royal Artillery

1 Batteries of Horse and Field Artillery are to take home with them their 24 carbines, 1 set of accoutrements, 1 haversack and 1 kit bag per man embarked, also 1 sword and scabbard per man, drivers excepted

2 Garrison batteries will take with them 1 carbine, 1 sword with scabbard, 1 set of accoutrements, 1 haversack, and 1 kit bag per man embarked

Cavalry

3 Hussar regiments will take home 1 carbine, 1 sword with scabbard, 1 set of accoutrements, 1 haversack, and 1 kit bag per man embarked. Also 1 pistol per staff sergeant, troop sergeant-major, and trumpeter

4 Lancer regiments will take 1 pistol, 1 lance, 1 sword with scabbard, 1 set of accoutrements, 1 haversack, and 1 kit bag per man embarked

Infantry

5 Regiments armed with the Henry-Martini rifle will take with them 1 rifle, 1 set of accoutrements, 1 haversack, and 1 kit bag per man embarked

6 All regiments and batteries returning to England will take with them the whole of their regimental stores connected with personal equipment and armourer's tools, making their own arrangements for disposing of their workshop tools. They will also take home the appointments appertaining to trumpeters, drummers and pioneers, together with such musical instruments as are the property of Government. 40 rounds of ammunition per small arm will be taken by regiments of Infantry, and 20 rounds by regiments of Cavalry and batteries of Royal Artillery, to the port of embarkation, and will there be returned into store, as ammunition is provided on board Her Majesty's Indian troop-ships

7 A battery or regiment under orders for England will dispose of its camp equipage in accordance with the instructions it will receive from the Quarter-master General's Department

8 All regimental stores, ammunition, and equipment, with the exception of those above detailed, will be returned by the regiment or battery into the arsenal or ammunition dépôt on which it is dependent, one month before it leaves its station, and receiving officers will be held personally responsible that none of the articles above authorised to be taken home are returned into store

9 When a battery or regiment under orders for England is about to leave its station, the officer commanding the station will convene a committee of experienced officers, of which the officer commanding the battery or regiment shall be President or Member, to survey the equipment and stores which are to be returned as above into ordnance store as well as those to be taken to England. The reports of the equipments to be returned into store will be sent to the Ordnance Office, Calcutta, Madras, or Poona, as the case may be. The reports of the equipments to be taken to England will be prepared in triplicate, and of these one copy will remain with the officer commanding, for delivery on arrival, to the authorities at the War Office, or at the Colony, or other British possession to which the troops may be proceeding. One to be sent to the Adjutant General for transmission to the India Office, through the Government of India, and one to the Controller of Military Accounts of the presidency.

10 When a battery under orders for England is ordered to march from the station where it has been located, to another station, for the purpose of handing over its horses and equipment, the committee detailed in the foregoing paragraph will be assembled, as soon as possible, after its arrival at the latter station.

11 In preparing the reports of the equipment to be taken to England, the committee will carefully fill in the first seven columns, the remainder being left blank for completion at the India Office.

Weekly condition report of the distressed districts of the Mysore Province

PROVINCE OF MYSORE.

(No. 38)

Special famine report for the week ending 27th October 1877.

Statement No. 38, regarding famine relief operations in the Province of Mysore, for the week ending the 27th October 1877

GENERAL and heavy rain has fallen throughout the week causing anxiety for the tanks and some injury to the crops. The fall has been specially heavy in Chitaldrug where 7 inches 30 cents were recorded, the total fall of the year being nearly as great as in 1874-75. Notwithstanding great risk of damage to the jowari crops which are reported to be rotting in the year, prospects have very markedly improved in that district, and an early termination of the distress is anticipated. The Famine Commissioner visited the Shimoga district, where he found only one relief camp with very few inmates, chiefly sick and infirm. Both here and over a considerable part of Chitaldrug, he states, the people are most desirous of remaining near their crops and cannot be persuaded to leave them for relief works, nor is it desirable they should, as even the poorest find some employment in weeding and cutting the heads of such grain as has ripened and is spoiling, and take out a livelihood with roots and greens. With a little fine weather it appeared to be the general opinion that the harvest would be unusually good. The area cultivated is larger than ordinary, and as yet no serious damage has occurred. But should the incessant and heavy rain continue, the consequences to the jowari crop may be serious. This description applies with more or less force to the other districts, the rain injuring the standing crops, delaying the harvest and interfering with sowing operations. The crops in Coorg are also suffering.

2 The imports of grain by rail have again decreased, amounting to 2,033 tons, or 917 tons less than last week. The imports were received from the following quarters —

	Tons
From Madras	1,794
„ Beypore	105
„ Nangunipatam and Trichinopoly	12
„ Sholapur	31
„ Other places	91
Total	2,033

From Bangalore 1,708 tons were exported, or 271 tons more than in the preceding week, to the following quarters —

	Tons
Tumkūr	380
Bellary	150
Mysore	847
Usur (Salem District)	143
Round Bangalore	186
Total	1,708

Prices are dearer in the direction of Mysore and thus attract the imports

3 The improvement in prices continues, especially in ragi, of which increasing quantities come to market. The following statement gives the maximum and minimum prices in lbs per rupee for each district:—

	Maximum in lbs per rupee		Minimum in lbs per rupee
	2nd sort rice	Ragi	2nd sort rice	Ragi
Bangalore district	18	22	15	17
Kolar „ (for 8 taluks only)	18½	26	13	19
Tumkūr „ (for 5 taluks)	15	24	11	17
Mysore „ (for 9 taluks)	13	18	9	13
Hasan „	14	18	9	11
Kadur „	13	16	10	15
Shimoga „	14	20	9	13
Chitaldrug „	13	26	10	14

4 The number of laborers employed on civil relief works was 31,167, or a net increase of 892, due to 4,916 additional laborers drafted to works in the Tumkūr district. In all other districts, except Kadur, where there was a slight increase of 77, the numbers diminished, the decrease being greatest in Chitaldrug. The transfer of labor to the Public Works Department continues, and it is hoped the laborers under civil officers in Bangalore will shortly be transferred to the Railway and in Kolar to the Yedaruru Tank. There is a difficulty in Tumkūr, where there are now 13,623 on civil works owing to a want of any large useful projects in that district. With a view to testing the practicability of moving labor at this season, the Chief Engineer collected a party of about 450 in Bangalore for employment near Maddur, distant about 48 miles, and Lieutenant Peile, 2nd Q. O., B. N. I., the officer sent in charge, reports his arrival on the works without the loss of a single person he started with, but on the contrary with an addition of volunteers picked up by the way. The Deputy Commissioner of Tumkūr, where distress is still serious and therefore demand for relief great, has now been requested to endeavour to take some of his labor to more useful works. At the same time considerable progress has been made in concentrating labor under civil officers. At the end of August there were 29,295 laborers on 1,746 works, while the present returns shew only 293 of the petty works still in progress, the great bulk of the labor having been collected on 31 larger works recently selected and sanctioned by the Famine Commissioner.

5 Under the Public Works Department 52,274 laborers were employed, or an increase of 4,061 occurring chiefly in Bangalore and Tumkūr. The following is a list of works on which are employed 500 laborers and upwards —

District	Work	Number employed
Bangalore	State Railway	18,209
	Bangalore Water-supply	1,007

	Net decrease		12,690

The decrease in Kolar and Chitaldrug is due to the improved prospects and the demand for field labor, and in Tumkūr to the efforts made to transfer the inmates of relief camps to works, the decrease upon gratuitous relief being more than compensated by the increase on works. It is satisfactory to state that both public works and civil officers unite in considering that no sooner are people transferred to works than their condition begins to improve. Indeed the success which has attended the introduction of free admission to public works and the popularity of the works have exceeded all expectation. At no distant date, the population of the relief camps will be confined to the sick and the infirm.

7 The number on civil and professional works amounts to 83,441 compared with 61,148 charitably fed. The following table gives the numbers relieved during the last two months —

* Last week's figure, no entry being made in the column in this week's return

It will be observed that the number of laborers under civil officers has not materially altered, the closing of petty works having been compensated by the increased numbers on the larger works recently opened. The increase upon public works has amounted to about 28,000, and the decrease in numbers gratuitously fed to 185,919, the net decrease upon relief since 1st September last being 135,979. This reduction is due to more accurate counting, the improvement in the season, the fall in prices, and the exaction of work in return for food, and the better discipline in the relief camps. To ensure that none in want are left uncared for in the towns and villages and to prevent the enforcement of the tests causing distress, the services of a large number of European officers have been secured and a rigorous system of village inspection undertaken. The town of Bangalore itself has been divided into beats, each house visited, and every one in real need and unable to work provided with a ticket for grain. The Inspectors also distribute tickets for admission to public works, and the resident population being thus provided for, wanderers and stragglers are removed by the police to enclosed camps. The street mortality has fallen to about half-a-dozen a day, and considering the very large number on the public works who find shelter in Bangalore and the feeble condition of some members of the special gangs, it is feared occasional deaths, in spite of the most careful treatment, will continue for some little time. The utmost care is being taken upon the public works, in the relief camps and in hospitals of the weak and emaciated with the best results, a little fair weather would at once ripen the crops and improve the public health, and is all that is at present wanting to make prospects most encouraging.

8 The average cost of feeding per head is returned as follows —

	Per head
Bangalore district	0 9 0
Do Municipality	0 9 9
Kolar district	0 8 3
Tumkūr „	0 9 8

Or an average cost of 9 annas 6 pies per head compared with 9 annas 4 pies for last week. The excess in Shimoga is due to the actual expenditure not being shewn.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK
ENDING THE 15TH NOVEMBER 1877

GENERAL REMARKS—No report has this week been received from Madras. In Mysore the rainfall of the week has been trifling, the crops are in good condition, the number on relief works for the week ending the 3rd instant was 85,678, and on charity 51,328, being 2,232 more and 9,819 less than in the previous week. In Bombay no rain has fallen during the week, except a little on the Upper Sind Frontier. The condition and prospects of the crops are good everywhere except in Sind. In the Central Provinces also there has been no rain, the prospects of the kharif are good and the early rice is being harvested; the rabi sowings are being rapidly brought to a close. In Berar the condition of the crops is good. In Central India there has been no rain, emigrants from Rajputana still continue to pass through Neemuch; those from Gwalior passing through Guona are falling off, and many are returning. In Bengal slight but beneficial rain has fallen in the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions, and also in Pooree; elsewhere there has been none, the rice outturn will be poor in most parts of the Patna Division. Prospects are good in Assam. There has been a slight fall of rain in most districts of British Burma, the crops promise well. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh no rain has fallen, the rabi sowings are nearly complete, and the seed sown is germinating well. In the Punjab slight rain has fallen at Rawalpindi, Peshawar, Dera Ismail Khan and Amritsar, it is generally wanted for the rabi sowings, especially in Umballa and Lahore.

*Offg Post Master of CalcuttaTHE INDIAN LAW REPORTS

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY

The first part of the "Indian Law Reports," published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, will appear as soon after the 1st January 1878 as can be arranged for. The Reports will appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and will comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court will be reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court will be reported in the Calcutta Series. The Parts of each Series can be had separately, or all four Parts can be had stitched into one wrapper at the option of subscribers and purchasers. It will be observed from the following statement of the terms of subscription and sale, that a considerable reduction is allowed to persons taking the complete set.

Terms of subscription, payable annually in advance.

	Without Postage	With Postage
For the CALCUTTA SERIES	Rs 35	Rs 40
" MADRAS SERIES	" 8	" 9
" BOMBAY SERIES	" 8	" 9
" ALAHABAD SERIES	" 8	" 9
Complete set	" 45	" 50

The price of each Part purchased separately will vary according to the amount of matter it contains, and will be printed on the wrapper. It will, however, never be below the following—

	Rs	8
For a Part of the CALCUTTA SERIES	Rs 3	8
" " MADRAS SERIES	" 1	0
" " ALAHABAD SERIES	" 1	0
Complete set	" 4	0

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports, should apply to—

MESSRS THACKER, SPINK AND CO, CALCUTTA, MESSRS THACKER, VINING AND CO, BOMBAY,
MESSRS HIGGINBOTHAM AND CO, MADRAS,
THE GOVERNMENT CENTRAL BOOK DEPOT, BOMBAY,
THE GOVERNMENT BOOK DEPOT, ALAHABAD

The publication of the Bengal Law Reports and the Madras, Bombay, and W P High Court Reports will cease on the completion of the volumes now in course of publication.

Subscribers to the Bengal Law Reports, who have already paid their subscriptions to the end of June 1876, will be supplied with the complete set of Reports for the first half of 1876 in lieu of the volume of the Bengal Law Reports which they would otherwise have received.

Central Provinces Gazetteer—Edition of 1870 in one Vol

A limited number of the above work, strongly bound in cloth, octavo size, for sale at Rs 12 per Vol, exclusive of postage charge. Apply to Messrs Thacker, Spink & Co, Calcutta, Thacker, Vining & Co, Bombay, or to Superintendent, Chief Commissioner's Office, Nagpur.

ORDER

The following Despatch to Her Majesty's Secretary of State is published for general information —

No 36 (Famine), dated Governor General's Camp, Poona, the 22nd September 1877

From—His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General,
To—Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India

IN paragraph 3 of Your Lordship's despatch No 62, dated 9th August, is expressed approval of the orders issued by us, enjoining publicity in the rare cases where district officers find it necessary to purchase grain for the supply of any landlocked, foodless tract. And the same paragraph counsels vigilance in watching the operation of our orders restricting the purchase of grain.

The words of this paragraph were telegraphed to me by Your Lordship

Telegram dated 14th August 1877

Your cypher message of tenth. We do not fully understand the object of it.

Our instructions about publication referred only to local purchases from trade. We decided at outset that private trade would import grain more efficiently than Government and we have lately re-assented publicly our determination not to interfere.

Do you intend to say that you think it probable that Government ought to make large importations of grain?

We can foresee no circumstances under which such Government interference with private trade would not be a ruinous mistake. Trade towards famine country from Bengal, Central and Northern India is most active and we see no reason to doubt that the necessary supplies will be furnished. We are convinced that far more food from abroad or elsewhere will reach Madras if we leave private enterprise to itself, and we should paralyse it by Government competition. Free and abundant private trade cannot co-exist with Government importations. Even if we anticipated failure in some of supply, we should still believe that Government interference would only decrease the total amount of food available and aggravate the catastrophe.

If Her Majesty's Government should think differently we request that we may receive distinct intimation of the fact. We cannot take upon ourselves any responsibility for a course which would in our opinion be fatal. Nor can we usefully give calculations. Local estimates say that from 4,000 to 5,000 tons of grain must be imported daily; grain actually ready for export on Great Indian Peninsula Railway reported to be 120,000 tons and stocks in Bengal, Central and Northern India believed to be large.

ing the demand for imported grain can be best, and indeed, alone, discharged by private trade, and that private trade should be left to do its work in this respect with as little interference from Government as practicable. The Government and its officers should, however, give all possible information, and should give, where necessary, additional facilities, to private trade. Early and correct information as to prices and means of carriage should be published. The carrying power of railways and canals, leading into the famine tracts, should be reinforced, tolls and other restraints on free intercommunication should be removed, roads into the interior should be improved and kept in order, rates of railway or other carriage might be reduced, and, in cases of extreme necessity, temporary railways, or tramways, might be laid from main railway lines into populous tracts, where the means of communication failed, or were insufficient. These will, indeed, be the most useful of all works, if we have to meet another year of famine. Grain required by Government for alms to the helpless poor, or for labourers on relief works, or for any tract where supplies were deficient, should be obtained through the trade, at or near the local markets, and should not be imported from a distance by Government itself. Experience has shown that Government operations in the grain market disorganise and paralyse private trade, to an extent out of all proportion to the operations themselves. Moreover, where the carrying power of a country by rail, canal, or cart, is limited, and is fully utilised, Government grain importations must necessarily displace a corresponding quantity of privately imported grain. My view, therefore, is that, under no circumstances, which are likely to occur, ought the Government itself to engage in the business of importing grain. Free and abundant private trade cannot co-exist with Government importation. Absolute non-interference with the operations of private commercial enterprise must be the foundation of our present famine policy. Trade towards the famine country from Bengal and Northern and Central India is at present active, and there is every reason to believe that the Indian sources of supply are still considerable. But even if these should fail, the interference of the Government would be a ruinous error. It could only have the effect of decreasing the total amount of food available, and thus aggravating the catastrophe. I am confident that more food, whether from abroad or elsewhere, will reach Madras, if we leave on the 10th August, and we submitted by telegraph the reply given in the margin. Since the despatch of that telegram, my Minute, dated the 12th August, has given (paragraph 18) a general statement of the principles which should guide the Government of India, when any question arises of importing grain on Government account. That paragraph gives expression to views, in which all my colleagues concur, it runs thus —

'18 When harvests fail in an Indian province, considerable old stocks of food are left in the hands of the landholding and mercantile classes, but these stocks are often held back from sale. Markets have, therefore, to be supplied with grain imported from a distance. I consider that, except under most peculiar and exceptional circumstances, the function of supply-private enterprise to itself, than if we paralyse it by Government competition. These remarks refer to the famine we are now dealing with. I do not, of course, intend to assert that famines cannot occur, in which Government interference for importation of food may not be absolutely necessary. Indeed, the Orissa Famine was one of those cases."

2 In addition to what has been urged in the telegram and extract quoted above, I would add a short further explanation of the principles which guide the Government of India, and of the position we take, when we decline, under present circumstances, to purchase and import grain for the supply of the famine districts.

3 If prices do not greatly rise after a failure of harvest, and if imports are inactive, then the natural conclusion would be that there must be considerable old stocks in the country. These are of course difficult, if not impossible, to trace. When prices in a province approach famine rates, then we presume that, if surplus food exists in other provinces, and if communication by water or railway be fairly good, private traders will carry that food to the famine districts more cheaply, more promptly, and more directly, than Government could possibly do. If there is one branch of internal trade which Indian traders fully understand, it is the grain trade, they know what grain is wanted, whence it can be bought most cheaply, and where the need is sorest. Among the many contrasts between the system of Government importations adopted in 1874 and the private trade system of 1877, it may be mentioned that the Government importations in 1874 consisted, with some small exceptions, of rice, mostly of Burmah rice,—while private trade has in 1877 brought under contribution every province and every food staple in India,—wheat, barley, grain, two kinds of millet (jowar and bajra), and pulses have come from scores of railway stations in the Punjab, the North-Western Provinces and Behar, from the river Chenab on the north to the Soane on the south, rice, pulses and marwa millet (the ragi of Madras) have come from Bengal and Orissa, millets and pulses have come from Guzerat, Berar, the Central Provinces, and even from Rajputana. Burmah has sent a small quantity of rice, but Burmah rice generally rules dearer than the common varieties of Bengal rice, and so traders have drawn but little from that source of supply, so long as Bengal stocks were large.

4 Not only could private traders do the work of supplying grain to Southern India, better than Government could do it, but it was obvious that the trade, as a whole, could make much larger importations than Government could effect by itself. If once the Government were to begin importing grain, the first rumour of any impending intrusion of Government action into the field of private enterprise would paralyse the confidence of the whole trade, would send up prices at the source of supply, would keep prices in the famine country below the natural trade level, and would thus, indirectly as well as directly, check imports. The Government having once entered on such an undertaking, there would be no half-way stage at which we could arrest our ruinous course. The Government would soon find itself responsible for providing grain enough for every village, not merely in Madras and Mysore, but also in tracts of Northern India to which famine might spread. Any partial substitution of Government agency for private trade was impossible. We had to choose between either leaving private trade alone, or taking upon ourselves the whole of its natural work. If we had adopted the latter alternative, it would probably have cost the Government more to lay down one ton of grain, than it would have cost the trade to lay down two. We had before us the financial results of the Bengal famine of 1874, where the cost* of buying and transporting Government grain came to £ 6,474,000 out of a gross expenditure of £ 9,177,000 or to £ 4,259,000 out of a net cost of £ 6,402,000. The famine of 1877 has been severer, and has extended over a far larger area than the famine of 1874, if we had taken the grain supply into our own hands, the cost of famine relief in 1876—78, alarmingly great as it is, must have been indefinitely increased. If Government had undertaken to import grain for the supply of Southern India, we should, even if we had succeeded in our undertaking—which is doubtful—have made a stride, of which the magnitude can only be conjectured, on the road to national bankruptcy.

5 The financial argument indeed, in the present condition of the Indian treasury, carried its due weight in deciding us to adopt what, on other grounds, seemed to us the wiser alternative. Still, apart from financial considerations, we were convinced that the safety of the afflicted populations would be best secured by the adoption of the course we took. It must, I fear, be admitted that Government cannot avert all death from famine, when the drought is so severe and affects so large an area, as in the present season has been the case. And I am convinced that, under present circumstances, there would have been more misery, more death, and a less constant supply of food in the districts of Southern India, if Government had undertaken to import grain on a large scale, than have happened under the policy which the Government of India, after full consideration, and with Your Lordship's approval, have adopted.

6 These were some of the considerations which influenced our decision when the question of importing grain arose in the autumn of 1876. When the same question came before us in July 1877, such considerations gained renewed force from the experience of the preceding eight months. The proposal to import grain largely by Government agency had been put forward during the autumn of 1876, both at Bombay and Madras. The Governor, Sir Philip Wodehouse, fully and specifically discussed the question with his colleagues, and they decided not to buy grain, but to trust entirely to private trade for the supply of the country. This decision, cordially approved as it was by the Government of India, was at once made public. Grain was forthwith consigned to the Deccan by private traders in enormous quantities, insomuch that the Great Indian Peninsula Railway was blocked with grain early in November. By strenuous effort the block was gradually cleared, and the supply, by rail and seaboard, to the famine districts of Bombay has, since November, sufficed for the needs of the country. Prices have indeed been very dear, but, though some parts of the Bombay famine tract drew their supplies from Railway stations or seaports 130 miles off, still there has always been enough grain in the markets.

7 The Madras Government, about the same time as the Bombay Government considered the question, decided to buy 30,000 tons of grain as a beginning. This decision was not known to the Government of India, until the transaction was concluded and the bill had to be paid. The purchases were effected with just so much secrecy as served to alarm the trade, and in Calcutta, the chief source of the Madras rice supply, dealers were, until the middle of February, possessed with a fear that further large purchases by Government were imminent. Interference with the grain market was stopped by the Government of India, and whatever may have been the views of the Madras Government at the time, I believe the Governor of Madras is now and has for some time been of opinion that further Government purchases of grain were inexpedient. The Madras Government made their purchases in October, and, as no further action of the kind was taken, the stream of private trade set in during December, and has continued ever since. Private trade has sent by sea to Madras, or has consigned from marts in Northern India, more grain than the railways and other means of transport could carry into the interior. During the last two months (August and September), since the failure of the summer rains and the occurrence of a second famine, private trade has carried into the districts of Madras and Mysore a daily average of 4,000 to 5,000 tons of food. This great result must be largely due to the assurances, published by the Governments of India and Madras in June last, to the effect that Government would not interfere in the grain trade. These were the assurances to which we referred in our telegram quoted in the first paragraph of the present letter.

8 The grain bought by the Madras Government is being kept in reserve, and so its presence does not operate to keep prices low, and thereby to check importations. I am aware that the Members of the Madras Government, though they do not now advocate Government purchases, are strongly of opinion that their purchase of 30,000 tons, and their placing the greater part of that supply in depôts up the country, paved the way for private trade, and encouraged its steady flow. It is true that private trade increased after the Government purchases had been made, but trade did not acquire its full stream till August.

1877, and it did not flow freely at all till December 1876, that is to say, some weeks after the Government transactions had been concluded, whereas the Bombay importations set in with full tide early in November. I do not say that the purchase of 30,000 tons permanently affected the flow of private trade, in the face of the enormous demands of the Madras and Mysore country, but I fear the transaction must (for the time) have checked private importations, it is certain that the Government grain occupied railway wagons to the exclusion of merchants' consignments, and I can see no practical or theoretical ground for the contention that the Government purchases galvanised private trade into active exertion.

9 Though the considerations stated in the foregoing paragraphs guided our unanimous decision on the occasions when the question of purchasing grain came before us during the present famine, yet we must not be understood to say that occasion never did, and never can, arise when Government purchases of grain might be necessary. The Orissa famine of 1866 may have been such a case. Orissa was a small province, it had then few transactions with other parts of India, its marts were not frequented by merchants from other provinces, there were practically no land communications between Orissa and other provinces, save for pilgrims, and communication by sea was, at that time, cut off during the most critical season of the year. The famine of 1866 in Orissa may have been a case in which Government might in some way have effected or promoted grain importations. In the famine of 1874 the Behar famine tract, with its population of 19 millions, was divided by the Ganges into nearly equal parts, one part, south of the Ganges, possessed two railways, metalled and bridged roads, and large trading populations, the other part, north of the Ganges, had no railways, not a single metalled and bridged road and comparatively few traders. Thus the Government was able to occupy North Behar with its agency and with its grain imported from the east, while the wants of South Behar were sufficiently met by private trade with supplies from the west. The circumstances and characteristics of the two tracts were so different that Government trade in North Behar did not interfere with private trade in South Behar, and furthermore, all the Government grain came by railway or river from the east, while the railway from the west was left exclusively for private traders. The famine tracts of Southern India, on the other hand, are not landlocked like Orissa, nor are their sea-ports closed for months together, as were the Orissa roadsteads. There are several railway lines in the south of India, a number of sea-ports are available on the east and west coasts, Madras possesses a better system of metalled and bridged roads than any part of India, much of the Bombay and Mysore country is also well supplied with roads. There was thus every facility for the free action of private trade. Nor was there any section of the famine country, so separate and distinct from the rest, that Government agency could have imported grain thither, while private trade supplied the remainder of the country without let or hindrance.

10 I have laid before Your Lordship, thus at length, an expression of my views on the subject of this letter, because I think its importance is very great. If Your Lordship were able to concur generally in the views now expressed, the hands of the Government of India would be greatly strengthened, when hereafter the problem of supplying food to a famine-stricken province again arises.

11 In any case, the traders of Southern and Northern India will have learnt an important lesson of self-help. Private trade will be more prompt than heretofore to supply the wants of provinces where scarcity of food may prevail. I anticipate also that, after the brisk and lucrative trade of this year, traffic on the Madras guaranteed railways will never fall again to the low ebb of former years. And I hope that the opening of the Dhond and Munmar Railway will do much to promote free interchange of commodities between the north and the south of India, which now for the first time have traded on a large scale with each other.

By order of His Excy the Govr. Genl,

C. BERNARD,

The weather has, on the whole, become more favourable in the districts noticed last week as suffering from excessive rain. The chief exception is Belgaum, where no improvement has taken place. In Kaladgi also the weather is still unsettled.

2 Prices have fallen considerably in Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar and Dharwar, and in Sholapur bajri, which the Collector reports is now the staple food of the people, is much cheaper. In the Poona Collectorate prices have risen. In the other three districts there is scarcely any change.

3 A decrease of 15,790 this week in the number of labourers upon relief works brings the total down to 54,827. The greatest reduction has been made in Dharwar where nearly half the labourers of the preceding week have left the works. The apparent increase in the case of Nasik is due to an adjustment between that district and Ahmednagar of the number of relief labourers upon the Dhond and Manmad railway works. The numbers pertaining to the two districts are now counted separately.

4 Cholera continues to a slight extent in Nasik and Ahmednagar, and is becoming more prevalent in Satara.

5 Written reports have been received from the Collectors of Nasik, Poona, Sholapur and Satara for the week ending the 27th October, and from the other Collectors for the week before. The table, compiled from these reports, showing the rainfall and the prices of staple food-grains in each taluka is appended as usual. Rain has fallen in most of those talukas of Khandesh and Ahmednagar noticed last week as requiring more rain. Another fall of rain is wanted in the Nasik district. In the Collectorates to the south of Poona the complaint of excessive rain is general. The Collector of Belgaum—his report is for the week ending the 20th ultimo—states that serious injury is apprehended if the rain continues. The telegrams show that rain did continue at least till the 2nd instant. In Dharwar the rain, while injuring other crops, has served to restore the rice.

6 The following table gives the expenditure by Government, during the week ending 13th October, upon gratuitous relief, and in payments made to the young children of labourers employed upon Relief Works. The number of children has fallen during the week from 40,356 to 33,560. The number of persons being gratuitously relieved in the week ending 6th October was entered, in the last statement, as 87,951, but supplementary returns since received from the Collectors of Sholapur and Kaladgi show that the correct number is 89,322. The return from the Collector of Ahmednagar for the week ending 13th October is incomplete: the whole number may be taken approximately at 76,133. This gives a decrease during the week of 11,818 —

7 In the following table are enumerated the works under Public Works Department Agency upon which the average daily number of persons employed has amounted to five hundred for the week ending 20th ultimo. The total number engaged on these large works constitutes 67 12 per cent of the whole number of labourers upon relief works —

8 Tables A and B are brought up to the week ending 20th ultimo. The number of persons on works under Public Works Department Agency in the nine affected districts was at this date 51,107 and on works under Civil Agency 13,916. The percentage of persons upon works under Civil Agency has thus risen during the week from 18.8 to 21.4 per cent of the whole number employed. The total expenditure upon works in the nine affected districts has amounted to Rs 1,01,32,512, which, with the expenditure of Rs 1,29,533 upon works in Ratnagiri and Kanara, and Rs 9,86,337 from the Collectors' Discretionary Allowances, gives a total of Rs 1,12,48,382.

9 The condition of the affected Native States is shown in a table appended. The rain has been excessive in Kolhapur and Savanur. The number of labourers upon relief works continues to decrease, but very slowly.

10 During the week ending 27th October, 4,445 tons of food-grains were exported from Bombay to the Southern Marathi Ports, and 1,747 tons were carried by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway to stations upon the Poona-Sholapur and Bhusawal-Nasik lines, making a total of 1,758 tons for the week. This is less by 705 tons than the importations of the previous week.

The table below shows the quantities of grain sent by sea and rail from October 1876 (till the 27th October 1877 to the Southern Maratha Ports and the Railway Stations in the distressed districts. It will be seen that the total amount delivered up to the 27th October was 427,789 tons —

11 There have been decreases of 15,790 in the number of people on relief works, 6,796 in the number of young children, and 11,818 in the number of people on charitable relief

12 There is considerable improvement in the general situation. The condition of the people is markedly better. The anxiety caused by the excessive rain is now almost entirely confined to the Belgaum Collectorate

EXAMINATIONS

Simla, the 16th November 1877

No. 125.—The following Regulations for the examination of candidates for the Civil Service of India to be held in June and July 1878 are published for general information —

REGULATIONS FOR THE OPEN COMPETITION OF JULY 1878

N B—The Regulations are liable to be altered in future years

1 On June 25th, 1878, and following days, an Examination of Candidates will be held in London. At this Examination not fewer than Candidates will be selected, if so many shall be found duly qualified. Of these, will be selected for the Presidency of Bengal, [ for the Upper Provinces, and for the Lower Provinces ] for that of Madras, and for that of Bombay *—Notice will hereafter be given of the days and place of Examination.

2 Any person desirous of competing at this Examination must produce to the Civil Service Commissioners, before the 1st of May 1878, evidence showing —

- (a) That he is a natural-born subject of Her Majesty
- (b) That his age on the 1st of January 1878 will be above seventeen years and under nineteen years [ N B—In the case of Natives of India this must be certified by the Government of India, or of the Presidency or Province in which the Candidate may have resided ]
- (c) That he has no disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity unfitting him, or likely to unfit him, for the Civil Service of India †
- (d) That he is of good moral character ‡

He must also pay such fee as the Secretary of State for India may prescribe ‡

3 Should the evidence upon the above points be prima facie satisfactory to the Civil Service Commissioners, the Candidate will, upon payment of the prescribed fee, be admitted to the Examination. The Commissioners may, however, in their discretion, at any time prior to the grant of the Certificate of Qualification hereinafter referred to, institute such further inquiries as they may deem necessary, and if the result of such inquiries, in the case of any Candidate, should be unsatisfactory to them in any of the above respects, he will be ineligible for admission to the Civil Service of India, and if already selected, will be removed from the position of a Probationer.

4 The Examination will take place only in the following branches of knowledge —

	Marks
§ English Composition	300
•• History of England—including a period selected by the Candidate	300
•• English Literature—including books selected by the Candidate	300
Greek	600
Latin	800
French	500
German	500
Italian	400
§ Mathematics (pure and mixed)	1,000
†† Natural Science that is, the Elements of any two of the following Sciences, viz — Chemistry, 500, Electricity and Magnetism 300, Experimental Laws of Heat and Light, 300, Mechanical Philosophy, with outlines of Astronomy, 300
Logic	300
Elements of Political Economy	300
†† Sanskrit	500
†† Arabic	500

Candidates are at liberty to name, before May 1st, 1878, any or all of these branches of knowledge. No subjects are obligatory.

5 The merit of the persons examined will be estimated by marks, and the number set opposite to each branch in the preceding regulation denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it.

6 The marks assigned to Candidates in each branch will be subject to such deduction as the Civil Service Commissioners may deem necessary, in order to secure that "a Candidate be allowed no credit at all for taking up a subject in which he is a mere smatterer."

7 The Examination will be conducted by means of printed questions and written answers, and by visu voce Examination, as may be deemed necessary.

8 The marks obtained by each Candidate, in respect of each of the subjects in which he shall have been examined, will be added up, and the names of the Candidates who shall have obtained a greater aggregate number of marks than any of the remaining Candidates, will be set forth in order of merit, and such Candidates shall be deemed to be selected. Candidates for the Civil Service of India, provided they appear to be in other respects duly qualified. Should any of the selected Candidates become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the

* The number of appointments to be made, and the number in each Presidency, &c., will be announced hereafter. It will probably be about half the usual number.

† Evidence of health and character must bear date not earlier than the 1st April, 1878.

‡ The Fee for this Examination will be £5, payable by means of a special stamp according to instructions which will be communicated to Candidates.

§ Marks assigned in English Composition and Mathematics will be subject to no deduction.

•• A considerable portion of the marks for English History and Literature will be allotted to the work specially prepared. In awarding marks for this, regard will be had partly to the extent and importance of the periods or books selected, and partly to the thoroughness with which they have been studied.

†† The Examination will range from Arithmetic, Algebra, and Elementary Geometry, up to the elements of the differential and integral calculus, including the lower portions of applied Mathematics.

‡‡ The standard of marking in Sanskrit and Arabic will be determined with reference to a high degree of proficiency, such as may be expected to be reached by a Native of good education.

vacancy thus created shall be filled up or not. In the former case, the Candidate next in order of merit, and in other respects duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a selected Candidate. A selected Candidate declining to accept the appointment which may be offered to him will be disqualified for any subsequent competition

9 Selected Candidates, before proceeding to India, will be on probation for two years, during which time they will be examined periodically, with a view of testing their progress in the following subjects —*

	Marks.
1 Law	1250
2. Classical Languages of India—
Sanskrit	500
Arabic	400
Persian	400
3 Vernacular Languages of India (each)	400
4 The History and Geography of India	350
5 Political Economy	350

In these Examinations, as in the open competition, the merit of the Candidates examined will be estimated by marks, and the number set opposite to each subject denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it at any one Examination. The Examination will be conducted by means of printed questions and written answers, and by viva voce Examination, as may be deemed necessary. The last of these Examinations will be held at the close of the second year of probation, and will be called the "Final Examination," at which it will be decided whether a selected Candidate is qualified for the Civil Service of India.

10 Any Candidate who, at any of the periodical Examinations, shall appear to have wilfully neglected his studies, or to be physically incapacitated for pursuing the prescribed course of training, will be liable to have his name removed from the list of selected Candidates.

11 The selected Candidates who, at the Final Examination, shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9, and who shall have satisfied the Civil Service Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of age, health, and character, shall be certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, provided they shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for that Service.

12 Applications from persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates are to be addressed to the "Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners, London, S. W.," from whom the proper form for the purpose may be obtained.

September 1877.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements —

(1) Selected Candidates will be permitted to choose, according to the order in which they stand in the list resulting from the open competition as long as a choice remains, the Presidency (and in Bengal the Division of the Presidency) to which they shall be appointed, but this choice will be subject to a different arrangement, should the Secretary of State, or Government of India, deem it necessary †.

(2) The Probationers, having passed the necessary Examinations, will be required to report themselves to their Government in India not later than the close of December 1881.

(3) The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the selected Candidates shall be determined according to the Order in which they stand on the list resulting from the Final Examination.

(4) An allowance of £150 a year will be given during each of the two years of their probation to all Candidates who pass their probation at some University to be approved beforehand by the Secretary of State, provided such Candidates shall have passed the required Examinations to the satisfaction of the Civil Service Commissioners, and shall have complied with such rules as may be laid down for the guidance of selected Candidates.

(5) All selected Candidates will be required, after having passed the second periodical Examination, to attend at the India Office for the purpose of entering into an agreement binding themselves, amongst other things, to refund in certain cases the amount of their allowance in the event of their failing to proceed to India. A surety will be required.

(6) After passing the Final Examination each Candidate will be required to attend again at the India Office with the view of entering into covenants. The stamps payable on these documents amount to £1.

(7) Candidates rejected at the Final Examination of 1880 will in no case be allowed to present themselves for re-examination.

* Full instructions as to the course of study to be pursued will be issued to the successful Candidates as soon as possible after the result of the open competition is declared.

† This choice must be exercised immediately after the result of the open competition is announced, on such day as may be fixed by the Civil Service Commissioners.

EVIDENCE OF AGE TO BE REQUIRED FROM CANDIDATES FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA.

I.—Every Candidate born in England or Wales should produce a Certificate from the Registrar-General of Births, Marriages, and Deaths, or from one of his provincial Officers. This Certificate may be obtained at Somerset House, or from the Superintendent Registrar of the District in which the birth took place.

II.—A Candidate who is a native of India must have his age certified by the Government of India, or of the Presidency or Province in which he may have resided.

III.—Every other Candidate not producing the Certificate mentioned in Clause I, must prove his age by Statutory Declaration, and should also, if possible, produce a record of Birth or Baptism from some official Register, under which term may be included the Parochial Registers of Baptisms, the non-Parochial Registers of Baptisms and Births deposited at Somerset House under Acts of Parliament, the Register kept at the India Office of persons born in India, &c, &c. This Regulation applies—

- 1 To all Candidates not born in England or Wales
- 2 To Candidates who, though born in England or Wales, cannot produce the Registrar-General's Certificate

The Civil Service Commissioners reserve to themselves the right of deciding in each case upon the sufficiency of the evidence produced, but they subjoin the following general rules for the guidance of Candidates —

- (a) The Declaration should specify precisely the date and place of birth, and should, if possible, be made by the father or mother of the Candidate. If made by any other person, it should state the circumstances which enabled the Declarant to speak to the fact. If an entry in a Bible or other family record be referred to, the Bible or other record must be produced at the time of making the Declaration, and must be mentioned in the Declaration as having been so produced.
- (b) If the Candidate was born in England or Wales, the Declaration must contain a statement, that after due enquiry no entry has been found in the books of the Registrar-General; or a separate Declaration must be made to that effect.
- (c) If no extract from any Register is produced, the Declaration must contain a statement, that after due enquiry no such record is believed to exist, or a separate Declaration must be made to that effect.
- (d) Statutory Declarations must be exactly in the form prescribed by the Act of 5 and 6 William IV, c 62. A printed Form, if required, will be supplied on application to the Civil Service Commissioners.

N B—Clergymen, as such, are not qualified to take Declarations

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE, AND COMMERCE.

NOTIFICATIONS—FIBRES AND SILK

Simla, the 31st August 1877

No. 45.—In 1871 the Government of India offered a prize of £5,000 to the inventor of the best machine or process for the preparation of the fibre of the Bokmeria nivea (popularly known under the names of rhea, ramie, and China grass), and the terms on which machines would be admitted to competition were widely notified in India, in Europe, and in America. Many persons declared their intention to compete, but ultimately only one machine was actually brought to the place of trial. The machine, having been carefully tested at Sahāranpur in the autumn of 1872, was found imperfect in some important respects, and the inventor was adjudged not entitled to the full reward. He was, however, presented with £1,500 in consideration of the partial measure of success he had attained after great perseverance.

2 This machine has not since been adapted by the inventor to practical use, and no improved process of preparing the fibre of the rhea has been yet discovered by other persons. Meanwhile, the demand for rhea continues, and the conditions which induced the Government of India in 1871 to offer a prize remain substantially unchanged.

3 His Honour the President in Council, therefore, considers that it is desirable to renew the offer, and it is accordingly hereby notified that a reward of fifty thousand rupees will be paid to the inventor of the best machine or process which will separate the bark and fibre from the stem, and the fibre from the bark, of the Bokmeria nivea.

4 A smaller reward, not exceeding ten thousand rupees, will be given to the inventor of the next best machine or process, provided it is adjudged to possess merit and to be capable without difficulty of adaptation to practical use.

5 What is required is a machine or process capable of producing, by animal, water, or steam power, a ton of dressed fibre of a quality which shall average in value not less than £15 per ton in the English market, at a total cost, including all processes of preparation and all needful allowance for wear and tear, of not more than £15 per ton, laid down at any port of shipment in India, and £30 in England, after payment of all the charges usual in trade before goods reach the hands of the manufacturer. The processes of preparation are to be understood to include all the operations required subsequent to the cutting of the stems from the plants in the field, until the fibre is in a condition fit to be packed for conveyance to the market.

6 The machinery employed must be simple, strong, durable, and inexpensive, and should be suited for erection in the plantations where the rhea is grown. It must be adapted for treatment of the fresh stems, as cut from the plant. The treatment of dried stems offers certain difficulties, and the fibre prepared from them must, moreover, always be much more costly than the fibre produced from green stems. Except during the hot dry weather preceding the rains in Upper India (where rhea grows best), it is very difficult so to dry the stems that no fermentation or mildew shall occur. But during this season the stems are comparatively short and the crop poor and stunted, unless it is artificially irrigated, and such irrigation greatly increases the cost of cultivation. In the rainy season the plant is in fine condition, but at this season it is almost impossible to dry the stems in quantity without injuring the fibre, unless recourse is had to artificial means of desiccation, which greatly increase the cost of the material. It is therefore obvious that the attention of inventors should be given to the discovery of a process for the treatment of the green stems.

7 The trials will be held at Sahāranpur in the North-Western Provinces in the months of August and September 1879. Machines entered for competition should be placed in situ and be ready for work not later than the 15th August, the competition commencing on the next day. The judges will be appointed by the Government, and they will watch the whole of the trials. But the machines shall be worked and adjusted by the competitors themselves, and no person shall touch a machine without the consent of the inventor.

8 The Government of India will provide proper shelter and accommodation at Sahāranpur for all the competing machines as well as the motive power required. It will also pay, for the transport from the sea-coast to Sahāranpur of all machines up to the limit of one ton each, the freight on any excess weight to be defrayed by the owners. The present rate of freight by rail from Calcutta to Sahāranpur is Rs. 3-10 per maund, or Rs. 98-11 per ton, and from Bombay to Sahāranpur Rs. 4-1 per maund, or Rs. 110-9 per ton. A free second class ticket to Sahāranpur will also be given to any person in charge of a machine.

9 The owner or owners of the successful machine or machines shall not be entitled to receive the reward offered except on the following conditions, viz—

- (1) That a complete technical description of the machine, illustrated by plans drawn to scale, shall be prepared and published (Government paying the cost) for the information of the public.
- (2) That after the expiry of three years from the date on which the award is made, the public shall have the right of manufacturing similar machines, on payment to the owner of a royalty of 10 per cent on the cost of each machine so manufactured.

10 All persons desiring to compete under the terms and on the conditions specified above are requested to make known their intention not later than the 31st December 1878, giving the following particulars—

- 1 Name in full and residence
- 2 Profession or occupation
- 3 Number of different kinds of machines entered for competition
- 4 Brief description of each machine

Intending competitors will at the same time declare themselves bound (under penalty of disqualification of the competing machines and forfeiture of all claim to the Government reward) to conform to all rules which may be prescribed by Government, or by the judges appointed by Government in connection with the conduct of the trials.

All notices of intention to compete and applications for information should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce, Calcutta

11 A limited quantity of rhea will be grown in the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, and persons desirous of testing their machines before entering them for public competition may obtain green stems in small quantities from the Superintendent of the gardens through this Department

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY

The first part of the "Indian Law Reports," published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, will appear as soon after the 1st January 1876 as can be arranged for. The Reports will appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and will comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court will be reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court will be reported in the Calcutta Series. The Parts of each Series can be had separately, or all four Parts can be had stitched into one wrapper at the option of subscribers and purchasers. It will be observed from the following statement of the terms of subscription and sale, that a considerable reduction is allowed to persons taking the complete set

Terms of subscription, payable annually in advance.

	Without Postage	With Postage

Home Department Resolution No  $\frac{13}{788 \text{ 1877}}$ , dated the 31st March 1877, reviewing the reports on the results of the measures adopted to exterminate wild animals and venomous snakes in British India in 1875

Read also the following letters from the Local Governments and Administrations submitting returns for the year 1876 —

- From Chief Commissioner of Central Provinces, No 1305—63, dated 6th April 1877
- From Chief Commissioner of British Burma, No 748—176, dated 7th April 1877
- From Government of Punjab, No 1967, dated 2nd May 1877
- From Chief Commissioner of Assam, No 1359, dated 16th May 1877
- From Foreign Department, No 1446G, dated 31st May 1877
- From Government of Bombay, Nos 1276 and 1937, dated 23rd April and 29th June 1877, respectively
- From Resident at Hyderabad, No 26B, dated 26th July 1877.
- From Government of Madras, No 2818, dated 21st September 1877
- From Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No 2092A, dated 27th September 1877
- From Government of Bengal, No. 2373T, dated 15th October 1877.

RESOLUTION—In the Resolution of March last Local Governments and Administrations were requested to review briefly the year's operations and to express their opinion on the result, but some Provinces have simply forwarded the returns submitted by district officers.

2 The Annexed statement summarizes the year's operations except in Mysore and Coorg, from which Provinces no return has been received. The provincial returns, however, still show a want of care in their compilation, and some have had to be returned for revision.

3 The noticeable features in the returns are the following. Last year it was found that 21,000 persons and 48,000 head of cattle were destroyed during the year by wild animals and venomous snakes, that 22,357 wild animals and 270,185 venomous snakes had been killed, and that Rs 1,20,015 had been expended in rewards. This year it appears that 19,273 persons and 54,830 head of cattle have so perished, that 212,371 snakes and 23,459 wild animals have been killed, and that Rs 1,24,574 have been expended in rewards. In Madras, Bengal and in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the numbers of persons killed by wild animals and by snakes are considerably less in 1876 than in 1875, in the other Provinces the figures do not exhibit any great variations, except in the Central Provinces, where deaths rose from 617 in 1875 to 1,098 in 1876. The Chief Commissioner states that no new or special measures have been adopted in view to the extermination of wild animals and snakes, but there is no explanation of the greater mortality shewn in his returns. As regards the loss of cattle, the figures of the year seem unsatisfactory. While Madras and Bombay shew fewer cattle killed, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab, the Central Provinces and British Burma shew materially larger numbers. It is also probable that even the figures now reported are only approximate to the truth, as the agency for reporting the mortality caused to men and cattle is still imperfect, though more perfect than it used to be. The unfavourable figures testify possibly to better reporting and not to really greater mortality. As regards rewards paid for the destruction of wild animals (including snakes), more was paid in Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Central Provinces and British Burma, and less in the Punjab and in Assam.

4 The Government of India trust that in future years the returns may be more accurate and may be reviewed by the Local Governments which submit them, and that the measures reported may be more effective.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution with the appended table be forwarded to Local Governments and Administrations for information, and be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

COLLECTION OF LAND REVENUE IN THE BOMBAY PRESIDENCY

No 6276, dated 19th October, 1877

From—The Hon'ble E W RAVENSCROFT, C S I, Chief Secy to the Govt of Bombay,
To—The Additional Secretary to the Government of India, PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

I am desired by His Excellency the Governor in Council to report, for the information of His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General in Council, the following information regarding the realisation of the land revenue of this Presidency in the year 1876-77, exclusive of the Province of Sind, where there was no drought

2 The land revenue to be collected amounted to Rs 2,62,99,590 Out of this the sum of Rs 2,33,40,250 was collected on the 31st August 1877 The amount of remissions granted up to the same date on account of failure of crops through drought amounted to Rs 2,15,110 As regards the residue, the subject was carefully considered by His Excellency the Governor in Council, and it was finally determined that all the outstandings should be treated as recoverable balances and so entered in the accounts

3 Many of these balances are owing by people who are tolerably well off, and these will be gradually recovered with care and judgment when the ripening crops are brought to market In other cases the monsoon of 1878 will be awaited Should that prove abundant, and should a plentiful harvest be the fortunate result, it is confidently anticipated that these remaining arrears may, for the most part, be collected in 1878-79

4 As regards those remissions which have been granted, His Excellency the Viceroy in Council may be assured that the utmost care and vigilance were exercised before granting them, and the Governor in Council is convinced that the liberality of Government has been very seldom misplaced, considering the enormous number of claims which had to be investigated At the same time he can unhesitatingly assert that the large revenue which, in an exceptionally distressing time, has been collected, has been realised without any harshness or undue pressure

5 A further report will be made in due course showing how the outstanding balances are being recovered

Dated 26th October, 1877

Telegram from—The Hon'ble E W RAVENSCROFT, C S I, Chief Secy to Govt, Bombay,
To—The Additional Secretary to the Govt of India, PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

Your telegram of to-day Demand for the districts, which yielded Rs 2,33,40,250 this year as per my letter of 19th October, was for 1874-75 Rs 2,59,85,640, collections were Rs 2,58,25,619, balance Rs 1,60,021 For 1875-76 demand Rs 2,60,32,735, collections Rs 2,58,70,222, balance Rs 1,62,513

No 57P, dated 31st October, 1877

From—The Hon'ble E W RAVENSCROFT, C S I, Chief Secy to the Govt of Bombay,
To—The Additional Secretary to the Government of India, PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

I am desired by His Excellency the Governor in Council to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No 936 (Famine), dated the 12th October 1877, in which you say that the "Governor General in Council would be glad if the Bombay Government could favour him with statements showing approximately the effect of the famine on the Bombay land revenue of the season 1876-77, and also a forecast of the probable loss of land revenue due to the drought in the season 1877-78"

2 My letter No 6276 of the 19th October 1877, which crossed your letter under acknowledgment, gave some of the information required by you In the second paragraph of that letter I showed that the land revenue to be collected in 1876-77 amounted to Rs 2,62,99,590 In 1873-74 the land revenue to be collected from the same districts amounted to Rs. 2,58,35,262 In 1874-75 it amounted to Rs 2,59,85,640 In 1875-76 it amounted to Rs 2,60,32,735 From these figures it will be seen that, notwithstanding the drought, a steady increase of land revenue to be collected has taken place in this Presidency during the last three years This, of course, is mainly due to the revised assessments

3 I now come to the second question raised by you, viz, the probable loss of land revenue due to the drought in the season of 1877-78 This subject gave His Excellency the Governor in Council much anxiety at one time But this anxiety, I am desired to state, has been entirely dispelled by the late bountiful rains He now sees no reason whatever why the whole of the land revenue of 1877-78 in the Deccan, Southern Mahratta Country, Conkan and Guzerat should not be punctually collected in the current year

4 In the Province of Sind the accounts are not so good, but even there, though it may perhaps be necessary to postpone collecting a portion of the land revenue of 1877-78 until next year, His Excellency the Governor in Council does not contemplate the necessity of granting any remissions

5 In conclusion, I am desired to attach a minute written by His Excellency the Governor on the subject

COLLECTION OF THE LAND REVENUE IN THE DISTRICTS AFFECTED BY THE FAMINE OR SCARCITY OF 1876-1877

Minute by His Excellency the GOVERNOR OF BOMBAY, dated 30th October, 1877

The collection of the land revenue in those districts of the Bombay Presidency which have been affected by famine has received the most particular attention from the Local Government As I had occasion to notice this matter with much stress while acting in the capacity of Famine Delegate before joining this Government, I beg further to record the considerations which suggest themselves from my present stand-point in the Government of Bombay

The land revenue, endangered in the Bombay Presidency by the famine of 1876 and 1877, amounted to 262 lakhs of rupees or £ 2,620,000

From the very first, that is, in January 1877 when Famine Delegate, I represented to the Government of Bombay the expediency of only suspending the collection of the land revenue in these districts, and of refraining from making any promises to the people of remission It was understood that the Government was at that time disposed to allow remissions generally, although the exact amount of such remissions had not been settled It was apprehended, however, by many at the time that, from 40 to 50 lakhs of revenue, £400,000 to £500,000 might have to be remitted Afterwards the Government agreed to suspend only, and not to remit, nor promise to remit, save in a few exceptional cases On joining the Government on the 1st of May, I found that very few remissions had been granted A large sum (about 50 lakhs of rupees or £500,000) had, however, been justly held suspended for collection, pending the result of the seasons Entirely concurring in that policy, I fully carried it out with the concurrence and support of my Hon'ble Colleagues We got in all we fairly could, reducing the 50 lakhs suspended to 30, and then to 27 lakhs We knew of course (June 1877) that the people could not then pay the £ 270,000 or £ 300,000 of land revenue held in suspension and regarded as the outstandings of 1876-77 But we hoped that they might be able to do so hereafter, if the summer rains of 1877 should prove propitious There were indeed some few cases where collection of the suspended revenue was hopeless, and in these revision was granted But the total thus remitted did not exceed £ 21,600 or Rs 2,16,000

But the summer rains began to come and then ceased coming And up to end of August our hopes of collecting the outstanding £ 270,000 for 1876-77 became fainter and fainter Indeed, fears arose that some of the revenue for the current year 1877-78 might have to be suspended in addition However, the season took a turn for the better from the 31st of August and 1st September, and we perceived that the revenue for the current year 1877-78 would be safe. We then immediately instructed our Collectors to collect fully for 1877-78, to keep their eye on the £270,000 outstanding for 1876-77, and to collect that as soon as might be practicable after realisation of the land revenue of the current year 1877-78. These outstandings might be collected during this last-named year, or at all events during next year 1878-79, if the summer rains of 1878 shall be propitious.

Recently, the October rains have been so abundant (I say abundant rather than propitious, for in some parts they have been excessive) that we learn that the Collectors will after all be able to get in much of the outstandings (£270,000) during the current year 1877-78. This we have accordingly ordered, adding that whatever may remain is to be got in as soon as possible after the rains of 1878. If no more bad or unseasonable weather supervenes, and if nothing further goes wrong with the weather, it is not over-sanguine to say that, by next spring 1878, nothing out of the outstandings will remain to be collected, save a residue which will come in during the ensuing summer. In that case, the loss of land revenue during the famine of 1876 and 1877 in the Bombay Presidency will not exceed 3 lakhs of rupees or £30,000,—a loss which is comparatively insignificant, as it will be remembered that the revenue endangered by the failure of harvests amounted to 262 lakhs of rupees or £2,620,000. The loss therefore will, as we now hope, be the merest fraction of one per cent.

It is remarkable too that, owing to revision of settlements, the land revenue demand during these very years of scarcity has gone on slightly increasing. On the whole our present trust is that the land revenue of the Bombay Presidency will virtually not have suffered at all from the famine.

Till this happy result shall have been fully attained, the final verdict may be withheld, it will, however, be attained if under Providence we are spared any further calamity of season. In that case, it will reflect credit on the ryotwar system and the Revenue Survey and Settlement of Bombay, and on the resolute, manly and industrious character of the Natives of the Deccan.

We are much indebted to the discrimination and steadiness evinced by our Collectors and Revenue Commissioners. We are also specially indebted to our Chief Secretary, the Hon'ble E. W. Ravenscroft, C. S. I., to whom the general supervision over the revenue pertains.

RICHARD TEMPLE

No 1003, dated Governor General's Camp, Maudith, the 12th November, 1877

From—C. BERNARD, Esq., C. S. I., Additional Secretary to the Govt. of India, P. W. DEPT.,

To—The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bombay

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No 57, dated the 31st October, furnishing a report and forwarding a Minute by His Excellency the Governor, on the subject of the land revenue collections in the Bombay Presidency during the years 1876-77 and 1877-78.

2 It appears that the land revenue demand for the famine year (1876-77) was Rs 2,62,99,590, as against an average demand of Rs 2,59,51,212 for the three previous years, that out of this demand Rs 2,15,110 had been remitted, Rs 27,44,230 had been suspended, and Rs 2,33,40,250 had been collected, up to the end of September 1877. The Bombay Government expect that, with the bountiful harvests now in the ground, the ryots of the Bombay Presidency (Sinde only being excepted) will be able to pay in full the land revenue of 1877-78, and to pay in part the suspended arrears of land revenue for the year 1876-77.

3 His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General in Council directs me to state that these results, achieved, as explained in your previous letter, without harshness or undue pressure upon the people, are most creditable both to the revenue system and to the Revenue Officers of the Bombay Presidency. The Government of India further recognises that this success is due no less to Sir Richard Temple's strenuous advocacy than to the Bombay Government's ready acceptance of the principle, that in times of drought the Government may suspend, but ought not to remit, such portion of the land revenue as cannot at the time be collected without undue pressure on the people.

† For details and dates, see table appended.

The weather has now become fine everywhere but in the Kaladgi district. The crops are improving in Belgaum, and the harvest has begun in Dharwar.

2 Prices have fallen considerably in the Southern Mahratta districts, where they have always been highest, and there is, on the whole, a slight improvement in the other districts also.

3 A decrease of 13,478 this week in the number of labourers upon relief works brings the total down to 42,353. Orders have been issued for the closing of all relief works at the end of the current month.

4 Cholera is growing less and less in Nasik and Ahmednagar. It continues in Satara, and there have been a few cases also in Poona.

5 Written reports have been received from the Collectors of Nasik, Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur, and Satara for the week ending the 3rd instant, and from the other Collectors for the week before. The table, compiled from these reports, showing the rainfall and the prices of food-grains in each taluka, is appended as usual. The kharif harvest is now in full progress in Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar, and Poona. It has begun also in Sholapur and in two talukas of Kaladgi, and the early jowari and early rice have both begun to be reaped in Dharwar. The worst accounts received are those from Belgaum and Kaladgi, where the injury done by the excessive rain has been very serious. In some parts of Kaladgi the damaged crops have been cut down to the roots in the hope of new stalks shooting up. The wet weather has had the further effect of inducing a bad type of fever in the Kaladgi district, which causes considerable mortality.

6 The following table gives the expenditure by Government, during the week ending 20th October, upon gratuitous relief, and in payments made to the young children of labourers employed upon relief works. The number of children has fallen during the week from 33,560 to 25,783. The number of persons being gratuitously relieved in the week ending 13th October was taken, in the last statement, as approximately 76,133. The number for the week ending the 20th instant may be taken approximately as 63,885. This gives a decrease of 12,248 —

8 Tables A and B are brought up to the week ending 27th ultimo. The number of persons on works under Public Works Department agency in the nine affected districts was at this date 39,822, and on works under Civil agency 10,109. The percentage of persons upon works under Civil agency has thus fallen during the week from 21.4 to 20.3 per cent of the whole number employed. The total expenditure upon works in the nine affected districts has amounted to Rs. 1,01,79,369, which, with the expenditure of Rs. 1,34,122 upon works in Ratnagiri and Kinnari, and Rs. 10,15,159 from the Collectors' Discretionary Allowances, gives a total of Rs. 1,13,28,650.

9 The table showing the condition of the affected native states is appended as usual. There are still complaints of excessive rain. The number of labourers upon relief works continues slowly to decrease. Prices are slightly lower.

10 During the week ending 3rd November, 283 tons of food-grains were exported from Bombay to the Southern Malabar ports, and 1,198 tons were carried by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway to stations upon the Poona-Sholapur and Bhusawal-Nasik lines, making a total of 1,481 tons for the week. This is less by 307 tons than the importations of the previous week The table below shows the quantities of grain sent by sea and rail from October 1876 till the 3rd November 1877, to the Southern Mahratta Ports and the Railway stations in the distressed districts It will be seen that the total amount delivered up to the 3rd November was 429,270 tons —

11 There have been decreases during the week of 12,478 in the number of labourers on relief works, 7,777 in that of young children, and 19,248 in that of people on charitable relief

12 The general situation continues to improve rapidly The condition of the people is becoming more satisfactory The prospects of the seasons are most favourable on the whole In Kaládgi only does the unsettled weather now cause any real anxiety There is a marked fall in the prices of food grains People are leaving the relief works and returning to their ordinary vocations Instructions have been issued for closing all relief works at the end of the current month, and for gradually closing the relief camps and relief-houses, retaining only the large relief centres Orders have been issued for the gradual reduction of temporary famine establishments as relief operations cease

MYSORE PROVINCE

PROVINCE OF MYSORE

(No 39)

Special famine report for the week ending 3rd November 1877

Statement No 59 regarding Famine Relief Operations in the Province of Mysore, for the Week ending the 3rd November 1877

Heavy rain again fell during the week in every District except Chitaldrug, where the break in the weather, which has since become general, had brightened prospects The constant wet was proving most unfavourable to the dry crops, in some places seriously retarding the harvest The jawar was rotting in the ear, and has suffered considerably, and the rice was in much danger Paddy, on the other hand, remarkably improved, and the tanks being everywhere full, an excellent Vaisak crop may be expected, while the cessation of the rain has come in time to prevent the threatened damage becoming serious The Famine Commissioner visited the affected part of the Kadur District, and reports that had it not been for the injury done by the rain to the standing crops, the famine there would have almost ended by now, except in the Banavar Taluk, which was most affected in the earlier part of the year The crops were fine and abundant, and a large area cultivated, but it is feared almost all the jawar is lost, and the other crops, except those sown lately, materially injured, though fine weather would still repair much of the harm done A few people are to be met with wandering in a purposeless way, and some seek the Malnad in hopes of employment there, but there are no signs as yet of any considerable exodus in that direction

2 The imports of grain by rail amounted to 3,980 tons shewing an increase of 1,947 tons over the imports of last week The grain was received from the following quarters —

From Madras	Tons
" Byport Palghat and Coimbatore	3,636
" Negapatam and Trichinopoly	77
Sholapur	72

3 Prices were unfavorably affected by the discouraging reports of the crops, and rose in every District, except Mysore and Shimoga, where prospects are very good. The following statement gives the maximum and minimum prices in lbs per rupee for each District —

4 The number of laborers employed on civil relief works was 32,335, or a net increase of 2,168, occurring in Bangalore and Tumkur Districts.

5 Under the Public Works Department 13,570 laborers were employed on famine relief works and paid at the Famine Code rates. Hitherto the returns have shown all the Public Works' labor of the Province, but it has been thought better to exclude all except relief labor. Were the returns prepared in the same manner as for last week, the number of laborers employed was 52,335, or nearly the same as for the previous week. The wet weather and the approaching harvest have affected the labor returns, and as applications for relief are falling off, the pressure upon works will probably diminish.

The following is a list of works on which are employed 500 laborers and upwards —

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS
FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 20TH NOVEMBER 1877

GENERAL REMARKS—Madras In some districts the dry crops have suffered from excessive rain, and from blight and insects. In Kistna, Bellary, and Kurnool however the weather had cleared and no rain fell during the week. In Vizagapatam and Ganjam more rain appears to be required. Prospects generally, except in these two districts, are good. The number on relief works has somewhat increased, having risen to 300,558, being 9,663 more than last week, but the numbers gratuitously relieved were reduced to 513,670, being 110,357 less than last week. Prices are rising generally. The harvesting of dry crops and of early paddy has been completed in various districts, with on the whole not unfavourable results. In Mysore there has been very little rain, crops are thriving, and rice and raggi are being harvested. The numbers on the works have fallen to 81,162, being 4,511 less than in the previous week. The numbers on charitable relief were 42,331, being 8,997 less than last week. In Bombay no rain has fallen anywhere, except in Kuriachee and Shikárpur, where there have been slight showers. Rain is wanted for the rabi crops in Khandesh, Násik, and Ahmadnagar, where the prospects of these crops are not satisfactory. The harvesting of the kharif and the sowing of the rabi crops are in general progress. In the Central Provinces the kharif is being harvested, with favourable results, and the rabi sowings are nearly completed. In Berar prospects continue good. In Central India no rain has fallen, and water is getting scarce in the tanks and wells. The stream of emigration from Rajputana continues, but the numbers are diminishing. No rain has fallen anywhere in Bengal during the week. It is wanted in Behar and Chota Nagpore for the rabi, and in Pooree, in unirrigated lands, rice is suffering in the tract between the Chilka lake and the sea the crop has been almost entirely lost, and relief is being given to the people. In Chumparun and Gya also prospects are generally bad. Elsewhere prospects are generally favourable, but the upland crops will suffer for want of rain. In Assam and Burma the crops are doing well everywhere, and prospects are favourable. No rain has fallen in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, where it is wanted to bring on the young rabi crops, sowings of which have been completed. In the Punjab a little rain has fallen in Umritsar, Rawalpindi, Dera Ismail Khan, and Peshawar, but more is wanted generally for the rabi.

		General Remarks —No material change in Sind Kharif harvesting and rabi sowing general throughout the presidency, but one more rainfall required for rabi crops in Khandesh, Nasik, and Ahmednagar. Cholera to some extent in Ahmedabad, Baroda, Surat, Ratnagiri, Satara, and Kanara
Bengal—(Nov 20th)
Chittagong	Nil	Weather close and hot on the 13th, 14th and 15th, heavy clouds about, as if storm were brewing, state and prospects of the crops are very good
Noakholly	Nil	Weather seasonable, the amun crop is progressing favourably, cultivation of the cold weather crops is going on, public health is good
Chittagong Hill Tracts	Nil	Weather seasonable, paddy transplanted by the plough cultivators is ripening, lands are being ploughed for mustard, tobacco, and other cold weather crops
Hill Tipperah	Nil	Weather dry and cool, some amun crops have been already cut, others are nearly ripe, prices have fallen owing to the cutting of new crops
Backergunge	Nil	The continued drought has undoubtedly damaged the amun crop particularly on the high lands, but the general outturn will be 13 or 14 annas, provided there be no storm or wind when the ears are ripening, prices still continue high, fever in a sporadic form exists in many places, the health of the cattle is everywhere good
Furreedpore	Nil	Weather fair, but not so cold as usual at this time, no change in the prospects of the crops, rain is required for the preparation of the ground for the cold weather crops, winter rice is being cut, a half crop may be gathered
Dacca	Nil	Weather rather warm for the season, prospects are favourable, rice harvest is going on rapidly
Mymensingh	Nil	Weather warm for the season of year, state and prospects of the crops are satisfactory
Tipperah	Nil	Weather fine and cool, prospects of the winter rice are very good
24-Pergunnahs	Nil	Weather seasonable and fair, prospects of the crops are good, cholera is abating, ordinary fever prevails at Barrpore
	Previous week
Jessore	Nil	Weather bright and clear, mornings and nights are cold, prospects are favourable, but a little more rain would have done a great deal of good to the amun crop, as it is, the amun on the higher lands will suffer much from the early cessation of the rain, the cold weather crops in the ground are doing well, fever of a severe type is prevalent throughout the district, and sporadic cases of cholera are heard of
Nuddea	Nil	Weather seasonable, no rain, amun rice and winter crops are said to be promising well in all directions, rain would however be advantageous, cholera is still prevalent in Choondangah
Moorsheadabad	Nil	Weather somewhat too hot to be seasonable, harvest prospects of amun rice continue generally favourable, state of spring crops is reported to be good, cholera has appeared in four station circles, and there is much illness in Berhampore
Pubna	Nil	Weather fine and seasonable, state and prospects of the crops are good, but a little more rain is wanted for the amun crop, fever is prevalent in the town, report from Serajgunge not received
Rajshahye	Nil	The cutting of dhan has commenced, the outturn of the crop is expected to be good, the condition of the rabi crops is good, fever is still prevalent in the district, and some cases of cholera have been reported
Bogra	Nil	Weather clear and moderately cold, with heavy dew at night, amun and other standing crops look promising, and will, it is hoped, turn out well, gram, mustard, and kalai are being sown, no change in the health of the district since the last report, cholera of a bad type is still going on in parts of the district

Presidency or Province and District	Rainfall for week preceeding	State of agricultural prospects
Bengal—continued
Dinagepore	Nil	Weather seasonable, north east wind prevailing, rice is ripening fast, also the pulses, fields have been prepared for mustard, prospects are good
Rungpore	Nil	Weather seasonable, state and prospects of the crops continue to be excellent, land is being ploughed for the rabi , cholera at Bhabaniganj shows no signs of extending itself, cases of mild ague are rather common
Cooch Behar	Nil	Weather fair and cool, prospects of the crops are not bad, public health is good
Jalpaiguri	Nil	Weather seasonable, nights are cool, prospects of the winter rice are good, transplantation of the tobacco plants has commenced, in some places lands are being prepared for mustard and wheat, and in some the sowing of the former is finished, within Jalpaiguri station kulti kalai is already reaped, public health is bad, fever is prevalent in the town of Jalpaiguri
Darjeeling	Nil	Big weather during the early part of the week, towards the end has been hazy and threatening rain, kaimuri rice is in ear, and promises a very fair outturn. The minor crops of kalai , buck wheat and the millets are all progressing favourably
Midnapore	Nil	Weather seasonable though a little warm, prospects of the crops are moderate, fever is extensively prevalent though not very fatal
Howrah	Nil	Weather seasonable, with wind from the north, no improvement in the high land crops, the rice in the low lands is good
Houghly	Nil	Weather seasonable, late rice on the high lands is suffering from want of rain, sowings of rabi crops are going on, indigo potato, and kalai have germinated in places, fever is prevalent
Burdwan	Nil	No rain, no change in the prospects of the crops since last week fever is still very prevalent
Bankura	Nil	Weather clear and cool, no change to report in the prospects of the crops, the cutting of the nuan crops is in progress
Beerbhoom	Nil	Weather fine, rather warm for the time of year, no change to report in the state and prospects of the crops
Sonthal Pergunna	Nil	Weather warm, the rice crop is good everywhere, the high land rice in Dighur is better than was expected, rain will be wanted for the rabi
Bhugulpur	Nil	Weather cool in the morning and evening, clear sky, little wind state and prospects of the crops are excellent, karsika rice is being cut in places
Monghyr	Nil	Weather still hot, with heavy dews at night, prospects are the same as before, an 8 anna crop on the whole is expected
Purneah	Nil	Weather fair, a fair outturn of the rice crop is expected the rabi prospects are also good, fever is very prevalent
Maldah	Nil	Weather fair, rather hot for the time of year, state and prospects of the crops continue to be very fair on the whole, the high land rice in Khárba and Gayole is suffering somewhat as was anticipated, from want of rain, fever is very prevalent, a few sporadic cases of cholera reported
Darbhanga	Nil	Weather seasonable, the rabi is germinating well, the rice crop on high lands appears to fall under the average, tobacco is growing well
Mozuffarpore	Nil	Weather cool and clear, in the Sadar sub division there is no change to report in the prospects of the rice crop, the young rabi crops are in fair condition, in the Beetamurhie sub division the prospects of the rice crop are getting worse day by day, and there is much want of moisture for the rabi crops, prospects of the crops in Targanua pergunnah, outpost Belund, are fair, in the Hajerpore sub division the prospects of dhan and rabi crops are good, rain is wanted for the rabi
Sagun	Nil	Weather bright and clear, no signs of rain, east wind prevailing, prospects of the rabi crops continue favourable, but rain is much wanted to promote their growth, aghani rice that has been sown is fast ripening, sugarcane is being cut and put into the mills, indigo fields are being prepared for next year, poppy is being sown, prices are stationary, public health is good
Chumparun	Nil	Weather seasonable, but rather warmer than usual, state and prospects of the crops are generally bad, much rice has been cut for fodder, trustworthy information has now been had from over a large tract in the south, the rice crop is an almost complete failure here, the khadoi was at best 6 annas, and the kodo , &c, reaped a little later, hardly better, about half the rabi lands have been sown, and the seed that has been sown has come up badly, except in some few low-irrigated places, unless moderate rain falls soon, the seedlings cannot last, nor can anything be done with the lands now fallow, opium prospects in this tract are much worse than in 1873-74, the seed is not thought likely to germinate over more than quarter of the cultivation
Patna	Nil	Weather unusually hot for this time of year, a little rain would now do good, but the prospects of the crops continue fair
Gya	Nil	Weather clear, and latterly in the day time unusually hot for the time of year, maximum thermometer in the shade 89° 8', prospects of kharij and rabi are unchanged, rabi sowings are nearly

Presidency or Province and District	Rainfall for week preceding	State of agricultural prospects
Bengal—continued
Shahabad	Nil	completed, kartika dhan is being reaped and threshed, the outturn in Nowáda is estimated at 10 annas Weather rather unseasonable, being hot during day, no rain throughout the district, in Bhubooah the rice crop saved by irrigation is being reaped, rabi sowings are progressing favourably, sugarcane is improving, in Buxar the rabi is being sown and is germinating, the cultivators are taking canal water wherever available, in Sassaram the rabi sown has germinated, but is suffering from want of rain, except in places where canal water is available, in the head quarters subdivision the canal water has saved the rice crop, rabi sowings are being pushed on, public health is good
Hazaribágh	Nil	Weather seasonable, settled, and fine, the wet crops are all being rapidly harvested, an average 10-anna crop is expected, sugar cane promises well, rabi sowings are stopped for want of rain
Lohardugga	Nil	Weather seasonable and rapidly getting cold, no change to report, harvest operations are in full swing, a fair general outturn of rice is expected over most of the district, more rain would do rabi crops good, but so far prospects are on the whole moderately favourable in the Sadar subdivision, from Palamow prospects of rabi crops are reported as uncertain
Manbhoom	Nil	Weather very cool and pleasant, no signs of rain, dhan is being harvested and is reported a good average 10 anna crop, rain is much needed for the rabi crops, which are not promising
Singbhoom	Nil	Weather seasonable, the reaping of the aimanti paddy has now begun and the anticipated yield for the entire district is reported to be 8 annas, the cold weather crops, as gram, wheat, pulses, and mustard, are doing well, tussar culture is reported successful, the district is healthy
Balasore	Nil	Weather clear and cold, not more than a 10 anna crop is expected in most of the pergunnahs in the south of the district, elsewhere the crops are fair
Cuttack	Nil	Weather fine, rather warm for the time of year, in Jajpore and Kendiapara subdivisions rain is wanted, laghu crop is being cut and the outturn is expected to be 14 annas, rabi crops are progressing fairly well, general health is good, cholera is still reported from one chukla and Kendrapara town
Pooree	Nil	Weather seasonable, in Khoordah rain is wanted for the high lands, the people of Khoordah are irrigating wherever they can, the laghu crop that survived the drought is being harvested The sarad rice is in ear, where irrigation is not possible in other parts of the district, the rice plants on the higher lands are suffering, in general the rabi , sugarcane and other miscellaneous crops are thriving, in the tracts situated between the Chilka and the sea, the condition of the people is worse than before, nearly the entire rice crop will be lost for want of rain, and the outturn of mandia will, for the same reason, be but scanty, relief is being given mainly from funds contributed by private individuals, public health is good General Remarks —No rain during the week Reports from Bengal Proper are generally favourable, but highland crops will be somewhat damaged for want of closing showers In Behar and Chota-Nagpore rain is wanted for the rabi crops In Champaran and Gya prospects are generally bad There was no rain in Pooree, and where irrigation is not possible, rice plants are suffering November rice is being cut, general outturn is expected to be average

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

WEEKLY CONDITION REPORT OF THE DISTRESSED DISTRICTS OF THE
MYSORE PROVINCE

PROVINCE OF MYSORE.

(No 40)

Special famine report for the week ending 10th November 1877

Statement No 40, regarding famine relief operations in the Province of Mysore for the week ending the 10th November 1877

The rainfall of the week was very trifling, and this opportune break in the weather proved most beneficial. The standing crops are reported to be looking remarkably well, harvesting has been general, and sowings for the Vaisak crop recommenced. The aspect of things is accordingly much brighter, and the change has caused such an improvement in the general appearance and condition of the country, that the Famine Commissioner anticipates that, except in Tumkúr and parts of the Bangalore and Chitaldrug Districts, the services of the Special Relief Officers may be dispensed with after the end of December. Before leaving, the Special Officers will make a list of necessitous persons in their taluks, and will carefully ascertain the present population of a selected portion of their charge where an average amount of distress has prevailed.

2 The imports of grain by rail amounted to 3,649 tons, or 331 tons less than last week. The imports were received from the following quarters —

	Tons
From Madras	3,401
" Beypore, Palghat, and Coimbatore	86
" Tanjore, Negapatam, and Trichinopoly	120
" Other places	42
TOTAL	3,649

From Bangalore 1,476 tons were exported, or 28 tons less than in the previous week. The exports were to the following quarters —

	Tons
Tumkúr	372
Bellary	162
Mysore	610
Usur (Salem District)	205
Round Bangalore	137
TOTAL	1,476

3 Prices have been steadier during the week, with a tendency downwards. In Chitaldrug and Shimoga the effect of the new grain brought to market has been more marked than appears from the average prices returned. The following statement gives the maximum and minimum prices in lbs per rupee for each district —

	Maximum in lbs. per Rupee	Minimum in lbs. per Rupee
	2nd sort rice	2nd sort rice
Bangalore District	18	12½
Kolar (for 8 taluks)	19	13
Tumkúr (for 6 taluks)	15	11
Mysore (for 10 taluks)	13	8
Hassan (for 8 taluks)	13	8
Kadur	12	9
Shimoga	14	9½
Chitaldrug	14	8

4 The number of labourers employed on civil relief works was 34,209, or a net increase of 874, occurring chiefly in the young children. In Kolar, Mysore, and Hassan there was a decrease on civil works, but this was compensated by the increase in other districts, and especially in Bangalore and Chitaldrug. Of the total number 34,209, there were 26,992 employed in the Bangalore and Tumkur Districts. Kolar and Chitaldrug divided 5,207 about equally between them, thus leaving some 2,000 to the four other districts.

5. Under the Public Works Department 46,953 labourers were employed on strictly famine relief works. The returns, as last week, are prepared so as to exclude all, except relief labour. They show an increase of 3,083 over the numbers of the preceding week, chiefly in the Bangalore and Tumkur Districts. Adding labourers employed on ordinary public works unconnected with the present distress, the total for comparison with previous statements would be 55,953. The following is a list of works on which are employed 500 labourers and upwards —

District	Work	No employed
Bangalore	State Railway	21,582
	Bangalore Water supply	2,158
	Bangalore Mysore Road	650
	Mallappa Chettis Tank	1,899
	Bhadram Tank	1,320
	Bangalore Bellary Road via Devanahalli	510
Tumkur	Nelamangala Tumkur Road	3,265
	Tumkur Shimoga Road	3,893
	Kunigal Yedyur Road	744
	Tumkur Bellary Road	635
Mysore	Mysore Water supply	3,824
Kadur	Maddur Ane Channel works	754
	Devanurkeresante Channel	730
Chitaldrug	Timmenhalli Tank	1,902
	Chitaldrug Idrihar Road	528
TOTAL		44,334

It will be observed that nearly all the relief labour has been concentrated upon large useful works, and that something like half of the whole is employed upon the State Railway to Mysore.

6 The numbers gratuitously fed in relief camps amounted to 42,331, or a decrease of 8,997, as under —

	Week ending—		Decrease	Increase
	November 3rd	November 10th
Bangalore District	12,318	10,638	1,680

7 The number on civil and professional works amounted to 81,162, compared with 42,331 charitably fed. The following table gives the numbers relieved since the last week in August —

WEEKLY CONDITION REPORT OF THE DISTRESSED DISTRICTS OF THE MYSORE PROVINCE

PROVINCE OF MYSORE

(No 41)

Special Famine Report for the Week ending 17th November 1877

Statement No 41, regarding Famine Relief Operations in the Province of Mysore, for the Week ending the 17th November 1877

The Province during the past week has escaped a great danger. Had the same abnormally heavy rainfall that Madras experienced been extended to Mysore, it would have done irreparable damage to the crops and tanks. But the storm seems to have expended itself on the eastern coast, and though the sky for some days was overcast with clouds, the showers that fell were only slight and partial, and there is every appearance now of fine settled weather. The standing crops are very good, and only in the western districts where distress is lightest, has the heavy rain, at the close of October, caused any considerable damage. Reaping, especially of early or "Kartika" paddy and ragi, actively continues, and there begins to be a demand for field labor for this purpose. There is still a month left, in which the late or "Baisaki" paddy and Bengal gram can be sown, and in many quarters the land is being prepared for these crops, the cultivation being beneficially stimulated by the grant of takavi from Government. But in the parts which have suffered most in Tumkur and the east of Chitaldrug, the amount of land under cultivation is not equal to the average. The public health is fair, but fever prevails as usual at this season. The improvement in the condition of the people is already great, and their spirits are raised by the sight of a good crop coming to maturity, even those who have no connection with the land are leaving the Relief Camps and Works in the hope of getting a livelihood by reaping and gleaning—a hope which will not always be fulfilled. Fears are expressed that the relief afforded by the harvest will be only temporary, and that in the worst affected districts, unless prices materially fall, distress will not immediately cease. At present the people are averse from leaving their homes to seek relief in the Government Camps or on Works at a distance from their villages, and the Famine Commissioner, having regard to the circumstances of the season, has discouraged the use of pressure to induce them to do so. The fall of prices has necessitated the introduction of a minimum instead of a sliding scale of wages on Relief Works, it being an object to retain the people employed till they have sufficiently recovered strength to be safely relegated to their usual occupations. Speaking generally, the prospects are good, the famine is in hand, the present arrangements for dealing with it are sufficient and complete, and the efforts of all officers are rather directed to the working up of those arrangements to the highest degree of efficiency, than to extending or opening them in any new direction.

2 The imports of grain by rail amounted to 2,704 tons, or 945 tons less than last week. The imports were received from the following quarters —

From Madras	---	Tons	2,333
" Beypore, Palghat and Coimbatore	"		66
" Tanjore, Negapatam and Trichinopoly	---		250
" Other places	---		55

From Bangalore 1,663 tons, or 187 tons more than in the previous week were exported to the following quarters as shewn by the octroi returns —

3 Prices fluctuate. Rice shews a tendency to increase in price, whilst ragi has only materially fallen in the western districts. The following statement gives the maximum and minimum prices in lbs per rupee for each district —

4 The number of laborers employed on Civil Relief Works was 29,940, or a net decrease of 4,269, occurring chiefly in the Bangalore District, and in great measure due to transfer of men from Civil Relief Works to Works under supervision of the Department Public Works.

5 Under the Public Works Department 50,080 laborers were employed on strictly Famine Relief Works, or in increase of 3,127 over the number returned last week. The increase was due, as just stated, to a number of laborers taken over in the Bangalore District from Civil Works. The returns were prepared so as to exclude ordinary Public Works labor. Adding such labor, the total number of persons employed by the Department Public Works was for purposes of comparison with previous returns about 59,080. The following is a list of works on which are employed 500 laborers and upwards —

District	Work	No. employed
Bangalore	State Railway	22,952
	Bangalore Water Supply	3,213
	Dodballapur Yelahanka Road	2,214
	Mallappa Chittis Tank	1,819
	Bhadraun Tank	1,468
Tumkur	Nalamangala Tumkur Road	3,135
	Tumkur Shimoga Road	4,071

Mysore	Mysore Water Supply	3,560
	Maddur Ane Channel works	715
Hassan	Mundigudi Channel	511
Kadur	Devanurkeresante Channel	681
Chitaldrug	Tummenhalli Tank	1,834
Total		47,382

Thus of 50,080 laborers employed by the Department Public Works, 47,382 are concentrated on large and useful works.

6 The numbers fed gratuitously in Relief Camps amounted to 31,370, or a decrease of 10,961 as under —

	Week Ending		Decrease
	November 10th	November 17th
Bangalore District	10,638	9,109	1,529

Shimoga "	856	369	487
Chitaldrug "	7,305	5,382	1,923
Total	42,331	31,370	10,961

The decrease in the Bangalore Town Camps is partly due to transfers to works, and partly to the fact that residents in the town who were hitherto fed at the Relief Camps are now relieved by the grain-dole which is issued consequent on the house-to-house visitation. Accurate returns of the numbers thus relieved have not yet been received.

7 The number on civil and professional works amounted to 80,020, compared with 31,370 on charitable relief. The following table gives the numbers relieved since the last week in August —

or an average cost per head of 14 annas, compared with 9 annas 11 pies for the preceding week. The excess cost in Bangalore District is due to inclusion of some expenditure not shown before occurring in a previous week, and in Bangalore Municipality, to issue of rations for special reasons.

The weather has now become fine everywhere, and prospects are thereby very much improved in most of the districts. More rain is still desired in Násik and Ahmednagar for the rabi crops, but the fine weather has been favourable for the kharif harvest.

2 Prices have not materially varied from the rates quoted last week in the case of the five districts most to the north, but they have again fallen considerably in the Southern Mahāratta districts. Prices are now much more nearly equal throughout the distressed area than they have been heretofore.

3 The number of labourers upon relief works has fallen during the week from 42,349 to 32,584.

4 The deaths from cholera during the week have numbered only thirty in the nine distressed districts.

5 Written reports have been received from the Collectors of Násik, Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur and Satara for the week ending the 10th instant, and from the other Collectors for the week before. The table, compiled from these reports, showing the rainfall and the prices of food grains in each taluka, is appended as usual. The kharif crops are now being harvested almost everywhere. They have not turned out so well as was expected in Sholapur, and have been a good deal damaged also in Satara and Kaládgi. The harvest had not begun in Belgaum at the date of the report. The sowing of rabi proceeds rapidly, and is approaching completion in some districts. Fever is prevalent in Kaládgi and parts of Dharwar.

6 The following table gives the expenditure by Government, during the week ending 27th October, upon gratuitous relief, and in payments made to the young children of labourers employed upon relief works. The number of children has fallen during the week from 25,783 to 18,976. The number of persons being gratuitously relieved in the week ending 20th October was taken, in the last statement, as approximately 63,885. The number for the week ending the 27th instant may be taken approximately as 51,579. This gives a decrease of 12,006 —

7 In the following table are enumerated the works under Public Works Department Agency upon which the average daily number of persons employed has amounted to five hundred for the week ending 3rd instant. The total number engaged on these large works constitutes 66 per cent of the whole number of labourers upon relief works —

GRAND TOTAL			26,337

8 Tables A and B are brought up to the week ending 3rd instant. The number of persons on works under Public Works Department Agency in the nine affected districts was at this date 92,756 and on works under Civil Agency 7,437. The percentage of persons upon works under Civil Agency has thus fallen during the week from 20.3 to 18.5 per cent of the whole number employed. The total expenditure upon works in the nine affected districts has amounted to Rs 1,02,92,808, which with the expenditure of Rs 1,35,230 upon works in Ratnagiri and Kanara, and Rs 10,38,196 from the Collectors' discretionary allowances, gives a total of Rs 1,14,66,234.

9 The table showing the condition of the affected Native States is appended as usual. The excessive rain has now stopped. The number of labourers upon relief works has, however, slightly risen.

10 During the week ending 10th November, 252 tons of food-grains were exported from Bombay to the Southern Mahratta Ports, and 761 tons were carried by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway to stations upon the Poona-Sholapur and Bhusawal-Nasik lines, making a total of 1,013 tons for the week. This is less by 468 tons than the importations of the previous week. The table below shows the quantities of grain sent by sea and rail from October 1876 till the 10th November 1877 to the Southern Mahratta Ports and the Railway Stations in the distressed districts. It will be seen that the total amount delivered up to the 10th November was 430,283 tons —

11 There have been decreases during the week of 9,765 in the number of labourers on relief works, 6,507 in that of young children, and 12,006 in that of people on gratuitous relief.

12 The general situation still continues to improve. The condition of the people is becoming more and more satisfactory. Prices of food-grains are falling considerably in the Southern Mahratta Districts. People are leaving the relief works and relief houses of their own accord. The weather has now become fair in Kaladgi, but, owing to the late excessive rain, there is unfortunately a good deal of sickness in that district.

† For details and data see Table appended.

* These figures are for the weeks ending 3rd and 6th November respectively

† For details and data see Table appended.

No important change in the condition of the crops has been reported in the week's telegrams. More rain is desired in Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar and Sholapur. The jowari in Poona has been slightly damaged by blight.

2 Prices continue to approach more nearly to a level throughout the nine districts. They have slightly risen during the week in Khandesh, Ahmednagar and Poona. In Belgaum bajri, which was quoted at 35 pounds for a rupee in the last statement, has fallen back to 28, but this rate is cheaper than that of previous weeks. In Satara, Kaladgi and Dharwar there is steady improvement.

3 The number of labourers upon relief works has fallen during the week from 32,584 to 20,313. Thus, more than a third of the whole number of labourers have been discharged during the week ending with the 17th instant, and two weeks (from that date) remain for the discharge of the rest.

4 Only 26 deaths from cholera have occurred during the week in the nine districts.

5 Written reports have been received from the Collectors of Nasik, Ahmednagar, Sholapur and Satara for the week ending the 17th instant, and from the Collectors of Khandesh, Belgaum and Dharwar for the previous week. No written reports have been received from the Collectors of Poona and Kaladgi. The kharif harvest is progressing generally, and the sowing of late crops still continues.

6 The following table gives the expenditure by Government, during the week ending 3rd November, upon gratuitous relief, and in payments made to the young children of labourers employed upon Relief Works. The number of children has fallen during the week from 18,976 to 11,966. The number of persons being gratuitously relieved in the week ending 27th October was taken, in the last statement, as approximately 51,879. The number for the week ending the 3rd November may be taken approximately as 29,549. This gives a decrease of 22,330 —

7 In the following table are enumerated the works under Public Works Department Agency upon which the average daily number of persons employed has amounted to five hundred for the week ending 10th instant. The total number engaged on these large works constitutes 67.45 per cent. of the whole number of labourers upon relief works.

8 Tables A and B are brought up to the week ending 10th instant. The number of persons on works under Public Works Department Agency in the nine affected districts was at this date 23,210, and on works under Civil Agency 5,147. The percentage of persons upon works under Civil Agency has thus fallen during the week from 18.5 to 18.1 per cent. of the whole number employed. The total expenditure upon works in the nine affected districts has amounted to Rs 1,03,17,165, which with the expenditure of Rs 1,35,642 upon works in Ratnagiri and Kanara, and Rs 10,53,651 from the Collectors' Discretionary Allowances, gives a total of Rs 1,15,06,458.

9 The table showing the condition of the affected Native States is appended as usual. The reduction of the number of people employed upon relief works proceeds very slowly indeed. Prices are very fluctuating.

10 During the week ending 17th November, 164 tons of food-grains were exported from Bombay to the Southern Maratha Ports, and 706 tons were carried by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway to stations upon the Poona-Sholapur and Bhusawal-Nasik lines, making a total of 870 tons for the week. This is less by 143 tons than the importations of the previous week. The table below shows the quantities of grain sent by sea and rail from October 1876 till the 17th November 1877 to the Southern Maratha Ports and the Railway.

Stations in the distressed districts It will be seen that the total amount delivered up to the 17th November was 431,153 tons —

Asst Secy to Govt, Punjab, P W D, Irrigation Branch

No crop owing to failure of rain

The supply both in Bari Doab Canal and Western Jumna Canal has been much less than in any previous year. The crops are therefore failing for want of rain and consequently the dryness of the duty performed by the cubic foot of water is less than usual.

Total increase on Permanent Canals amounts to 10,500 acres

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS
FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 27TH NOVEMBER 1877

GENERAL REMARKS—In Madras slight rain has fallen along the coast from Nellore southwards, general prospects continue good, prices are somewhat fluctuating in 11 out of 20 districts there is a slight rise in the cheapest food grains since last week, in one there is no change, and in 8 prices have slightly fallen. The total number on works is 252,123, less by 48,435 than last week, and on gratuitous relief 411,715, less by 101,955. In Mysore rain is reported from only one district, prospects are good, and prices lower than last week, the number on works for the week ending the 17th was 80,020, and on gratuitous relief 31,370, the former is less by 1,142 and the latter by 10,961 than in the previous week. In Bombay there has been no rain except a shower in Dharwar and a storm in Hyderabad (Sind), prospects are good throughout the Southern Mahratta Country and Southern Decan, in Guzerat, Násik and the Northern Decan Districts rain is much required. No rain is reported from the Central Provinces, the rabi sowings are complete, and the young plants doing well, prospects are generally favourable. In Bihar there has been no rain, the kharif is being harvested, and the rabi is in fair condition. In Central India also there has been no rain, and water is everywhere scarce, about 200 emigrants from Rajputana pass Neemuch daily. In Rajputana slight rain has fallen in Ajmere, Bhutpore, Jevpore, Ulwar, Marwar and Sirohi, which has improved prospects generally, sowings are still going on. No rain is reported from any part of Bengal during the week, the crops on high lands have generally suffered for want of closing showers, but the general outturn will probably be a fair average, except in Gya, Chumpran and Pooree, rain is much wanted for the rabi in Bihar and parts of Chota Nagpore. In Assam prospects continue favourable. In Burma the rains appear to have ceased, and there is every prospect of a good harvest. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh showers are reported from Agra, Meerut, Bareilly, Lucknow, and Sitapur, rain is generally wanted to assist the rabi. In the Punjab there has been general rain all over the province, which was very heavy in Pesháwar and Ráwalpindi, agricultural prospects have much improved in consequence, but more rain is still needed in the southern districts.

Tipperah	Nil	Weather fine, but rather warm for the time of year, prospects of all crops are good
24 Pergunnahs	Nil	Weather rather warm for the time of year, state and prospects of the crops are satisfactory, the winter harvest has begun, fever is prevalent in Bussachit sub division and sporadic cases of cholera are reported from all parts of the district
Jessore	Nil	Weather seasonable, crops on the whole promise well, the outturn on the high lands will probably be rather short owing to insufficient rain, fever is very prevalent throughout the district, cholera is increasing
Nudda	Nil	Weather warm in the day, but heavy dews at night, the amun crop is said to be satisfactory in all the sub divisions except Kooshtea, where the outturn is poor, the winter crops promise well, fever is bad in Kooshtea and Bongon, and cholera is prevalent in many parts of the district
Moorshedabad	Nil	Temperature unseasonably warm, prospects of crops continue to be as good as reported last week, harvesting of amun is in fair progress prices of rice are almost steady, cholera and fever are still prevalent in Bishampore, Junjypore and Lalbug sub divisions, in Rampore Haut public health is good
Pubna	Nil	Weather fine, cool, and seasonable, reaping of amun has commenced, and consequently no more rain is now required, state and prospects of winter crops appear to be good, fever is still prevalent in the town, and cholera has appeared in many places in the mofussil
Rajshahye	Nil	Weather clear, days rather hot but nights cold with heavy dew, in places where the winter rice crop has ripened, it is being cut, rabi crops are flourishing, but a little rain would improve them, there have been several cases of cholera in different parts of the district, and fever is still prevalent
Bogra	Nil	Weather dry and clear, and warm for the time of year, reaping of amun has begun, and there is every probability of a bumper harvest, minor crops are looking well, cholera is on the increase, chiefly in the western part of the district, 859 deaths have occurred since the outbreak of this disease, fever, too is prevalent

Dinagapore	Return not received	Rather unseasonably warm, as if bad weather coming, state and prospects of the crops are very good reaping of rice crop has commenced, ten deaths from cholera reported, principally in the south, during the week
Rungpore	Nil	Weather dry with a westerly wind in the afternoons, state and prospects of all kinds of crops continue to be most satisfactory mustard is being sown and nearly all the tobacco has now been transplanted, fever of the intermittent type is more prevalent than during last week, cholera has broken out in Gobindaganj, but is diminishing in Bhabaniganj
Cooch Behar	Nil	Weather fair and moderately cool, prospects of the crops are not bad amun rice is in ear and promises an average outturn, fever is prevalent in the Sadar and Mekhliganj sub divisions, but the health of the district is generally good
Jalpaiguri	Nil	Weather somewhat too hot to be seasonable, prospects of the winter rice are good, transplantation of tobacco in some places is nearly complete and in others has just commenced mustard and potato sowings are over land is being prepared for barley and wheat, sugar cane promises well public health is not yet good, fever is still prevalent in the town of Jalpaiguri
Darjeeling	Nil	Alternate sunshine and hazy weather, with signs of rain, heavy dew at night, the early haimanti rice is being reaped in some places, all the crops promise a very fair outturn
Midnapore	Nil	Weather rather warm, otherwise seasonable, state and prospects of the crops are fair
Howrah	Nil	Weather too hot to be seasonable rice harvest is commencing on the high lands, taking high lands and low lands together the crop is quite up to the average in the south of the district, the northern part of the sadar sub division is worst off, but even there the low land crop is good
Hooghly	Nil	Weather seasonable, harvesting of late rice has commenced, sugarcane is being cut, rahi sowings are going on, vegetables are doing well, fever is very prevalent
Burdwan	Nil	Reaping of amun and sowing of rahi are going on, no change in the prospects on the whole since last report

Maldah	Nil	Weather fair and rather warm, harvest of amun (coarse kind) has commenced, in some parts a bumper crop is reported, but generally a good average of 12 or 13 annas, the haimanti is nearly ripe and promises well fever is still very prevalent, and sporadic cases of cholera have been reported during the week
Durbhunga	Nil	Weather unusually warm for this time of the year, the rahi has germinated well, the low lying dhan lands promise well but the high land dhan has suffered, and the outturn will not, it is feared, be satisfactory
Mozufferpore	Nil	Weather warm and unseasonable, there is no change to report in the prospects of the crops
Saran	Nil	Weather bright and clear east and west wind, no change in the prospects of the crops since last report, rahur and cotton are good, sugarcane is being cut and put into the mills, paddy that has been sown is fast ripening, in some places it is being cut, rahi has germinated well, rain is much wanted to accelerate a healthy growth, poppy is being put in the ground, indigo fields are being prepared for the next year's crop
Chumparan	Nil	Weather warmer than usual at this time of year, otherwise seasonable, state and prospects of the crops appear to be somewhat worse than reported last week, prices are however easier owing probably to imports from Nepal, which had been temporarily stopped by the local authorities, and from Mozufferpore
Patna	Return not received	Weather unusually hot for the time of year, state and prospects of the crops are good but if this abnormal heat continues, rain will be wanted for the rahi
Gya	Nil	Weather warm in the middle of the day and sky occasionally clouded over, maximum thermometer in the shade 89° 6' prospects of the crops are unchanged, some rain is hoped for and would do much good
Shahabad	Nil	Weather cloudy and hot, in Buxar rahi crops have been sown and have germinated, in Bhuboonh rice is being harvested, other aqhami crops are in bad condition for want of rain, rahi sowings are about to close, and the young plants are drying in many places

Bengal—continued

An Act to enable the Secretary of State in Council of India to raise money in the United Kingdom for the Service of the Government of India

[14TH AUGUST 1877.]

WHEREAS the exigencies of the public service in India require that the Secretary of State in Council of India should be enabled to raise money in the United Kingdom on the credit of the revenues of India :

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and

Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows

1. It shall be lawful for the Secretary of State

Power to the Secretary of State in Council of India to raise any sum not exceeding 5,000,000*l* in time or times after the passing of this Act, to raise in the United Kingdom, for the service of the Government of India, any sum or sums of money not exceeding in the whole five millions of pounds sterling, of which two millions five hundred thousand pounds sterling may be raised by the creation and issue of capital stock bearing interest, or annuities, bonds, debentures, or bills, or partly by one of such modes and partly by another or others, and the whole or any portion of the remaining two millions five hundred thousand pounds sterling may be raised by the creation and issue of bonds, debentures, or bills, but not by the creation and issue of capital stock bearing interest, or of annuities

2. All bonds issued under the authority of this

Bonds may be issued under the hands of two members of the Council, and countersigned by the Secretary of State for India, or one of his Under Secretaries, or his Assistant Under Secretary, and shall be for such respective amounts, payable after such notice, and at such rate or rates of interest, as the said Secretary of State in Council may think fit

3. All debentures issued under the authority of this

Debentures may be issued under the hands of two members of the Council, and countersigned as aforesaid, for such respective amounts, and at such rate or rates of interest, as the Secretary of State in Council may think fit, and shall be issued at or for such prices and on such terms as may be determined by the Secretary of State in Council.

4. All debentures issued under the authority of this

As to payment of principal and interest on debentures this Act shall be paid off at par at a time or times to be mentioned in such debentures respectively, and the interest on all such debentures shall be paid half-yearly on such days as shall be mentioned therein, and the principal moneys and interest secured by such debentures shall be payable either at the treasury of the Secretary of State in Council in London or at the Bank of England

5. All or any number of the debentures issued

Debentures transferable by delivery under the authority of this Act, and all right to and in respect of the principal and interest moneys secured thereby, shall be transferable by the delivery of such debentures, and Coupons by delivery the coupons for interest annexed to any debenture issued under the authority of this Act shall also pass by delivery

6. All bills issued under the authority of this

Bills may be issued under the hands of two members of the Council and countersigned as aforesaid, for such respective amounts as the Secretary of State in Council may think fit, and shall be issued at or for such prices and on such terms as may be determined by the Secretary of State in Council

7. A bill issued under the authority of this Act

Description, currency of, and interest on bills shall be a bill for the payment of the principal sum named therein at the date therein mentioned, so that the date be not more than twelve months from the date of the bill, and the principal sum secured by such bill shall be payable either at the treasury of the Secretary of State in Council in London or at the Bank of England Interest shall be payable in respect of such bill at such rate and in such manner as the Secretary of State in Council may determine.

8. Any capital stock created under the authority

Capital stock and annuities may be created and issued of this Act shall bear such a rate of interest, and any annuities to be created under the authority of this Act shall be at such rate per centum per annum, as the Secretary of State in Council may think fit, and such capital stock and such annuities may be issued on such terms as may be determined by the Secretary of State in Council, and any such capital stock may bear interest during such period, and be paid off at par at such time, as the Secretary of State in Council may prescribe previously to the issue of such capital stock, and such annuities may be terminable at such period as the Secretary of State in Council may prescribe previously to the issue of such annuities

9. In case of the creation and issue of any

Transfer books of such capital stock or of any such annuities, there shall be kept, either at the office of the Secretary of State in Council in London or at the Bank of England, books wherein entries shall be made of the said capital stock and annuities respectively, and wherein all assignments or transfers of the same respectively, or any part thereof respectively, shall be entered and registered, and shall be signed by the parties making such assignments or transfers, or, if such parties be absent, by his, her, or their attorney or attorneys thereunto lawfully authorised by writing under his, her, or their hands and seals, to be attested by two or more credible witnesses, and the person or persons to whom such transfer or transfers shall be made may respectively underwrite his, her, or their acceptance thereof, and no other mode of assigning or transferring the said capital stock or the said annuities, or any part thereof respectively, shall be good and available in law, and no stamp duties whatsoever shall be charged on the said transfers or any of them

10. All annuities created and issued under the

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE, AND COMMERCE.

NOTIFICATIONS—FIBRES AND SILK

Simla, the 31st August 1877

No. 45.—In 1871 the Government of India offered a prize of £5,000 to the inventor of the best machine or process for the preparation of the fibre of the Bolmeria nivea (popularly known under the names of rhea, ramie, and China grass), and the terms on which machines would be admitted to competition were widely notified in India, in Europe, and in America Many persons declared their intention to compete, but ultimately only one machine was actually brought to the place of trial The machine, having been carefully tested at Saharanpur in the autumn of 1872, was found imperfect in some important respects, and the inventor was adjudged not entitled to the full reward He was, however, presented with £1,500 in consideration of the partial measure of success he had attained after great perseverance

2 This machine has not since been adapted by the inventor to practical use, and no improved process of preparing the fibre of the rhea has been yet discovered by other persons Meanwhile, the demand for rhea continues, and the conditions which induced the Government of India in 1871 to offer a prize remain substantially unchanged

3 His Honour the President in Council, therefore, considers that it is desirable to renew the offer, and it is accordingly hereby notified that a reward of fifty thousand rupees will be paid to the inventor of the best machine or process which will separate the bark and fibre from the stem, and the fibre from the bark, of the Bolmeria nivea.

4 A smaller reward, not exceeding ten thousand rupees, will be given to the inventor of the next best machine or process, provided it is adjudged to possess merit and to be capable without difficulty of adaptation to practical use

5. What is required is a machine or process capable of producing, by animal, water, or steam power, a top of dressed fibre of a quality which shall average in value not less than £45 per ton in the English market, at a total cost, including all processes of preparation and all needful allowance for wear and tear, of not more than £15 per ton, laid down at any port of shipment in India, and £30 in England, after payment of all the charges usual in trade before goods reach the hands of the manufacturer. The processes of preparation are to be understood to include all the operations required subsequent to the cutting of the stems from the plants in the field, until the fibre is in a condition fit to be packed for conveyance to the market.

6 The machine employed must be simple, strong, durable, and inexpensive, and should be suited for erection in the plantations where the rhoea is grown. It must be adapted for treatment of the fresh stems, as cut from the plant. The treatment of dried stems offers certain difficulties, and the fibre prepared from them must, moreover, always be much more costly than the fibre produced from green stems. Except during the hot dry weather preceding the rains in Upper India (where rhoea grows best), it is very difficult so to dry the stems that no fermentation or mildew shall occur. But during this season the stems are comparatively short and the crop poor and stunted, unless it is artificially irrigated, and such irrigation greatly increases the cost of cultivation. In the rainy season the plant is in fine condition, but at this season it is almost impossible to dry the stems in quantity without injuring the fibre, unless recourse is had to artificial means of desiccation, which greatly increase the cost of the material. It is therefore obvious that the attention of inventors should be given to the discovery of a process for the treatment of the green stems.

7 The trials will be held at Saharanpur in the North Western Provinces in the months of August and September 1879. Machines entered for competition should be placed in situ and be ready for work not later than the 15th August, the competition commencing on the next day. The judges will be appointed by the Government, and they will watch the whole of the trials. But the machines shall be worked and adjusted by the competitors themselves, and no person shall touch a machine without the consent of the inventor.

8 The Government of India will provide proper shelter and accommodation at Saharanpur for all the competing machines as well as the motive power required. It will also pay for the transport from the sea-coast to Saharanpur of all machines up to the limit of one ton each, the freight on any excess weight to be defrayed by the owners. The present rate of freight by rail from Calcutta to Saharanpur is Rs 3-10 per maund, or Rs 98-11 per ton, and from Bombay to Saharanpur Rs 1-1 per maund, or Rs 110-9 per ton. A free second class ticket to Saharanpur will also be given to any person in charge of a machine.

9 The owner or owners of the successful machine or machines shall not be entitled to receive the reward offered except on the following conditions, viz —

- (1) That a complete technical description of the machine, illustrated by plans drawn to scale, shall be prepared and published (Government paying the cost) for the information of the public.
- (2) That after the expiry of three years from the date on which the award is made, the public shall have the right of manufacturing similar machines, on payment to the owner of a royalty of 10 per cent on the cost of each machine so manufactured.

10 All persons desiring to compete under the terms and on the conditions specified above are requested to make known their intention not later than the 31st December 1878, giving the following particulars —

- 1 Name in full and residence
- 2 Profession or occupation
- 3 Number of different kinds of machines entered for competition
- 4 Brief description of each machine

Intending competitors will at the same time declare themselves bound (under penalty of disqualification of the competing machines and forfeiture of all claim to the Government reward) to conform to all rules which may be prescribed by Government, or by the judges appointed by Government in connection with the conduct of the trials.

All notices of intention to compete and applications for information should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce, Calcutta.

11 A limited quantity of rhoea will be grown in the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, and persons desirous of testing their machines before entering them for public competition may obtain green stems in small quantities from the Superintendent of the gardens through this Department.

N B—Maps are not sold at the Office of the Surveyor General of India, Calcutta, but applications for maps on payment should be made to Agents. This Department only issues maps free of charge, on the Public Service. It is particularly requested that the nearest local Agent as above be first applied to for any map required on the Public Service before indenting on this Department. The cost of postage of parcels must be borne by applicants themselves as also such incidental charges as may be incurred at their request for mounting and binding maps. The best maps are invariably supplied in lieu of those asked for which may not be available and lists of all newly published maps are periodically notified in the Gazettes of India and of local Governments.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY

The first part of the "Indian Law Reports," published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, will appear as soon after the 1st January 1876 as can be arranged for. The Reports will appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and will comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court will be reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court will be reported in the Calcutta Series. The Parts of each Series can be had separately, or all four Parts can be had stitched into one wrapper at the option of subscribers and purchasers. It will be observed from the following statement of the terms of subscription and sale, that a considerable reduction is allowed to persons taking the complete set.

Terms of subscription, payable annually in advance.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE, AND COMMERCE.

NOTIFICATIONS—FIBRES AND SILK

Simla, the 31st August 1877

No. 45.—In 1871 the Government of India offered a prize of £5,000 to the inventor of the best machine or process for the preparation of the fibre of the Bokmeria nivea (popularly known under the names of rheea, ramie, and China grass), and the terms on which machines would be admitted to competition were widely notified in India, in Europe, and in America. Many persons declared their intention to compete, but ultimately only one machine was actually brought to the place of trial. The machine, having been carefully tested at Saharanpur in the autumn of 1872, was found imperfect in some important respects, and the inventor was adjudged not entitled to the full reward. He was, however, presented with £1,500 in consideration of the partial measure of success he had attained after great perseverance.

2 This machine has not since been adapted by the inventor to practical use, and no improved process of preparing the fibre of the rheea has been yet discovered by other persons. Meanwhile, the demand for rheea continues, and the conditions which induced the Government of India in 1871 to offer a prize remain substantially unchanged.

3 His Honour the President in Council, therefore, considers that it is desirable to renew the offer, and it is accordingly hereby notified that a reward of fifty thousand rupees will be paid to the inventor of the best machine or process which will separate the bark and fibre from the stem, and the fibre from the bark, of the Bokmeria nivea.

4 A smaller reward, not exceeding ten thousand rupees, will be given to the inventor of the next best machine or process, provided it is adjudged to possess merit and to be capable without difficulty of adaptation to practical use.

5 What is required is a machine or process capable of producing, by animal, water, or steam power, a ton of dressed fibre of a quality which shall average in value not less than £15 per ton in the English market, at a total cost, including all processes of preparation and all needful allowance for wear and tear, of not more than £15 per ton, laid down at any port of shipment in India, and £30 in England, after payment of all the charges usual in trade before goods reach the hands of the manufacturer. The processes of preparation are to be understood to include all the operations required subsequent to the cutting of the stems from the plants in the field, until the fibre is in a condition fit to be packed for conveyance to the market.

6 The machinery employed must be simple, strong, durable, and inexpensive, and should be suited for erection in the plantations where the rheea is grown. It must be adapted for treatment of the fresh stems, as cut from the plant. The treatment of dried stems offers certain difficulties, and the fibre prepared from them must, moreover, always be much more costly than the fibre produced from green stems. Except during the hot dry weather preceding the rains in Upper India (where rheea grows best), it is very difficult so to dry the stems that no fermentation or mildew shall occur. But during this season the stems are comparatively short and the crop poor and stunted, unless it is artificially irrigated, and such irrigation greatly increases the cost of cultivation. In the rainy season the plant is in fine condition, but at this season it is almost impossible to dry the stems in quantity without injuring the fibre, unless recourse is had to artificial means of desiccation, which greatly increase the cost of the material. It is therefore obvious that the attention of inventors should be given to the discovery of a process for the treatment of the green stems.

7 The trials will be held at Saharanpur in the North-Western Provinces in the months of August and September 1879. Machines entered for competition should be placed in situ and be ready for work not later than the 15th August, the competition commencing on the next day. The judges will be appointed by the Government, and they will watch the whole of the trials. But the machines shall be worked and adjusted by the competitors themselves, and no person shall touch a machine without the consent of the inventor.

8 The Government of India will provide proper shelter and accommodation at Saharanpur for all the competing machines as well as the motive power required. It will also pay for the transport from the sea-coast to Saharanpur of all machines up to the limit of one ton each, the freight on any excess weight to be defrayed by the owners. The present rate of freight by rail from Calcutta to Saharanpur is Rs 8-10 per maund, or Rs 98-11 per ton, and from Bombay to Saharanpur Rs 4-1 per maund, or Rs 110-9 per ton. A free second class ticket to Saharanpur will also be given to any person in charge of a machine.

9 The owner or owners of the successful machine or machines shall not be entitled to receive the reward offered except on the following conditions, viz—

- (1) That a complete technical description of the machine, illustrated by plans drawn to scale, shall be prepared and published (Government paying the cost) for the information of the public.
- (2) That after the expiry of three years from the date on which the award is made, the public shall have the right of manufacturing similar machines, on payment to the owner of a royalty of 10 per cent on the cost of each machine so manufactured.

10 All persons desiring to compete under the terms and on the conditions specified above are requested to make known their intention not later than the 31st December 1878, giving the following particulars—

1. Name in full and residence
2. Profession or occupation
3. Number of different kinds of machines entered for competition
4. Brief description of each machine

Intending competitors will at the same time declare themselves bound (under penalty of disqualification of the competing machines and forfeiture of all claim to the Government reward) to conform to all rules which may be prescribed by Government, or by the judges appointed by Government in connection with the conduct of the trials

All notices of intention to compete and applications for information should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce, Calcutta

11 A limited quantity of ricea will be grown in the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, and persons desirous of testing their machines before entering them for public competition may obtain green stems in small quantities from the Superintendent of the gardens through this Department

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS — JUDICIAL.

Port William, the 7th December 1877.

No 183J—The following Notification regarding the "Extradition Ordinance (Ceylon), 1877," which appeared in the London Gazette of the 30th October 1877, is republished for general information —

At the Court at Balmoral, the 23rd day of October 1877.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty
His Royal Highness Prince Leopold
Lord President.
Lord Chamberlain.

Whereas by section 18 of "The Extradition Act 1870," it is among other things enacted, That if by any law made after the passing of the said Act by the Legislature of any British Possession, provision is made for carrying into effect within such Possession the surrender of Fugitive Criminals who are in, or suspected of being in, such British Possession, Her Majesty may, by the Order in Council applying the said Act in the case of any Foreign State, or by any subsequent Order, either—

Suspend the operation within any such British Possession of the said Act, or of any part thereof, so far as it relates to such Foreign State, and so long as such law continues in force there and no longer,—

Or direct that such law or ordinance or any part thereof shall have effect in such British Possession, with or without modifications and alterations, as if it were part of the Act

And whereas by an Ordinance enacted by the Legislature of Ceylon, the short title of which is, "The Extradition Ordinance (Ceylon), 1877," it is provided that "all powers vested in and acts authorized or required to be done by a Police Magistrate or any Justice of the Peace in relation to the surrender of Fugitive Criminals in the United Kingdom under 'The Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873,' are thereby vested in and may in the Colony be exercised and done by any Police Magistrate in relation to the surrender of Fugitive Criminals under the said Acts."

And whereas it is further provided by the said Ordinance that the said Ordinance shall not come into operation until Her Majesty shall by Order in Council direct that the said Ordinance shall have effect within the Colony as if it were part of "The Extradition Act, 1870," but that the said Ordinance shall thereafter come into operation as soon as such Order in Council shall have been publicly made known in the Colony.

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, in pursuance of "The Extradition Act, 1870," and in exercise of the power in that behalf in the said Act contained, doth by this present Order, by and with the advice of Her Majesty's Privy Council, direct that the said Ordinance shall have effect in the Colony of Ceylon, without modification or alteration, as if it were part of "The Extradition Act, 1870"

And the Right Honourable the Earl of Carnarvon, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, is to give the necessary directions herein accordingly.

No 184J—The following extract from the London Gazette, dated Friday, October the 26th, 1877, is published for general information —

At the Court at Balmoral, the 23rd day of October, 1877

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas by an Act of Parliament passed in the 7th year of Her Majesty's reign intituled "An Act for the better Government of Her Majesty's subjects resorting to China" it is (amongst other things) enacted that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by any Order or Orders made with the advice of Her Majesty's Privy Council, to ordain, for the government of Her Majesty's subjects being within the dominions of the Emperor of China, or being within any ship or vessel at a distance of not more than 100 miles from the coast of China, any law or ordinance which to Her Majesty may seem meet, as fully and effectually as any such law or ordinance could be made by Her Majesty in Council for the government of Her Majesty's subjects being within the Island of Hong Kong

And whereas Her Majesty was pleased by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, by Order in Council of the 9th day of March, 1865, to ordain (amongst other things) that all Her Majesty's jurisdiction exercisable in China or in Japan for the judicial hearing and determination of such matters as are by the 4th section of the said Order specified should be exercised according to the provisions of the said Order and not otherwise and that save as expressly provided by the said Order, all jurisdiction, power, and authority of the Supreme Court of Hong Kong exercisable in relation to British subjects resident in or resorting to China or Japan should absolutely cease

And whereas by the Foreign Jurisdiction Amendment Act 1866 it was enacted that it should be lawful for Her Majesty in Council by Order in Council under the Foreign Jurisdiction Acts to confer upon any Court in Her Majesty's possessions out of the United Kingdom any jurisdiction which Her Majesty in Council might lawfully by any such Order confer on any Court in any country or place out of Her Majesty's dominions within which Her Majesty has power or jurisdiction

 And whereas Her Majesty was pleased by and with the advice of Her Privy Council by another Order in Council of the 28th day of March 1868 to ordain (amongst other things) that in addition to the powers then vested in the Supreme Court of Hong Kong the said Supreme Court might have jurisdiction over and take cognizance of all crimes and offences committed by British subjects at any place on land being within six miles of any part of the Colony of Hong Kong, and not being on the mainland of China, and of and over all disputes and differences between British subjects being in any such place within such limit as aforesaid

And whereas it has seemed to Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to be expedient to revoke the said last-mentioned Order in Council and to extend the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of Hong Kong in respect to matters arising in the neighbourhood of the Colony of Hong Kong

Now therefore, Her Majesty by virtue of the powers in this behalf by the said recited Act, or otherwise vested in Her, is pleased by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to order and it is hereby ordered as follows —

1 In addition to the powers now vested in the said Supreme Court of Hong Kong, the said Supreme Court may have jurisdiction over and take cognizance of all crimes and offences committed by British subjects at any place on land, being within ten miles of any part of the Colony of Hong Kong and of and over all disputes and differences between British subjects being in any such place within such limit as aforesaid, and the said Court shall and may deal with, try, hear and determine all such cases as fully and effectually as if such crimes or offences had been committed or such disputes or differences had arisen by or between British subjects within the said Colony of Hong Kong

2 The said Order in Council of the 28th day of March 1868 is hereby revoked except for the purpose of completing any proceedings criminal or civil which may have been commenced thereunder before this Order is published in the said Colony of Hong Kong and any proceedings so commenced may be completed and any sentences and judgments given therein may be executed as fully and effectually as if this Order had not been made

3 The jurisdiction hereby conferred upon the Supreme Court of Hong Kong shall be in addition to and concurrent with any power or jurisdiction now possessed by the Supreme Court for China or Japan or any Provincial Court under the said Order in Council of the 9th of March 1865 to deal with, try, hear and determine such cases as are herein mentioned and nothing in this Order contained shall affect the power of the said Supreme Court for China or Japan or of any Provincial Court under the said last-mentioned Order in Council to deal with, hear, try and determine the said cases

No. 2434—Ordered that this notice be published in the Gazette of India for general information—

TENDERS FOR THE BERAR SURPLUS CASH BALANCES.

SEASON 1878.

NOTICE TO BANKERS, CAPITALISTS AND OTHERS.

Tenders are invited for the purchase of Bills drawn against the Surplus Cash Balances of the Berar Treasuries, for the calendar year 1878, on the conditions specified in the Rules noted below—

- 1 Bills will be available for issue on the Treasuries of Akola and Amraoti in the months, and to the probable extent, noted in statement at foot
- 2 Nothing, however, in this Notification shall pledge the Resident at Myderabad to provide the exact sums estimated to be available in the months specified, and such tenders as are approved will be registered for final acceptance, to the extent to which money may be actually available. As a guide, however, to Bankers, Capitalists, and others, to tender for the probable surplus during the year above quoted, it is hereby intimated that the Surplus Cash Balances available annually for the preceding three years amounted to Rs 1,41,00,000 or an average per annum of Rs 47,00,000, and that the probable surplus for the ensuing season, it is estimated, will be about Rs 30,00,000, as shown in statement below

- 3 All tenders should be submitted in sealed envelopes, addressed as follows —

WITHDRAWAL OF BERAR SURPLUS FOR SEASON 1878

Tender for Bills on (Akola or Amraoti as the case may be) for the month of (February or March, as the case may be)

TO THE FIRST ASSISTANT RESIDENT,

HYDERABAD, DECCAN

- 4 Tenders must on no account be written in the vernacular, and should specify the month or months for which the tenders are made. Separate tenders must be submitted for each month for Bills on Akola, and separate tenders must also be submitted for each month for Bills on Amraoti. Infingement of this rule will involve rejection of the tender. For the convenience of intending purchasers, printed forms of tenders will be kept in stock by the Extra Assistant Commissioner, Hyderabad, and will be issued to applicants.
- 5 The name and address of the person tendering should be clearly written at foot of the tender in English (in addition to the vernacular, if signature is in the vernacular).
- 6 Tenders may be for the whole, or any portion, in even thousands, of the amount advertised.
- 7 Tenders must specify the rate of exchange at which the tender is made, the par or assay value of 100 Government Rupees being equivalent to 116-14-6 in Halli Sicca Currency.
- 8 Each tender must be accompanied by a deposit of Rs 5,000 in Halli Sicca coin, or Government Securities, as a guarantee of good faith, which deposit will be returned in the event of non-acceptance of tender, but the tender itself will not be returned.
9. Tenders will be opened at the Hyderabad Residency at noon, on Tuesday the 15th January 1878, and persons tendering are invited to be present, or to be represented by their Agents.
- 10 The Resident will not bind himself to accept the highest or any tender, nor will any reason be assigned for rejection of tenders.
- 11 Persons whose tenders may be finally accepted in whole or in part will be required, at the option of the Resident, to deposit 10 per cent of the amount of their tenders on acceptance, and no portion of the deposit will be refunded till the full amount of Bills is received into the Treasury. This deposit will be forfeited in whole or in part, at the option of the Resident, in the event of noncompliance with the terms of the tender.
- 12 Persons whose tenders may be finally accepted will be required to pay the amount of their tenders into the Resident's Treasury between the 15th of the month to which the tenders refer and the 14th of the month following. No larger amount will be received on any one day into the Government Treasury than can be conveniently counted and examined by the establishment entertained for that purpose.

- 13 Persons whose tenders may be finally accepted will be required to pay the equivalent into the Resident's Treasury at Hyderabad in new Halli Sicca Rupees prior to the issue of Bills.

- 14 The Bills will be drawn at sight, in even thousands, and paid in Government Rupees at the Treasuries drawn upon. No Bill will be drawn for less than 5,000 Government Rupees, but Bills for sums in excess of this amount, in even thousands, will be issued to suit the convenience of purchasers.

N B—If, when the last instalment of Land Revenue has been paid up, the state of the collections should warrant such a course, a supplementary Notification will be issued, stating whether any and what further limited amount will be available for withdrawal.

The following Statement shows the amount of the Actual Surplus withdrawn from Berar annually for the three years 1875—1877, and that which is estimated to be available for withdrawal for the year 1878 —

No 1102 — REGULATIONS—

His Excellency the Governor General in Despatch No 164, Council is pleased to notify dated the 10th May the following supplementary 1877 regulations which have received the approval of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, providing for the case of military officers in civil employ referred to in paragraph IV of the subsidiary rules appended to G G O No 1316 of the 30th December 1875 —

I Any officer now in civil employ, who is subject to the Military Furlough Regulations of 1854 or 1865, shall remain so subject

II Any military officer who may hereafter enter civil employ who is not already subject to the Military Furlough and Leave Rules of 1875, shall remain subject to the rules applicable to him when he enters civil employ

NOTE—An officer referred to in rules I and II cannot elect the Military Furlough and Leave Rules of 1875 so long as he continues in civil employ

III Any officer who may enter civil employ, who is already subject to the Military Furlough and Leave Rules of 1875, shall be subject to the rules in the Civil Leave Code applicable to conventional civil servants both as regards furlough and leave taken out of India and in India

IV If any officer who is employed in the civil administration has taken furlough in the Military Department under the said rules of 1875, this furlough shall be treated, in calculating the furlough or special leave admissible to him under the preceding rule, as if it had been furlough taken under the Civil Leave Code. Leave so taken under the 10th military rule shall be treated as if it had been privilege leave taken under the Civil Leave Code, and the claims of the officer under the Civil Leave Code adjusted accordingly

V If an officer who has been subject to the rules in the Civil Leave Code under the third of these rules is again employed in the Military Department, and so again becomes subject to the Military Furlough and Leave Rules of 1875, any furlough or special leave taken by him under the Civil Leave Code will be treated, in calculating the furlough admissible to him under the said military rules, as if it had been furlough taken under the said military rules. Privilege leave taken under the Civil Leave Code Rules will be treated as if it had been leave taken under the 10th military rule. Subsidiary or examination leave taken under the Civil Leave Code will not affect the claims of such an Officer under the Military Furlough and Leave Rules

Special Famine Report for the Week ending 24th November 1877

Statement No 42, regarding Famine Relief Operations in the Province of Mysore for the Week ending the 24th November 1877

Excepting a few insignificant showers, there has been no rain in the past week. The settled weather is rapidly ripening the crops and in another fortnight or three weeks the whole of the early harvest will have been got in. The liberal grant of takavi for sowing paddy and gram has been even more useful and more eagerly sought after than was anticipated, and a considerable extent of land is likely to be thus brought under cultivation. The prospects of the later or Vaisak harvest are consequently extremely good. Prices still maintain a high level, but the more free use of local stores and the incoming new grain enable the people to live and to employ field labour, and the signs of severe distress are quickly passing away. The reports from the districts describe the existing population as generally able to maintain themselves, and to be in no need of further relief, but a careful house-to-house inspection in villages has brought to light individual cases which a little timely help will save. The Special Relief Officers are also busy distributing the funds placed at their disposal by the General Relief Committee, and are thus enabled to rescue large numbers of small proprietors and artisans from sinking to the class of day-labourers.

2 The imports of grain by rail amounted to 4,051 tons, or 1,847 tons more than in the preceding week. The imports were received from the following quarters —

	Tons
From Madras	3,214
„ Bellore, Palghat, and Coimbatore	316
„ Tanjore, Negapatam, and Trichinopoly	347
„ other places	174
TOTAL	4,051

From Bangalore 1,519 tons, or 114 tons less than last week, were exported to the following quarters as shewn by the octroi returns —

	Tons
Tumkur	447
Bellary	205
Mysore	672
Ussur (Salem District)	90
Round Bangalore	135
TOTAL	1,549

3 Prices continue unsteady, and in places have slightly risen, especially in Tumkūr. In Hassan, importation of rice from the western coast has had a beneficial effect on the markets of that district. The following statement gives the maximum and minimum prices in lbs per rupee for each district —

	Maximum in lbs per Rupee		Minimum in lbs per Rupee
	2nd sort rice	Ragi	2nd sort rice	Ragi

4 The number of labourers on civil relief works was 24,896, or a net decrease of 5,044, occurring chiefly in the Tumkūr District, and due to people returning to their homes to take part in reaping operations.

5 Under the Public Works Department 48,191 labourers were employed on strictly famine relief works, or a decrease of 1,889 compared with the number returned last week, due to a falling off on the railway works. The returns are prepared so as to exclude ordinary Public Works labour. Adding such labour, the total number of persons employed by the Department Public Works was, for purposes of comparison with previous returns, about 57,191. The following is a list of works on which are employed 500 labourers and upwards —

District	Work	No employed
Bangalore	State Railway	20,396
	Bangalore Water supply	3,720
	Bangalore Bellary (via Devanahalli Road)	1,276
	Mallappa Chetti's Tank	1,819
Tumkūr	Bhadram Tank	1,758
	Nelamangal Tumkūr Road	2,913
	Tumkūr Shimoga Road	2,846
	Kumgal Yediyur Road	822
	Tumkūr Bellary Road	2,808
Mysore	Tumkūr Kumgal Road	626
	Mysore Water works	3,314
Hassan	Maddur Ano Channel works	763
Kadur	Mandigiri Channel	590
Kadur	Devanurkesante Channel	719
Chitaldrug	Timmenhalli Tank	1,728
Total		45,893

It will be observed that nearly the whole of the relief labour is concentrated on a few large works. As the minimum scale of labour alluded to in the last report is liberal, the Chief Engineer has decided to exact a full task from all able-bodied persons on the Public Works, the Civil Officers first passing the gangs as fit for the task. Civil Officers have been strictly cautioned to watch that no pressure is allowed on weakly labourers and to guard against such being driven off the works.

6. The numbers fed gratuitously in relief camps amounted to 21,458, or a decrease of 9,912 as under —

	Past week	Present week	Increase	Decrease

About the end of August last some 227,000 persons were being fed in upwards of 200 open kitchens, or an average of 1,135 persons in each kitchen. The present returns shew 21,458 fed in 86 enclosed camps, or an average of 249 paupers in each camp. The gradual closure of outlying camps goes on week by week, the more able bodied being drafted to works and the feeble and sick removed to more central places where supervision and medical attendance can be secured. The rest houses on the Mysore roads leading to the Coffee Districts have been reduced to three.

7. The number on civil and professional works amounted to 73,057 compared with 21,158 on charitable relief. The following table gives the numbers relieved since the last week in August — or an average cost per head of one rupee, compared with 11 annas for the preceding week. The reduction of numbers affects the average cost per head as the establishments have not always been proportionately reduced sufficiently promptly.

† For the week ending the 17th November

‡ For details and dates, see table appended

The most important item in the week's telegraphic news is the fall of rain in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, and Satara. Full particulars have not been received, but no doubt the effect on the spring crops must be very beneficial.

2 The prices of food grains continue to fall in Satara and the Kanarese Districts. They are now cheapest in Belgaum and Dhawar, the two districts in which, together with Kaladgi, they have usually been dearest. There is slight improvement, too, in Khandesh and Ahmednagar. In Nasik and Sholapur, on the other hand, the rates are slightly higher. In Poona, jowari is cheaper and bajra dearer than last week.

3 Of the twenty thousand labourers upon relief works in the week ending the 17th November, only six thousand were discharged in the succeeding week, which leaves fourteen thousand to be disposed of during the last five days of the month. The majority of these are in the Nasik, Sholapur, and Poona Collectories, and in the last two they are chiefly employed upon large irrigation works, on which many will be able to remain as ordinary labourers after the end of November.

4 Only 18 deaths from cholera have occurred during the week in the nine districts.

5 Written reports have been received from the Collectors of Nasik, Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur, and Satara, for the week ending the 24th November, and from the other Collectors for the preceding week. The great want of rain, since partially relieved, is dwelt upon by the Collectors of Nasik, Ahmednagar, and Poona. The autumn harvest is reported to be plentiful in Satara. In Kaladgi and Dhawar the demand for agricultural labour is greater than the supply. Fever is prevalent in Ahmednagar, Dhawar, and especially in Kaladgi.

6 The following table gives the expenditure by Government, during the week ending 10th November, upon gratuitous relief, and in payments made to the young children of labourers employed upon relief works. The number of children has fallen during the week from 11,966 to 6,150. The number of persons being gratuitously relieved can still not be stated accurately, as complete returns have not been received from the Collectors of Satara and Kaladgi. It may be taken approximately as 20,138. This gives a decrease of 9,411 —

7 In the following table are enumerated the works under Public Works Department Agency upon which the average daily number of persons employed has amounted to five hundred for the week ending 17th instant. The total number engaged on these large works constitutes 65.79 per cent of the whole number of labourers upon relief works —

DISTRICTS	Works	Number of labourers	Total	REMARKS

GRAND TOTAL			11,811

8 Tables A and B are brought up to the week ending 17th instant. The number of persons on works under Public Works Department Agency in the nine affected districts was at this date 15,612, and on works under Civil Agency 2,310. The percentage of persons upon works under Civil Agency has thus fallen during the week from 18.1 to 12.8 per cent of the whole number employed. The total expenditure upon works in the nine affected districts has amounted to Rs. 1,03,40,811, which, with the expenditure of Rs. 1,36,226 upon works in Ratnagiri and Kanha, and Rs. 10,66,775 from the Collectors' discretionary allowances, gives a total of Rs. 1,15,13,815.

9 The table showing the condition of the affected Native States is appended as usual. The number of labourers on relief works is being reduced. Prices are generally falling.

10 During the week ending 24th November, 183 tons of food-grains were exported from Bombay to the Southern Maratha ports, and 1,007 tons were carried by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway to stations upon the Poona-Sholapur and Bhusawal-Nasik lines, making a total of 1,190 tons for the week. This is more by 320 tons than the importations of the previous week. The table below shows the quantities of grain sent by sea and rail from October 1876 till the 24th November 1877 to the Southern Maratha ports and the railway stations in the distressed districts. It will be seen that the total amount delivered up to the 24th November was 432,343 tons—

11 There have been decreases during the week of 6,306 in the number of labourers on relief works, 5,486 in that of young children, and 9,411 in that of people on gratuitous relief.

12 The general situation continues to improve steadily, and relief operations of all kinds are rapidly being brought to a conclusion.

The increase on the Ganges Canal was due to wheat, which rose by 56,216 acres, while there was a decrease of 25,907, and 11,037 acres, respectively, in barley and other grains

On the Agra Canal the increase was distributed as follows —

Wheat	3,347
Other grains	4,879
Pulses	3,131

and there was a decrease of 901 acres in barley

On the Rohilkhand Canals the decrease was as follows —

Barley	3,388
Other grains	3,356
Pulses	2,622

and there was an increase of 711 acres in wheat

5 The decrease in Rohilkhand is to be attributed to the rain which fell in October, January, and February in the Tarai and Bareilly districts

6 The following table compares the areas of the principal rabi crops for six years —

Year	Wheat	Barley	Other grains	Pulses	Opium, &c
	Acres	Acres	Acres	Acres	Acres
1871-72	365,950	99,650	18,988	28,264	5,449
1872-73	363,529	160,023	13,560	38,422	7,994
1873-74	402,755	185,581	8,219	28,008	8,440
1874-75	445,970	204,896	26,139	48,629	10,189
1875-76	471,498	191,812	91,073	35,719	12,986
1876-77	532,221	160,361	24,821	26,584	12,590

This table shows that the general increase is entirely due to wheat

This crop has steadily increased by 166,692 acres since 1872-73, at the following rate —

1873-74	39,226
1874-75	43,215
1875-76	25,528
1876-77	60,723

Barley, pulses, and inferior grains have decreased since 1874-75

7 Considering the quantity of rain which fell throughout the North-Western Provinces in October, and the unusually heavy winter rains of January, February and March, the results may be considered favorable, and prove that irrigation is now, to a great extent, independent of the seasons on the principal canals, and that it is steadily increasing on the Agra Canal

The present returns show that it is only on the Rohilkhand Canals where the irrigation has seriously diminished owing to the rainfall

ORDER—Ordered, that the above Resolution be submitted to the Government of India for information

Also to the Governments of Bengal and Punjab, to the Government, North-Western Provinces, in the General Department, and in the Provincial Branch of the Public Works Department, and to the Board of Revenue, also that it be published in the Government Gazette

By order &c,

(CLINTON C ANDERSON,

Offg Secretary to Government, N W P,

Irrigation Branch

ORDERED, that copies of the Resolution be forwarded to Superintending and Executive Engineers, with the remark that all the divisional returns were received in due time, with the exception of those of the 1st Division, Agra and Dun Canals which had to be returned, Annual, instead of Rabi, returns having been forwarded by the Executive Engineers

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS
FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 4TH DECEMBER 1877

GENERAL REMARKS—In Madras general rain has fallen from Madras southwards along the Coromandel Coast, and in several inland districts, general prospects continue good, except in Ganjam and Vizagapatam, where drought prevails. The total number on works is 237,797, 14,326 less than last week, and on charity 365,589, 16,126 less than last week. In Mysore there has been no rain, harvesting is in progress and prices continue to fall, the number on works in the week ending the 4th ultimo was 73,087, and on charity 21,458, 6,933 and 9,912 less than in the previous week. In Bombay a sudden rise (followed by a speedy fall) of the river is reported from Sind, but this has not resulted in any material change in prospects, beneficial showers have fallen in Sindh and parts of Poona, rain is wanted in Guzerat, Khindesh, and the North Decan. In the Central Provinces rain is reported from the hill districts of Chhindwari, Seoni, and Balaghat, and slight showers from the Nerbudda Valley, the kharif harvest continues, and the rabi is generally thriving. In Bern a little rain has fallen, and prospects are good. In Central India there has been no rain, and it is much wanted. In Rajputana also no rain has fallen, but prospects appear to be generally fair. In Bengal the only rain reported is light showers in a few of the Eastern Districts, there is no change the prospects of the crops, the harvest of the late rice is yielding an outturn generally above the average, rain is much wanted for the rabi in Gya, Shahabad, and Chumpran, and would be beneficial in many other districts. The condition of the south of Pooree is becoming worse. A little rain is reported from Upper Assam, prospects are good. In Burma prospects are very favourable. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh a slight shower is reported from Jhansi. Elsewhere no rain has fallen, the prospects of the rabi are so far good, but rain is generally required. In the Punjab rain has fallen only at Hissar, agricultural prospects are fair everywhere except in a few of the Southern Districts.

Bogra	Nil	Weather clear and rather warm for the time of year prevailing wind is from north to west, the amun crop which is now being reaped, is a capital one, the rabi crops are looking well, new rice is selling in the interior from 30 to 35 seers for the rupee, cholera of a bad type is still prevalent chiefly in the eastern part of the district, there have been 1,043 fatal cases since its appearance in this district
Dinapore	Return not received.	Weather somewhat warm with wind from the west, rice crop is very good, reaping of barley has commenced, there have been 13 deaths from cholera against 10 deaths reported last week, principally in the southern thanas, one case at Alwakhuwa tan
Pungpore		The weather has become much cooler, a south westerly wind blows all day and makes the evening cool, the state and prospects of the crops continue to be satisfactory the harvest of the amun crop has commenced and a good outturn is expected, fever of the ordinary intermittent type is common cholera of an epidemic character prevails in three of the four thanas of the Gaubanda sub division
Cooch Behar	Nil	Weather fair and bright the cold weather is gradually setting in the prospects of the crops are good, amun rice is being reaped and an average 10 anna crop is expected, the cold weather crops in the ground are getting on well transplantation of the tobacco plants has commenced, fever is still prevalent in some parts of the district especially in the Makhdigunj sub division, public health is otherwise good for the season
Jalpaiguri	Nil	Weather pleasantly cool, harvesting of haimanti rice is going on throughout the district, transplantation of tobacco plants is progressing well, public health is not yet good, fever is still prevalent in the town of Jalpaiguri
Darjeeling	Nil	Frosty mornings, with bright weather during the early part of the day, hazy towards evening threatening rain, the crops throughout the district are progressing favourably, the early haimanti rice is being reaped in some places
Midnapore	Nil	Weather warm, but cooler since 30th November, state and prospects of the crops are fair, fever is still very prevalent, though it is apparently a little better
Howrah	Nil	Weather much too hot for the season early in the week, cooler at the end, the harvest is progressing in the high lands no change in the prospects, a great deal of fever about, especially in the north of the district
Hooghly	Nil	Weather unusually warm for the season, harvest of late rice is going on, rabi seedlings are doing well, fever is very prevalent, cholera has appeared in a sporadic form
Burdwan	Nil	Winter rice crop is being reaped, rabi sowings are nearly completed, fever is prevalent
Bankoorah	Nil	Weather clear and bright, but warmer than is usual in this season, all the crops, especially the winter rice, which is not yet reaped, look extremely well
Beerbhoom	Nil	Weather dry and warm for the time of year, the cold weather crops are doing well, rain would, however, be of service to them, but it would be very detrimental to the rice now being everywhere reaped
Sonthal Pergunnahs	Nil	Weather dry and getting colder with a few clouds about, rice is excellent in the low lands of Deoghur, in the Godda damra and in Doomka, it is not so good in the Godda zemindaries, 13 annas all round seem the proper estimate, rain is wanted every where for rabi crops, health is good
Bhagalpur	Nil	Weather cold, with westerly wind and clear sky, aghani harvest has commenced, prospects are favourable, cholera and fever are on the decrease
Monghyr	Nil	Weather still very hot, if there be Christmas rains, an 8 anna crop may be expected, if not, the chances will be much worse
Purneah	Nil	West wind during the day, the weather is getting colder at night, the aghani crop will be about 12 annas, in some parts of the north of the district it is very good, it is now being cut, mustard is coming generally into flower, its prospects are good, transplanting and weeding of tobacco are well forward, general health is very bad, fever of a bad type is prevalent, and cholera is reported from a few villages
Maldah	Nil	Weather unreasonably hot till the 30th November, state and prospects of the crops are satisfactory, the health of the district is very bad, fever prevails, cholera is increasing 21 deaths have been reported during the week, but from so many and such widely scattered villages that aid cannot easily be afforded
Darbhanga	Nil	Weather seasonably cold, the rice harvest is commencing, but nothing definite can be said as to the extent of deficiency which is apprehended in the upland rice, the rabi crops look well, public health is good

Mezuffarpore	Nil	Weather cold, with west wind, there is no change in the prospects of the rice crop, the rabi crops are doing well, except in Soeta murhee sub division where prospects are unfavourable
Sarun	Nil	Whether fair and rather warm at the beginning of the week, there has been, however a marked change since 30th November, prospects of the crops continue fair, rain during the month will do much good, prices are stationary, public health is good
Champaran	Nil	The latter part of the week has been much colder, no material change is to be reported in the prospects of the crops, rain is urgently required for the rabi especially in the south and south east portions of the sadar division, no rain fell throughout November and the fall up to date has been only half the average there will be a very large falling off in poppy sowings in consequence of want of moisture in the southern part of the district
Patna	Nil	Weather hot during the early part of the week, cold during the latter part, state and prospects of the crops are favourable, but a little rain would do good
Gya	Nil	Weather latterly cool and clear, the signs of coming rain have disappeared, maximum thermometer in the shade 80° 8', the unusual heat of November with consequent absence of dews at night has not been favourable for the rabi the khari harvest has commenced, and in places the cutting of koolthi the Nowáda and Jehanabad officers estimate the outturn of the former at 12 and 4 annas respectively, it is believed that the average of the district will not be over 8 annas, the average in Jehanabad will probably not be quite so low as 4 annas
Shahabad	Nil	Weather cool rain is urgently necessary for the rabi , except where the Sone and artificial irrigation is available
Hazaribagh	Nil	Weather seasonable, rabi sowings have been completed, rain would be beneficial
Lohardugga	Nil	Weather unusually warm for the time of year, rain seems impending, there is nothing further to report regarding the rice crops, harvest operations are still proceeding, rain is required for the rabi crops
Manbhoom	Nil	Very uncertain weather, one day it is cloudy and another day it is bright and hot, the cold weather can hardly be said to have set in, another peculiarity is, that even on a cloudless night no dew falls nothing to report from the sadar sub division in addition to what was said last week but from Govindpur the sub-divisional officer reports the outturn of dhun to be not more than eight annas and as regards the rabi , he says the prospects are not favourable, rain would be a great boon just now
Singbhoom	Nil	Weather seasonable, the cold weather crops are doing well, the district is healthy
Balasore	Nil	Weather warm for the season, no special change to report, the harvest has commenced, a little cattle disease is reported from the district, and a few cases of cholera, and in the north, of fever
Cuttack	Nil	Weather fine and warm for the time of year, early sarad is being reaped and coming to market, late sarad is ripening, rabi is in good condition and is flowering, cholera is prevalent in Kendrapara sub division and some other places
Poorce	Nil	Weather fair, warm for the season, the state of the crops in the Khoordah sub division is nearly the same as reported last week, in many parts of the sub-division the sarad crop is suffering for want of rain, but other winter crops are doing well, rice is selling cheaper, owing to the sale of Government paddy throughout the sub division, in other parts of the district the sarad rice is in ear, the laghu has been harvested and reaped in some places, miscellaneous crops, viz, mustard, arkhur , &c, are promising well, dalua rice is being sown, and in some places the plants are being transplanted, the state of the crops on the Chilka tracts is worse than before
		General Remarks —There has been no rain in the province during the week, except a few light showers in Dacca, Mymensingh, and the Tipperah Hills, the weather is becoming colder, fever and cholera are still prevalent, no important change is reported in the general prospects of the crops, the harvesting of late rice is progressing with the prospect of an outturn generally above the average, the cold weather crops and all crops of minor importance are well reported of but rain is badly wanted in Gya, Shahabad, and Champaran, it would also do good in many other districts, the state of the crops in the Chilka tracts of Poorce has become much worse

ECCLIASTICAL

The 10th December 1877

No. 418—APPOINTMENT—The Reverend A Robinson to be Chaplain of Thayetmyo in British Burma

(2)—The term "Resident Chaplain" includes a Clergyman of the Additional Clergy Society so far as concerns the stations to which he stands appointed or other Clergyman of Church of England placed in charge by the Bishop.

(3)—During the temporary absence of the Chaplain, and at stations where there is no Resident Chaplain, the charge of the cemetery belongs to the Chief Magistrate on the spot, or the senior Military Officer if the cemetery is attached to a military cantonment.

(4)—At out stations where there is a Church Committee the charge of the cemetery will belong to the senior member of Committee, and where there is no such Committee, to any subordinate officer nominated by the Magistrate or Deputy Commissioner of the district.

RULE II—Each cemetery is allowed a mali chowkidar or chowkidars in accordance with the scale prescribed in para 2, Home Department Resolution* No 6—370 382, dated 9th November 1876. These chowkidars are paid by Government.

through the Resident Chaplain by whom they are appointed and dismissed. In stations where there is no Resident Chaplain, the chowkidars are paid, appointed and dismissed by the other officers named in Rule I.

RULE III—Every reasonable effort should be made by the Resident Chaplain or other officer in charge under Rule I, not only to keep the cemetery in decent order, but to preserve its character as the resting-place of the remains of departed friends by providing for the necessary repairs, and by planting the ground with suitable trees.

† Appendix A

NOTE—To meet the expenditure under this Rule, see Rule I and para 1 of Home Department Resolution† No 6—370 382, dated 9th November 1876.

RULE IV—The chowkidar will keep the key of the cemetery under the direction of the officer in charge.

RULE V—The officer who has charge of the cemetery under the operation of Rule I will perform all the duties assigned to the Chaplain by Rules VII, VIII, IX, X and XI, with the exception of the approval of the inscriptions in that part of the cemetery reserved for the Church of England. These are to be forwarded to the visiting Chaplain, or, if there be none, to the Archdeacon, and not cut till his sanction be obtained. Should however, an inscription be disapproved, it may be referred to the Government for decision.

INTERMENTS BY WHOM TO BE CONDUCTED

RULE VI—(1)—The Chaplain buries Christians of all denominations whose friends desire his services as laid down in the orders of the Government of India in the

§ Appendix B

Home Department§ No 159, dated the 6th June 1877, using always the service of the Church of England, and the consecrated portion of the cemetery.

(2)—A portion of every cemetery will be set apart by the orders of Government for the use of Roman Catholic congregations, and another portion will be appropriated for the joint use of other Christians whose friends desire that they should be interred otherwise than according to the ritual of either the Church of England or of the Church of Rome, or who cannot legally be so interred.

(3)—These unconsecrated portions thus set apart are not to be fenced or walled off from the rest of the cemetery, but simply divided off by a pathway, and they must be added to the existing cemetery or reserved from it. If the existing cemetery be large enough for the wants of the whole Christian community, such portions will be reserved, without reference to the fact that the whole enclosure has or has not been consecrated according to the rites of the Church of England. If the cemetery be only large enough for the wants of Christians desiring to be buried with the service of the Church of England, such portions will be added. The whole cemetery thus divided is to be surrounded by a wall to have but one gate of entrance, and to be under the care of the officer specified in Rule I.

RULE VII—(1)—Ministers of all denominations have a right to conduct the service of burial over the body of any deceased member of their respective congregations who may be buried in any fitting portion of the ground set apart for the denomination to which the deceased belonged. At least six hours' previous notice of the burial should be given to the Chaplain in charge of the burial-ground or, in the absence of the Chaplain, to the officer who may be in actual charge. The period herein prescribed may, for special reasons, be shortened with the permission of the Chaplain or officer in charge of the cemetery. Such Chaplain or officer will, if he thinks the circumstances of the case demand it, bring the facts to the notice of the local Magisterial authorities in time to admit of an order stopping the burial being passed if necessary.

(2) A certificate of burial drawn up according to the required form must be sent to the Chaplain or to the Registrar of Births, Marriages and Deaths, to be entered in the register kept up by him.

RULE VIII—No burial can take place in that part of a Government cemetery which has been set apart for the use of members of the Church of England, unless the service prescribed by that Church is read by the Chaplain if there be one, or, in his absence, by the layman who officiates at the funeral. But a person may be interred in the other portions of a Government cemetery with or without the use of any services of religion.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR BURYING

RULE IX—The arrangements for making the necessary preparations for digging graves, preparing coffins, and the like, should rest in military stations upon the senior military officer, and in civil stations upon the chief local Magistrate. These officers are authorized to direct any local Public Works officer to supply all that is necessary. The local Public Works officer would usually be the Executive Engineer of Military Works in military stations, and the Civil Executive Engineer in other stations. The expenditure incurred by the Executive Engineer will be held in his miscellaneous advance account until repaid by the officer authorizing the expenditure. But in cases of necessity or emergency, either officer may be called upon to do what is required.

RULE X—The officer in charge of the cemetery shall keep a plan of the entire cemetery to be provided by the Public Works Department, with references written upon it, in a book, in which the names of parties interred are recorded, this plan and book being kept with the church registers.

ERECTION AND REPAIR OF MONUMENTS

RULE XI—Monuments may be erected by any interested person. The inscription before being cut, and the design, must be first approved of as laid down in Rule V, and the dimensions of the monument must accord with the orders in para 3, Home Department Resolution*

* Appendix A No 6—370-82, dated 9th November 1876

RULE XII—(1) The Chaplain should communicate with the friends of the deceased when a monument needs repairing, or, when such communication is not possible, advertise three times in the Gazette of India and the Gazette of the Province, and if it falls into a ruinous condition, and no party will undertake to restore it, the ruined monument must be made level with the ground during the next repairs, and any slab it contained must be placed over the grave in simple masonry, or be inserted in the wall

(2) All work connected with monuments must, as far as possible, be carried on outside the cemetery, and any undertaker not removing the debris of his work immediately upon its completion is liable to a fine of Rs 5

Note—This rule does not apply to monuments of historical or archaeological interest. Lists of such tombs should be obtained by Local Governments and Administrations, and as many of them as may be properly preserved at the public expense should be looked after by the local Public Works Department

INSPECTION

RULE XIII—The cemetery should be inspected once in a half-year by the Chaplain in company with the Executive Engineer, the plan and book kept under Rule X being also examined, and a report made to the Archdeacon, and recorded in the Ecclesiastical record-book of the station, and also in the Engineer's Office

RULE XIV—(1) Commissioners of Divisions should inspect cemeteries, whether closed or in use, within their respective jurisdictions, in the course of their annual tours, and should bring to the notice of the local Government any instances of cemeteries which are negligently kept, or which the officers in charge may have allowed to fall into a state of bad repair or disorder. All cemeteries are equally subject to the visitation and supervision of the Bishop and Archdeacon

(2) Sanitary officers in cantonments are invited to inspect cemeteries within their respective cantonments, and to report to local Governments any matter calling for notice

MISCELLANEOUS

RULE XV—It is desirable that officers commanding regiments or detachments should be instructed to cause a report to be made to the nearest civil officer of graves dug for soldiers on march, that measures may be taken for their effectual protection and preservation. These graves and all scattered Christian graves throughout the district are under the care of the local civil authorities

RULE XVI—The above rule do not apply to Presidency cemeteries which have rules of their own

II

Rules regarding the levy and expenditure of fees on masonry graves and monuments in Cemeteries and Churches throughout India

WHAT FEES ARE PAYABLE, AND BY WHOM

RULE I—A fee of 8 annas for every square foot of ground occupied shall be charged for the construction of any masonry grave in a burial-ground

NOTES—(1) This fee is independent of the actual charge for making a grave

(2) The fee leviable on a masonry grave regularly built up to the level of the ground is also leviable on a masonry grave which is not built up to the level of the ground, but which is only over and round the coffin

(3) The 'ground occupied' is to be regulated according to the rule laid down in paragraph 3 of Home Department Resolution† No 6—370 382, dated 9th November last.

(4) The same fees which are levied on pukka graves should also be levied on cutcha graves which have pukka foundations

RULE II—A further fee of one rupee per square foot shall be levied on the erection of a monument in a burial-ground, provided, however, that for a simple headstone or flat slab not more than 3 feet 6 inches in height or length, and 2 feet in width, a uniform fee of Rs 5 only shall be charged. A fee of Rs 75 shall be levied on a faculty for the erection of a monument in a church.

NOTES—(1) A tablet on the wall of a cemetery is to be regarded as a monument

(2) "Simple headstone" A cross no higher than a usual headstone and no longer than a usual flat stone, is included in this description

(3) When a monument erected over a masonry grave, the total of the two fees will be equivalent to one and a half rupee for each square foot of ground occupied

(4) The fee of Rs 75 levied on a faculty, drawn in the case of non Government churches by the present incumbents of the office of Registrar of the Diocese in Calcutta and Bombay, shall cease on a vacancy occurring in the appointment. The money is to be spent in charity as in the case of Government churches

RULE III—When a cenotaph is erected in a cemetery, a fee of Rs. 50 should be levied in addition to the fee charged for the ground occupied, and the space should be strictly limited to six feet square

RULE IV—Fees for masonry graves and monuments should be levied over the whole cemetery, including those portions which are used by Roman Catholics and Non-conformists

NOTES—(1) The same rules in regard to fees apply to all graves, whether of Roman Catholics, of Non-conformists or members of the Established Church

(2) Where a parcel of ground used for burial by a Christian community of any particular denomination other than the Established Church of England forms no part of the general cemetery but is separate from it, or where, although not so separate, it is clearly distinguishable and was not originally acquired and has not been kept up at the expense of the State, then, if the community by which the ground is used so desire, the Government will give up all claim to fees, on the distinct understanding that it is divested of all responsibility for the maintenance of the cemetery in proper order. On the other hand, where such parcels of ground form part of a cemetery of the Established Church or the general Christian community provided and maintained by the Government, no distinction can be made as to keeping up any one part of the cemetery, nor should any exemption from fees be permitted.

EXEMPTION FROM FEES IN GOVERNMENT CEMETERIES

RULE V—British soldiers and non-commissioned officers are exempted, with retrospective effect, from the payment of any fee for the construction of masonry graves, or for the erection of monuments in burial-grounds to the memory of their comrades, wives or children. No monument, however, either regimental or private, shall exceed the dimensions prescribed in paragraph 3, Home Department Resolution* No 6—370-82, dated 9th November 1876.

* Appendix A

NOTE—(1) This rule is applicable to the British soldiers and non commissioned officers whether in military or civil employ.

(2) Monuments erected under this rule subscribed for partly by non commissioned officers and men, and partly by officers, are likewise exempted from the prescribed fee.

(3) Warrant officers are not exempted from payment of ecclesiastical fees.

RULE VI—The Chunar pensioners being more or less under military control come under the category of soldiers, and are therefore entitled to the same exemptions as soldiers. But this ruling does not apply to other pensioners who are not similarly under military control.

RULE VII—The Chaplain may at his discretion reduce, or altogether remit in cases of extreme poverty, the fee leviable on the construction of masonry graves, but not for the erection of monuments.

NOTE—The Bishop on special occasions may sanction a reduction or remission of fees for the erection of monuments.

FEES BY WHOM TO BE COLLECTED

RULE VIII—In those stations in which a mason has been appointed, who alone is allowed to work within the cemetery, he is required, in exchange for the monopoly, to collect the fees on monuments and masonry graves, and pay them to the Chaplain and any person ordering the construction of a masonry grave or monument by a mason or undertaker other than the person appointed by the Chaplain must pay the fees in advance.

NOTE—Fees on masonry graves and monuments constructed by the appointed mason or undertaker need not be paid in advance, but in case of failure of payment, their recovery must be entrusted by the Chaplain to the Magistrate or Deputy Commissioner as the case may be.

FEES TO WHOM TO BE PAID

RULE IX—The fees prescribed in Rules 1, 2 and 3 should be paid to the Chaplain or, in the absence of the Chaplain, to the officer in charge of the burial-ground and remitted at once to the Civil treasury, except fees for monuments in churches which should be paid over by the Chaplain to the charitable objects to which the Bishop assigns them when his faculty is issued.

CEMETERY RECEIPTS AND CHARGES

RULE X—All cemetery receipts and charges to be regulated as laid down in para 4 of Home Department Resolution† No 6—370-382, dated the 9th November 1876.

MISCELLANEOUS

RULE XI—(1) A person may not purchase a portion of a Government cemetery as a burial-place for himself and his family, so as to have a right to fence it with a rail or fence, and thus make it the private property of himself and family. But when such rights already exist, they are not without reason to be interfered with, and special cases as they arise may require exceptional treatment. And in such cases the Archdeacon may exercise his discretion with the sanction of the local Government.

(2)—All private rights must, however, cease if for sanitary or other public reasons the cemetery is closed against burials, or even that portion of it in which the private ground is situated, but in special cases the Archdeacon may exercise his discretion of giving permission to open a vault or masonry grave.

(3)—No kutchra grave can be opened in any cemetery for the purpose of converting it into a masonry grave without application to the Archdeacon which must be accompanied by a certificate from the Principal Medical Officer that this may be done without risk to public health.

RULE XII—(1) When a piece of ground is granted by Government as a cemetery to a Railway Company for the interment of its own servants, which afterwards keeps it in repair and provides the necessary establishment, so that beyond the original grant of ground Government is at no expense, the collection and application of fees accruing is left to the decision of the Railway Company which maintains the cemetery in good order and repair.

(2)—The Commissioner or District or Judicial Officer, and in military stations the officer commanding should inspect such cemeteries and report to Government if they find them negligently kept.

III.

Other Ecclesiastical Fees.

RULE I—No fees are charged for the performance of the rite of baptism or burial, or for the registration of the performance of these offices.

RULE II—In addition to the fee for the Surrogate's license, a fee of Rs 10 shall be charged on all marriages by license, except the marriages of officers and others in the Military or Naval Service of Her Majesty.

RULE III—The fee for a Surrogate's license shall be Rs 50 both at the Presidency towns and in the interior. No fee shall be charged on marriages by banns.

RULE IV—When registers are searched and a copy of any entry given, a fee of rupee one shall be charged for the first year,† and four annas for every additional year over which the search may extend, as well as a fee of rupee one for the certificate. Soldiers, sailors and non-commissioned and petty officers are exempted from payment.

† The first year shall be taken to mean any one year indicated by the applicant.

NOTE—The amount of fees payable for marriages performed, and for searching registers kept in accordance with the provisions of Act XV of 1872 (The Indian Christian Marriage Act) is fixed by each Local Government.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Home Department (Ecclesiastical),—Nos 6—370 382, dated Simla, the 9th November 1876

Read Home Department Resolution Nos 314 to 318, dated 6th October 1875, appointing a Committee to report upon the following matters connected with ecclesiastical administration —

- (1) The framing of joint-estimates for expenditure on cemeteries or churches by the Executive Engineer and the Clergyman in charge
- (2) A revision of establishments for cemeteries according to their area
- (3) The size of monuments and amount of ground that may be enclosed
- (4) Provision for planting cemeteries and preserving them in decent order
- (5) Mode of supply of certain articles of church furniture
- (6) The substitution of three for two classes of churches with respect to the expenditure allowed for them by Government

Read the Report of the Committee, dated 29th October 1875

RESOLUTION

* The Report of the Committee has been considered by the Governor General in Council, who desires to express to the Committee his satisfaction at the result of their labours

The following rules have been approved relative to the subjects referred to the Committee for report —

1 Churches and cemeteries have already been divided into two classes (1) those in stations where there are military cantonments and the military works in which are under the charge of the Inspector General of Military Works, and (2) those in other military cantonments and civil stations

In both classes of stations joint-estimates* of expenditure should be framed annually by the under-mentioned officers —

(a) In the case of all expenditure connected with establishments, e g, pay of servants, alterations in their pay or number, &c, also all expenditure by Government connected with the provision of articles of church furniture supplied by the Civil Department } By the Chief Magistrate of the District and by the Chaplain

(b) In the case of all expenditure connected with repairs and additions to church fabric, to church compound or cemetery walls, to cemetery gates, walks, wells, chaukidars or other church servants' houses, provision of necessary appliances for graves or for the repair of tombs or for the planting of trees and shrubs in cemeteries and keeping the same in decent order, also all expenditure by Government connected with the provision of articles of church furniture supplied by the Public Works Department } By the Executive Engineer and by the Chaplain

The estimates of expenditure to be prepared by the Executive Engineer and the Chaplain* should show distinctly the probable charge under each of the following heads —

I—New works connected with additions to existing churches and improvements to church compounds

II—New supplies of furniture for churches and sanctioned articles of church use

III—New works connected with additions to existing burial-grounds

IV—Repairs to churches and church furniture and maintenance of church compounds

V—Repairs to burial-grounds to be executed by Public Works Officers

VI—Repairs to burial-grounds, including planting and cleaning, to be entrusted to the Chaplain or Chief Civil or Military Officer of the Station or Cantonment under para 4

It would be convenient if distinct estimates were prepared for each of these classes of expenditure

The provision of funds to meet the charges above enumerated will be made in the budget-estimate for the Public Works Department. The estimates for the same will be subject to the scrutiny of and be passed by the Superintending or Chief Engineer or Local Government or Administration, according to the rules in force in the Public Works Department

In stations in which the churches and burial-grounds are under the Local Governments and Administrations in which the Provincial Service arrangements are in force, the charges debitable to the Public Works Department will be provided for in the Provincial Public Works budget-estimate. In other Provinces and in the Military Works Branch the charge will be provided for in the Imperial Public Works budget-estimate under Civil Buildings

2 The following scale of establishments should be maintained at all cemeteries —

- (i) for a cemetery of which the area is five acres or less, one mali-chaukidar,
- (ii) for a cemetery of which the area is more than five and less than 10 acres, one mali-chaukidar and one assistant coolie,
- (iii) for a cemetery of which the area is more than 10 and less than 15 acres, one mali-chaukidar and two assistant coolies,
- (iv) for a cemetery of which the area is more than 15 acres, one mali-chaukidar and three assistant coolies

It is left to the Local Governments and Administrations to determine the proper wages to be given to each servant. The cost of this establishment will be charged to Provincial Services in the case of those Local Governments and Administrations in which the Provincial Service arrangements are in force, and in the case of other Local Governments and Administrations and the Military Works Branch of the Public Works Department to Imperial Funds. In either case the charge will be included in the Civil budget-estimate

3 The size of kutchas and pukka graves should be limited to 8' x 4', and the amount of ground to be enclosed should be restricted to 11' x 7', by external measurement in both cases. No monument

* NOTE—The estimates should be for the financial year and should be prepared in advance, as is prescribed for other budget-estimates over a pukka grave must exceed 8' x 4' at the base, except with the previous sanction of the Local Government concerned. A simple cross or head-stone on an adequate masonry foundation, not exceeding 3' x 2', is the only monument that should be allowed over a kutchra grave, no kutchra grave should be enclosed by a railing.

4 No portion of the receipts from cemeteries should be retained by any Government officer to be directly expended by himself, all such receipts should be paid into the Civil Treasury to the credit of the Public Works Department. In the case of receipts from cemeteries in charge of the Military Works Branch and under those Governments and Administrations in which the Provincial Service arrangements are not in force, the credit will be treated in the Public Works accounts as a receipt under Imperial Public Works Revenue. In the case of the other Governments and Administrations the credit will be raised to Provincial Service Public Works Revenue. But the amount passed upon the joint-estimate framed by the Executive Engineer and Chaplain to provide for planting a cemetery and preserving it in decent order should be entrusted to the Chaplain where there is one. Where there is no resident Chaplain, the amount should be placed at the disposal of the Chief Magistrate on the spot, or of the senior Military Officer if the cemetery is attached to military cantonment. The necessary funds for the purpose will be advanced by the Executive Engineer concerned to the Chaplain or Civil or Military Officer. Bills for the expenditure should be rendered by the officer to whom the advance has been made, either monthly or otherwise, to the Executive Engineer, who will charge for the amount thereof in the usual way in his accounts. Until the bills are received and charged off, the advance will be placed in the Miscellaneous Advance Account of the Executive Engineer. All planting of shrubs and trees by private persons in cemeteries should be under the control of the Chaplain if resident, otherwise under that of the Magistrate or senior Military Officer, as the case may be. When practicable a well should be sunk in or near every cemetery.

In connection with the preservation of cemeteries in decent order attention is invited to the rule cited on the margin. This rule, however, should not be applied to monuments of historical or archaeological interests. Lists of such tombs should be obtained by Local Governments and Administrations, and as many of them as may be properly preserved at the public expense should be looked after by the local Public Works Department.

The Chaplain should communicate with the friends of the deceased when a monument needs repairing, and if it falls into a ruinous condition, and no party will undertake to restore it, the ruined monument must be made level with the ground during the next repairs, and any slab it contained must be placed over the grave in simple masonry or be inserted in the wall by the Government officer. —(Rule VIII, Diocese of Calcutta Burial ground Rules)

5 It should be understood that the Government cannot provide cemeteries at the public expense for Native Christian communities.

NOTE.—Where their number is small, the question is of little importance and is best arranged by mutual concessions or by special provisions made locally by the parties immediately concerned. And I am to suggest for His Lordships (Bishops) consideration, whether if the necessity of dealing at the present time with this matter of Native Christian interment be in his judgment unavoidably established it should not be carefully examined in consultation with the several Local Governments having regard to the diverse needs and circumstances of the population in each separate province.

6 It is not considered necessary to make any alteration in the existing rules regarding the mode of supply of church furniture.

7 Further orders will be passed on the 6th point referred to the Committee for report.

8 The arrangements for making the necessary preparations for digging graves, preparing coffins, and the like, should rest in military stations upon the senior Military Officer, and in civil stations upon the chief Local Magistrate. These officers are authorized to direct any Local Public Works Officer to supply all that is necessary. The "Local Public Works Officer" would usually be the Executive Engineer of Military Works in military stations, and the Civil Executive Engineer in other stations. The expenditure incurred by the Executive Engineer will be held in his Miscellaneous Advance Account until repaid by the officer authorizing the expenditure. But in cases of necessity or emergency either officer may be called upon to do what is required.

NOTE.—The intention of this paragraph is to provide an ultimate authority in case of difficulty, and existing arrangements need not be disturbed.

RESOLUTION

On a reconsideration of the subject, the Government of India think it necessary to modify the rules contained in the Resolution of 8th September 1875, so far as regards the burial of deceased Roman Catholics. The Government of India have now decided

1st, that at stations where there is a Roman Catholic Priest drawing an allowance from Government, he shall be held bound to read the burial service over the body of every deceased Roman Catholic brought for burial, unless he be excused from doing so by the rubrics and canons of the Roman Catholic Church; and that when the Roman Catholic Priest refuses to read the burial service over the body of a deceased Roman Catholic soldier, the military authorities shall make proper arrangements for the decent interment of the corpse,

2ndly, that where there is no Roman Catholic Priest paid by the State, the Protestant Chaplain shall, if requested by the friends of the deceased, or by the officer commanding, be bound to bury the deceased according to the rites and ritual of the Church of England, except in either of the three cases in which Protestant Chaplains in India are excused from burying a deceased Protestant, viz, dying unbaptized even by lay baptism, excommunicated by the major excommunication, or declared to be felo de se, and that when a Protestant Chaplain refuses to officiate at the burial of a deceased Roman Catholic soldier on either of the three above-mentioned grounds, the military authorities shall, as in the case of refusal by a Roman Catholic Priest, make proper arrangements for the decent interment of the corpse,

3rdly, that whenever, with or without furnishing any explanation of his reasons, a Roman Catholic Priest paid by the State or a Protestant Chaplain refuses to perform the funeral rites of his Church over the body of a deceased Roman Catholic soldier, the circumstances of the case should be fully reported by the military authorities for the consideration and orders of the Government of India

2 The Governor General in Council is accordingly pleased to direct the modification in the above sense of the provisions of paragraphs 15 to 19 inclusive of the Resolution, 8th September 1875

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE, AND COMMERCE.

NOTIFICATIONS—FIBRES AND SILK

Simla, the 31st August 1877

No. 45.—In 1871 the Government of India offered a prize of £5,000 to the inventor of the best machine or process for the preparation of the fibre of the Bomarea nivea (popularly known under the names of rhea, ramie, and China grass), and the terms on which machines would be admitted to competition were widely notified in India, in Europe, and in America. Many persons declared their intention to compete, but ultimately only one machine was actually brought to the place of trial. The machine, having been carefully tested at Saharanpur in the autumn of 1872, was found imperfect in some important respects, and the inventor was adjudged not entitled to the full reward. He was, however, presented with £1,500 in consideration of the partial measure of success he had attained after great perseverance.

2 This machine has not since been adapted by the inventor to practical use, and no improved process of preparing the fibre of the rhea has been yet discovered by other persons. Meanwhile, the demand for rhea continues, and the conditions which induced the Government of India in 1871 to offer a prize remain substantially unchanged.

3 His Honour the President in Council, therefore, considers that it is desirable to renew the offer, and it is accordingly hereby notified that a reward of fifty thousand rupees will be paid to the inventor of the best machine or process which will separate the bark and fibre from the stem, and the fibre from the bark, of the Bomarea nivea.

4 A smaller reward, not exceeding ten thousand rupees, will be given to the inventor of the next best machine or process, provided it is adjudged to possess merit and to be capable without difficulty of adaptation to practical use.

5 What is required is a machine or process capable of producing, by animal, water, or steam power, a ton of dressed fibre of a quality which shall average in value not less than £15 per ton in the English market, at a total cost, including all processes of preparation and all needful allowances for wear and tear, of not more than £15 per ton, laid down at any port of shipment in India, and £30 in England, after payment of all the charges usual in trade before goods reach the hands of the manufacturer. The processes of preparation are to be understood to include all the operations required subsequent to the cutting of the stems from the plants in the field, until the fibre is in a condition fit to be packed for conveyance to the market.

6. The machinery employed must be simple, strong, durable, and inexpensive, and should be suited for erection in the plantations where the rhea is grown. It must be adapted for treatment of the fresh stems, as cut from the plant. The treatment of dried stems offers certain difficulties, and the fibre prepared from them must, moreover, always be much more costly than the fibre produced from green stems. Except during the hot dry weather preceding the rains in Upper India (where rhea grows best), it is very difficult so to dry the stems that no fermentation or mildew shall occur. But during this season the stems are comparatively short and the crop poor and stunted, unless it is artificially irrigated, and such irrigation greatly increases the cost of cultivation. In the rainy season the plant is in fine condition, but at this season it is almost impossible to dry the stems in quantity without injuring the fibre, unless recourse is had to artificial means of desiccation, which greatly increase the cost of the material. It is therefore obvious that the attention of inventors should be given to the discovery of a process for the treatment of the green stems.

7 The trials will be held at Saharanpur in the North-Western Provinces in the months of August and September 1879. Machines entered for competition should be placed in situ and be ready for work not later than the 15th August, the competition commencing on the next day. The judges will be appointed by the Government, and they will watch the whole of the trials. But the machines shall be worked and adjusted by the competitors themselves, and no person shall touch a machine without the consent of the inventor.

8 The Government of India will provide proper shelter and accommodation at Saharanpur for all the competing machines as well as the motive power required. It will also pay for the transport from the sea-coast to Saharanpur of all machines up to the limit of one ton each, the freight on any excess weight to be defrayed by the owners. The present rate of freight by rail from Calcutta to Saharanpur is Rs. 3-10 per maund, or Rs. 98-11 per ton, and from Bombay to Saharanpur Rs. 4-1 per maund, or Rs. 110-9 per ton. A free second class ticket to Saharanpur will also be given to any person in charge of a machine.

9. The owner or owners of the successful machine or machines shall not be entitled to receive the reward offered except on the following conditions, viz.—

- (1) That a complete technical description of the machine, illustrated by plans drawn to scale, shall be prepared and published (Government paying the cost) for the information of the public.
- (2) That after the expiry of three years from the date on which the award is made, the public shall have the right of manufacturing similar machines, on payment to the owner of a royalty of 10 per cent. on the cost of each machine so manufactured.

10 All persons desiring to compete under the terms and on the conditions specified above are requested to make known their intention not later than the 31st December 1878, giving the following particulars —

1. Name in full and residence. *
- 2 Profession or occupation. C
- 3 Number of different kinds of machines entered for competition
- 4 Brief description of each machine

Intending competitors will at the same time declare themselves bound (under penalty of disqualification of the competing machines and forfeiture of all claim to the Government reward) to conform to all rules which may be prescribed by Government, or by the judges appointed by Government in connection with the conduct of the trials

All notices of intention to compete and applications for information should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce, Calcutta

11 A limited quantity of rhea will be grown in the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, and persons desirous of testing their machines before entering them for public competition may obtain green stems in small quantities from the Superintendent of the gardens through this Department.

To His Excellency the Right Honorable the Governor General of India in Council

MY LORD,—I have to inform your Excellency that papers have been communicated to me by the Foreign Office relative to a new Commercial Tariff for Mozambique, and that in reply to an enquiry by the Earl of Derby, I have expressed to his Lordship my opinion that the publication of the tariff is desirable. Meanwhile I forward, for your information, a copy of the schedules of the revised import and export duties

2 I take this opportunity of requesting that in the Annual Trade Statements issued under the orders of your Government the trade with Mozambique and that with Zanzibar, which are at present included under the general heading of "Eastern Coast of Africa," may be separately shewn

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient humble Servant,

SALISBURY.

17. Fees to be levied on proceedings instituted on account of any seizures, or of any infraction of the fiscal regulations, and on auctions. The fees, as specified in the schedule of fees of the judicial tribunals, which may be in force in the province, as far as they may be applicable. For this purpose the Director of the Custom House is placed on the same footing as the Judge, the Custom House scrivener as the judicial officer of the same name, the public crier, and the Customs' guards who serve the legal notices as the judicial officers, but the total amount shall be put into the coffers either of the internal or of the external officials, according as the case may be

- A No fees are to be recovered from any vessels which do not effect any commercial operation
- B These items do not form part of the revenue derived from fees, which is placed in the coffer set apart for the purpose, but are received in full by the Customs' officials who perform the service
- C These items form part of the revenue which is placed in the coffers of the guards of the respective Custom House, and are only received on account of the stay of the Customs' guards on boardship in the following cases —
1. After 10 days shall have elapsed since the date of the arrival of the ship
  2. Whenever the Customs' guards shall be acting as health guards on board ships in quarantine.
  3. Whenever any provisions or extra stores are kept on board after the vessel is unloaded, and at the request of the respective parties.

- 4 Whenever a vessel having on board the whole or part of the cargo is being repaired
- 5 Whenever leave is applied for to load and unload at the same time
- 6 Whenever a ship shall load, unload, or trans-ship cargo, or be placed under "frankia," that is, be granted permission to retain cargo on board for other ports outside the usual anchorage where ships under the Custom House supervision are in the habit to anchor

Should there not be a sufficient number of Customs' guards, application is to be made to the proper military authority for a number of soldiers who, in addition to their pay, will receive an allowance of 200 reis (10*d*) per diem, to be paid by the Treasury, provided it is not one of the cases mentioned in the six foregoing numbers, and out of the Customs' guards' coffer, should the contrary be the case, but the difference between the 200 reis (10*d*) and the 400 reis (1*s* 9*d*) paid by the ship is to be placed in the said coffer

	Panniers, hampers, large baskets, baskets, small barrels, tin cases, small panniers, round baskets, baskets (cabaças), and wooden grates	6 "
Any other merchandise when not weighed out of the tares	Parcels that are cased or covered with oil skin cloth, besides the respective tare, an additional allowance of	2 "
	Vases or earthenware	25 "
	Bottles of glass	10 "

Note A

The tares of liquids are mentioned, although these articles do not pay duty by weight, because it is by weight that a more correct estimate can be formed of the quantity of liquid contained in the different casks, for which purpose the following process ought to be adopted — Let the cask be weighed, deduct the respective tare, the remainder (in kilogrammes) must be divided by the number of grammes which is equal to a litre of wine, brandy, or of any other liquid, as the case may be, and the quotient will give the number of litres contained in the cask. In order to know the proper weight of the litre, there must be a duly gauged measure, with the allowance for tare marked thereon

NOTICE

To

RADHAGOBIND SHAW, son of BROJOLOLL SHAW, now or late of Dacca

Take notice, that whereas the sum of Rs 64,673-14-1 and interest thereon at the rate of 5 per cent per annum is now due from you, the said Radhagobind Shaw, and from your firm of Brojololl, Radhagobind Shaw, to the Bank of Bengal, a corporation carrying on business in the Strand Road, Calcutta, in respect of a certain decree in suit No 169 of 1876, of the Court of the District Judge of Zillah Dacca, wherein the said Bank are plaintiffs and you are defendant, and whereas payment thereof has been demanded from you and your said firm by the said Bank and refused by you on behalf of yourself and the said firm, and whereas there is now standing in the name of you Radhagobind Shaw capital stock of the Bank of Bengal amounting to Rs 17,454-8-8 in the books of the said Bank. Now know you that unless the said sum or debt of Rs 64,673-14-1 and interest thereon at the rate of 5 per cent per annum from the 4th day of December 1877 up to date of payment shall be repaid to the said Bank during the space of three months from the 15th day of December 1877, the said Bank will cause the said stock to be advertized for sale and sold by public auction and apply the proceeds of such sale in or towards payment of the said debt and of all interest due thereon in manner prescribed by Section 17 of The Presidency Banks' Act, 1876. This notice is given under the said Section 17 of the said Act, and in virtue of all other powers and rights which the said Bank may have in this behalf.

Dated this 7th day of December 1877

* These figures are for the weeks ending 17th and 24th November respectively

In the Satara district there has been a general and very beneficial fall of rain, and in a few places in some other districts there have been showers which have been useful so far as they extended

2° The fall of prices in Satara and the Kanarese Districts has received a check In Ahmednagar and Poona there is improvement

3 The average daily number of labourers upon relief works for the period of five days ending with the 30th November was 11,859 This is only slightly less than the average of the previous week, the reason being that in Sholapur and Ratnagiri the numbers have increased As, on the whole, the numbers were diminishing, and as also the Kaladgi returns extend only to the 24th November, the number of persons to be discharged on the 30th was presumably something less than 11,000 The only districts in which the number is at all considerable are Sholapur, Poona, Nasik and Ratnagiri Of the 5,000 at Sholapur more than half are engaged upon the Ashti tank, where work will still be available for them as ordinary labourers Almost all of the Poona labourers, too, are on Irrigation works, which will be continued as ordinary works The 1,750 at Nasik are all employed on the railway, and they, too, will probably be able to remain on the work as ordinary labourers Indeed there is no certainty that many of the large number shown as relief labourers on the railway in the Nasik District for the last few weeks should not rather have been deemed ordinary labourers There remain for consideration about 2,000 persons employed on roads in Sholapur, and 1,300 persons employed in Ratnagiri Explanation of the sudden increase in these two items has not yet been received On the other hand, no objection to closing all relief works on the 30th November has been put forward by any officer

5 The usual written reports have not been received from the Collectors of Ahmednagar or Kaladgi this week In the other districts the reaping of the autumn and the sowing of the spring crops are both drawing to a close The spring crops in the ground require rain everywhere, and in some places are withering for want of it

6 The following table gives the expenditure by Government, during the week ending 17th November, upon gratuitous relief, and in payments made to the young children of labourers employed upon relief works The number of children has fallen during the week from 6,480 to 1,407 The number of persons being gratuitously relieved can still not be stated accurately, as complete returns have not been received from the Collectors of Satara and Kaladgi It may be taken approximately as 19,656 This gives a decrease of 482 —

7 In the following table are enumerated the works under Public Works Department Agency, upon which the average daily number of persons employed has amounted to five hundred for the week ending 24th ultimo. The total number engaged on these large works constitutes 58.69 per cent of the whole number of labourers upon relief works —

8 Tables A and B are brought up to the week ending 24th ultimo. The number of persons on works under Public Works Department Agency in the nine affected districts was at this date 11,886, and on works under Civil Agency 1,090. The percentage of persons upon works under Civil Agency has thus fallen during the week from 12.3 to 8.4 per cent of the whole number employed. The total expenditure upon works in the nine affected districts has amounted to Rs 1,03,55,140, which, with the expenditure of Rs 1,39,213 upon works in Ratnagiri and Kanara, and Rs 10,80,554 from the Collectors' Discretionary Allowances, gives a total of Rs 1,15,74,907.

9 The table showing the condition of the affected Native States is appended as usual. The reduction of the number of persons on relief works in Kolhapur continues, but is still high, considering the prices that prevail and the not unfavourable state of the season.

10 During the week ending 1st December, 539 tons of food-grains were exported from Bombay to the Southern Maratha Ports, and 1,118 tons were carried by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway to stations upon the Poona-Sholapur and Bhusawal-Nasik lines, making a total of 1,657 tons for the week. This is more by 467 tons than the importations of the previous week. The table below shows the quantities of grain sent by sea and rail from October 1876 till the 1st December 1877 to the Southern Maratha Ports and the Railway Stations in the distressed districts. It will be seen that the total amount delivered up to the 1st December was 434,000 tons —

11. There have been decreases during the week of 2,148 in the number of labourers on relief works, 2,073 in that of young children, and 482 in that of people on gratuitous relief.

12 With a view of ascertaining how far the numbers of the rural population may have been affected by the famine, which has now happily terminated, orders have been issued for a census to be taken on the night of the 19th January 1878 in selected talukas in different parts of the affected districts, the result of which will be duly published hereafter.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS
FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 11TH DECEMBER 1877

GENERAL REMARKS.—In Madras excessive rain is reported to have done some damage in parts of South Arcot, Tinjore, Trichinopoly, Madura, Coimbatore, and Tinnevelly, prospects are, however, generally good, except in Ganjam and Vizagapatam. The total number on works is now 208,507, 29,280 less than last week, and on gratuitous relief 317,001, 48,588 less than last week. Only light showers have fallen in Mysore, sowing and harvesting continue, and the standing crops are in good condition, the number on works on the 1st instant was 66,277, and on charitable relief 19,480, 6,810 and 1,975 less than in the previous week. In Bombay heavy showers are reported from Khandesh and Násik, and lighter falls from Ahmednagar, Poona and Sholapur, rain is wanted in Guzerat and Kaladgi. In Sind the river continues high, its sudden rise did some damage to the crops in the low-lying lands. In the Central Provinces there has been general rain, except in the Eastern Districts, it was heavy in the Sâtpura and Nerbudda Valleys the rabi has much benefited, but the kharif has in parts been somewhat damaged, general prospects are however very favourable. In Berar 4 inches of rain are reported from Amráoti, the kharif and the rabi have both slightly suffered in consequence. In Central India general, and in many places heavy, rain is reported from Malwa, it has everywhere been beneficial, and prospects have greatly improved. In Rajputana reports have been received only from Ajmere and Marwar, in the former rain has fallen. In Bengal slight but beneficial rain has fallen in several districts of Behar, Chota Nagpore and the Bhâgalpur and Rajshahi divisions. The harvest of the late rice progresses, with an outturn above the average, except in parts of the Patna division, the state of the crops in the south of Pooree continues to grow worse, and relief works have been set on foot. In Assam prospects are good. In Burma there has been no rain, the crops generally promise well. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh heavy rain fell throughout the provinces between the 9th and 10th, its effect on the rabi crops and on pasturage will be most beneficial. In the Punjab also there was a general fall, extending to the Southern Districts, where it was much needed, prospects are now very favourable.

NOTIFICATIONS—FIBRES AND SILK

Simla, the 31st August 1877

No 45—In 1871 the Government of India offered a prize of £5,000 to the inventor of the best machine or process for the preparation of the fibre of the Bohmeria nivea (popularly known under the names of rheca, ramie, and China grass), and the terms on which machines would be admitted to competition were widely notified in India, in Europe, and in America. Many persons declared their intention to compete, but ultimately only one machine was actually brought to the place of trial. The machine, having been carefully tested at Saharunpur in the autumn of 1872, was found imperfect in some important respects, and the inventor was adjudged not entitled to the full reward. He was, however, presented with £1,500 in consideration of the partial measure of success he had attained after great perseverance.

2 This machine has not since been adapted by the inventor to practical use, and no improved process of preparing the fibre of the rheca has been yet discovered by other persons. Meanwhile, the demand for rheca continues, and the conditions which induced the Government of India in 1871 to offer a prize remain substantially unchanged.

3 His Honour the President in Council, therefore, considers that it is desirable to renew the offer, and it is accordingly hereby notified that a reward of fifty thousand rupees will be paid to the inventor of the best machine or process which will separate the bark and fibre from the stem, and the fibre from the bark, of the Bohmeria nivea.

4 A smaller reward, not exceeding ten thousand rupees, will be given to the inventor of the next best machine or process, provided it is adjudged to possess merit and to be capable without difficulty of adaptation to practical use.

5 What is required is a machine or process capable of producing, by animal, water, or steam power, a ton of dressed fibre of a quality which shall average in value not less than £15 per ton in the English market, at a total cost, including all processes of preparation and all needful allowance for wear and tear, of not more than £15 per ton, laid down at any port of shipment in India, and £30 in England, after payment of all the charges usual in trade before goods reach the hands of the manufacturer. The processes of preparation are to be understood to include all the operations required subsequent to the cutting of the stems from the plants in the field, until the fibre is in a condition fit to be packed for conveyance to the market.

6. The machinery employed must be simple, strong, durable, and inexpensive, and should be suited for erection in the plantations where the rheca is grown. It must be adapted for treatment of the fresh stems, as cut from the plant. The treatment of dried stems offers certain difficulties, and the fibre prepared from them must, moreover, always be much more costly than the fibre produced from green stems.

Except during the hot dry weather preceding the rains in Upper India (where rehea grows best), it is very difficult so to dry the stems that no fermentation or mildew shall occur. But during this season the stems are comparatively short and the crop poor and stunted, unless it is artificially irrigated, and such irrigation greatly increases the cost of cultivation. In the rainy season the plant is in fine condition, but at this season it is almost impossible to dry the stems in quantity without injuring the fibre, unless recourse is had to artificial means of desiccation, which greatly increase the cost of the material. It is therefore obvious that the attention of inventors should be given to the discovery of a process for the treatment of the green stems.

7 The trials will be held at Sahāranpur in the North-Western Provinces in the months of August and September 1879. Machines entered for competition should be placed in situ and be ready for work not later than the 15th August, the competition commencing on the next day. The judges will be appointed by the Government, and they will watch the whole of the trials. But the machines shall be worked and adjusted by the competitors themselves, and no person shall touch a machine without the consent of the inventor.

8 The Government of India will provide proper shelter and accommodation at Sahāranpur for all the competing machines as well as the motive power required. It will also pay for the transport from the sea-coast to Sahāranpur of all machines up to the limit of one ton each, the freight on any excess weight to be defrayed by the owners. The present rate of freight by rail from Calcutta to Sahāranpur is Rs 3-10 per maund, or Rs 98-11 per ton, and from Bombay to Sahāranpur Rs 4-1 per maund, or Rs 110 9 per ton. A free second class ticket to Sahāranpur will also be given to any person in charge of a machine.

9 The owner or owners of the successful machine or machines shall not be entitled to receive the reward offered except on the following conditions, viz —

- (1) That a complete technical description of the machine, illustrated by plans drawn to scale, shall be prepared and published (Government paying the cost) for the information of the public.
- (2) That after the expiry of three years from the date on which the award is made, the public shall have the right of manufacturing similar machines, on payment to the owner of a royalty of 10 per cent on the cost of each machine so manufactured.

10 All persons desiring to compete under the terms and on the conditions specified above are requested to make known their intention not later than the 31st December 1878, giving the following particulars —

- 1 Name in full and residence
- 2 Profession or occupation
- 3 Number of different kinds of machines entered for competition
- 4 Brief description of each machine

Intending competitors will at the same time declare themselves bound (under penalty of disqualification of the competing machines and forfeiture of all claim to the Government reward) to conform to all rules which may be prescribed by Government, or by the judges appointed by Government in connection with the conduct of the trials.

All notices of intention to compete and applications for information should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce, Calcutta.

11 A limited quantity of rehea will be grown in the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, and persons desirous of testing their machines before entering them for public competition may obtain green stems in small quantities from the Superintendent of the gardens through this Department.

COMMERCE AND TRADE
Calcutta, the 21st December 1877

No. 513 — The Governor-General in Council is pleased, in the exercise of the power conferred by Section 3 of Act XI of 1850, to make the following rules for calculating the measurement for tonnage of such native decked ships and vessels employed in coasting voyages or between India and Ceylon as may be registered under that section in British Burma —

Hull Measure the length along the deck from the afterpart of the stem to the forepart of the stern post.
Secondly — The breadth from the broadest part from skin to skin.
Thirdly — The depth from under the tonnage deck down the pump well to skin.
Multiply these three dimensions together and divide the product by 130, and the quotient will be the tonnage of the hull of such vessel.

If the vessel have a poop or other closed-in space, measure the inside length, breadth and height of such part thereof as may be included within the bulk-heads, whether enclosed within the foremost bulkhead or not.
Multiply these three measurements together and divide the product by 92 4, the quotient will be the number of tons to be added to the tonnage of hull of such vessel.

NOTE — In measuring breadth, the skin is the inner side of the inner planking, and if a boat or vessel has no inner planking, a thin batten laid on or against the inner side of the timbers would represent the inner skin, and in measuring depth, the floor timber, or, in its absence, the upper part of the keelson shall represent the skin.

No 2776.—The following Despatch from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No 384, dated 15th November 1877, with enclosures, is published for general information —

FINANCIAL INDIA OFFICE,
No 381 London, the 15th November 1877

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council

MY LORD,—I forward herewith copy of the Report of the Deputy Master of the Royal Mint, dated 24th October 1877, on the Pyx coins of the Calcutta and Bombay Mints for the year 1876

2 The Report states that "the Standard weight of the coins has been maintained with the usual accuracy, and their average composition, as ascertained by assay, is satisfactory"

3 As intimated in the Financial Despatch to your Government, dated the 11th November 1869, No 387, you will observe that putting assays have been made of the Silver coins of both the Mints, in order to ascertain the average proportion of gold contained in them, the result of which is shown in the Report

4 A copy of the Report has been transmitted to the Government of Bombay

ROYAL MINT,

The 24th October 1877

To the Secretary, Treasury

SIR,—The examination of the Pyx coins of the Indian Mints, transmitted to me by direction of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury on the 17th ultimo, being completed, I have the honor to report on the weight and fineness of the coins and to return the bullion remaining

The coins were first weighed singly by the Mint Balance and were then handed to one of the Assayers of the Mint, by whom each coin has been separately assayed and reported on

The Standard weight of the coins has been maintained with the usual accuracy, and their average composition, as ascertained by assay, is satisfactory

In accordance with the directions of Their Lordships, I have caused "putting" assays to be made of the Silver coins of each Presidency, in order to ascertain the average proportion of gold contained in them, and the result is shown in my Report These assays have been made in the manner detailed in my Report of the 25th October 1869

CIVIL PENSION CODEThe 21st December 1877*

No. 2798—The Governor General in Council directs the publication of the following Addenda and Corrigenda to the Codes of the Financial Department —

The following despatch from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India is published for general information —

FINANCIAL. INDIA OFFICE,
No 342 London, 25th October 1877

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council

MY LORD,—I have considered in Council your Financial letter, dated the 18th August 1877, No 241, recommending that Uncovenanted Officers may be allowed to retire on a superannuation pension at the age of 55 years without producing medical evidence of inefficiency

- You point out that, under existing rules, an Uncovenanted Officer who has attained the age of 55 years is only eligible for privilege leave, and for any special leave to which he may be entitled, and you consider it inequitable that an officer should be deprived of the privilege of furlough because he has attained to a certain age, and yet not allowed to retire without a certificate of inefficiency, which he may not be able to procure
- Your proposition is approved, on the understanding that a superannuation pension will only be granted to an officer who would be entitled to a pension of like amount if he had retired on medical certificate.

In accordance with the orders contained in this despatch, His Excellency in Council directs the following additions to the Civil Pension Code and amendments thereof —

Section 56 (page 29)

INSERT BEFORE "compelled," "entitled or" AND ADD RULE 5 ON PAGE 31—An officer in a superior grade who has attained the age of fifty five years may, at his option, retire from the service on a superannuation pension

STRIKE OUT THE LAST SENTENCE OF PRESENT RULE 1, PAGE 30

With the sanction of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council, the Governor General in Council directs that the following be substituted for Section 59 on page 49 —

Section 59—A pension or gratuity is payable as follows —

I—If it is stated in Rupees—

(a)—at any Treasury of the Government of India in India, or

(b)—if the recipient is resident elsewhere than in Asia, at his option at the Home Treasury of the Government of India, at the rate of exchange fixed yearly for the adjustment of financial transactions between the Imperial and Indian Governments

II—If the amount is stated in Sterling—

(a)—at the Home Treasury of the Government of India, or

(b)—if the recipient is resident in Asia, at his option at any Treasury of the Government of India in India, at the rate of exchange fixed yearly for the adjustment of financial transactions between the Imperial and Indian Governments

Omit the words from "at the rate of exchange" to the end in Rule 1 under Section 59, and for the words "Rule 1" in Rule 2 under the same section substitute the following. —

"The Rule for the payment at the Home Treasury of a pension at the rate of exchange fixed yearly for the adjustment of financial transactions between the Imperial and Indian Governments"

A Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to arms, ammunition and military stores, It is hereby enacted as follows —

I—Preliminary

- 1 This Act may be called “The Indian Arms Act, 187 ”, and it extends to the whole of British India

But nothing herein contained shall apply to—

(a) arms, ammunition or military stores on board any vessel and forming part of the ordinary armament or equipment of such vessel, or

(b) the manufacture, repair, sale, import, export, transport, bearing or possession of arms, ammunition or military stores by order of the Government, or by a public servant or a volunteer enrolled under the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869, in the course of his duty as such public servant or volunteer

- 2 This Act shall come into force on such day as the Governor General in Council by notification in the Gazette of India appoints

3 On and from that day the enactments mentioned in the first schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent specified in the third column of the said schedule But all authorities and permissions given, licenses and exemptions granted, orders and appointments made, notifications published, and rules, conditions and forms prescribed under any enactment hereby repealed shall be deemed to be respectively given, granted, made, published and prescribed under this Act

- 4 In this Act and the second schedule hereto annexed, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

“Cannon” includes also howitzer, mortar, mitrailleuse and other ordnance

“Arms” includes also cannon and parts of arms, and machinery for manufacturing the same

“Ammunition” includes also rockets, gun-cotton, fulminating material, gunflints, gunwads, percussion caps, fuses, and parts of projectiles and cartridges, and machinery for manufacturing the same, but does not include lead, sulphur or saltpetre

“License” means a license granted under this Act, and “licensed” means holding such license

“Military stores” in any section of this Act means any military stores to which the Governor

General in Council may from time to time extend such section, and includes also all lead, sulphur, saltpetre and other material to which the Governor General in Council may from time to time extend such section

II—Manufacture, Repair and Sale

5 No person shall manufacture, repair or sell, or keep, offer or expose for sale, any arms, ammunition or military stores except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted by such license

Unlicensed manufacture, repair and sale prohibited

Nothing herein contained shall prevent any person from repairing any arms which he lawfully possesses for his own private use, or from selling any arms or ammunition which he so possesses to any person who is not by any enactment for the time being in force prohibited from possessing the same, but every person so selling arms or ammunition shall, without unnecessary delay, give to the officer in charge of the nearest police-station notice of the sale and of the purchaser's name and address

III—Import, Export and Transport

6 No person shall import or export by sea or by land into or out of British India any arms, ammunition or military stores except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted by such license

Unlicensed importation and exportation prohibited

Nothing in the first clause of this section extends to arms or ammunition imported or exported in reasonable quantities for his own private use by any person lawfully entitled to possess such arms or ammunition, but the Collector of Customs or any other officer empowered by the Local Government in this behalf may at any time detain such arms or ammunition, until he receives the orders of the Local Government thereon

Importation and exportation of arms and ammunition for private use

Explanation—Arms, ammunition or military stores taken from one part of British India to another by sea or across intervening territory not being part of British India are exported and imported within the meaning of this section

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE law relating to arms, ammunition and military stores has long been felt to be in an unsatisfactory state. In some particulars it has been found defective, and on many points it presents difficulties of construction which might at any time prove embarrassing to the Government or entail hardship on innocent persons.

2 So far back as the year 1870 a Bill was introduced to remedy this state of things, but, owing in part to press of work and in part to other causes, it was allowed to stand over.

3 The present Bill is in the main a consolidation of the existing law, and a re-enactment of it in a simpler form with such improvements in points of detail as the experience of the working of the Arms Act of 1860 has shown to be desirable. On two points only does it propose to introduce changes of any importance.

4 The first of these points is dealt with in section 7, which, taken with the second schedule, imposes duties on the importation by sea of arms and parts of arms, &c. Those duties, it will be observed, are fixed without reference to the value of the articles on which they are imposed, and they are so fixed and are pitched, at what may seem at first sight to be high rates, expressly with a view to check the importation of a cheap class of arms, the importation of which has of late years largely increased.

5 Such arms cannot, from their inferior make, be intended for sporting purposes, and there is reason to suspect that a considerable proportion of them finds its way into the hands of the criminal classes in the interior of the country or of the hostile tribes on our frontiers. It has been found very difficult to prevent the transit of such arms from the seaports into the interior of the country and towards the frontiers when once they are imported, and it is believed that the simplest method of checking their importation, and the method least calculated to interfere with the legitimate trade in arms of a superior class, is to impose an uniform duty of the nature proposed.

6 The other point on which the Bill goes to introduce a material change in the existing law is that of the possession of arms. At present the mere possession of arms is prohibited only in certain provinces, which, to use the language of Act XXXI of 1860, have been "disarmed." Throughout the rest of the country, though no person can go armed or carry arms except under a special exemption or by virtue of a license, the mere possession of arms other than cannon is not restricted.

7 Now there is good reason to believe that this complete absence of restriction in the districts which have not been disarmed has led to the law prohibiting the transport of arms and the export of arms across the frontiers being extensively evaded. As long as all persons indiscriminately may have arms in their possession to any amount they please in the districts which have not been disarmed, it is practically impossible to prevent such arms being passed on to the disarmed districts, to the predatory classes in Native States, and to the hostile tribes on our frontiers.

The only remedy seems to be to place the possession of arms throughout the whole of British India under control, and this it is proposed to do by section 11 of the Bill, which requires all such possession to be under a license.

8 It will, however, be observed that ample safeguards are provided to prevent this prohibition pressing unfairly against respectable persons desiring to possess arms for legitimate purposes. Section 11 allows a period of three months after the Bill becomes law within which the possession of arms in the districts not hitherto disarmed will not be illegal, and during which any person in such districts can apply for a license, section 25 enacts that in these districts no person shall be prosecuted for possessing arms without the previous sanction of the Magistrate of the District, section 26 imposes special and very stringent conditions on searches for arms, and lastly, under section 23, the Government may exempt any class of persons from the operation of the prohibition altogether.

9 On the whole it may be safely affirmed that, with a system of licenses granted either without charge or on the payment of small fees, and in cases where it is safe so to grant them for reasonably long periods, the Bill will not, as regards the possession of arms, materially affect the position of any persons to whom the right to possess arms can, with a due regard to the public peace and safety, be conceded.

10 It need only be added that section 3 of the Bill maintains in force all exemptions granted under the present law.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE INDO-EUROPEAN TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1876-77

Nos 385—92 T, dated Simla, 31st October 1877

Read—

Letter from Director in Chief, Indo European Telegraph Department, No 1205, dated 10th August 1877, submitting the above report, and enclosure

OBSERVATIONS—It is reported that, owing to the defective arrangements of the Persian Postal Department, great difficulty is experienced in submitting the report by the date fixed (1st August), the Governor General in Council is therefore pleased to rule that the date of submission be changed from 1st of August to 1st October

Capital and Revenue

2 The figures given in the report are only approximate ones, the accounts not having yet been finally booked

3 The Capital Account has been increased by the addition of £657-11-4, and stood at the end of the year at £1,154,493-7-6

4 The Revenue Account exhibits a loss of £6,140-9-2, by which sum the expenditure exceeded the receipts. In the previous year there was a profit of £10,466, so that the results of the year under review may be said to be worse by £16,606-9-2 than in 1875-76, the profit of that year was, however, due to exceptional causes, and a falling off in 1876-77 was anticipated, this point will be more fully alluded to under the head of "Traffic"

Lines.

5 The length of lines remain very much the same as in the last report, there being only a slight increase in total length of 3 miles due to alterations effected in the course of repairs on the Mekran Coast section

Maintenance and Repairs

6 In the Persian section—Teheran to Bushire—778 new iron poles have been substituted for the old wooden standards, and the wires are now borne entirely upon iron supports

7 The line is reported to be at present in excellent condition, and the pole shooting by which so many standards have been damaged in previous years has, the Governor General in Council is pleased to observe, decreased in a most satisfactory manner, partly owing to improved conservancy arrangements, and partly from the disappearance of some of the worst offenders

8 In the Persian Gulf section several faults have been cut out of the cables of the sub-marine line at different times during the year, and breakages repaired

On the land line of this section, 6,000 old and defective insulators have been replaced by a corresponding number of new ones, and a considerable quantity of corroded wire has been replaced by new material

9 The main cables of the sub-marine line are reported to be in good condition, except the shore ends, which have slightly deteriorated, though not sufficient to cause any impediment to signalling operations

Interruptions

10 Appendix 6 shows the various interruptions on the land line of the Persian Gulf section, and the manner in which they were caused, and Appendix 5 exhibits the interruptions on the sub-marine line of the same section. The former were interrupted in the aggregate for 14 days 9 hours and 13 minutes, and the latter for 30 days 1 hour, but none of these interruptions occasioned cessation of traffic, one or other of the lines being always available for use

11 The interruptions which occurred on the Persian section are exhibited in Appendix 7, and were in the aggregate as follows —

		Days	Hours	Minutes
1	Wire	19	23	13
2	Ditto	3	15	30
3	Ditto	0	20	0

The aggregate cessation of traffic was therefore something less than 1 day, and was caused by violent storms

12 Paragraph 21 of the report shows that some of the interruptions on the Mekran Coast land line were occasioned by wilful cutting of the wires. The matter is being enquired into by the local political authorities

13 Though the interruptions to traffic aggregated only 20 hours on the Government lines as above noted, yet they amounted to as much as 20 days on the Indo-European Company's lines, and were caused by violent storms and snow-falls

14 An alternative wire has lately been erected by the Company between Ekaterinodar, Stavropol, and Tiflis, which will, it is believed, do much to diminish the number of such interruptions on the Company's lines in future

15 The returns of interruptions show considerable improvement over those for last year, and Appendices 5 and 6 give all the requisite information for the Mekran Coast and sub-marine lines, but Appendix 7 for the Persian line is not so complete, and does not show the causes of interruptions. The Governor General in Council requests that this information may be supplied in next year's report

16 Appendix 8 comparing the interruptions for the last three years shows the progressive improvement that has taken place on the Government lines. The Company's system has not been so fortunate, and suffered about four times as much as in 1874-75, though less than in 1875-76. The interruptions occurred chiefly in the neighbourhood of the Caucasus, and were occasioned by heavy falls of snow and storms

17 The Turkish route is reported to have been interrupted in the aggregate for 30 days and 7 hours

Tariff and Traffic

18 Statement J shows that the percentage of messages transmitted through the Persian Gulf section without error is much larger than it was in the previous year, this is very satisfactory. Similar information should have been given for the Persian section, and it is requested that this omission be supplied in future reports.

19 The average speed of transmission of messages through the Persian Gulf section, Statement II, contrasts very favorably with the previous year. Similar information should be given in future regarding the Persian section.

20 Statement G shows that the average speed of transmission of messages between the United Kingdom and Calcutta has improved by 49 minutes via the Indo-European route and by 8 minutes via the Red Sea route as compared with last year, which is satisfactory.

21 The tariff to Europe remained the same throughout 1876-77 as in the previous year, viz, Rs 2-8 per word.

22 The income of 1875-76 was abnormally high owing to the prolonged break of the Red Sea cable during that year, so that the revenue for 1876-77 has been compared by the Director-in-Chief with the more normal year of 1874-75.

23 The revenue for the year 1874-75 amounted to £66,192, while that for 1876-77 is shown to have been £65,035. This decrease is attributed partly to the increase in interruptions on the Indo-European Company's lines, partly to the withdrawal from Persia of a Packing Agency at Bushire, which, however, has recently been re-opened at Tcheran, and partly to the Eastern Extension Company's cable which worked well all through 1871-75, having been disabled for no less than seven months during 1876-77, which accident considerably reduced the Far-East traffic. On the other hand, however, the "Special Times messages" and the diversion of some of the Far-East traffic to the Indo-European route have brought increased revenue, and on the whole the operations of the year may be considered fair.

24 The introduction of the word "Tariff," which came into force on the 1st January 1876, appears to have been much appreciated by the public, as shown by the following comparison —

	1871-75	1875-76
	No	No
Messages transmitted by the Persian Gulf cables	36,941	45,205
Words contained therein	96 <sup>2</sup> ,500	883,913
Revenue derived therefrom	5,89,035	5,83,185

The above figures show that, while the number of messages has increased considerably, the number of words has been much reduced. The revenue on the other hand has remained nearly stationary, so that financially it may be considered that the word tariff has not been unsuccessful, and it is anticipated that the change will eventually lead to an increase of income.

25 As mentioned in paragraph 2, the accounts for 1876-77 had not been finally closed at the date of submitting the report under review, the figures given therein are necessarily approximate only. For the same reason the figures now quoted for 1875-76 do not always agree with those published in the report for that year, and where differences occur, it is in consequence of the adoption of corrected figures.

26 In reviewing the report for 1875-76, the Government of India drew the attention of the Director-in-Chief to several points, of which the following are the most important: (1) that the traffic tables did not distinguish between official and private messages, (2) the notable absence of any tables and details to show the working, &c, of the Persian section, (3) the completion of Table K (J of present report) by giving the percentages of the year as well as of the month.

It is probable that the information required has not been given because of the late date on which orders issued on the last report, but his Excellency in Council trusts that it may be given in the report for the current year

Establishments

27 The Governor General in Council notes with satisfaction that the general conduct of the employés is reported to have been good

---

ORDER—Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director-in-Chief, Indo-European Telegraph Department, for information and guidance

Also, that copies of the Report and Resolution be forwarded to the Director General of Telegraphs, the Government of Bombay, in the Public Works Department, and the Financial, Marine, and Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce Departments for information

Ordered also, that copy of the Report and Resolution be forwarded to the Foreign Department for information, with special reference to paragraphs 10, 11, and 21 of the Report, also Appendix 6

Ordered further, that a copy of the Report and Resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of State for information, and to the Home Department for publication in the Supplement to the Gazette of India

W A CROMMELIN, Major-General, R E,
Secy to the Govt of India

No 1205, dated 10th August 1877.

From—Major J U. Bateman-Champain, R E, Director-in-Chief, Indo-European Government Telegraph Department,

To—Secretary to the Government of India, P. W Dept

On the 9th July I had the honor to forward you a telegraphic message to prepare you for considerable delay in the submission of this my Annual Administration Report of the Indo-European Telegraph Département. When affairs are in their normal condition, it is barely possible for the statement to reach you by the 1st August. The couriers between the south of Persia and Teheran travel but once a month to and fro, and no oftener between Teheran and London. The dates of the despatch of these couriers are by no means regular, so that the Director at Teheran may be kept waiting for several weeks after the close of the official year before he can commence the preparation of his report, and again before he can send it to me. At the present time the war between Turkey and Russia has rendered the postal arrangements between Persia and London more than ever precarious, the ordinary route by Erzeroum has been temporarily abandoned, and the report of the Persian Section, dated Teheran, 2nd June, reached my Office only on the 30th July.

2 In former years I have found it a matter of extreme difficulty to even approximate to the date on which the report is required by you, and I venture to observe that, under such circumstances, it is scarcely possible to avoid small inaccuracies of detail and occasional omissions. If the Government of India would consent to the time for the preparation of my annual report being extended, so that the 1st October instead of the 1st August were the date by which it should be due, I should be considerably relieved.

3 In the following paper it will be seen that my remarks are not grouped precisely as in former years, but I may indicate the subjects treated of under the following headings —

- 1 —Capital and Revenue
- 2 —Lines
- 3.—Maintenance and Repairs
- 4 —Interruptions
- 5 —Traffic
- 6 —Inspections, Buildings and Stores
- 7 —Establishments

CAPITAL AND REVENUE

4 At the commencement of 1876-77 the Capital stood at	1,153,835	16	2
During the year an addition was made of	657	11	4
At the close of the year it stood therefore at	1,154,493	7	6

5 The details of the addition are shown in the Departmental Capital and Revenue Accounts attached prepared by Mr Basher —Vide Appendices Nos 1, 2, 3 and 4

6 The Revenue Account may be summarised as follows —

Earnings ...	65,035	10	0	Expenditure .	71,868	6	5
Miscellaneous receipts ..	692	7	3
Excess of expenditure over receipts ..	6,140	9	2
	71,868	6	5		71,868	6	5

7 It will at once be evident that the anticipations recorded by me in para 31 of my last year's report have been fully realized. The comparatively high earnings of 1875-76 have, as was inevitable, been seriously reduced since the Eastern cables were restored. It will, however, be more convenient to treat of this part of the subject under the head of "Traffic" when I shall endeavour to explain the causes which have tended to diminish our receipts somewhat below the figure we might (notwithstanding the repair of the rival Red Sea lines) have hoped to reach. The total expenditure is slightly below that of the previous year, but above that of 1874-75. The figures being as follows —

LINES

8 The object of the Indo-European system is, from the nature of the undertaking, limited, and it may be said to be achieved, so that, unlike the case of the telegraphs of a State which are subject to annual extensions or changes according to the requirements of commerce or national policy, the observations to be entered under this head are necessarily unimportant, and must differ but little from what appeared in last year's report. Wherever the lengths of the sections noted below are not precisely as before, the difference is owing to repairs and alterations effected during the year, and they will be separately referred to under the heading "Maintenance."

9 At the end of 1876-77 the lines worked by the Department were as follows —

In Persia	Line	Wire
Teheran to Bushire	792 miles	1,584 miles

There is a third wire attached to our posts and put up by us, but as it is according to treaty devoted entirely to Persian local work, I have not considered it as an intrinsic portion of the Indo-European system, although in case of accident it would lend us valuable aid.

In the Persian Gulf

Gutta-percha core	Sub-marine cable
	Miles
Fao to Bushire	156
Bushire to Henjam	369
Henjam to Jashk	143
Jashk to Gwadur	272
Gwadur to Manora	271
Manora to Kurrachee, 3 cables of 6 miles each	18
	1,229
India-rubber core (Hooper's) Bushire to Jashk	503
	1,732
Total cable

Mekran Coast land line	Line miles	Wire miles
Jashk to Kurrachee	718	1,436

Altogether a total (excluding the third Persian local wire of 792 miles) of—
1,732 nautical miles of cable
1,510 miles of land line containing 3,020 miles of wire

Persia—Teheran Bushire

10 During the year under report the substitution of iron for wooden supports was brought to a completion, the old wooden posts which still existed in the neighbourhood of Kohrood, Ispahan and Sivand having been entirely removed. In the first division 576 and in the second 202 new iron standards were erected, and it may confidently be stated that this line is now in excellent condition. Cases of wilful damage which in former years caused us excessive trouble and anxiety were in 1876-77 comparatively trifling and few. Major Smith refers to this satisfactory improvement as follows —

"Wilful damage to the line has, I am happy to say, considerably decreased. In fact throughout the greater portion of the line it may be said to have altogether ceased. This improvement I attribute chiefly to the greater number of control stations, to the system of placing each Inspector in the middle of his section, and to the better discipline of the maintenance branch generally. Fortunately also some of the greatest culprits in the way of pole shooting in the Kazeeroon-Bushire section have been got rid of. The Kedkhoda of Kemarej was killed about two years ago by his own followers, and last autumn the Governor of Borajoon, another old offender, was disgraced and arrested for arrears of Revenue."

11 Clear as seem to me our claims on the Persian Government for the re-imbursment of expenses incurred by us in repairing injuries wilfully caused from time to time, these claims are repudiated by the Shah's Ministers. The correspondence on the subject during the past year has been very voluminous and has all been laid before the Government of India. I have more than once, when called upon, submitted my opinion on the matter, and need only say that I can discover neither justice nor reason in the quass arguments adduced by the Persians. Our claims are, I believe, valid and unanswerable if there be any meaning at all in Article XII of our Treaty which, to my mind, appears thoroughly intelligible. The question is one for diplomatic arrangement and need not be further enlarged on here. But I should remark that by my instructions Major Smith has always taken special care not to enter amongst our claims any case where the least doubt could reasonably be entertained as to the injury having been wilfully caused.

Persian Gulf

12 In the Persian Gulf several breakages occurred in the main cables and were promptly mended, several old faults were cut out before they had sufficiently 'developed' to affect the working, and the harbour cables between Manora and Kurrachee were extensively repaired. The breakages occurred in the gutta-percha cable only. They were four in number. The principal one took place on the Gwadar Jashk cable near the latter named station on the 7th January 1877, and was mended on the 13th. It was caused by corrosion and decay of the outside iron wire guards. The second in importance took place on the Gwadar-Manora cable near Manora on 5th July 1876 and was temporarily repaired on the 8th idem. The locality of the fault, which was caused by chafing on the rocks, being too near shore for the Amberwitch to approach and effect permanent repairs during the monsoon. The remaining breaks of the cable which lasted 20 hours and 3 hours, respectively, were apparently due to wilful damage. The cable in the former instance having been hooked up and cut with an axe or some similar instrument at a distance of about 400 yards from Manora and in the latter case it seems that a thief broke open the Manora cable house with the object of purloining the brass connections. Every effort was made to discover the offender or offenders, but as yet without success. A detailed list of the breakages will be found in Appendix 5.

13 After the break of the gutta-percha cable near Jashk, treated of in the previous paragraph, Lieutenant Stiffe cut out a fault from the same section near Henjam on the 20th January, and another in the Jashk-Bushue cable which had been 'developing' for several months. Three other small faults of the same description were removed from this section in the previous April and May, one of which had been indicated since 1870.

14 The Kurrachee Harbour cables having shown signs of failure, chiefly in consequence of the deterioration of the portions buried in dry ground, were thoroughly overhauled, and about one-third of the total length of each was renewed. In this work the steam launch Rose rendered very great assistance.

15 The main cables are now, in the opinion of Lieutenant Stiffe, quite free from faults, but the shore ends near the Gulf stations have deteriorated, though not to the extent of interfering in any way with the signalling. A complete list of the repairing operations undertaken will be found in paragraph 59.

16 On the Mekran Coast land line 6,000 new insulators were substituted for old defective ones. Many miles of corroded wire and several iron standards were replaced, and a diversion, which added 3 miles to the length of the line, was effected at the Hubb River crossing in order to obtain the advantage of a narrower span from bank to bank. Further reference to this diversion will be made in the section of this report allotted to 'interruptions'.

INTERRUPTIONS

Persia—Teheran-Bushire Line

17 Although, as I observed above, the third or local Persian wire cannot fairly be held to constitute a part of the Indo-European system, it cannot be disregarded when the question of interruptions has to be considered. Under Article VI of the Persian Treaty now in force, the loan of the third wire can, under certain restrictions, be claimed by us for international working in case our two wires should be disabled. Moreover, we undertake in return for a stipulated annual payment to keep it in order for the Persians.

18 Appendix 7 gives the interruptions on the three wires, Teheran-Bushire line, for 1876-77. In order to supply the exact information required by the Government of India as to notify not only interruptions to traffic but interruptions to each separate conductor, I must count cases of contact between two wires, which practically left two distinct means of communication available, as interruptions of one wire and contact between all three wires will be counted as interruptions to two wires. It will then be seen that during the year one wire of the three was interrupted for 479 hours 13 minutes, two wires were interrupted 87 hours 30 minutes, and all three (involving a total cessation of communication) for 20 hours during the year. The longest period during which communication was entirely suspended was for 5 hours 10 minutes on the 5th October 1876. Major Smith reports that these complete breaks were caused by violent gales. On the whole, I think that the interruption report for the Persian lines for 1876-77 speaks well, considering the physical conditions which prevail, for the solidity of the line and the efficiency of its maintenance.

Persian Gulf Interruptions

19 The particulars will be found in Appendices 5 and 6

	Days	Hours
These interruptions amounted on the cables to	30	1
On the Mekran Coast Line to	14	9 36
Total	44	10 36

The interruptions to the cables were caused by the breakages and the repairing operations mentioned under the classification "Maintenance"

20 The principal break of 7 days' duration on the Mekran Coast Line occurred at the large span, more than a third of a mile in length, of the Hubb River crossing. This accident might have been put right at once, but as the restoration of communication by the land line was not urgently required, the opportunity was taken for carrying out a plan, previously approved, of diverting the line for a distance of 3 miles to a more favourable spot for crossing where a span of 430 yards in length was found sufficient. By this diversion the risk of future breaks on the Hubb River will be much diminished.

21 Other interruptions on the land line, lasting in the aggregate  $3\frac{1}{2}$  days, were caused wilfully by the Rind Chut 'Dad Mithomed' cutting the wire and damaging the supports. His followers also made a prisoner for a few hours of the Native Artificer and seized his camel and rifle. The disturbance arose from the fact of some domestic slaves of the tribe having been declared free by the Muscat authorities on their being landed at Gwadar. The department was by no means concerned with this matter which is being dealt with by the Political Agent who compensated the Native Artificer for his losses.

22 Owing to the existence of a double chain of communication in the Persian Gulf, none of the above-mentioned interruptions caused a stoppage of the traffic, scarcely even any appreciable delay, one line being always in good order when the other was broken.

23 But although the lines under my charge were fortunate from the fact of the total interruptions in Persia and the Persian Gulf not having arrested traffic for more than 20 hours during the entire year, the wires of the Indo European Telegraph Company, on which we mainly depend, were less successful. The breakages* on those lines having stopped our business for upwards of

* Appendix 8

20 days. The aggregate interruption of traffic between England and Kurrachee via Teheran amounted therefore to 21 days. This although not quite so long as in 1875-76 (which was an exceptionally bad year in this respect) was yet very serious, and as will be seen under the head of 'Traffic' had a bad effect upon our earnings for the year.

24 The interruptions on the Company's line occurred on the Gtomer-Tiflis Section, and were caused for the most part by violent falls of snow and storms. The suspension of an alternate wire now in operation between Ekaterinodar, Stavropol and Tiflis will doubtless in the future diminish the frequency and duration of these unfortunate interruptions, but as it will not form an alternative loop to the whole of the section most exposed to storms, I am afraid we can hardly hope to pass a winter wholly without breakages on the Russian route. I have, however, some confidence that they will not again amount in the aggregate to so much as here reported.

TRAFFIC

25 The speed between England and India via Teheran was well maintained during the year. The rate at which the traffic was transmitted averaging only 1 hour and 35 minutes per message between the United Kingdom on one side and Calcutta on the other. This is the highest speed that has yet been reached, and, if I am rightly informed, it exceeds by 8 minutes the pace attained on the Suez route, the average for which through 12 months was 1-43 per message.

26 The tariffs and regulations of the St Petersburg Convention remained in force during 1876-77, and the charge between India and Europe by the Teheran and Suez routes was consequently Rs 2-8 per word, or the same as in 1875-76.

27 In the latter named year our earnings (it will be remembered) were abnormally high, owing to our having transmitted the whole of the traffic between Europe and India during the interruption of the competitive line in the Red Sea. The income of 1875-76 cannot, therefore, serve as a basis of comparison with that of the past year which amounted to £65,035. A comparison may, however, be made with 1874-75, when the receipts from ordinary traffic were the largest realised in any single year since the establishment of the Red Sea line. The traffic earnings in 1874-75 were £66,192, that is to say, £1,157 in excess of the earnings of the year under report.

28 The falling off is attributable partly to loss of traffic occasioned by interruptions and partly to the withdrawal from Persia of a somewhat irregular but busy packing agency, which formerly gave us a considerable number of messages. As shown in the Appendix to the section headed Interruptions, the line via Teheran was broken down for 8 days only in 1874-75 as against 21 days in 1876-77. The loss in earnings during the extra 13 days of interruption last year may be estimated at not less than £2,500, in addition to this the Madras-Penang cable which worked well during the whole of 1874-75, was wholly disabled for seven months of 1876-77. The department had therefore to sustain a serious loss of Far-East messages in addition to the diminution of its traffic with India owing solely to the interruptions of its feeders for which we are in no sense responsible.

29 The agency removed from Persia in 1876-77 gave us in 1874-75 messages to the value of about £3,000. The agency belonged to a firm which included packing amongst the several branches of its business, and it was established in Persia when it was possible to make a profit by addressing messages to Bushire, and re-transmitting them from that point to India or England. An alteration in the International rates effected at St Petersburg removed this source of profit, and the agency was in consequence withdrawn in the early part of 1876.

30 As a partial set off, there were two items of revenue last year which did not exist in 1874-75. One was the special Sunday messages of the Times and the other the traffic from India to the Far-East directed via the Persian Gulf whilst the Penang cable was broken.

31 There can, I think, be no doubt that, had the through lines been as free from interruptions in 1876-77 as they were in 1874-75, and had the re-transmission of messages in the way just described continued, the earnings of the Department would have exceeded those of 1874-75 by several thousand pounds. I may add that the firm referred to in para 29 has again found it advantageous to re-establish its telegraphic agency, but in this case at Teheran instead of Bushire. The arrangement of the tariffs under the St Petersburg Convention still allowing some profit to be made by the re-direction of messages to and from the East, this Office was re-opened in March 1877, and a glance at Appendix 3 will show that I by no means overestimated the effect of this business on our earnings. It will be observed that the figures representing our Persian proportion only of receipts which, from April 1876 to February 1877, during the non-existence of the intermediate agency, range from 194 to 835 francs per mensem, spring suddenly up on its re-establishment to no less than 4,500.

32 The messages transmitted by Turkey gave us about the same in 1876-77 as in 1874-75. Their total value computed from Fao to destination eastward being in both cases about £4,500. The comparatively inferior speed and accuracy attained on this line prevent the public from favouring it to any great extent.

33 The Indo European Company has been forced by recent events to pay very special attention to the part of its line, the failure of which has had so depressing an effect on our last year's receipts. While I write I am expecting to hear of the completion of a wire traversing a new and safer line between Kertch and Tiflis less exposed than the one so often interrupted to the disastrous action of gales and snow storms, and of stronger construction than the Soukhoun Kaleh Telegraph which it is to supersede.

34 Taking into consideration the facts as above stated, and also the great and unusual depression of trade during 1876-77, I think that, although the financial results give some ground for disappointment, especially after the high figures of 1875-76, there seems no reason whatever for despondency as regards the future, and the circumstances show that blame for the falling off is not deserved by this Department.

35 The Government Indo-European system must always, from causes which I have repeatedly enumerated, be an expensive telegraph to maintain and work. But I believe its existence has become not only valuable but indispensable to the State, and it must be the steady object of the Department to maintain its efficiency at as low a cost as possible. I have endeavoured to reduce expenditure and effect economies wherever practicable, and I shall not in the future relax my efforts.

36 The word tariff was apparently of great service to the public, the percentage of messages under 10 words in length averaging as much as 35 per cent of the whole number. These short messages would, under the old system, have nearly all been sent through the medium of packers. In 1874-75 when the lowest charge was for 10 words, the Persian Gulf cables transmitted 36,931 messages, containing a total of 968,800 words, producing a revenue of Rs 5,89,035. In the year just past the cables transmitted 45,205 messages, containing 883,913 words, producing a revenue of Rs 5,83,185. Attached are tabulated statements prepared by Mr Herbage, Traffic Manager at Kurrachee, which will enable further comparisons to be made between last year's traffic and that of the preceding three years.

37 In the Revenue Account will be found an item of £260 entered as profit arising from the mean rate system via Turkey, in explanation of which I beg to state that the mean rates collected in Europe and in India for the despatch of messages by the Turkish line were in excess of the exact rates due to the different Administrations by the above named sum. The system via Turkey being conducted by the London Office of this Department, the item is one of profit.

INSPECTIONS

38 On the 1st April 1876 I was, in company with Major Smith, the Director of the Persian Section, at a distance of one day's march from Bushire, journeying slowly to Teheran on a tour of Inspection. I had just visited India and completed a round of visits to the Gulf stations as noted in para 38, &c., of my last year's report. A full and detailed account of my journey was prepared by me on my return to England, and submitted to the Under Secretary of State in letter No 247 of the 14th July 1876. The following extract from my letter may not be out of place here as describing the state of Southern Persia during the early part of the past official year. I must, however, remark that since that time Yahya Khan has been removed from the Governorship of Fars and replaced by H R H Ferhad Mirza, whose energetic measures (some of them marked by excessive severity) have put a stop to much of the brigandage and disorder which were rife at the time of which I wrote. The Musheer Ul Mulk, a man of about 80, has since my visit been bastinadoed by order of the Shah, mulcted of an enormous sum of money, and has, I hear, left the country on a pilgrimage to Mecca —

"Major Smith and I left Bushire for Teheran on the 31st March. Mr Walker, the Superintendent of the Southern Division of the Persian Telegraph, accompanying us as far as Shiraz. The land line in this Division is admirably laid out, and although the country it traverses is exceedingly mountainous and difficult, I believe that interruptions to the communication would henceforth be unknown were it not for the lawless state of the tribes and villagers in this part of Persia. From Bushire up to the very walls of Shiraz the country is absolutely unsafe for ordinary travellers, and the same may be said of the road onwards to within 40 or 50 miles of Ispahan. When I first marched through this part of the world, 14 years ago, no day passed without my meeting one or two caravans, and at that time signs of a generally prosperous condition of affairs were not wanting. The change for the worse has been steady and most lamentable, and the famine of 1871 has fatally assisted the ruin of these provinces. Between Bushire and Ispahan, on this occasion, we met, I think, only one caravan, and that was pillaged on the hills near Moorghab. Villages formerly thriving and surrounded by cultivation are now completely deserted, and I might safely say that no single day passed without our either hearing of or seeing evidence of the existence of organised bands of robbers in every direction. Only between Bushire and Kazeroom does our line itself suffer direct injury. Every man and boy carries a gun, and our iron-poles seem to offer irresistible temptation as marks. The Governor of the large village of Borazjoon is about the worst offender, and a very determined attack, for which I am convinced he was responsible, was made on the telegraph shortly after we passed by. The higher Persian authorities are apparently afraid of this man, who, whenever out of favour, betakes himself to the neighbouring mountains and heads a band of robbers. On our third march out of Bushire we breakfasted at a village which had been attacked on the previous day by some Kashgais under one Jaffa Kuli Bey, one of the villagers being killed, five wounded, and all the sheep and cattle carried off. Near Shiraz an attempt was made on our own caravan, but, as a general rule, the robbers prefer to let Europeans alone, partly because they carry few things which are of value to Persians, and partly because some steps are in such cases taken to recover the stolen property, and to punish the offenders, whereas, when Persian subjects are the victims, nothing seems to be done.

"Although the general state of the south of Persia is so deplorable, it was evident that the people are, by no means, ill-disposed to the telegraph staff. On two occasions mules belonging to my party were taken by robbers, but released directly, it was understood that they belonged to Englishmen. On a recent occasion a troop of Arabs attacked some men travelling with Mr Harrison, one of my Inspectors, and shot a Persian soldier dead, but they never offered to molest Mr Harrison himself. I was received everywhere with the greatest possible civility and attention. I was visited by the Governors of the places through which I passed, by the Sheikh Ul Islam of Kazeroom, an imposing Cavalry escort met me near Shiraz, and nothing could have been more civil and cordial than my reception by the Governor of Fars. The Musheer Ul Mulk, who is without exception the richest and most influential person in the south of Persia, paid me the compliment of calling on me which was only remarkable, because a few years ago he was much opposed to us, and was believed to have no good feelings towards Europeans in general.

"It is evident that so long as the roads remain in the hands of these lawless tribes who pass backwards and forwards along our line of telegraph twice a year, a wilful interruption may occur at any moment. Major Smith has, therefore, been obliged to ask leave to construct for the shelter of our inspectors and line-guards some 3 or 4 minor stations which would be unnecessary in other countries. All have been completed and are occupied, except one at Sivand, 60 miles north of Shiraz. Permission was received from the Shah's Government just before I landed in Persia for us to build a small office at this place, and the Governor of Shiraz deputed a man to assist us in selecting a site and arranging matters with the head of the village. Major Smith and I settled this on our journey, and left one of the Non-Commissioned Officers of Royal Engineers at Sivand to superintend the work.

" From Sivand to Dehbeed the road is occupied by Arab tribes, and is impassable except by strong well-armed bodies of men. These Arabs have an understanding with Mahomed Nebbee Khan, the Governor of Moorghab, whose tyranny and oppression are by all accounts fast depopulating what used to be a fair and prosperous part of the country. One large village called Madr-i-Suleiman was being abandoned as we passed, and the inhabitants were making for the hills—men, women and children—with their flocks to escape from the tender mercies of Mahomed Nebbee Khan. At this man's village we found a large caravan of pilgrims who were afraid with good reason to pursue their journey, as the Governor refused to give an escort over the hills unless they subscribed a considerable sum of money. They joined our party and got through for nothing, but a considerable number of armed Arabs came out to meet us and, after seeing that we were prepared, made no attempt to molest us. Some of our stragglers were stripped however later in the day "

39 On the 3rd May 1876, Major Smith and I reached Teheran, where I remained until the 13th, arranging certain questions connected with International accounts and sundry minor matters of detail. I then proceeded by the Caspian Sea and Russia to London, where I arrived on the 3rd June. I stated in my account of this journey that 'my inspection of the Persian line was eminently gratifying, and there is no doubt that the telegraph between Bushire and Teheran would stand comparison with any line in the world

The system of inspection in force has been well considered and is effective, and the state of the offices is satisfactory '

40 During March 1877, Major Smith has again been over his line as far as Shiraz, and he reports that he has reason to be well pleased with the order maintained at the several stations and with the condition of the wires. He alludes also, with satisfaction, to the good feeling which exists between our officials and the Persian local authorities, as well as the inhabitants of the country in general.

Persian Gulf

41 In August 1876, Mr Ffinch, the Deputy Director, proceeded by mail steamer from Kurrachee to Fao to investigate the matter of necessary repairs to the buildings at that station. Thence he went to Bushire to arrange about the new office outside the town, and, on his return, he inspected the Jashk Station. In October Mr Ffinch visited Gwadar in the telegraph Steamer Amberwitch, and between December 1876 and February 1877 he made a complete tour of the Gulf stations.

42 Thanks to the cordial assistance of Colonel Prideaux, the Bushire building question was satisfactorily settled during Mr Ffinch's stay at that station. The Persian Government having at last agreed to the establishment of a station outside the walls, on condition that the accommodation should be limited to the office and house requirements of the telegraph staff, and that the buildings should be the property of Persian subjects, an agreement was, after some trouble, entered into with two Persian merchants, who undertook to erect the necessary houses at the present sanctioned rent of Rs 275 per mensem in return for a guarantee that they shall be leased by the Department for 10 years. The site selected is about 5 miles from the town close to the best water obtainable.

43 The state of the buildings at the different stations visited by Mr Ffinch was, at the close of the year, as follows —

At Fao, property of Turkish Government, good. The buildings of wood having been thoroughly repaired at departmental expense.

At Bushire, Office and houses rented. Unsatisfactory—Vide para 42

At Henjam, wooden-house reported to be very hot in summer and cold in winter.

If this station be retained, a stone building will probably become necessary.

At Jashk, stone buildings, fair order, except the latrines which require re-building.

At Charbar, stone buildings, fair order, except on the side facing the sea, where the material employed suffers somewhat from the weather.

At Gwadar, stone buildings, repairs needed, which were being executed at the close of the year.

At Ormara, fair order.

At Kurrachee, stone building, good order throughout.

STORES.

Persian—Teheran-Bushire.

44 The cost of stores supplied from England amounted, with freight, to £2,918-14-2, they consisted chiefly of iron standards to complete the replacement of the old wooden-posts. This work being now finished, the cost of stores for Persia will, for some years hence, be very much reduced.

Persian Gulf

45 The cost of stores purchased in England amounted, with freight, to £3,909-5 6 The cost of those obtained in India was £2,041-11-9 The chief items of the English stores consisted of 1,000 iron standards for the Mekran Coast land line to replace an equal number erected near the sea which had become too corroded to be longer depended upon, and of 6,000 insulators, with brackets, to improve the insulation of the line No more standards will probably be required for some time to come, but a further supply of insulators will be necessary

46 The value of stores issued from the Persian Gulf stock amounted to £7,765-0-10 as passed by the Examiner

ESTABLISHMENTS.

47 The sanctioned strength of the establishments was unaltered during the year on record

48 Major Smith thus speaks of the conduct of the staff under his orders in Persia

"I am much indebted to the Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents for the zealous and careful manner in which they have continued to perform their duties The general behaviour of the Inspectors and Signallers has also been very satisfactory There was a good deal of sickness during the greater part of the year, but never to such an extent as to interfere with the current work of the Department"

49 The establishment of the offices in Persia was located as follows —

STATIONS	Superintendents	Assistant Superintendents	Clerks
Teheran	1	1	6
Shiraz	1	1	4

50 These minor offices, as explained in previous reports, are merely intermediate testing stations They are very numerous, but owing to the insecure condition of the countries, I am satisfied that not one can be safely dispensed with The small building now occupied at Sivand was erected during the past year on a site granted by the Governor of Fars, and selected by myself

51 During the year 1876-77, the changes in the Persian staff were as follows —

Captain W H Pierson, who was on furlough, resigned his post as Superintendent, and re-joined the Public Works Department in India. The circumstances which led to our losing the services of this excellent and zealous officer have already been fully reported to Government

One Inspector, Mr W Harrison, resigned.

One military signaller having seriously suffered in health was allowed to re-join his corps at Chatham, and 3 civil signallers resigned their employment

I have asked that Mr Douglas Walker, who has for some time officiated in the Persian Division, should be allowed to fill Captain Pierson's appointment. The other vacancies were filled up from this country, excepting that of the Inspector for which an able and experienced ex-Sergeant of Royal Engineers was available on the spot.

52. In the Persian Gulf Division the distribution of the Office Establishment was as follows —

STATIONS	Superintendents	Assistant Superintendents	Clerks
Kurrachee	1	...	6

53 As regards changes during the year, Mr Finch makes this observation —

	Resigned	Dismissed, &c	showed a healthier state of things, and that in consequence of the clerks gaining in experience the errors made would be less numerous, and the speed greater, I have however been disappointed, for during the last year no fewer than 10 clerks resigned, 1 was dismissed, and 1 deserted, one other clerk was transferred to

" in India	7	India at the end of the last year, and 11 to
Total	17	replace those clerks who resigned or were dismissed

55 Besides the above changes, this Division lost the services of Mr Inspector E F Monement, who was accidentally drowned at Kurrachee on the 20th July 1876. The sad end of this excellent and energetic officer was universally deplored.

The gutta-percha jointer was dismissed for insubordination, and Mr Rowley, our extra Cable Foreman, who had been only temporarily engaged, was allowed to return to England.

56 Mr Finch has expressed himself as not altogether satisfied with the signalling efficiency of the young clerks engaged in this country. The system in force was established by my predecessors and appeared to be the best in many respects for the peculiar conditions of the Department. There is, however, much force in what Mr Finch has urged, and I have determined to somewhat modify the existing plan. In case of vacancies I have authorised Mr Finch to engage a few efficient well conducted men (if they can be spared) from the Indian Department. Working on land lines in India however differs in many points from working cables in the Persian Gulf, and it may be advisable to engage in this country, when opportunity offers, a proportion of clerks who have had employment under some of the Cable Companies. The whole question is still under consideration and is the subject of discussion by Mr Finch and myself.

57 Before ending this report I should point out that whenever I have spoken of last year's receipts, earnings, or expenditure, the figures employed are necessarily only approximate, the accounts for 1876-77 not having yet been finally adjusted and closed. But wherever the figures refer to the business of previous years, they have been extracted from the blue books and may be accepted as accurate. Consequently these last mentioned figures will not invariably agree precisely with the approximations of former annual reports prepared like the present one before the closing of the yearly accounts.

58 I will now add a few particulars on certain subjects which do not conveniently belong to either of the main headings already enlarged on.

59 On the 7th January 1877 I addressed a letter to the Government of India, pointing out the advisability of steps being taken before very long to replace the cable Steamer Amberwitch, the reasons urged by me were accepted as sufficient, and I need not repeat them here. During the past year this useful vessel, under the command of Lieutenant Stiffe, was employed on various important duties, the nature of which can be gathered from the following tabular statement —

DATE		On what duty
From	To
1876	1876	-
April 1	April 20	With Director-in-Chief and at Bushire
„ 21	May 14	Repairing India rubber cable, and returning to Kurrachee
May 15	July 7	In Kurrachee Harbour
July 8	July 8 ..	Repairing Manora-Gwadur cable
„ 9	September 25	In Kurrachee Harbour
September 26	October 31	Annual repairs at Bombay
November 1	November 26	In Kurrachee Harbour
„ 27	December 5	Proceeding along Mckian Coast, distributing stores and visiting stations and portions of land line
December 6	December 17	In Kurrachee Harbour
	1877
December 18	February 9	With Deputy Director on annual tour of inspection and repairing cables.
1877
February 10 ..	March 20 ...	In Kurrachee Harbour
March 21	„ 30	Employed on special duty Re-surveying Indus River banks

60 It will be observed that the last operation on the above list had nothing to do with the Department, but was one of several services of general utility which the Amberwitch has performed in her time under the thoroughly efficient command of Lieutenant Stiffe, who is a trained and accomplished surveyor.

61 The cable in stock in the Manora tanks on the 31st March 1877 was as follows —

	Knots
Gutta-percha	90 3
India-rubber (Hooper)	32

62 During the year 10 5 knots of gutta-percha cable were expended, 6 4 in repairs, while 4 1 were stripped of the corroded wire guards, and remain in hand as core only. Of India-rubber cable 1 6 knots were used up in repairing the faults.

63 At the beginning of the year I was enabled to submit a highly satisfactory statement of the true condition and 'behaviour' of the Hooper's core, and the tests up to date corroborate what I then reported.

64 The gradual failure and decay of the serving and guards of these sub-marine cables, while the valuable dielectric and conductor remain perfect, have led to the accumulation of a considerable quantity of core which should be utilised hereafter. With this view I applied during the past year for permission to purchase, for the use of the Manora Establishment, a cable serving apparatus which should in a year or so be supplemented by the addition of a wire covering machine.

65 The sanitary condition of our Gwadar Station has for some years past been a source of great anxiety and doubt. We had reason to hope that the steps taken would have improved matters, but the health of the place is still, I regret to say, far from satisfactory. Were it not for political objections to Gwadar being abandoned, I should propose the total removal of my staff, which has already been reduced to a very low figure. Mr Finch thus describes his visit to the place in the autumn of 1876—

"I inspected Gwadar in September, December and February. I regret to say that my anticipations relating to this station becoming again healthy have not been realized. Fever of the usual type made its appearance again in October 1876, and became so bad that at one time I feared it would be necessary to close the Office, many natives, including the Office Bheestie, died, and most of the Clerks sent there had to be removed. I have now only the Clerk-in-charge and one Signaller there, and by working direct on the cable between Kurra-chee and Jashk with artificial leakage introduced at Gwadar, and also by working through Gwadar direct with Ormara and Charbar in translation on the land line, I am able to reduce the work at Gwadar to a minimum. This arrangement necessitates an extra Clerk at Ormara and Charbar stations, which are obtained from the saving effected in the Gwadar Establishment.

"The station at Gwadar is supplied with drinking water from a condenser which can distil 23 gallons in 8 hours. It is not used daily. The wood for burning in it costs Rs 18 per mensem, coal was tried, but was found more expensive.

"The buildings at Gwadar were much in need of repairs which were being carried out at the end of the year by the Public Works Department. As the ordinary lime cement flooring breaks up at once, Portland cement is being used. This will keep the floors drier and will perhaps cause the buildings to be healthier."

66 The state of the Libraries and Recreation Fund, organized with Government approval and aid, is flourishing. A separate report on this subject has very recently been laid before the Government.

67 In conclusion, I have the honor once again to express my hearty recognition of the good service rendered by the officers and staff of the Department generally, and I would specially record my appreciation of the work done by Major Smith in Persia, by Mr B T Finch, and Lieutenant Stiffe in the Persian Gulf, and by Mr Brasher in the Head-quarters Office.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA
PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

WEEKLY CONDITION REPORT OF THE DISTRESSED DISTRICTS OF THE MYSORE PROVINCE

PROVINCE OF MYSORE

(No 43)

Special Famine Report for the Week ending 1st December 1877

Statement No 43, regarding Famine Relief Operations in the Province of Mysore for the Week ending the 1st December, 1877.

There was no rain during the week, but the weather was occasionally cloudy, and this seems to have unfavorably affected the crops in the eastern part of the Province. Ragi will not now be a full crop, and ballar, which promised exceedingly well, has in parts been attacked by blight. A large area this year has been sown with kulthi, or gram, instead of with ragi, for which the rain did not fall seasonably, and from this crop a good return is expected but in Hassan more rain is required, and, unless another shower falls a serious loss in the gram crop is there feared. On the whole, however, the circumstances of the season have so improved prospects that the Famine Commissioner has been able to exclude a considerable part of the Province from the operation of relief rules, and even where it is necessary still to afford relief, he is, by selecting certain works as Relief Works, and leaving ordinary and necessary works to be disposed of on general administrative grounds, gradually narrowing the action of the Famine Department. Thus, during the week, further relief in the District of Kolar has been declared unnecessary, and except in respect to a small Public Work and three Relief Camps, which will be kept up for some little time longer, the connection of the Famine Department with that District has ceased. Preparations for taking a Test Census on the night of the full moon on the 19th of January have been made. One Hobli, neither the most nor the least affected, in each of the distressed Taluks, will be selected for the Test, and in order to render the information more complete, each Special Relief Officer has been directed to visit as soon as possible each village in the selected Hobli, and take a Preliminary Census from inquiry made from house to house.

2 The imports of grain by rail amounted to 2,805 tons, or 1,246 tons less than in the preceding week. The imports were received from the following quarters —

	Tons
From Madras	2,036
"  Beypore Palghat and Coimbatore	187
"  Tanjore and Negapatam	393
"  Other places	189
Total	2,805

From Bangalore 1,210 tons, or 339 tons less than last week, were exported to the following quarters, as shown by the octroi returns —

	Tons
Tumkūr	366
Bellary	77
Mysore	577
Usur (Salem District)	107
Round Bangalore	83
Total	1,210

3 The price of rice has fallen slightly, but ragi has been a little dearer, especially in Chitaldrug, Shimoga and Kadur, where it had been cheapest. The following statement gives the maximum and minimum prices in lbs per rupee for each District —

	Maximum in lbs 2nd sort rice	per Rupee Ragi	Minimum in lbs 2nd sort rice	per Rupee Ragi

Kadur	15½	24	11	14
Shimoga	16	36	11	18
Chitaldrug	13½	30	11	12

4 The number of laborers on Civil Relief Works was 21,307, or 3,589 less than for last week, due chiefly to 1,940 persons, employed on ordinary petty works in the Kolar District, being excluded from the returns in accordance with the decision arrived at by the Famine Commissioner already alluded to.

5 Under the Public Works Department 44,970 laborers were employed on strictly Famine Relief Works, or a decrease of 3,221, occurring in the Tumkūr District, where the demand for field labor is reported to be increasing. The returns, as usual, have been prepared so as to exclude ordinary Public Works. Measures have been taken to enforce a more stringent task on the Railway, where the gangs have now been employed some time and are well able to do a full day's work. The Civil Officers will take care that the arrangements for the weaker gangs are maintained in their integrity The following is a list of works on which are employed 500 laborers and upwards —

District	Work	No employed

Detailed instructions have been given respecting the cooking and issuing of the ordinary Government ration of one pound of grain per diem to the healthy inmates of Relief Camps Under the orders of the Famine Commissioner, a series of experiments was undertaken, and the results have been carefully compared and circulated by him for guidance, and it has been made part of the duty of all Superintendents of Camps and of all Inspecting Officers to personally see the ration is of full weight For the sick and the emaciated a more liberal diet has been prescribed in greater detail, and with these precautions the Famine Commissioner is of opinion the one pound diet is amply sufficient

7 The number on civil and professional works amounted to 66,277 compared with 19,480 on gratuitous relief The following table gives the numbers relieved since the last week in August —

FAMINE COMMISSIONERS' ORDERS REGARDING RATION TO RELIEF LABORERS AND SPECIAL TREATMENT AND DIET OF THE DISTRESSED

No 1545, dated Bangalore, 5th December 1877.

From—A WINGATE, ESQ., Addl Secy to the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, Famine Dept
To—The Additional Secretary to the Govt of India, PUBLIC WORKS DEPT

I am directed to submit herewith, for the information of His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General in Council, a copy of Circular No 31, dated 28th ultimo, containing the Famine Commissioner's orders (1) on the Ordinary Government Ration of one lb per diem, (2) on Special Treatment and Special Diet, and (3) on Hospital Diet.

2 The Famine Commissioner has satisfied himself, by personal inspection of nearly every Relief Camp in the Province, and by careful weighing and testing of the food served out—

(1) that the 1 lb ration is sufficient to maintain in good condition those who are not much reduced by famine, and that in many cases they improve upon it,

(2) that wherever the inmates of a Camp who have been in residence for some time are found to be specially emaciated, it has been proved that they have not been receiving the full ration, but have been defrauded of it through some speculation or stupidity,

(3) that in the case of paupers who have been very much reduced by innutrition, an increased scale of diet called "special treatment" is necessary, and that with this assistance they often improve with surprising rapidity

Circular No 31, dated Bangalore, 28th November 1877

MEMO

The accompanying orders by the Famine Commissioner—

- (1) On the Ordinary Government Ration of one pound per diem,
- (2) On Special Treatment and Special Diet,
- (3) On Hospital Diet,

are issued with the sanction of the Chief Commissioner and circulated for the information and guidance of all Deputy Commissioners and Famine Relief Officers

"By Order,"

A WINGATE,

Addl Secretary

ON THE ORDINARY GOVERNMENT RATION OF ONE POUND PER DIEM

I have now before me the notes of the results of several hundred experiments made in boiling rice and ragi, both by myself and by the Relief and District officers to whom Circular No 616, dated 17th October, was sent. There is a good deal of discrepancy in some of the returns, but the conclusion pointed to by the experiments as a whole is pretty clear

Weight of rice before boiling

One seer* of rice weighs from 88 to 90 rupees. Cleaned rice weighs heavier than uncleaned. "Hassal" or Mysore rice weighs slightly more than kusbal or kutbal, i.e., "boiled" Madras rice

* N B—The word "seer" is used throughout, unless otherwise stated, as a measure of capacity

Weight of rice after boiling

The result varies a little according to the kind of rice, but more according to the quantity of water. The best proportion seems to be when the water is double the quantity of the rice, thus 10 seers, or say 22 lbs of rice, should be boiled in 20 seers of water. Treated in this way the differences are still great, but in the vast proportion of cases, 1 lb of rice has been found to weigh from 120 to 130 rupees when boiled. The majority of my own experiments point to Rs. 130 as the proper result

Capacity of rice when boiled

I have not pursued this experiment, because the packing power of boiled rice is almost unlimited. With a little pressure any measure that can be constructed might be made to hold double, or half, of what it was intended to hold

Weight of ragi when raw and unground

One seer of ragi weighs about Rs 80

Weight of ragi flour when ground

When the seer measure is filled slowly and carefully, as is the practice with traders, one seer of flour weighs Rs. 65 or Rs 66.

Weight of ragi when cooked

The discrepancies here are not so great as in the case of rice. Almost all the experiments shew that one lb. of ragi flour when cooked should weigh from 100 to 115 rupees, the weight varying a little with the wetness and dryness of the pudding. It loses about 2 per cent in weight as it cools. My own experiments point with very little variation to a weight of about Rs 106 as the proper weight of 1 lb.

The result of these experiments leads me to issue the following instructions.

All food, both rice and ragi, should be given out in balls, the system of giving the rice loose in pannikins, which exists in some Relief Camps, should be abandoned, as such measures are untrustworthy.

I believe that, as a rule, the rice ball, which forms one of two daily meals for an adult, should weigh about Rs 65 and the ragi ball about Rs 53 and I am satisfied that, if in any case they weigh less than Rs 60 or Rs 50 respectively, the paupers are not getting their full ration. But the kind of rice, the shape of the pots, the time of boiling, and above all the quantity of water, influence the result, and though I would not lay down any uniform figure for the weight of the balls throughout the Province, I believe that the Special Relief Officer and Superintendent of each Relief Camp might establish the exact figure for that Camp by experiment, and adhere to it with close accuracy, by always cooking the same kind of rice in the same proportion to water.

The standard weight of each ball thus fixed should be written on a placard and hung up in the kitchen, and the Superintendent should weigh some of the balls every day, and all inspecting officers should weigh some balls on each visit, and see if they come up to the standard.

I append a recipe for condiments which may be used with such variations as the different prices prevailing at different places require. The condiments for 100 adults, at 3 pice per head, should cost Re 1-9-0, and this recipe is calculated to cost so much at prices now prevailing in Bangalore. The dal should be ground to flour before boiling, the people prefer it whole, but it is wholesome when ground, and when whole it falls to the bottom and the cooks steal it.

Care should be taken that the pot in which the condiments are cooked should, if of copper, be tinned every 15 days.

Recipe for Condiments for 100 adults (value Re 1-9 0) for both meals

The condiments should be cooked in the morning and heated up for the afternoon meal.

ON SPECIAL TREATMENT AND SPECIAL DIET

I find that it is advisable that more detailed instructions should be given regarding Special Treatment than the Code contains.

It may be advisable to repeat here that the classes requiring Special Treatment consist of (1) emaciated young adults of either sex, and working children (above 7 years old), (2) nursing mothers, (3) all children under 7 years old. The old are generally not fit subjects for Special Treatment.

The Treatment should be as follows—

I. On Public Works Department Relief Works—

Laborers belonging to the classes specified above as (1) and (2) should be separately ganged by the Civil, or in his default by the P. W. D., Relief Officer, and should receive daily wages on the A scale with light work, as well as a ragi chupatti or scone containing 4 oz of flour in the middle of the day.

Children below 7 years old will, under a Circular of the Chief Engineer's, which is re-published with this order, receive 2 oz of congee in the morning, 2 oz of congee at noon and 3 pie per diem on pay day. In the case of infants at the breast the nourishment should be given to the mother, if she is unable to nourish the infant, it should be fed on whatever it will take.

II On Civil Relief Works—

Special gangs should receive either wages at the A scale, or a ragi chupatti as above described at the discretion of the Relief Officer in charge of the Taluk, who will be guided by the circumstances of the case. Children under 7 will receive the same food and money as on P W D Relief Works, unless the scattered nature of the work and the absence of any superior officer makes this impossible, in which case they will get the usual 4 pies a day.

III In Relief Camps—

All children under 7 will receive 2 oz of rice congee in the morning, 2 oz at noon, and in the evening a half ragi ball with condiments. The congee will be made by boiling in water, with a little salt, rice broken small in the mill, at the rate of 2 oz of raw rice to each child. By 'half a ragi ball' is meant a ball containing  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb of ragi flour. In the case of infants at the breast the same rule will apply as was prescribed under the head of P W D Relief Works.

Adults in the special gang will receive food according to the scale attached, which has been drawn up by Dr Henderson. Children under 12 and above 7 will receive half the quantity prescribed for adults. It will be observed that the quantity of food is considerably larger than the Government ration, but that the condiments are made with very little chillies for fear of irritating the digestive organs, which, in these cases, are generally out of order.

No rules as to diet will be of any avail unless constant watchfulness is exercised against fraud and mistakes on the part of the underlings. The Superintendent of every Camp, as well as the Special Relief Officer, must habitually assure himself by weighment and inspection that the quality of the food is good, and that the proper quantity is cooked, and well cooked, duly served out, and eaten.

DIET IN FAMINE HOSPITALS

(Subsidiary Rules)

The accompanying diet scales have been drawn up for feeding the sick in Famine Hospitals

It is not quite possible to lay down exact rules for dieting these sick people, or, if laid down, to follow them implicitly under all circumstances, but it is suggested that the following classification might be made —

- 1 Those too ill to eat solid food and who must be fed on liquids for them the diet marked "Milk" should be used, with such "Extras" or "Comforts" as may be required
2. Those who are suffering from severe bowel complaint of long standing, with or without dropsy, for them the diet marked "Spoon" should be used, the meat being made into soup and not eaten solid—with Extras or Comforts if required
- 3 Those who are recovering from bowel complaints and those who are suffering from debility, fever, rheumatism, abscess, ulcer, &c, for them the diet marked "Ordinary" should be used
- 4 Those who are convalescent, and those suffering from any complaint unconnected with bowel complaint, or disease of digestive organs for them the diet marked "Full" (or Ordinary) should be used
- 5 The general rule should be to give the highest scale which can be safely and beneficially eaten

No 1052, dated Calcutta, 14th December 1877

From—S C BAYLEY, Esq., Additional Secretary to the Government of India,

To—The Chief Commissioner of Mysore

Your Additional Secretary's letter No 1545 of 5th instant has been laid before His Excellency the Governor General in Council, and in reply I am directed to express the acknowledgments of the Government of India for the useful series of experiments instituted by Mr Elliott, and for the careful instructions, regarding the treatment and dicting of the several classes of labourers, which Mr Elliott has issued on the basis of those experiments.

His Excellency in Council observes that Mr Elliott's experience has convinced him of the sufficiency of the 1 lb ration to maintain an good health ordinary relief labourers, whose condition had not previously sunk so low as to require special treatment, and that where the ration has proved insufficient, it has been owing to a portion of it being withheld either through the dishonesty or the mismanagement of the camp officials. This conviction, I am to say, is quite in accordance with the view all along held by the Government of India, and with the sustained experience of the Famine Officers of the Bombay Presidency.

The whole correspondence I am to add, will be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

OPIUM ACT, 1876, AMENDMENT BILL

The Hon'ble MR HOPE moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Opium Act, 1876. He said that this Bill owed its origin mainly to two circumstances. The first of these he would explain in some detail. In the Opium Act of 1876, it was provided that the Act should come into force on the same date throughout all India, and consequently it was necessary to have all the rules, which were to be subsequently promulgated by the Local Governments, ready beforehand, so that, on the Act coming into force, they might be issued at once. In that Act it was also provided that it should come into force on the 1st day of April 1877. But when the 1st of April 1877 arrived, even the drafts of the rules had not, in the large majority of cases, been received from the several Local Governments for the approval of the Governor General in Council. Consequently, there was no alternative except to postpone the date of the Act coming into force, and Sir John Strachey in March last accordingly introduced and obtained the sanction of the Council to a Bill providing that the Act should come into force on such day as the Governor General in Council might hereafter declare. It was at that time hoped that there would be no difficulty in getting all these draft rules together in a few months, and the further difficulty that some of the Local Governments might have their rules quite ready, and others might not, was not foreseen. Now, after the lapse of about nine months, the position was this, that certain Local Governments, and those very large and important Governments, had sent in draft rules which had been approved and were ready to be issued. But in other cases, the rules which had been received had been returned for revision, and certain Local Governments again had not even up to the present time sent in any draft at all, unless, therefore, the Government was prepared to wait indefinitely for the advantages which the Act would ensure, fresh legislation was unavoidable. The first portion of the Bill which he asked leave to introduce would therefore alter the Opium Act, 1876, by providing that it should extend to such local areas, and on such day, in the case of each, as the Governor General in Council might, by notification in the Gazette of India, from time to time direct

The second circumstance which had given rise to the motion this day was that a clerical error had unfortunately crept into the Act of 1876, extending only to one word, but that word so important that it would prevent the operation of the Act throughout Lower Bengal and other provinces in which the system of Government monopoly of the cultivation of opium was in force. The error to which he referred consisted in the use in section 22 of the word "Act," instead of the word "section." The section provided that "nothing in this Act" should apply to districts where Act XIII of 1857 was in force. The effect of that was that, as section 2 of that Act, which prohibited the cultivation and manufacture of opium except for Government, was repealed in the schedule, no legislative authority remained at all on the subject in question. By substitution, however, as was originally intended, of the word "section" for the word "Act," all such difficulty would be removed, and merely the particular section, which related to procedure in case of illegal cultivation of opium, would not be applicable where Act XIII of 1857 was in force.

As an amending Act was about to be introduced for the two purposes which he had explained, it was thought desirable to take advantage of the opportunity to make corrections in one or two other minor cases, and to insert one or two small provisions, although legislation would not have been considered necessary on these points if it had not otherwise been desirable. One of these would be found in the third and fourth sections of the Bill, and consisted in inserting the words "free or," after the word "India," in the fourth and fifth sections of the Act. Those sections provided that the Governor General in Council might authorize the import or export of opium into or from any specified part of British India, on payment of such duty or on such other terms as he might think fit. But some one raised the doubt whether the use of the words "or on such other terms" left it open to the Governor General in Council to authorize the import or export of opium under no conditions at all, without duty or any other restriction. On the whole, Mr Hope was inclined to think that the words did cover such an arrangement as that. But it was thought better to take this opportunity of inserting the words "free or" after the word "India," which would entirely cover the difficulty.

Again, sections 5 and 7 of the Bill contained provisions which were necessary to the complete operation of the system of farming the duty leviable on the sale of opium which was contemplated by the Act.

Finally, in order to reduce the Statute-book as much as possible, the Bill provided for the total repeal of Act VI of 1877.

These remarks would, he thought, enable the Council fully to appreciate the scope of the Bill which he solicited leave to introduce.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN ARMS BILL

The Hon'ble SIR E. BAYLY moved for leave to introduce a Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores. He hoped the Council would forgive him if he trespassed a little on their patience in introducing this Bill, for it related to a subject which was in itself of very great importance, it was one also of very wide general interest and of very considerable complexity. He therefore proposed to enter on the present occasion somewhat into detail regarding the circumstances which had rendered fresh legislation necessary at the present moment, the course which the Government of India had hitherto adopted in regard to those circumstances, and the particular provisions which it now proposed, to meet the necessities of the case. It would perhaps be remembered that when the present Arms Act was under consideration in this Council—he meant Act XXXI of 1860—there was much and prolonged discussion. The Bill was very fully considered in all its details in several meetings of the Council. It was very considerably modified during the progress of these discussions. The general result of these modifications and of the passing of certain executive subsidiary orders, which were issued while the Bill was under discussion and had been maintained to the present day, was to make the Act work smoothly in its most important aspects. But very shortly after the Act was passed, it was found (as was often the case when a Bill was much altered during its progress in Council) that there were several minor defects both of form and substance in the Act—in the definition, for instance, of “military stores,” as to the mode of licensing the transport of arms, and in the definition of “transportation,” “exportation,” and “importation”—which made it rather difficult to carry out the provisions of the law in a wholly satisfactory manner. The Government of India were however very unwilling to amend, almost immediately after it took effect, an enactment which had been settled after so much discussion, and they preferred to deal as far as was practicable with all these matters by executive action only. Accordingly from time to time a great number of varying orders were passed, with the history of which he need not trouble the Council. There were a good many restrictions, for instance, with regard to saltpetre, for it was found that the provisions of the Act threatened to destroy the trade in that commodity. It was found possible in this instance to issue various executive directions by which the mischief was prevented, but in many points the doubts and difficulties raised by the defects of the present Act had remained up to the present time certainly not fully remedied, the inconvenience indeed in this respect was so great, that in 1870 a draft Bill was placed before the Council and introduced by Mr (now Sir William) Robinson with the sole object of consolidating the law and amending these defects. When it was attempted to proceed with that measure, it was found that after all it raised questions of policy of some importance, and on more mature consideration it was thought expedient to make further inquiries, and to await the result of longer experience of the working of the existing law before proposing any final measure. It was partly on this account and partly from pressure of more important matters, that legislation on this subject had been hitherto from time to time deferred. But the subject had now become in some respects of such urgency that it was considered wise to bring it without delay before the Council, with a view to a more general and complete amendment of the law.

The two leading points which raised questions of policy were, first, the importation of arms, especially cheap fire-arms, and of ammunition, and, secondly, the necessity for restricting and regulating the transfer and transport of arms so as to prevent their reaching the wild tribes without our frontier, and the dangerous classes within our frontier, who ought not to be allowed to possess them. There was good reason to believe that, under the existing law, the import-trade in cheap arms and ammunition had grown up to an unwholesome extent, and that far larger quantities were exported than were required merely for legitimate purposes. It was known to the Government of India that cheap arms were in fact bought and sold to an extent quite incompatible with the maintenance of peace and good government. With the permission of the Council, he would read some papers which would illustrate this subject. One was from the Government of Bengal, dated so far back as July 1870. In that letter it was written that—

“His Excellency the Governor General in Council is aware that the subject of the importation of fire-arms and ammunition has lately engaged the serious attention of the Government of India and of this Government, and by the Foreign Department's notification No 742, dated 28th May 1869, a set of rules was sanctioned for Lower Bengal, which it was hoped would have brought the importation and transportation of arms under a more effectual check than had up to that time been exercised. In practice, however, it is found that the only importers of arms from beyond sea are the regular dealers in Calcutta, to whom, as the law and orders of Government now stand, it is impossible to refuse passes for their consignments, however numerous, so long as no military rifles are among them. This being so, the attention of the Police ought naturally to be mainly directed to checking the transport of arms from Calcutta into the interior. The Commissioner of Police, however, reports that the Police have been unable to exercise any efficient or useful supervision over the transport and sale of arms. The outlets from Calcutta by land and water are so numerous that detection of illicit transport on the way is impossible with existing establishments, and without a most vexatious amount of interference with general trade. Inspection of the dealers' books has never been regularly carried out, and it is represented that not only would it necessitate the appointment of a special officer to control the operations of the 85 licensed dealers in arms, &c, in Calcutta, but the inspection would be of no real value whenever it became the dealer's interest to conceal his transactions. The number of passes for arms which the Commissioner of Police has granted since the passing of the rules in May 1869 is shown in table A. If this be compared with the extent of the importation as shown below, an idea will be formed of the amount of illicit transport of arms into the interior. It is impossible to believe that the greater part of the arms imported is retained in Calcutta.

"2 Coupled with the fact that the existing rules provide no adequate check upon the trade, there is the further significant circumstance that the number engaged in the trade, and the amount of their transactions, are largely increasing. In 1868 there were in Calcutta only twenty-

	Value Rs	eight persons licensed to deal in arms, and five dealers in sulphur, in 1869 there were sixty-nine dealers in arms and eighteen in sulphur. From a report by the Collector of Customs, it appears that the import of fire-arms is yearly increasing. The numbers of arms cannot be given, but the value of the consignments on private accounts is shewn on the margin.

"3 The Lieutenant-Governor's attention has been particularly drawn to the operations of		one firm. Since March their agents here have imported the arms and ammunition shewn in the annexed statement, and there is now lying before Government an application for permission to pass a further invoice of—

40 single rifles,
20 double " ,

"4 The Lieutenant-Governor views with some anxiety this great extension of the trade in cheap arms, which at present Government is powerless to prevent or control. There can be little doubt that most of these weapons find their way to the frontier, and are there disposed of to the Hill tribes. This has been demonstrated by the large seizures occasionally made in frontier-districts like Chittagong and Kachar, and by the reports which reach Government from time to time of the common use of fire-arms by tribes to which they were not long since unknown. Apart, moreover, from the smuggling of arms in bulk, there can be no doubt that many guns are conveyed from Calcutta singly by residents in frontier-districts on the occasion of any visit to the capital and sold at a considerable profit to the hillmen. On this point I am to draw attention to the accompanying copy of a letter, No 336, dated 18th February last, from the Commissioner of Chittagong."

To this letter were appended several papers giving the opinion of local officers, of which he would read the following extract from a letter of the Commissioner of Chittagong —

"The Lieutenant-Governor is, I think, aware from the replies made to the enquiries of Government and from other reports and applications, that considerable efforts are being made in this Division to carry out the wishes of the Governor General in Council as to preventing arms and ammunition from reaching the Eastern frontier-tribes.

"These efforts have been sufficiently successful * * * to be very creditable to the Police, but the results have for some time been convincing me that the provisions of the law in force in this Division are insufficient to enable us to put a stop to small and frequent sales * * *

"A few months ago the then Magistrate of Chittagong, Mr Irwin, made the following observation in reporting on a particular case —

"As regards arms, the law, as it now stands, seems to me all but useless. Guns can be bought after application to the Magistrate, who can scarcely refuse a license, and then passed from hand to hand till they reach the frontier."

"Without agreeing with Mr Irwin as to the difficulty of refusing licenses, I agree with him that the law does not go nearly far enough, and that as it stands, guns can be passed from hand to hand without much difficulty. Section 26 of the Arms Act only provides for the disarming of persons who are found with arms, &c, in their possession without a license, and there is no other penalty * * *

Considering the value of arms to the Lúsháis and Shindús, it will be readily conceived that the slight risk of being now and then disarmed is compensated for many times over by successful sales at high prices."

And another Commissioner of Chittagong, writing at the time of the Lúshái expedition, quotes one of his subordinates as saying —

"Nearly all the guns with which the Lúshái-Kúkís are armed have been obtained in the first instance from Calcutta."

Again, in 1872, a Resolution of the Bombay Government notes the large trade in cheap arms which had suddenly sprung up. In 1871 the importation was double that of 1869, nearly 5,000 fire-arms having been sent up-country openly from Bombay in 1871, the enormous bulk of which consisted of military weapons, and a fair proportion of these were breech-loading arms of precision.

Many of these arms went to Karáchi, and as early as 1865 it was reported as follows by an officer writing from Rájkot —

“While our Native troops are armed with the smooth bore muskets only, a large trade in Enfield pattern long range rifles has of late sprung up in the sadr bazar, and I believe in the province generally. During the months I was in charge of the sadr bazar two such consignments arrived * * * of which the following is a description

“A rather rough trade-made long Enfield with brass-mountings, * * *
* * *
very fairly bored, the rifling being uniform instead of progressive as in the Government arm. The different parts are well and strongly made up, and it is altogether a very serviceable arm. The price asked is Rs 40.”

“A large number of this description of arms has lately been imported from Bombay, and I observed that Messrs ‘——’ and Company were advertising the expected advent of 1,000 long Enfields.

“The rifles which reach the district are obtained principally through the small Memon merchants of Bombay.”

A similar complaint was about the same time made by Colonel Keatinge, then in Kathiáwal, who forwarded a letter from one of the Chiefs under his Political Agency, explaining that it was necessary that his troops should be armed with arms of precision to enable them to cope with lawless robber bands already similarly armed.

In 1872, also, the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputána complained of the way in which arms and ammunition were sold by travelling merchants from Bombay —

“The arms are good weapons and are sold at low rates, a double-barrelled fowling-piece being procurable for from Rs 25 to Rs 30,”

and he goes on to speak of a sale of nine double-barrelled guns to a gang of refugee Meenas (a notoriously robber-tribe), and adds

“This is only one instance of the way in which these weapons are being purchased by Meenas, Bhowikas, Mogheas, and other predatory tribes,” * * * and

“unless some measures to restrict their sale are speedily taken, their possession by the predatory bands will extend. Wherever they have been introduced in any numbers, the predatory bands are becoming too powerful for any Police, and unless checked, I apprehend a time will soon arrive when Government will be obliged to hunt down and disarm these tribes by British troops.”

Later on, the Political Agent in Márwár reported, in describing the proceedings of certain outlaws —

“The Bullana Meenas were armed with percussion-guns, which, being now so easily procured from Bombay, are in the hands of all the bad characters of the country,” and in another place he speaks

‘of arms of precision being commonly found in the hands of brigands and of outlaws’.”

In 1872 the Bengal Government again complained that the evil was increasing, and that licenses for nearly 5,000 weapons had been granted at prices

* Some were said to cost only 8 shillings the maximum of which was rupees 15 for double-barrelled, and rupees 9 for single-barrelled,* weapons, and the annual value of the imports of arms and ammunition was said to be about two lakhs of rupees.

The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal attempted, and temporarily with beneficial results, to check this flood of cheap arms by refusing, as he was empowered to do under the existing law, permission to import weapons under a certain minimum value, but it was obvious that, under the present system of a duty levied ad valorem, the Lieutenant-Governor's measures could be evaded, either by raising the invoice-prices above the real value at the cost of a slightly enhanced duty, or by importing arms in parts—a process which had been attempted.

But the trade in ammunition had under the present law in no way been checked, and was enormous. It was known that in four years—from 1871 to 1874—one hundred millions of percussion-caps had been exported to Calcutta, of which not more than fourteen millions were legally re-exported. Again a very large quantity of gunpowder and a large quantity of cartridges were similarly imported, and he was informed that an application was recently made by a single firm to import 7 lakhs of caps and 14,000 pounds of gunpowder monthly, an amount which could not represent any legitimate demand. In fact it was known that considerable numbers of arms and much ammunition had been, and continued to be, illegally exported, and seizures had been made, in the Panjab for example and en route to the Eastern frontier and to Upper Burma, which left no doubt that a considerable illicit traffic was being carried on in such articles, with tribes more or less hostile beyond our territories.

Indeed we knew that the frontier-tribes on our Panjab border were supplied in considerable numbers with excellent arms of precision, some of which, not being of patterns ever used in the British Army, could only have been supplied by private importation.

He had given these instances, not as exhausting the subject, for, as a matter of fact, there was a mass of further correspondence all to the same general effect, but as perhaps sufficient to illustrate the necessity for further legislative action in this direction.

It was indeed the frequent and urgent representations made on this head which had decided the Government of India, after consulting the various Local Governments and Administrations, to introduce two new provisions into the law.

The first of these was the levy of a duty—not of an ad valorem duty as at present, on arms imported, but a fixed duty—which would operate to check the importation of cheap arms, while it would interfere but little more than the existing duty did with arms of medium value, and still less with those of a more expensive character.

It was understood, for example, that a very good Martini-Henry rifle could be imported into this country at a maximum cost of rupees 35, and other arms at a still lower price. In some cases, as had been seen, a gun could be imported on an invoice-price of eight shillings.

The existing duty was an ad valorem duty of ten per cent (Act XVI, 1875, Schedule A, Art 2—Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores). It was proposed to substitute for this a fixed duty of rupees 50 for each gun, and of rupees 20 for each pistol, a proportionate duty being fixed on all parts of such weapons in order to prevent attempts such as had actually been made to introduce the different parts of fire-arms piecemeal.

He only stopped to notice an argument to which some reference would be found in the papers to be placed before the Council, namely, that, by checking the importation of cheap arms, the manufacture of such arms in India would be stimulated to an undue and dangerous extent.

The truth was however that unless by machinery, the importation and use of which would not be permitted, it would be impossible to manufacture such arms, at least in any numbers, at a cheap rate. The skill which would enable an artisan, by hand-labour, to imitate even the guns imported for a few shillings, would usually command in other work a remuneration so high as to detach him from the manufacture of cheap fire-arms, moreover, the manufacture of arms within India could be controlled far more easily than their importation.

As regards ammunition, &c, the existing law would be preserved intact. Local Governments would be instructed to refuse licenses for the importation of excessive quantities, and its sale and storage would be placed under more stringent restrictions, which would render difficult its disposal for improper purposes after importation.

The law would also be altered so as to permit a stricter regulation of the transport of weapons and ammunition in India, and would impose heavy penalties on illicit transport, especially when any attempt at concealment was made.

There would be also found in the Bill another measure for remedying the evils above described, the necessity for which had been admitted by the Government of India not without much hesitation and only after the almost unanimous expression of opinion by Local Governments and Administrations and of their executive officers as to its necessity. The existing law, it would be perhaps remembered, practically divided the country into disarmed and undisarmed districts or provinces, and while certain somewhat stringent regulations applied to the former, no restrictions at all, except as to the importation of arms and manufacture of arms, applied to the latter.

It had been shown however that it was practically impossible to prevent or control the transmission of arms to the disarmed districts, or to the frontiers of India, unless some regulation was adopted as to the possession and transfer of arms in the non-disarmed districts. If an agent could buy and collect arms and ammunition without any notice to the Police, or other let or hindrance, in a non-disarmed district, there was no other difficulty to be overcome in transmitting them to places beyond but the regulations against illegal transport, the risk of evading which was comparatively small, indeed, as a matter of fact, several concealed consignments had been seized, and yet it had, he believed, not been found possible in any single case practically to reach either the real sender or consignee. Even, therefore, though it was intended to make the rules as to transport more strict and the penalties for their evasion somewhat heavier, it would still be impossible to maintain any effective control over the traffic in arms with disarmed or frontier-districts, unless the possession of arms elsewhere was more or less under control.

He might say that this opinion had been expressed, not merely by the Governments of disarmed provinces, but also by two at least of the Governments of two great non-disarmed provinces—Madras and Lower Bengal.

It accordingly was intended to extend to all districts, without exception, the provision for making the possession of arms without a license illegal, and to make the sale of arms to persons not holding such a license a criminal offence.

It would also be provided that licensed dealers in arms should keep regular books, and that private persons selling arms should register the transfer at the nearest police-office.

These provisions would, however, be tempered by the maintenance of all the executive exemptions already in force under the existing law, and by making prosecutions for possessing arms legal only under the order of the Magistrate of the district, moreover, searches for arms would not be made except in the presence of specially selected officers, and only on occasions when there was good reason to believe that an offence was being committed.

With these restrictions, and with judicious rules for the grant of licenses, which the Bill would give the Government of India power to make, it was to be hoped that the provisions of the Bill would not be found more stringent than necessary, or in practice in any degree harsh or oppressive.

It would not in all cases, for example, probably be necessary to make the licenses renewable annually, or the levy of a fee for a license usually more than sufficient to recoup the cost and trouble of preparing the license.

Having thus explained the policy of the Bill, he would only add that the proposals now put forward, however stringent they appeared, had not been made without a full conviction on the part of the Government of India that they were necessary to the preservation of peace and good order. And it was to be remembered that such legislation, indeed more stringent legislation, was not without precedent even in Europe. Without going further than the British Statute-book, the Irish Acts of 1856 and 1870, &c., provided that persons knowingly having arms in possession were liable to imprisonment with or without hard labour for two years, that persons found carrying arms could be arrested by any private individual, that licenses could be revoked by proclamation, and the owners compelled to deposit their arms and ammunition in such places as might be mentioned in it, that dealers could not sell to persons not duly licensed. Indeed so stringent were the provisions of those Acts, that a person desirous of carrying a revolver for his own protection must obtain a special license.

Of course the Government of India did not expect (nor probably did any one else) that the measures proposed would be absolutely effective to prevent altogether the illegal importation, sale and transport of arms and ammunition, but it was hoped and believed that they would, if judiciously enforced, suffice to restrain illegal trade within comparatively harmless dimensions.

In conclusion he would only say, that if he obtained the leave of the Council to bring in the Bill which had been prepared, he would then take the opportunity of explaining the clauses which had been drawn to give effect to the policy he had described, and would explain the other new provisions chiefly designed to clear up doubts which had arisen from the wording of the existing law.

Lieutenant-General the Hon'ble SIR E. JOHNSON said that after the very exhaustive speech of the mover it was perhaps unnecessary for him to say anything. But he felt especially glad, as a military man, that the Government had decided to deal with this most important subject. When he said that he spoke as a military man, he meant that he spoke in the interests of our own soldiers. Since the time referred to in one of the papers from which Sir E. Bayley had quoted, he was happy to say that our soldiers have been placed in a much better position than that in which they were then, for a great portion of the army has received arms of precision. But there are still troops, especially local corps and military police, who are without such arms. These men might be brought into conflict with robbers, dacoits, and ill-doers of every description,—who are in possession of arms of a superior description to those with which our own troops were armed. It placed soldiers in a very false position to be liable to be brought against men armed with arms of precision very superior to those which they themselves possessed, and therefore he thought it essentially important that the question should be dealt with by a legislative measure of the kind now proposed.

But not only as regards the importation of arms, but equally important was the prevention of the manufacture of fire-arms and ammunition in this country. The hon'ble mover and the members of this Council were no doubt perfectly aware, that recently the Government had had before them as a fact that an admirable cap-manufactory existed in a city near one of our military stations. The caps turned out in that manufactory were almost equal to those which the Government supplied to their troops, and it was also well known that the Native artisan was so excellent a manipulator, and, like the Chinese, copied so well, that the arms and warlike implements he turned out were not to be distinguished from those of our own troops. And therefore when the Council was dealing with the illegal importation of arms, they were equally bound to deal with the manufacture of such arms in this country.

SIR E. JOHNSON had had the privilege of looking over this Bill and he confessed that he did not see any loophole by which the provisions and intentions of the Act could be avoided.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

STAMPS BILL

The Hon'ble MR. COCKERELL moved that the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Stamps and Court-fees be referred to a Select Committee. He said that the Bill which was introduced at Simla in view to its early publication, had now been before the public for nearly two months.

Every expression of opinion in regard to the proposed amendments of the law contained in the Bill which its publication had elicited, was being carefully observed and noted. No official communication or representation by any public body addressed to the Council, in regard to its provisions, had yet been received, and the criticisms which had from time to time appeared in the public Press, both European and Native, were directed rather to the details than the principle of the measure, they would doubtless receive the careful consideration of the Select Committee before which the Bill would come if the present motion was carried, but they were not such as to call for special notice here.

When introducing the Bill, he (MR. COCKERELL) had endeavoured to explain as fully as possible the considerations which had led to the alterations of the present law for which it provided, and he did not think that he could now profitably occupy the time of the Council by adding anything to what he then said, unless any hon'ble member in speaking to the present motion should make such criticisms or comments on the provisions of the Bill as might indicate that further explanation was needed.

The Hon'ble SIR JOHN STRACHEY said —“MY LORD,—I think it right, as the Member of the Executive Government more especially responsible for the administration of the Stamp-revenue, to say a few words on the present motion, although my hon'ble friend Mr Cockerell has on a former occasion treated the subject so ably and so completely that little remains for me to add. The Bill which is now I hope about to be referred for the consideration of a Select Committee of this Council is the outcome of long and careful consideration. The law which it is now proposed to embody in a single Act is at present contained in two principal Statutes, in several amending and otherwise subsidiary Acts, and in many notifications which have the force of law.

"The object of the measure now under consideration was originally consolidation only. I find that it was initiated in the Legislative Department in August 1875, in the pursuit of that useful policy of codification which is so identified with our hon'ble and learned colleague now responsible for that Department. It was represented to the Government of India, that the law relating to Stamps and Court-fees was, at that time, scattered through thirteen Acts and Regulations, forty-six notifications, and numerous Rules having the force of law, that there had been nearly fifty important decisions upon doubtful points of the law by the several High Courts, and that it was known that not a few important provisions of the law were still the subject of doubts and uncertainties. All this in regard to a law which ought of all laws to be accessible and clear, as well in the interests of persons affected by its provisions, as of the revenues, which, it was known, suffered seriously from the habitual application by the Courts of the rule that Acts imposing duties should be construed with the utmost strictness, and so as to give the public the benefit of any reasonable doubt.

"Upon this representation from the Legislative Department, the Government of Lord Northbrook (Sir William Muir being Financial Member) admitted the validity of the reasons for taking up the subject, and, on the 21st December 1875, the Hon'ble Mr Inglis obtained leave to introduce a Bill into this Council for the purpose.

"Meanwhile, a Committee had been appointed to report upon the use of adhesive labels, which had been introduced in 1871, and concerning which there was much difference of opinion. The report of that Committee is still under consideration, and the Bill now before the Council has been so framed as to enable the Government of India at any time to make any change that may appear to be expedient in the machinery by which stamp-duties are levied.

"Sundry other questions had also been referred to the Local Governments and subordinate officers, both in the Financial and Home Departments. These questions and the replies received to them have already been explained to the Council in sufficient detail by my hon'ble friend Mr Cockerell. I wish only to make it clear that, in its inception, the present measure was altogether one of consolidation and administration, and that it, happily, results beneficial to the revenue should be produced, such results were not the object with which the measure was undertaken, and they are too uncertain to form a part of the arrangements which, in consequence of the obligations devolving on the State for the relief of famine, must soon be made in order to place the finances in a condition of safety.

"Nor under any circumstances can the increase of revenue be sufficiently large to be a matter of any great financial importance.

"Still the Stamp-revenue is a valuable item in the national balance-sheet, and the Government of India is bound, in the general interest, to take care that the duties imposed by the legislature are not evaded, but are effectually recovered, and from time to time to propose to the legislature the removal of any inequalities or omissions in this class of taxation which may come to its knowledge. The Stamp-revenue of 1876-77 was gross 281 lakhs of rupees, nett 274 lakhs, having steadily risen to these amounts from the comparatively moderate figures of gross 118 and nett 112 lakhs in 1860-61. Stamps now contribute about 5½ per cent of the gross Revenues of India. The Stamp-revenues of Great Britain amount to about £11,000,000 of a Grand Total of £77,000,000, or one-seventh (14 per cent) of the whole.

"The present Bill is calculated, as we hope, not only to simplify and improve the law, but also somewhat to increase our revenue by rendering evasion of the existing duties more difficult and by the removal of some existing defects

"The evidence collected appears conclusive that the Courts of Justice do not at present enforce the just claims of the Revenues. Almost the only practical penalties for evasion of the Stamp-laws are the disabilities and other unpleasant consequences which ensue in case insufficiently stamped instruments come before the Courts of Justice, but the Courts are not always disposed to perform the business of protecting the financial interests of the State, and from our financial point of view (though from other points of view I do not blame them), they are too ready to accept excuses for disobedience to the Stamp-laws. A principal object of the present Bill is to remedy this serious evil. We are bound to apply a remedy as soon as we become aware of evils of this kind, and I consider that if the legislation which we are now undertaking is not successful (as I hope it will be) in checking these evils, then we must continue amending and amending the law till we succeed in securing absolutely the whole dues of the State. I need not take up the time of the Council by describing in detail the provisions of the present Bill for this end.

"The Stamp-law of British India is in most respects modelled upon that of the United Kingdom, and we now propose to re-adjust our stamp-duties in some particulars in which they have hitherto been, relatively, lower than in Great Britain. Thus we think it equitable henceforth to levy, as is done at home, the same percentage of duty upon transactions of larger amount as is levied upon smaller transactions, and to impose upon bills of exchange the same proportionate burden as is borne by these instruments in Great Britain.

"In Great Britain the duty chargeable on an instrument purporting to convey property for £500 is 50 shillings (£2-10), whilst that required in respect of a bill of exchange for like amount is 5 shillings, i e, the duty on a conveyance-instrument is equal to ten times that on a bill of exchange.

"In India, under the present law, the duty on an instrument of conveyance of property for rupees 5,000 consideration is rupees 50, whilst that on a bill of exchange for a like amount is rupees 3, i e, the duty on a conveyance is more than sixteen times that on a bill of exchange.

"This duty on conveyances has been in force for many years, and is nothing new. All that is proposed is to raise the duty on bills to the English level or proportion of one-tenth of the duty on conveyances.

"Again, we propose to raise the minimum duty upon bonds and the like from two annas to four annas. This increase will not, we believe, injure any one, but, inasmuch as it will affect a large mass of documents, we hope that it will produce an appreciable addition to our revenues.

"Lastly, we propose to make receipts for more than rupees 10 subject to the one-anna duty, instead of receipts for more than rupees 20 as at present, and to endeavour to enforce this duty more completely than heretofore.

"There seems to be an impression that we intend also to increase the taxation by Court-fees, but this is not the case. For convenience sake, we have united the two laws in one enactment, but without in any way amalgamating or confusing them. The only change proposed in the Court-fees division of the law is the reduction of the fees on suits in the Courts of Small Causes in the Presidency-towns from  $12\frac{1}{2}$  per cent to 10 per cent, and the increase of the fees in the same Courts in the interior from  $7\frac{1}{2}$  per cent to 10 per cent. It is possible that this change may yield some increase of revenue, but our object is rather the furtherance of the policy for the general assimilation of procedure in all the Courts at which we have, for some time, been aiming.

"For the sake of my own consistency, having often in past times protested against the imposition of taxes on the administration of justice, I must express my great regret that we do not at present see our way to the reduction of the existing fees. I hope that better times may come.

"A small increase is also proposed on Letters of Administration and Probates from two to two and a half per cent. But the two per cent duty on these documents has been from the first regarded as tentative only. The addition of half per cent seems to us to be fair and moderate.

“ In concluding these remarks, I wish to acknowledge the great care and ability and labour bestowed by our hon'ble colleague Mr Cockerell on the elaboration of this measure. The Acts of 1869 and 1870 were the work of our hon'ble colleague, and they have on the whole worked remarkably well. Under their operation, the revenue has risen by about one-fifth, namely, from 227 lakhs to 274 lakhs of rupces. It is in my opinion not at all surprising that these Acts should now, after seven years' experience, require amendment. It is fortunate that we have again had the benefit of my hon'ble friend's services in a matter in which his experience is pre-eminent, but it must be understood that while he has thus kindly relieved me from a laborious duty, the measure is none the less a measure for which the Government of India is entirely responsible ”

The Motion was put and agreed to

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE AMENDMENT BILL

The Hon'ble MR STOKES asked leave to postpone the motion for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the first schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure

MYSORE PROVINCE

PROVINCE OF MYSORE

(No 44)

Special Famine Report for the Week ending 8th December 1877

Statement No 44, regarding Famine Relief Operations in the Province of Mysore for the Week ending the 8th December 1877

There was slight drizzling rain during a part of the week, but Mysore and Shimoga appear to have been the only districts where anything like a shower fell. Rain is still needed in Mysore and Hassan for the gram crop, and complaints of insects and blight, particularly to tuvar and ballar, continue to be made. Reaping of the early-sown crops is being completed, and prices slowly but steadily decline. Movements of grain are generally less, though the Deputy Commissioner of Hassan reports that much new grain is being imported from Mangalore into his district. The closure of small out-lying Relief Camps and Way side Rest Houses is carried out under due precautions, whilst in the larger Camps every effort is being made to fit the inmates to return to their ordinary employments or for labor on the Relief Works. Civil Agency Relief Works, now that the Public Works Department are prepared to employ all the labor available, are being put a stop to, and the people on them either transferred to the control of the professional officers, or after a careful enquiry, individual by individual, allowed to return to their villages. In a short time, gratuitous relief, or measures curtailing the amount of labor to be exacted in return for the wages offered, will have become unnecessary, and as the laborers improve in physique and the villages wake into activity and demand population, the presence of the Civil Officer on the Public Works may be dispensed with.

2 The imports of grain by rail amounted to 580 tons only, or 2,225 tons less than in the preceding week. The imports were from the following quarters —

	Tons
From Madras	369
" Beypore	9
" Tanjore and Negapatam	139
" other places	63
TOTAL	580

From Bangalore 1,025 tons, or 524 tons less than last week, were exported to the following quarters, as shewn by the actual returns —

	Tons
Tumkūr	256
Bellary	78
Mysore	623
Usur (Salem District)	82
Round Bangalore	86
TOTAL	1,025

3 Prices have very generally fallen and are also becoming more equal in all the districts, though still lower in Shimoga and Chitaldrug than elsewhere. The following statement gives the maximum and minimum prices in lbs per rupee for each district —

	Maximum in lbs 2nd sort rice	per Rupee Bagl	Minimum in lbs 2nd sort rice	per Rupee Bagl

4 The number of laborers on Civil Relief Works was 17,478, or 3,829 less than for last week, due to transfers to the Professional Officers and to the return of people to their homes.

5. Under the Public Works Department, 46,076 laborers were employed on strictly Famine Relief Works, or an increase of 1,106, due to transfers of Civil Agency labor in the

Tumkūr District The returns, as usual, have been prepared to exclude ordinary Public Works
The following is a list of works on which are employed 500 laborers and upwards —

OPIUM ACT, 1876, AMENDMENT BILL

The Hon'ble MR HOPE introduced the Bill to amend the Opium Act, 1876, and moved that it be referred to a Select Committee. He said that, when soliciting leave to introduce the Bill, he had explained its objects so fully, that he thought it was unnecessary for him to add any further remarks on the present occasion.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR HOPE also moved that the Bill be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments direct.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN ARMS BILL

The Hon'ble SIR E BAYLEY introduced the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores, and moved that it be referred to a Select Committee. He had promised on the last occasion, in introducing the Bill, to afford some explanation of the different sections of the new law which had been proposed with the view of meeting the special difficulties which rendered the introduction of the Bill itself necessary. The whole Act, he might say, had been drafted and recast, although its substance was very much that of the present Bill. But it had been re-arranged and made more concise and put into a more intelligible and compact shape by his hon'ble friend Mr Stokes, and Mr Fitzpatrick. There would, no doubt, be many points of drafting in which the Bill might be improved while passing through Select Committee, and he did not propose at the present moment to say that every particular provision of the Bill was in a form in which he should like to see it in its ultimate shape. He thought, however, that, as it was now drawn, it stated the precise policy which the Government of India wished to enforce.

As he had explained at the last meeting of the Council, one main object of the present Bill was to obtain stricter control over the importation of cheap firearms, and also on their possession, even in the non-disarmed parts of India, so as to prevent their transport and sale without, and even within, our own territories or frontier and their transfer to persons into whose possession it was essential to the peace of the country that such arms should not come. He would, however, before proceeding further, draw attention to the first and twenty-third sections of the Bill, which contained all the exemptions at present in force, and the Council would see further that the Bill contained provisions for the continuance of similar exemptions. He would state to the Council what the chief of these exemptions were, first of all, all Europeans, Americans and Anglo-Indian subjects were exempted, then certain Chiefs, Jagirdárs and other Natives who were specially exempted by the Local Government under the powers given to them. Again, for example, in the Panjab, all honorary magistrates and Police-zaildars, who were a class of honorary officials below the degree of magistrates, were exempted. He merely mentioned these examples to show how wide the scope of present exemptions was, and he wished to point out that every exemption existing under the present law would be continued, and would not be affected by the passing of this Bill, and the Local Governments and the Government of India would have similar powers to continue or to renew or to extend these exemptions in future.

Section 4 of the Bill defined "ammunition," "military stores" and "arms," and also contained various other definitions. The particular feature in these definitions was the separation of the definitions of "ammunition" and "military stores." This was a new feature, and the Council would find that this difference affected the Bill, inasmuch as "military stores" included a great many articles which were also used for other purposes, and therefore the absolute restrictions as to these articles were very much less stringent than as to what were called "ammunition." In fact he might say generally, although it did not exactly express the fact, that power was given to the Government to restrict the transport of military stores, rather than that their transport was absolutely restricted by the Bill. He had mentioned at the last meeting of the Council that some very considerable difficulties had occurred from the want of proper definitions in this respect, and that, for example, for the time considerable inconvenience was felt in the saltpetre trade from the want of the separate definition now introduced.

Section 5 of the Bill, or rather a clause of it, contained a new provision in regard to the sale by private persons of arms and ammunition. It had been found, as a matter of fact, and it was only very natural that persons buying arms and ammunition perfectly bonâ fide for their own use, ceased to require them, and then sold them to the first purchaser. In that way a considerable number of arms had got into hands to which it was not desirable that they should pass. There would therefore be two restrictions on this point: one that it would not be legal to sell such arms to a person who was not licensed to possess them, and secondly, that any private person selling arms or ammunition would have to give notice thereof to the nearest Police-station. SIR E. BAYLEY did not think that in practice this would be found a very oppressive or harsh provision, while at the same time he believed that it might prevent a good deal of mischief.

Section 7 referred to the duties on cheap firearms. He explained this part of the subject at so much length on the last occasion, that he would not detain the Council at present with any further remarks upon it. The Council would find in the second schedule attached to the Bill the specific duties it was proposed to levy on firearms and military stores, including parts of firearms. This schedule had been prepared with some difficulty, for it required a good deal of technical knowledge to fit it exactly to the facts and necessities of the case. He hoped that, when the Bill went into Committee, his colleagues would assist him in making this schedule as perfect as it could be made.

Section 11 referred to the general restriction which it was proposed to place on the possession of arms all over the country, without reference to the fact whether specific districts were included under what was section 32 of the old Act, whether, that is to say, they were "disarmed" or "undisarmed" districts. It was intended that the necessity for a license should extend to the whole country. He would point out, however, that the last two clauses in this section were intended to meet any difficulty which might be felt by persons who now possessed arms, and it would be seen that this section would not come into force for three months after the date on which the Bill came into force, so as to give time and opportunity to a person who did not care to take out a license to dispose of his arms, or to take out a license if he chose to do so, and if he could not sell them, or care otherwise to get rid of them, he would be allowed by the third clause of the section to deposit them at the nearest Police-station

Section 22 was somewhat wide in its terms, but it was a generalization of section 20 of Act XXXI of 1860. The Council would see that sections 25 and 26 of the Bill maintained, in respect to searches in the undisciplined districts all the existing restrictions as to prosecutions and searches to be made, and did not specially extend, but were on the contrary rather intended to mitigate the severity of the law. Under section 25, in such cases no prosecution could be instituted against any person without the previous sanction of the Magistrate of the District, and by section 26 a search under similar circumstances must be in the presence of some person specially appointed by name by the Lieutenant-Governor in this behalf, and not otherwise, that was to say, an ordinary Police-officer would not have the power of making searches without any special authority or guidance, but in every case some special selected officer of some rank and position would be employed in making searches.

SIR E. BAYLEY did not know whether there was anything else which was new in the Bill as to principle. As he had said before, the subject was a very complicated one, and the drafting of the Act had been one of great difficulty. If hereafter any blots were found in it, he was sure that the Select Committee would be very glad to consider them, and to amend them so as to meet any difficulties which might arise. He did not know how long the Committee would sit, but the Bill would be no doubt in their hands for some time, and both the public and the members of the Council would have the opportunity of bringing to notice any special points which might occur to them.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR E. BAYLEY also moved that the Bill be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local Gazettes in English, and in such other languages as the Local Governments direct.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

MADRAS DISTRICT JUDGES BILL

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to enable the District Judges of the Presidency of Fort Saint George to suspend and remove certain ministerial officers, and for other purposes.

SUNDRY BILLS

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES also moved that the Hon'ble Mr. Paul be added to the Select Committees on the following Bills —

To define and amend the law relating to the transfer of property.

To define and amend the law relating to Promissory Notes, Bills of Exchange and Cheques.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

SEA CUSTOMS BILL

The Hon'ble MR. HOPE moved that the Hon'ble Mr. Morgan be added to the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the levy of Sea Customs-duties.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The following Select Committees were named —

On the Bill to amend the Opium Act, 1876—The Hon'ble Messrs Stokes, Cockerell and the Mover.

On the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores—Lieutenant-General the Hon'ble Sir E. B. Johnson, the Hon'ble Mr. Stokes, the Hon'ble Maharaja Jotindra Mohan Tagore and the Hon'ble Messrs Hope, Evans, Morgan and the Mover.

The Council adjourned to Thursday, the 27th December 1877.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS
FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 18TH DECEMBER 1877

GENERAL REMARKS.—In Madras general rain has fallen, except in the Godavery district some damage from locusts is reported from Kistna, Cuddapah and Trichinopoly, and from excessive rain in Tanjore, Trichinopoly, Tinnevely, Coimbatore, the Nilgiris, and Malabar, prospects are however on the whole very good, and prices have fallen. The total number on works is 183,006 and on gratuitous relief 302,302, 25,501, and 14,699 less than last week respectively. In Mysore also there has been general rain, which has been injurious to the ripening crops, though beneficial to those later sown, the number on works for the week ending the 8th was 63,554, and on gratuitous relief 18,371, being 2,723 and 1,109 less than in the previous week. In Bombay beneficial showers have fallen in parts of Guzerat, Khandesh, Násik, the Deccan and the Southern Mahratta country in the Southern Deccan and Káladgi, the fall was general, more is still required in parts of Násik, Ahmednagar and Khandesh. In the Central Provinces showers are reported from nine districts, and it is generally cloudy, the rain is unfavourable to the jowár and cotton, but beneficial to the rábi. In Behar also a little rain has fallen, and damage to the jowár and cotton is reported as well as to the rábi from cloudy weather. Showers have fallen in Central India, prospects are good. In Rajputana there has been general and very beneficial rain. In Bengal light rain is reported from the Central districts, and parts of Chota Nagpore and Behar, the recent rain has done much good to the rábi, but more is wanted in Behar. In Assam no rain has fallen, prospects are good. In British Burma also there has been no rain, the crops are excellent, and in many districts the harvest is far advanced. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh partial showers are reported from Agra, Bareilly, Allahabad, Lucknow and Partábgarh, more rain is wanted in some parts, but the prospects of the rábi have generally much improved. In the Punjab light rain has fallen in all districts except Hissar, Umballa and Amritsar, prospects are generally favourable.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

[First Publication]

The following Act of the Governor-General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor-General on the 27th December 1877, and is hereby promulgated for general information —

ACT No XVIII OF 1877

An Act to amend the law relating to Salt

For the purpose of amending the law relating to Salt, it is hereby enacted as follows

Preamble

Preliminary

Short title 1 This Act may be called "The Salt Act, 1877,"

Commencement And it shall come into force on the twenty-eighth day of December 1877

2 The Acts specified in the Schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of the same Schedule

3 In this Act "maund" means a maund of 82½ lbs avoirdupois weight

4 The Indian Tariff Act, 1875 Schedule A, No 49, shall be amended as follows, that is to say—

(a) in column three, for the figures and word "3,200 talahs," the figures and words "82½ lbs avoirdupois" shall be substituted, and

(b) in column 5, for the numbers "1" and "13," the numbers "2" and "8" respectively shall be substituted

Bombay and Madras

5 On all salt imported by land into any of the territories administered by the Governor of Bombay in Council, or the Governor of Fort St George in Council, a customs-duty shall be levied at the rate at which customs-duty is for the time being levied on salt imported into the same territory by sea

Duty on salt imported by land

Bombay

6 On all salt manufactured in any of the territories administered by the Governor of Bombay in Council, an excise-duty shall be levied at the rate at which customs-duty is for the time being levied on salt imported into the same territory by sea

Duty on salt manufactured in Bombay

Madras

7 For section 11 of the Madras Salt Excise Act, 1871, the following shall be substituted —

"11 On all salt manufactured in any district, or part of a district, to which this Act may be extended, an excise-duty shall be levied at the rate at which customs-duty is for the time being levied on salt imported into the said presidency by sea, and shall be paid under such orders as the Board of Revenue from time to time make in this behalf

"Provided that no such duty shall be leviable until the salt is about to be removed from the place of storage, and that no salt shall be so removed without a permit authorizing its removal from store, and such permit shall specify the quantity to be removed and the excise-duty levied or due thereon"

8 The Government of Fort St George shall from time to time, by notification in the Local Gazette, fix as part of the price of every maund of salt sold under its orders within any local area, such sum or sums as it may deem sufficient to cover the cost of importation, purchase, manufacture, storage, transport, sale and wastage

9 The said Government may from time to time vary such sum or sums for any description of salt, or for any local area, with reference to all or any of the following considerations, (namely) —

(a) the place in which the salt is sold,
(b) the quantity of the salt sold in any transaction,
(c) any other circumstances affecting its sale

10 The price to be paid to the said Government in any local area mentioned in any notification under section eight or section nine shall, for every maund of salt sold in such

Price to be paid in each local area for salt sold area, be equal to the customs-duty for the time being leviable on a maund of salt imported by sea into the presidency of Fort St. George, together with the sum or sums fixed under the said sections

The sums under section eight shall be taken, until altered for any local use by notification under section eight or section nine, to be the following, namely, in the districts of Malabar and South Canara, for home-made salt, five annas per maund, and for imported salt, eight annas per maund, and in all other districts of the Presidency of Fort St. George, three annas per maund

Orissa

11 In modification of Bengal Act No VII of 1861, section 9, a duty shall be paid on salt manufactured in Orissa at any place in the Division of Orissa by persons licensed under that Act, at such rate, not exceeding three rupees, four annas, as the Governor General in Council may from time to time fix for such place

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE, AND COMMERCE.

NOTIFICATIONS—FIBRES AND SILK

Simla, the 31st August 1877

No 45—In 1871 the Government of India offered a prize of £5,000 to the inventor of the best machine or process for the preparation of the fibre of the Bohmeria nivea (popularly known under the names of rhea, ramie, and China grass), and the terms on which machines would be admitted to competition were widely notified in India, in Europe, and in America. Many persons declared their intention to compete, but ultimately only one machine was actually brought to the place of trial. The machine, having been carefully tested at Sahāranpur in the autumn of 1872, was found imperfect in some important respects, and the inventor was adjudged not entitled to the full reward. He was, however, presented with £1,500 in consideration of the partial measure of success he had attained after great perseverance.

2 This machine has not since been adapted by the inventor to practical use, and no improved process of preparing the fibre of the rhea has been yet discovered by other persons. Meanwhile, the demand for rhea continues, and the conditions which induced the Government of India in 1871 to offer a prize remain substantially unchanged.

3 His Honour the President in Council, therefore, considers that it is desirable to renew the offer, and it is accordingly hereby notified that a reward of fifty thousand rupees will be paid to the inventor of the best machine or process which will separate the bark and fibre from the stem, and the fibre from the bark, of the Bohmeria nivea.

4 A smaller reward, not exceeding ten thousand rupees, will be given to the inventor of the next best machine or process, provided it is adjudged to possess merit and to be capable without difficulty of adaptation to practical use.

5 What is required is a machine or process capable of producing, by animal, water, or steam power, a ton of dressed fibre of a quality which shall average in value not less than £15 per ton in the English market, at a total cost, including all processes of preparation and all needful allowance for wear and tear, of not more than £15 per ton, laid down at any port of shipment in India, and £30 in England after payment of all the charges usual in trade before goods reach the hands of the manufacturer. The processes of preparation are to be understood to include all the operations required subsequent to the cutting of the stems from the plants in the field, until the fibre is in a condition fit to be packed for conveyance to the market.

6 The machinery employed must be simple, strong, durable, and inexpensive, and should be suited for erection in the plantations where the rhea is grown. It must be adapted for treatment of the fresh stems, as cut from the plant. The treatment of dried stems offers certain difficulties, and the fibre prepared from them must, moreover, always be much more costly than the fibre produced from green stems. Except during the hot dry weather preceding the rains in Upper India (where rhea grows best), it is very difficult so to dry the stems that no fermentation or mildew shall occur. But during this season the stems are comparatively short and the crop poor and stunted, unless it is artificially irrigated, and such irrigation greatly increases the cost of cultivation. In the rainy season the plant is in fine condition, but at this season it is almost impossible to dry the stems in quantity without injuring the fibre, unless recourse is had to artificial means of desiccation, which greatly increase the cost of the material. It is therefore obvious that the attention of inventors should be given to the discovery of a process for the treatment of the green stems.

7 The trials will be held at Sahāranpur in the North-Western Provinces in the months of August and September 1879. Machines entered for competition should be placed in situ and be ready for work not later than the 15th August, the competition commencing on the next day. The judges will be appointed by the Government, and they will watch the whole of the trials. But the machines shall be worked and adjusted by the competitors themselves, and no person shall touch a machine without the consent of the inventor.

8 The Government of India will provide proper shelter and accommodation at Sahāranpur for all the competing machines as well as the motive power required. It will also pay for the transport from the sea-coast to Sahāranpur of all machines up to the limit of one ton each, the freight on any excess weight to be defrayed by the owners. The present rate of freight by rail from Calcutta to Sahāranpur is Rs 3-10 per maund, or Rs 98-11 per ton, and from Bombay to Sahāranpur Rs 4-1 per maund, or Rs 110 9 per ton. A free second class ticket to Sahāranpur will also be given to any person in charge of a machine.

9 The owner or owners of the successful machine or machines shall not be entitled to receive the reward offered except on the following conditions, viz—

- (1) That a complete technical description of the machine, illustrated by plans drawn to scale, shall be prepared and published (Government paying the cost) for the information of the public.
- (2) That after the expiry of three years from the date on which the award is made, the public shall have the right of manufacturing similar machines, on payment to the owner of a royalty of 10 per cent on the cost of each machine so manufactured.

10 All persons desiring to compete under the terms and on the conditions specified above are requested to make known their intention not later than the 31st December 1878, giving the following particulars—

1. Name in full and residence
2. Profession or occupation
3. Number of different kinds of machines entered for competition
4. Brief description of each machine

Intending competitors will at the same time declare themselves bound (under penalty of disqualification of the competing machines and forfeiture of all claim to the Government reward) to conform to all rules which may be prescribed by Government, or by the judges appointed by Government in connection with the conduct of the trials.

All notices of intention to compete and applications for information should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce, Calcutta

11 A limited quantity of rhea will be grown in the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, and persons desirous of testing their machines before entering them for public competition may obtain given stems in small quantities from the Superintendent of the gardens through this Department

COMMERCE AND TRADE

Calcutta, the 28th December 1877

No. 23 of 1877—The following Notice to Mariners is published for general information —

NOTICE TO MARINERS BAY OF BENGAL—CHITTAGONG COAST

Alteration in position of the Beacon Lights at the entrance to Chittagong or Kornafuli River

The two Beacon Lights situated on the southern shore at the entrance to Kornafuli River have been removed 2,417 yards due south of their former position. The lights, 10 yards apart on a S E by E  $\frac{1}{2}$  E bearing, were exhibited from the new site on the 20th October 1877, the inner or eastern light from a tripod, the outer or western one from a mast, both Beacons being painted white.

The inner light is elevated about 5 feet higher than the outer one, and both are visible in clear weather from a distance of 7 miles through an arc of  $160^{\circ}$ , or when bearing from S E by S, through east and north, to N by W.

During southerly winds, sailing vessels from the southward and westward (especially those at some distance in the offing) should avoid getting to the northward of the lights, but at night with the outer or western light bearing E  $\frac{1}{2}$  N, should run in and anchor in 5 fathoms at low water spring, about  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles from the light, to await day-light.

The Beacons in line, and the Hill flagstaff bearing N E, will place a vessel about half a mile southwestward of the bar buoys, from this position the bar and river buoys will be distinctly seen, and the services of a local pilot are always obtainable. Vessels should not attempt to cross the bar without a pilot, as the channel to Chittagong is long, narrow, and somewhat intricate.

Position of Beacons, latitude  $22^{\circ} 10' 50''$  N, longitude  $91^{\circ} 48' 29''$  E

[Bearings are Magnetic and from Seaward Variation  $3^{\circ}$  Easterly in 1877]

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication]

The following Act of the Governor-General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor-General on the 27th December 1877, and is hereby promulgated for general information —

ACT No. XVIII OF 1877.

An Act to amend the law relating to Salt

FOR the purpose of amending the law relating to Salt, it is hereby enacted as follows

Preamble

Preliminary

Short title 1 This Act may be called "The Salt Act, 1877,"

Commencement. And it shall come into force on the twenty-eighth day of December 1877

2 The Acts specified in the Schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of the same Schedule

3 In this Act "maund" means a maund of 82½ lbs avoirdupois weight

"Maund" defined

General

4 The Indian Tariff Act, 1875, Schedule A, No 49, shall be amended as follows, that is to say—

(a) in column three, for the figures and word "3,200 tolahs," the figures and words "82½lbs avoirdupois" shall be substituted, and

(b) in column 5, for the numbers "1" and "13," the numbers "2" and "8" respectively shall be substituted

Bombay and Madras

5 On all salt imported by land into any of the territories administered by the Governor of Bombay in Council, or the Governor of Fort St George in Council, a customs-duty shall be levied at the rate at which customs-duty is for the time being levied on salt imported into the same territory by sea

6 On all salt manufactured in any of the territories administered by the Governor of Bombay in Council, an excise-duty shall be levied at the rate at which customs-duty is for the time being levied on salt imported into the same territory by sea

7 For section 11 of the Madras Salt Excise Madras Act VI of Act, 1871, the following shall be substituted —

"11 On all salt manufactured in any district, or part of a district, to which this Act may be extended, an excise-duty shall be levied at the rate at which customs-duty is for the time being levied on salt imported into the said presidency by sea, and shall be paid under such orders as the Board of Revenue from time to time make in this behalf

"Provided that no such duty shall be leviable until the salt is about to be removed from the place of storage, and that no salt shall be so removed without a permit authorizing its removal from store, and such permit shall specify the quantity to be removed and the excise-duty levied or due thereon"

8 The Government of Fort St George shall from time to time, by notification in the Local Gazette, fix as part of the price of every maund of salt sold under its orders within any local area, such sum or sums as it may deem sufficient to cover the cost of importation, purchase, manufacture, storage, transport, sale and wastage

9 The said Government may from time to time vary such sum or sums for any description of salt, or for any local area, with reference to all or any of the following considerations, (namely) —

- (a) the place in which the salt is sold,
- (b) the quantity of the salt sold in any transaction,
- (c) any other circumstances affecting its sale.

10 The price to be paid to the said Government in any local area mentioned in any notification under section eight or section nine shall, for every maund of salt sold in such area, be equal to the customs-duty for the time being leviable on a maund of salt imported by sea into the presidency of Fort St George, together with the sum or sums fixed under the said sections

The sums under section eight shall be taken, until altered for any local area by notification under section eight or section nine, to be the following, namely in the districts of Malabar and South Canara, for home-made salt, five annas per maund, and for imported salt, eight annas per maund, and in all other districts of the Presidency of Fort St George, three annas per maund

Orissa

11 In modification of Bengal Act No VII of 1864, section 9, a duty shall be paid on salt manufactured at any place in the Division of Orissa by persons licensed under that Act, at such rate, not exceeding three rupees, four annas, as the Governor-General in Council may from time to time fix for such place

[First Publication.]

The following Act of the Governor-General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor-General on the 28th December 1877, and is hereby promulgated for general information —

ACT No XIX OF 1877

An Act to enable certain District Judges to suspend and remove certain ministerial officers, and for other purposes

WHEREAS it is expedient to empower the District Judges of the Lower and the North-Western Provinces of the Presidency of Fort William, and the District Judges of the Presidency of Fort Saint George to suspend and remove ministerial officers of the Courts of Subordinate Judges, Munsifs and District Munsifs, and whereas it is also expedient to provide in the Presidency of Fort Saint George for the transfer of ministerial officers from one Court to another, It is hereby enacted as follows —

Preamble

1 After the second paragraph of section 36 of Amendment of Act the Bengal Civil Courts Act, No VI of 1871 1871, the following paragraph shall be inserted (that is to say) —

“The District Judge, within whose jurisdiction such Court is situate, may, by order, suspend or remove any such ministerial officer”

2 For section 23 of the Madras Civil Courts Act, 1873, the following shall be substituted (that is to say) —

“23 The ministerial officers of the Courts of the Subordinate Judges and District Munsifs shall be appointed by such Subordinate Judges and District Munsifs, respectively, subject to the approval or confirmation of the District Judge within whose jurisdiction such Courts are situate, and may be suspended or removed from office either by the said District Judge or (subject to his approval or confirmation) by such Subordinate Judges and District Munsifs respectively”

3 After section 24 of the same Act, the following section shall be inserted —

“21 A The Local Government may, at the instance of the District Judge, transfer from any Court, except the High Court, to any other Court, except the High Court, all or any of the ministerial officers of the Court of such Judge, or of any Subordinate Judge or District Munsif under his control

“The District Judge may transfer all or any of the ministerial officers of any Court under his control to any other such Court.”

A Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to arms, ammunition and military stores, It is hereby enacted as follows —

I—Preliminary

- 1 This Act may be called "The Indian Arms Act, 1877", and it extends to the whole of British India

But nothing herein contained shall apply to—

(a) arms, ammunition or military stores on board any vessel and forming part of the ordinary armament or equipment of such vessel, or

(b) the manufacture, repair, sale, import, export, transport, bearing or possession of arms, ammunition or military stores by order of the Government, or by a public servant or a volunteer enrolled under the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869, in the course of his duty as such public servant or volunteer

- 2 This Act shall come into force on such day as the Governor General in Council by notification in the Gazette of India appoints

- 3 On and from that day the enactments mentioned in the first schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent specified in the third column of the said schedule. But all authorities and permissions given, licenses and exemptions granted, orders and appointments made, notifications published, and rules, conditions and forms prescribed under any enactment hereby repealed shall be deemed to be respectively given, granted, made, published and prescribed under this Act

- 4 In this Act and the second schedule hereto annexed, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

"Cannon" includes also howitzer, mortar, mitrailleuse and other ordnance

"Arms" includes also cannon and parts of arms, and machinery for manufacturing the same

"Ammunition" includes also rockets, gun-cotton, fulminating material, gunflints, gunwads, percussion caps, fuses, and parts of projectiles and cartridges, and machinery for manufacturing the same, but does not include lead, sulphur or saltpetre

"License" means a license granted under this Act, and "licensed" means holding such license

"Military stores" in any section of this Act means any military stores to which the Governor

General in Council may from time to time extend such section, and includes also all lead, sulphur, sulphure and other material to which the Governor General in Council may from time to time extend such section

II—Manufacture, Repair and Sale

5 No person shall manufacture, repair or sell, or keep, offer or expose for sale, any arms, ammunition or military stores except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted by such license

Nothing herein contained shall prevent any person from repairing any arms which he lawfully possesses for his own private use, or from selling any arms or ammunition which he so possesses to any person who is not by any enactment for the time being in force prohibited from possessing the same, but every person so selling arms or ammunition shall, without unnecessary delay, give to the officer in charge of the nearest police-station notice of the sale and of the purchaser's name and address

III—Import, Export and Transport

6 No person shall import or export by sea or by land into or out of British India any arms, ammunition or military stores except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted by such license

Nothing in the first clause of this section extends to arms or ammunition imported or exported in reasonable quantities for his own private use by any person lawfully entitled to possess such arms or ammunition, but the Collector of Customs or any other officer empowered by the Local Government in this behalf may at any time detain such arms or ammunition, until he receives the orders of the Local Government thereon

Explanation—Arms, ammunition or military stores taken from one part of British India to another by sea or across intervening territory not being part of British India are exported and imported within the meaning of this section

7 In lieu of the duties imposed by the Indian Tariff Act, 1875, upon the articles imported by sea and mentioned in the second schedule hereto annexed, there shall be levied and collected, in every part of British India, upon the same articles the duties specified in the same schedule

8 The Governor General in Council may from time to time by notification in the Gazette of India—
(a) prohibit the transport of any description of arms, ammunition or military stores over British India or any part thereof, either altogether or except under a license and to the extent and in the manner permitted by such license, and

(b) cancel any such notification

Explanation—Arms, ammunition or military stores transhipped at a port in British India are transported within the meaning of this section

9 Any person found carrying or conveying any arms, ammunition or military stores, whether covered by a license or not, in such manner or under such circumstances as to afford just grounds of suspicion that the same are being carried by him with intent to use them, or that the same may be used, for any unlawful purpose dangerous to the public peace, may be apprehended without warrant by any other person and detained in custody in order that he may be dealt with according to law

Any person so apprehended by a person not being a Magistrate or Police-officer shall be delivered over as soon as possible to a Police-officer

All persons apprehended by, or delivered to, a Police-officer under the provisions of this section shall be taken without unnecessary delay before a Magistrate

IV—Going armed and possessing Arms, &c

10 No person shall go armed with any arms except under a license and to the extent and in the manner permitted by such license

Any person so going armed without a license or in contravention of its provisions may be dismissed by any Magistrate or Police-officer.

11 No person shall have in his possession or under his control any arms, ammunition or military stores except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted by such license

Nothing in this section shall apply during the three months next following the date on which this Act comes into force to the possession by any person of any arms not being cannon or of any ammunition or military stores in any place to which section 32, clause 2 of Act XXXI of 1860 does not apply at such date

Any person having any such arms, ammunition or military stores in his possession in any such place within the said period of three months may, and any person having any such arms ammunition or military stores in his possession in any such place at the expiry of the same period, shall, deposit the same with the officer in charge of the nearest police-station

V—Licenses

12 The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, make rules to determine the officers by whom, the form in which, and the terms and conditions on and subject to which, any license shall be granted, and may by such rules among other matters—

(a) fix a fee payable by stamp or otherwise in respect of such license,

(b) fix the period for which such license shall continue in force,

(c) direct that the holder of such license shall give notice to an officer of Government of anything done thereunder, or keep a record or account of anything so done and exhibit such record or account when called upon by an officer of Government to do so,

(d) empower any officer of Government to enter and inspect the business premises of any person holding a license of the description referred to in section 5 or 6,

(e) direct that any such person shall exhibit the entire stock of arms, ammunition and military stores in his possession, or under his control to any such officer of Government, and

(f) require the person holding any license or acting under any license to produce the same when called upon by an officer of Government to do so

Canelling and suspension of license

13 Any license granted under this Act may be cancelled or suspended—

(a) by the officer by whom the same was granted, or by any authority to which he may be subordinate, when, for reasons to be recorded in writing, such officer or authority deems it necessary for the security of the public peace to cancel or suspend such license,

(b) by any Judge or Magistrate before whom the holder of such license is convicted of an offence against this Act, or against the rules made under this Act, or

(c) by the Local Government at its discretion by a notification in the official Gazette cancelling or suspending all licenses of that description throughout the whole or any portion of the territories under its administration

14 Any person possessing arms, ammunition or military stores, the possession whereof by him has, in consequence of the cancellation of a license under section thirteen become unlawful, shall deposit the same without unnecessary delay with the officer in charge of the nearest police-station

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

THE law relating to arms, ammunition and military stores has long been felt to be in an unsatisfactory state. In some particulars it has been found defective, and on many points it presents difficulties of construction which might at any time prove embarrassing to the Government or entail hardship on innocent persons.

2. So far back as the year 1870 a Bill was introduced to remedy this state of things, but, owing in part to press of work and in part to other causes, it was allowed to stand over.

3. The present Bill is in the main a consolidation of the existing law, and a re-enactment of it in a simpler form with such improvements in points of detail as the experience of the working of the Arms Act of 1860 has shown to be desirable. On two points only does it propose to introduce changes of any importance.

4. The first of these points is dealt with in section 7, which, taken with the second schedule, imposes duties on the importation by sea of arms and parts of arms, &c. Those duties, it will be observed, are fixed without reference to the value of the articles on which they are imposed, and they are so fixed and are pitched, at what may seem at first sight to be high rates, expressly with a view to check the importation of a cheap class of arms, the importation of which has of late years largely increased.

5. Such arms cannot, from their inferior make, be intended for sporting purposes, and there is reason to suspect that a considerable proportion of them finds its way into the hands of the criminal classes in the interior of the country or of the hostile tribes on our frontiers. It has been found very difficult to prevent the transit of such arms from the seaports into the interior of the country and towards the frontiers when once they are imported, and it is believed that the simplest method of checking their importation, and the method least calculated to interfere with the legitimate trade in arms of a superior class, is to impose an uniform duty of the nature proposed.

6. The other point on which the Bill goes to introduce a material change in the existing law is that of the possession of arms. At present the mere possession of arms is prohibited only in certain provinces, which, to use the language of Act XXXI of 1860 have been "disarmed." Throughout the rest of the country, though no person can go armed or carry arms except under a special exemption or by virtue of a license, the mere possession of arms other than cannon is not restricted.

7. Now there is good reason to believe that this complete absence of restriction in the districts which have not been disarmed has led to the law prohibiting the transport of arms and the export of arms across the frontiers being extensively evaded. As long as all persons indiscriminately may have arms in their possession to any amount they please in the districts which have not been disarmed, it is practically impossible to prevent such arms being passed on to the disarmed districts, to the predatory classes in Native States, and to the hostile tribes on our frontiers.

The only remedy seems to be to place the possession of arms throughout the whole of British India under control, and this it is proposed to do by section 11 of the Bill, which requires all such possession to be under a license.

8. It will, however, be observed that ample safeguards are provided to prevent this prohibition pressing unfairly on most respectable persons desiring to possess arms for legitimate purposes. Section 11 allows a period of three months after the Bill becomes law within which the possession of arms in the districts not hitherto disarmed will not be illegal, and during which any person in such districts can apply for a license; section 25 enacts that in these districts no person shall be prosecuted for possessing arms without the previous sanction of the Magistrate of the District; section 26 imposes special and very stringent conditions on searches for arms, and lastly, under section 23, the Government may exempt any class of persons from the operation of the prohibition altogether.

9. On the whole it may be safely affirmed that, with a system of licenses granted either without charge or on the payment of small fees, and in cases where it is safe so to grant them for reasonably long periods, the Bill will not, as regards the possession of arms, materially affect the position of any persons to whom the right to possess arms can, with a due regard to the public peace and safety, be conceded.

10. It need only be added that section 3 of the Bill maintains in force all exemptions granted under the present law.

[First Publication]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 27th December 1877 —

No 23 OF 1877

A Bill for the licensing of trades and dealings in the Punjab, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh

WHEREAS, in order to provide means for defraying the public expenditure from time to time incurred and to be incurred for the relief and prevention of famine in British India, it is necessary to effect a permanent increase of the revenue available for provincial purposes, and it is therefore expedient that persons carrying on trades and dealings in the territories and provinces respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, should take out licenses and pay for the same, It is hereby enacted as follows —

1 This Act may be called "The Northern India License Act, 1878"

It extends to the territories under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, the Lieutenant Governor of the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, respectively, but nothing herein contained applies to persons earning their livelihood solely by agriculture.

This Act shall come into force in any of the said territories on such date as the Governor-General in Council by notification in the Gazette of India directs in that behalf

2 When this Act comes into force in the territories under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, Act No VIII of 1877 (for the licensing of certain trades and dealings in the North-Western Provinces) shall be repealed

3 In this Act "Collector" means the chief officer in charge of the revenue-administration of a district

4 Every person who, on or after the first day of April 1878, fills, in any of the said territories, under any of the heads specified in the schedule hereto annexed, and carries on (whether on behalf of himself or any other person) his trade or dealing, shall take out a license under this Act, and shall pay for the same the annual fee mentioned in such schedule as payable by persons of the class and grade to which he belongs

5. Every license under this Act shall be granted by the Collector of the District in which the person requiring such license carries on his trade or dealing provided that, if such person carries on such trade or dealing in more than one district, the license shall be granted by the Collector of the district in which his principal place of business is situate

Every such license shall be signed by the Collector granting it, or by such officer as he may appoint in this behalf

Particulars to be specified in the license

6 Every such license shall specify—

- (a) the date of the grant thereof
  - (b) the name, father's name, caste and trade or dealing of the licensee
  - (c) the class and grade to which he belongs
  - (d) the fee paid for the license
  - (e) the place or places where the licensee intends to carry on his trade or dealing for the ensuing year, and
  - (f) the term for which the license shall remain in force,
- and shall be received in evidence as prima facie proof of all matters contained therein

7 Every such license shall have effect and continue in force from the day of the date thereof till the first day of January next after the date of the grant thereof

8 Every person to whom any such license has been granted, and who desires to continue to carry on his trade or dealing after the expiration of such license, shall take out a fresh license for that purpose for the following year, to expire on the day appointed in the list preceding section, and shall renew the same so long as he desires to continue to carry on such trade or dealing

List of Licensees

9 As soon as may be after the first day of April 1878 and the first day of January in every subsequent year, the Collector shall prepare a list of the persons to be licensed under this Act in his district. Such list shall state—

- (a) the trade or dealing of each of the persons therein named,
- (b) the class and grade under which he is charged, and
- (c) the fee to be paid for his license

Such list shall be in the language of the district, shall be filed in the office of the Collector, and shall be open to public inspection at all reasonable times without any payment

10. The Collector shall, from time to time, determine under which of the classes and grades mentioned in the said schedule every person to whom a license may be granted by him as aforesaid shall be charged, and shall amend the said list accordingly

The list or such part or parts thereof as the Collector thinks fit shall be published in the principal muballis or ganges of all towns, and in the chupil, or other public place, in all villages concerned, together with a notification that if any person mentioned in such list continues his trade or dealing, payment of the amount specified in the list is payable by him must be made in the year 1878 within thirty days of such publication in that year and within thirty days next after the first day of January in each succeeding year

11 The Collector may, by a notice in writing, require the occupier of any house to forward to him a statement in writing signed by such occupier of the names of all persons residing in such house at the date of the notice and of their respective callings

12 Any person mentioned in the list referred to in sections nine and ten and objecting to the class or grade under which he is charged may, within thirty days after such publication, or within such further time as the Collector may in each case think fit, apply by petition to the Collector in order to establish his right to have his name transferred to another class or grade, or altogether removed from the list

13 The Collector shall fix a day for the hearing of the petition, and on the day so fixed, or on such subsequent day as he may from time to time direct, shall hear the same and pass such order thereon as he thinks fit

Provided that if, in his judgment, the petitioner is able to shew that the fee which has been charged exceeds two per cent upon his annual net earnings, such excess shall, for the purpose of section twelve, be deemed a valid objection

Provided also that the Collector shall not, in the course of any proceedings under this section, call for any evidence except at the instance of the petitioner, or in order to ascertain the correctness of facts alleged by him

14 Any person dissatisfied with such order may within fifteen days from the date thereof present a petition of appeal to the Commissioner of Revenue of the Division, whose decision upon such appeal shall be final

Every petition presented under this section shall be accompanied by a copy of the petition to the Collector, a copy of his order thereon, and all other documents (if any) connected with the case

15 The Collector may in his discretion remit the whole or any part of the fee payable under this Act by any person who has carried on his trade or dealing for a portion of the year only

16 A person or firm coming under more than one of the designations in the said schedule shall be chargeable only under one of the said designations at the discretion of the Collector, and in the case of a firm, payment by any one of the partners shall, for the purposes of this Act, be considered payment by the firm

17 If, after expiry of the period mentioned in the notification published under section ten, for payment of the amount specified therein, any person (whether he is or is not mentioned in the said list) carries on his trade or dealing without having taken out a license as required by this Act, he shall be liable, by order of the Collector, to pay a fine not exceeding thrice the amount payable by him in respect of such license, exclusive of the amount so payable, and on receipt of such payment the Collector shall grant him a license.

All sums due under this section and all fees payable under this Act shall be recoverable as if they were arrears of land-revenue

18 Every person holding a license under this Act shall produce and show such license when required so to do by an officer generally or specially empowered in writing by the Collector to make such requisition

But no person shall be proceeded against for neglect or refusal to produce such license except at the instance of the Collector

19 Courts of Wards and receivers and managers appointed by any Court in British India, shall be chargeable under this Act in respect of any trade or dealing of which the income is officially in their possession or under their control

20 When any trustee, guardian, curator, committee or agent is charged under this Act in such capacity, or when any Court of Wards or Receiver or manager appointed by any Court is charged under this Act, every person and Court so charged may, from time to time, out of the money coming to his or its possession as such trustee, guardian, curator, committee or agent, or as such Court of Wards, Receiver or manager, retain so much as is sufficient to pay the fee charged

Every such person or Court is hereby indemnified for every retention and payment made in pursuance of this Act

Municipalities

21. The Collector of the District may require any Municipal Committee to furnish, within a period to be specified under the orders of the Local Government, returns showing the names and numbers of persons chargeable under this Act resident within the limits of such Municipality, together with the class and grade to which they respectively belong and the fees payable by them respectively

If the Municipal Committee fails within the period prescribed to make such returns, or if it make such returns but the Collector of the District has reason to doubt their accuracy, he may at any time cause a return showing the names, numbers, classes and grades aforesaid to be prepared in such manner as may be prescribed by the Local Government

22 When the return mentioned in section 21 has been furnished or prepared, notice shall be served on the Municipality, calling on it to pay to the Collector of the District, within a period to be specified in the notice, a sum calculated on such return in accordance with the provisions of this Act

Any Municipality may appropriate any part of its revenues to the payment of the sum leviable from it under this section, or raise such further sums in addition to its existing revenue as may be needful for such payment provided that such further sums be raised in accordance with the Act under which such Municipality is constituted

Miscellaneous.

23 All fees and penalties paid or recovered under this Act shall be carried to the credit of the Local Government

The amount so credited shall be applied, in such manner as the Governor General in Council thinks fit, for the purpose of defraying expenditure incurred or to be incurred for the relief and prevention of famine in the territories administered by such Local Government, or, if the Governor General in Council so directs, in any other part of British India

24 All or any of the powers and duties conferred and imposed by this Act on a Collector may, subject to the orders of the Collector of the District, be exercised and performed by an Assistant Collector or such other officer as the Local Government from time to time appoints in this behalf

25 Every person shall be legally bound to furnish information to any officer exercising any of the powers of a Collector under this Act when required by him to do so

26 The Local Government may, from time to time, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council,—

(a) exempt any portion of the territories administered by such Government, or any persons or class of persons in such territories, from the operation of this Act,

(b) exempt from the operation of this Act any persons whose respective nett annual earnings are less than such sum as the Local Government may, from time to time, direct in this behalf,

(c) make rules consistent with this Act, (1) for regulating the time and manner of collecting the fees charged under this Act, (2) for providing in any case or class of cases for serving notices on persons charged under this Act, (3) for determining the mode in which persons belonging to any class shall be distributed into grades, and (4) generally for the guidance of officers in matters connected with the enforcement of this Act

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In the Financial Statement for 1877-78, attention was drawn to the necessity imposed upon the Government of India of bringing the public Revenues and Expenditure into a condition of proper equilibrium. The events that have occurred since that time have shown that the urgency of the case has become greater with each succeeding month of the prolonged crisis through which the country has been passing.

After the Famine of 1871 in Northern Bengal, the Government of Lord Northbrook declared that such calamities could no longer be treated as abnormal or exceptional, and that sound financial principles required that the grave obligations entailed by Famine upon the Government should be explicitly recognised and provided for among the ordinary charges of the State.

The Secretary of State agreed with Lord Northbrook's Government, that the periodical occurrence of Famine ought to enter into the calculation of the Government of India when making provision for its ordinary wants from year to year, and that such a surplus should be provided in each year as would make a sensible impression on the debt incurred in times of Famine. Her Majesty's Government have recently reaffirmed this principle.

To enable the Government to discharge the obligations placed upon it to meet these requirements, additional taxation has been deemed necessary. To provide for a portion of this in a manner suited to the condition of the country and the special circumstances of the case, the present measure is proposed.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 27th December 1877 —

No 24 of 1877

A Bill for the levy of Additional Rates on Land in the North-Western Provinces

WHEREAS, in order to defray the expenditure incurred and to be incurred for the relief and prevention of famine, it is necessary to make a permanent increase to the annual revenues available for provincial purposes, and it is therefore expedient to provide, in the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, for the levy on land of additional rates to be applied to local purposes, It is hereby enacted as follows —

1 This Act may be called "The North-Western Provinces Local Rates Enhancement Act, 1878," and it shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council by notification in the Gazette of India directs

2 On and from such date Act No VII of 1877 (to amend the law relating to assignments from the General Provincial Fund established under the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1871) shall be repealed

3 In section three of the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1871, Section 3, amended after the proviso the following shall be inserted, that is to say—

"Every estate situate in a district of which the land-revenue is liable to periodical revision, shall be liable, in addition to any rates levied under the foregoing portion of this section, to the payment of such further rate, not exceeding one per cent on its annual value, as the Lieutenant-Governor from time to time imposes

"Such further rate shall be paid by the landlord independently of, and in addition to, any land-revenue assessed on the estate"

4 To section four of the same Act the following clause shall be added, that is to say —

"The Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time impose upon any such estate, in addition to any rate imposed under the first clause of this section, a further rate of such amount not exceeding half an anna for each acre as aforesaid as he thinks fit"

5 In sections five, seven, and eight of the same Act, after the word "rate" wherever it occurs, the words "or further rate" shall be inserted

6 For section ten of the same Act, the following section shall be substituted

"10 (a) From such fund the Lieutenant-Governor shall in each year appropriate such amount, not exceeding the proceeds of the further rates assessed in such year under sections three and four, as the Governor General in Council may direct, for the purpose of defraying expenditure incurred or to be incurred for the relief and prevention of famine in the said territories

"Provided that the whole or any portion of such amount may, if the Governor General in Council so directs, be expended for the relief and prevention of famine in any other part of British India

"(b) The Lieutenant-Governor may, from time to time, assign from such fund such amount as he thinks fit, to be applied in payment of charges incurred or to be incurred on account of such canals and railways as he, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may declare to be works of general provincial utility

"Provided that the amounts so assigned in any year shall not exceed one-tenth of the proceeds of the rates assessed in such year under the first clause of section three and the first clause of section four

"(c) Subject to the appropriation directed by clause (a), the Lieutenant-Governor shall from time to time allot from such fund such amounts as he thinks fit to be applied in each district for expenditure on all or any of the following purposes —

"(1) The construction, repair, and maintenance of roads and other means of communication,

"(2) The maintenance of the Rural Police and District-post,

"(3) The construction and repair of school-houses, the maintenance and inspection of schools, the training of teachers, and the establishment of scholarships,

"(4) The construction and repair of hospitals, dispensaries, lunatic asylums, markets, wells and tanks, the payment of all charges connected with the purposes for which such buildings or works have been constructed, and any other local works likely to promote the public health, comfort or convenience

"Provided that the amounts so allotted in any year for any district shall not be less than nine-tenths of the proceeds of the rates assessed under the first clause of section three and the first clause of section four in such district in such year"

7 In section eleven of the same Act, for the word "assignments" the word "allotments" shall be substituted

In section twelve of the same Act, for the word "assignment" in each of the places where it occurs, the word "allotment" shall be substituted, and for the word "reassigned" the word "re-allotted" shall be substituted

And in section thirteen of the same Act, for the word "assignment" the word "allotment" shall be substituted

And in section fourteen of the same Act, for the word "amount" in each of the places where it occurs, the word "allotment" shall be substituted

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 27th December 1877. —

No 27 of 1877

A Bill for the levy of Additional Rates on land in the Central Provinces

WHEREAS, in order to defray the expenditure incurred and to be incurred for the relief and prevention of famine, it is necessary to make a permanent increase to the annual revenues available for provincial purposes, and it is therefore expedient to provide, in the territories administered by the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, for the levy of additional rates on land to be applied to local purposes, It is hereby enacted as follows —

1 This Act may be called "The Central Provinces Additional Rates Act, 1878"

It extends only to the territories administered by the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces,

And it shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council by notification in the Gazette of India directs

2 Every estate shall be liable, in addition to the rates and cesses payable under any settlement for the time being in force, to the payment of such further rate not exceeding one per cent on its annual value, as the Chief Commissioner, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, from time to time imposes

"Annual value" means

(1) in cases in which the settlement of the land-revenue is liable to periodical revision, double the amount of the land-revenue for the time being assessed on an estate,

(2) in cases in which such settlement is not liable to such revision, or in which the land-revenue has been, wholly or in part, released, compounded for, redeemed or assigned, double the amount which, if the settlement were liable to such revision, or in assessment at full rates were to be made, would be assessable as land-revenue on the estate

3 All sums due on account of any rate imposed under this Act shall be recoverable as if they were arrears of land-revenue due on the land on account of which the rate is payable

4 The proceeds of all rates levied under this Act shall be carried to the credit of a general provincial fund

5 From such fund the Chief Commissioner shall from time to time appropriate such amount as the Governor General in Council may direct, for the purpose of defraying a due proportion of the expenditure incurred or to be incurred in the said territories for the relief and prevention of famine

Provided that the whole or any portion of such amount may, if the Governor General in Council so directs, be expended on the same objects in any part of British India

Subject to such appropriation, any portion of the fund may be applied by the Chief Commissioner to such local works likely to promote the public health, comfort or convenience as he thinks fit

6 The Chief Commissioner, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may by notification in the Local Gazette from time to time—

(a) determine by what instalments and at what times such rate shall be payable, and by whom it shall be assessed, collected and paid,

(b) make rules consistent with this Act for the guidance of officers in matters connected with its enforcement,

(c) exempt any portion of the territories under his government from the operation of this Act, or exempt any estate from liability to pay the whole or any part of any rate under this Act,

(d) direct fresh measurements of estates liable to pay rates under this Act, and vary the assessments accordingly

The week's telegrams show that more or less rain has fallen in most of the districts, and that in Sholapur and Kaladgi the fall has been general and satisfactory

2 Prices still maintain their downward tendency There has been no retrograde movement in any of the districts this week

3 As this is the last Statement to be issued, it may be well here to compare (1) the aggregate of the rainfall that has been week by week recorded in previous Statements with the fall of an ordinary year, and (2) the prices of staple food grains now prevailing with those of an ordinary year

4 In the districts of Khandesh, Nasik, Ahmednagar, Poona and Satara—or, roughly speaking, in the more northern half of the area drought-stricken in 1876—the rainfall of 1877 was unduly light It was lightest of all in Ahmednagar, where it was less by one-fourth than the average of the five years antecedent to 1876 In the other four districts of Sholapur, Kaladgi, Belgaum and Dharwar the rainfall of 1877 was on the whole abundant, though it fell so irregularly as at times to cause grave apprehension

5 The prices of the cheaper of the two staple food grains vary now from 36 pounds a rupee in Belgaum to 23 pounds a rupee in Kaladgi Comparing the present rate in each district with the ordinary prices in that district, it is found that the percentage the former is of the latter varies from 82 per cent in Satara to 30 per cent in Kaladgi Thus prices are dearest in Kaladgi both absolutely and in relation to the ordinary prices of the district

6 The average price of the cheaper food grain in the nine districts is now a fraction under 30 pounds a rupee, which is 53 per cent of the ordinary average price Thus prices are still nearly twice as high as in an ordinary year But they are still falling, and it is to be borne in mind that, as regards the cultivating classes and all persons directly dependent on them, the effect of high prices now at harvest time is very different to what it was when the whole population had to live upon the stores of grain which dealers and others had in their possession

7 The following table gives the daily average number of persons gratuitously relieved according to the latest returns received from the different Collectors, and shows that the whole number is little over four thousand The table also completes the record of expenditure upon the young children of labourers upon relief works, and shows that in the last week that relief works were open the number of such children requiring Government support was only 1,685 —

8 In paragraph 6 of last week's Statement it was said by mistake that prices in the Native States continue to rise instead of that they continue to fall

9 There is continued improvement in the general situation, and the recent falls of rain in most of the affected districts will doubtless have a very beneficial effect on the prospects of the season

10 No more weekly Statements will be issued, but the result of the census alluded to in the Statement, dated 8th December 1877, will be published in due course

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS
FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 25TH DECEMBER 1877

GENERAL REMARKS—In Madras heavy rain and floods are reported from Tinjore, Tinnevely and Madura, which have caused serious damage. Injury from excessive rain has also occurred in parts of Trichinopoly and Coimbatore, slight rain has fallen in a few other districts, but from most the returns are blank, general prospects are good. The total number on works is 202,323 and on gratuitous relief 281,432, an increase of 19,317 and a decrease of 20,870 on the figures of last week. In Mysore there has been no rain, except  $\frac{1}{2}$  an inch in Hassan, the crops are generally in good condition, the numbers on works for the week ending the 15th instant were 58,466, and on gratuitous relief 15,193, 5,083 and 2,878 less than in the previous week. In Bombay good rain is reported from Kaira, and a few showers in Surat, Colaba, Poona and Satara, prospects are generally fair, except in Sind, where the river continues high. No rain has fallen in the Central Provinces, but it is generally cloudy, damage to the crops from the late rains is reported from Nāgpur and Chānda the rabi generally promises well. In Berar there has been no rain, the prospects of the rabi are good. No rain has fallen in Central India. In Rajputana beneficial rain is reported from Abu, Bhilawā and the Hlowā States, prospects are generally favourable.
